The Prince consort elect has made a very favorable impression on his sweetheart's subjects, and bids fair to rival in popularity the late Prince Albert, selected for husband by Victoria despite the advice of her Ministry.

Preparations for a splendid wedding will be begun immediately, and all Holland will ring with rejoicings. It will be one of the festivals of Europe. Everywhere approval of the young Queen's attitude is made man-ifest.

Mr. Mitchell declined to say whether the statement of the United Mine Workers that no man will be permitted to return to work unless they all go in together still holds. The notice posted by several of the larger companies in the Lackawanna and Wyoming regions to-day announcing that the mine workers will be given 2½ cents on every car or ton in order to make up the 10 per cent increase came in for much con-sideration at the conference. When the conference adjourned this evening this natter was still under discussion.

It is believed here that France and Russia will not decline to join in such a declaration, and in view of the Anglo-German reiteration of the principles of the integrity of China and the "open door" the London and Berlin Governments could hardly avoid assenting to such a proposal Italy and Austria, which have assented to the Anglo-German agreement, will, of course, follow the lead of the German Em-

Democratic Leaders Bring Good News From Different Parts of State.

Democratic Leaders Bring Good News
From Different Parts of State.

Extraordinary efforts are being made by the Democratic State campaign managers to insure the adoption of the World's Fair amendments. Every speaker assigned to the interior of the State is being instructed to devote a large portion of his time to a lucid and forcible exposition of the merits of the amendments to be submitted to the voters, and to dwell upon the immense benefits which will be derived by the commonwealth from the World's Fair. These instructions are being faithfully carried out, and already the good results of this campaign of education are being realized by reports received at State headquarters from every section of the country.

Attorney General E. C. Crow and E. T. Orear, State Superintendent of Insutance, who were visitors at State headquarters yesterday, brought encouraging news as to the manner in which the World's Fair amendments were being received by the voters in the interior of the State.

Attorney General Crow said: "I have traveled extensively through the State since spring, and have had extensive opportunity to acquaint myself with the mood of the voters on these amendments. I will say that I have yet to find a single community where there is any well-defined or organized opposition to the World's Fair itself. Everywhere the expressions as to the proposed nethod of raising the money necessary to making the project a success, have been very friendly. The people seem to realize that the Fair is an assured fact, and this gives strength to the sentiment in favor of the adoption of the amendments.

"Out in the State the people have every confidence in the business men of St. Louis. I find, and every assurance that they can carry to a successful conclusion any reasonable project it has undertake, of whatever magnitude, hence their bellef in the success of the Fair. You will also find, as I have, that Missourians, as a rule, have implicit confidence in St. Louis business men as safe and conservative financiers, and for that reason again, I find the people of the in-terior looking upon the World's Fair as a good investment from a financial stand-point.

good investment from a financial standpoint.

"Personally, I am heartily in accord with the project. St. Louis is the most representative American city, located in the center of the most beautiful and fertile valley in the world. The preparations for and the conduct of the Fair will bring into our State jundreds of thousands of permanent residents, who will make the very best efficies and add to the glory of grand old Missouri.
It will increase the perminent wealth and prosperticy of the Commonwealth by inviting the attention of foreign capital to our splendid opportunities for investment. All that is necessary to procure this result is to place the necessity of the adoption of the amendments fairly and intelligently before the voters of the State. When that is done, I have no hesitation in saying they will be noopted."

have no besitation in saying they will be anopted."

Aft. Orear was equally optimistic in his view of the success of the amendments at the polls. "I have not yet found," said he, "any body of voters, be whom the amendments were fairly presented, who did not occlare their belief that they were excellent measures, and arow their intention of wing their best efforts to secure their adoption. In some communities, where the citizens have only a vague knowledge of the amendments and relatively of the importance of adopting them, there is some apathy, but this is dispelled when the knowledge is bloomfit home to them that the holding of the Worfel's Fair lepsuds upon their passage, and that the abandonment of the project at this time will entail incalculable injury to the State. The impression that has gone abroad that the people in the interior of the State are opposed to the amendments and will work for their defeat, I find is without any foundation. Those with whom I have come in contact in my travels throughout the State are almost unanimously in favor of the World's Fair, and the method proposed to raise the money necessary to insure its success."

