ON A WEDDING TRIP AROUND THE WORLD.

Missionary Dunwoody Was Married in Peking While Boxer Trouble Was in Progress.

HE WAS WOUNDED IN BATTLE.

Daughter of Another Missionary Nursed Him Back to Health and They Fell in Love—En Route to London.

Married in Peking, China, when the Boxers threatened the lives of every Christian in the city, Mr. and Mrs. James M. Dunwoody, the husband an Episcopalian missionary and the wife the daughter of a missionary, passed through Union Station last night en route to London, England, the original home of the bridegroom.

Their journey pastakes of the nature of a wedding trip, but it is an exceptional one, since, when concluded, the couple will have completed the circle of the globe. They will return to China via the Mediterranean and Suez Canal after a two months' stay in England.

Mr. and Mrs. Dunwoody arrived in this city shortly after 2 o'clock and took dinner at Union Station. They departed via the Vandellia Line. Mr. Dunwoody was reticent in speaking of himself, but in talking about the Chinese situation allowed the information to slip out that there is romance in his marriage beyond the fact of his long wedding trip.

When the legations in Peking were daily stormed by fanatic Orientals and when every able-bodied Caucasian was forced to resort to arms in self-defense, Mr. Dunwoody volunteered with the others. Despite the clerical vocation, he conducted himself gallantly, and in the course of the protracted fighting received a bullet through his lungs.

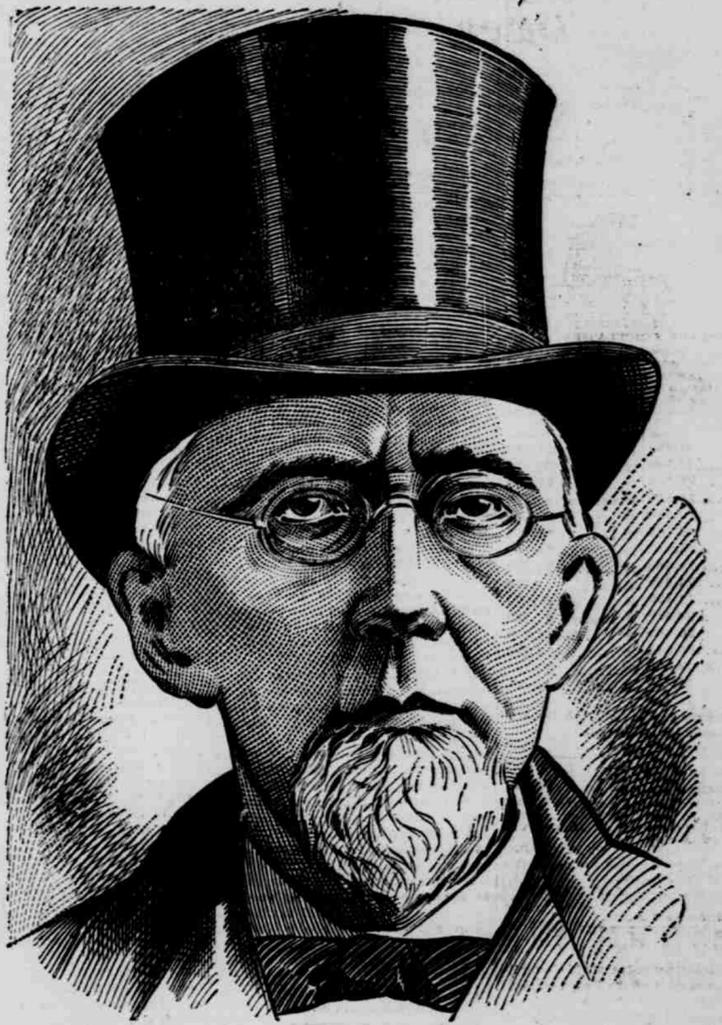

In the improvised hospital to which he was removed his future wife, the daughter of a fellow-missionary, nursed him back to life. In this time, a period of three months, love grew up between them, and Dunwoody was restored to his strength, while the boxer trouble had not yet ended, the two were married by the father of the bride.

The bridegroom had spent eight years in the Orient and before his marriage, had been considering a visit to his father, who lives at No. 4 Brompton place, London. His wedding positively determined him on the trip, and as soon as he had completed the necessary arrangements he set out.

In his way, he made a short stay in Japan and remained a week in San Francisco. He will arrive in New York several days before the start of his steamer departure and will devote the time to seeing the city.

TREASURER POTTER VIGOROUS AT 82.

Aged Bank Official Writes a Long, Grateful Letter to Proprietors of Paine's Celery Compound.

Eighty-two years old, and free from aches, pains, and feebleness! The last ten years of his life the healthiest he has known.

And forty-five years—a life span for most people—of hard work and responsibility as a bank cashier and treasurer to look back upon.

For the last ten years Mr. Potter has never known a day of serious sickness. Previous to that time he suffered from nervous prostration that clung to him for six years.

That this remarkable immunity from weakness and disease, at such a time in life, has not happened by chance no one knows better than the aged treasurer himself.

In June, 1891, when suffering from a number of old chronic complaints, Mr. Potter was induced by relatives to use Paine's celery compound for the first time. The effect was immediately beneficial. The uninterrupted good health that he has since enjoyed dates from that time.

Mr. Potter's grateful letter to the proprietors of Paine's celery compound is based on long personal experience and also a full knowledge of what it has done for very many of his friends to whom he has in turn recommended the great remedy that made him well.

Mr. Potter's letter is given in its entirety: Wells, Richardson & Co., Centerville, R. I. Gentlemen—I have the utmost faith in Paine's celery compound, because of the great good that it has done me and many others of my acquaintance that has come under my personal knowledge within the last seven years. In 1885 I had to give up business on account of very poor health. I was suffering from a number of old chronic complaints. Among the rest I had complete nervous prostration from which I suffered for six years.

Gentlemen—I have the utmost faith in Paine's celery compound, because of the great good that it has done me and many others of my acquaintance that has come under my personal knowledge within the last seven years.

For recruiting the strength and spent energies of men and women advanced in years there can be no substitute for Paine's celery compound. It is the one preparation considered worthy the name of a true nerve food and blood remedy by physicians throughout the country.

Nothing in the past has ever approached it in power of building up weakened nerve tissues and giving strength to the tired body. In severe cases of persistent headache, dyspepsia, neuralgia and sleeplessness, due to nervous debility, Paine's celery compound has a record of rapid and lasting cures that embrace every city and town in the wide sweep of the United States.

Its remarkable power over disease lies in its active replacing of worn-out parts by new, healthy ones, and its healing and purifying action among the most minute tissues of the body.

The heavy, alarming pain in the back and loins disappears; the growing paleness, nervousness and loss of flesh is stopped, and a bright, buoyant feeling gradually takes the place of that unending sense of tire and nervous depression.

An improved appetite, sound digestion, uninterrupted sleep, and an energetic nervous condition invariably follow the use of Paine's celery compound.

Honolulu has seen the last of the Round-the-Horn fleet of sailing vessels. This year the sugar crop goes to New York in the large new steamers of the American-Hawaiian Steamship Company.

A large fleet of sailing vessels has been employed every summer for some years past to take the sugar round the Horn. It is reported that the new company will put down a large steamer on its line, running a steamer every two weeks, to make the trip from New York here in fifty-eight days, via San Francisco.

The failure of President McKinley to appoint a Circuit Judge to succeed Judge Sullivan, who resigned two months ago, has resulted in a serious overcrowding of the court calendar.

When Judge Humphreys opens the February term of court on the 14th of next month, the bill will have twice as much criminal business on the calendar as he can attend to, and matters will have to wait.

News of the death of Queen Victoria was brought here on the steamship Sonoma January 31. Though expected, the news that the aged Queen had passed away profoundly shocked the community. Flags were at half mast and a number of business houses closed their doors on receipt of the news.

All of the mines in the Anaconda, Boston and Montana, Butte and Boston, Washoe-Parrett, Colorado and Montana Ore Purchasing companies have been compelled to suspend operations on account of the failure of the water supply, and about 8,000 men have been temporarily laid off.

The fire department is compelled to stop the pumps at some of the mines, and if the suspension continues for any length of time, the mines will fill with water and the damage be very great. The consumers in the city have been notified that water may be used only for two hours in the morning and ten hours in the evening.

FATHER OF SEVEN CRUSHED BY ENGINE.

Madison Workman Run Down in Dense Fog While on His Way to Work.

The hearts of seven motherless children were made sad by the death of Blacksmith William Peppé, who left his home in East Madison to go to work early yesterday morning, and never returned.

While the children were finishing their breakfasts the father was run down and instantly killed just north of the car works switch between Madison and Granite City by a train on the Terminal Association tracks.

Just what train struck him may remain a mystery. Peppé was employed at the National Enameling and Stamping plant, in Granite City, and often walked from his home in East Madison to Granite City via the railroad tracks.

He took that route yesterday. A heavy fog, of the London "pea-soup" variety, enveloped the little American Bottoms, and the tracks were deserted. Through trains bound for St. Louis cut the mist every few minutes, the headlights of the locomotives being barely visible in the heavy vapor.

With his dinner pail in hand, Peppé proceeded as far as the switch, where he was struck by the engine. Whether he cleared the switch before the accident could not be positively ascertained. The foot of a dismembered leg was found lodged in the switch approach and there are those who believe that the blacksmith stumbled into the path and failed to get away in time to avoid being run over.

The switch crew of engine No. 38 passed that way at 4:30. They found his body between the tracks. Deputy Coroner August Kron, Jr., was notified and the remains were taken to the Kron funeral home in Venice.

An inquest was held in the afternoon.

Several weeks ago Doctor Kendrick suffered from a serious illness, and as a result he had been unable to resume his duties at the college.