Visitors Tell of Progress of Campaign -World's Fair Amendments.
Yesterday was one of the busy days at the State Democratic headquarters. Among the visitors were: Attorney deneral E. C. Crow, E. T. Grear, State Superintendent of Insurance; Doctor W. S. Doctor Allee said, after shaking hands with Chairman Selbert and Sam Cook: "I hate to burden your cars with what must at this time be a tiresome repetition of how we are going to do the Republicans in the State but the fact is I have been especially charged by my friends and neighbors in the district to tell you of the brilliant prospects out our way, and of the enthusiasm which has keyed up our people since the beginning of the campaign, without any sign of a let-up. Having this charge, I am in duty bound to obey orders and relieve my bind by teiling you the situation."

and relieve my bind by teiling you the situation."

E. M. Zevely, candidate for State Senator in Osage County, had a similar report to make. "There is no longer any doubt as to the victory of the Democratic ticket in the State." he said. "Dockery's majority will be easily 40,000, and we are so sure of our victory that our speakers and newspapers are now devoting their energies mainly to educating the voters to an intelligent comprehension of the World's Fair amendments, to insure their adoption at the polls. Everywhere I have gone in my district I find the people in favor of the World's Fair, but we want to convince them that the appropriation of the money will not only not ampose any additional financial burdens upon them, but will in reality result in immense benefit to the State. I find the people very easy to convince on this point, and I have no doubt of the passage of the amendments."

Kinley's Fellow-Townsmen.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

Canton, O., Oct. 2t.—Secretary of War Root delivered a speech here to-night, whith he had prepared for delivery at Yonogstown, but in consequence of the death of John Sherman was postponed.

Mr. Root began by talking of prosperity, saying: "This happy condition has not been created by government, but without good government it could not have been created."

He then reviewed the Spanish war and eulogized the President, "whose virtues plead turnpet-tongued." He said:

"The issues of 18% remain open, avowed, insisted upon."

Considering the question of the "consent of the government of the conditions for which Jefferson wrote it and to the people to whom he applicable to the conditions for which Jefferson wrote it and to the people to whom he applied it." He continued: "Government does not depend upon consent. The immutable laws of justice and humanity require that people shall have government, that the weak shall be pretected, that cruelty and lust can be restrained, whether there shall be consent or not."

iceted, that cruelty and last can be restrained, whether there shall be consent or not." We have given to the people of Porto Rico the most munificent gift ever conferred upon one people by another—the free markets of the United States," said Mr. Root, in speaking of the charge that the administration had not dealt fearly toward the people of that island.

On trusts Mr. Root said:
"Mr. Rryan says that trusts have grown to an unprecedented degree during the present administration. Yea, the great industrial conterprises which are opening the whole world to American markets have grown beyond precedent. Some of them are monopolies and ought to be suppressed. Most of them have no element of monopoly what ever, except that which comes from selling cheaper than other competitors, and that is not monopoly, but competition."

Of the President's recommendation that the army be fixed at 100,000 Mr. Root said: "That would be a reduction and not an increase, as we have had 27,000 solders under arms."

The cook and mistress can't help talking about it. They would not if they could. The merita are so many they can't help explaining them to their neighbors and to their friends. That is the reason the sale of the "Quick Men!" Steel Range has increased so wonderfully. Every user can't help recommending it.

of the conditions existing here, and he thought the Democrats had a good chance to carry the district. However, he did not think there would be much difference between the votes cast for the Democratic licket and the Republican ticket.

On Mr. McCreary's figures, the State would go Democratic by 20,300, Chairman Combs of the Republican State Committee is claiming this district by a majority of 2,000, which, if proved true, would reduce the Democratic State majority to about 17,000, or about the same figures that Shackleford carried the State by when he was elected Cierk of the Court of Appeals. According to Mr. McCreary's figures, the Republicans claim 18,000 for the Eleventh and 2,000 for the Fifth District, and a very close vote in the Third and Ninth. This, if true, Wrong Hands.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

Lincoin, Neb., Oct. 24.—I. P. Campbell, who was a contestant for the fusion nomination in the Seventh District, wrote a letter the other day to the Middle-of-the-Road Populist Committee. In the letter Campbell admits that the Republicans of Kansas have been circulating his speeches and advise him that he might do good work in Nebraska by making speeches here. He asked the chairman to arrange dates for him, being especially desirous of speaking in Lincoin the night Mr. Bryan is here. He says his theme is that the Democrats are trying to kill off the Populists and against this he protests. It is a clear confession of compileity with the Kansas Republican organization.
