

MUNYON'S PAW-PAW IN A FEW BRIEF WEEKS OF TRIAL HAS WON

It Has Conquered Prejudice and Proved Its Worth. DOCTORS Indorse it as the Greatest of All Stomach and Nerve Remedies.

On the 23rd of September last I announced to the public of St. Louis that I had discovered a vegetable...

That the Baroness Cederstrom, professionally known as Adeline Patti, is traveling in this state and that this, her farewell tour...

An audience distinctly representative of the intellectual development of this community sat through one hundred impressive minutes in witness to the old morality play of "Everyman" at the Edison last night.

There was at the outset a strong element of curiosity as to what form the presentation of the world's code of morals would take...

Two shaven monks came into the scene about the time the audience was seated, and with measured steps, took places...

The man was young, strong, and so dandy scold in mien that he carried with him, in his annual entrance through the body of the house, a complete impression...

He explained, in the quaint Chaucerian English in which the drama is rendered, that he was neither priest nor teacher...

Hard upon the passing of the Messenger, who took his course away as he had done, the Evangelist, in a voice that rang with anguish, exclaimed:

Oh, Death, thou comest when I had the best in mind. He has begun to realize the ultimate end of all that mortal in him...

It is here that one—whether he be teacher or pupil—feels the commanding note of the play, and in a voice that rings with anguish, exclaims:

Oh, Death, thou comest when I had the best in mind. He has begun to realize the ultimate end of all that mortal in him...

It is here that one—whether he be teacher or pupil—feels the commanding note of the play, and in a voice that rings with anguish, exclaims:

Oh, Death, thou comest when I had the best in mind. He has begun to realize the ultimate end of all that mortal in him...

It is here that one—whether he be teacher or pupil—feels the commanding note of the play, and in a voice that rings with anguish, exclaims:

Oh, Death, thou comest when I had the best in mind. He has begun to realize the ultimate end of all that mortal in him...

It is here that one—whether he be teacher or pupil—feels the commanding note of the play, and in a voice that rings with anguish, exclaims:

Oh, Death, thou comest when I had the best in mind. He has begun to realize the ultimate end of all that mortal in him...

It is here that one—whether he be teacher or pupil—feels the commanding note of the play, and in a voice that rings with anguish, exclaims:

Oh, Death, thou comest when I had the best in mind. He has begun to realize the ultimate end of all that mortal in him...

PATTI, COUNTESS CEDERSTROM, TO LIVE IN LUXURY WHILE HERE.

CORNERS OF THE SUITE AT THE PLANTERS WHICH WILL BE OCCUPIED BY MME. ADELINA PATTI.

Famous guests, having been occupied by President Roosevelt, General Miles, Admiral Dewey and William McKinley.

The dining-room is green and has a balcony, which opens upon Fourth street.

There is a huge fireplace in the reception-room, where asbestos gas lamps will give illumination to the diva.

With her, Patti brings as well as waiting two ladies of nobility from England.

also her private secretary, who has been with her for the last half century.

An Italian chef accompanies the party and it is his duty to supervise the preparing of the food for Mme. Patti.

The kitchen and the dining room are in the best of the hotel, this being the first time that a cook has been entertained as a guest at the Planters.

Mme. Patti travels in her private car, "Stacy," now which was named after her country seat in England.

Another car carries her baggage and a grand piano, which is used at her concerts.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Cook and Dickson Cook came together.

Charles Pope O'Fallon and Miss Grace Font, Mrs. Boylston and Mrs. E. A. Mandy were late arrivals.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Walker joined Miss Devereux and Mrs. George W. Walker.

Mr. and Mrs. George Willard Tinsdale were in the left parlor, Mrs. Tinsdale being the first to arrive.

Miss Lillian Beardon, in white and lace, sat with Mrs. Tinsdale.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Green brought their children.

Miss Belcher and Miss Mary Temple were with Mrs. Green.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Walker were with Mrs. Temple.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Walker were with Mrs. Temple.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Walker were with Mrs. Temple.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Walker were with Mrs. Temple.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Walker were with Mrs. Temple.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Walker were with Mrs. Temple.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Walker were with Mrs. Temple.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Walker were with Mrs. Temple.

"EVERYMAN," MORALITY PLAY, HOLDS A FINE AUDIENCE.

An audience distinctly representative of the intellectual development of this community sat through one hundred impressive minutes in witness to the old morality play of "Everyman" at the Edison last night.

There was at the outset a strong element of curiosity as to what form the presentation of the world's code of morals would take...

Two shaven monks came into the scene about the time the audience was seated, and with measured steps, took places...

The man was young, strong, and so dandy scold in mien that he carried with him, in his annual entrance through the body of the house, a complete impression...

He explained, in the quaint Chaucerian English in which the drama is rendered, that he was neither priest nor teacher...

Hard upon the passing of the Messenger, who took his course away as he had done, the Evangelist, in a voice that rang with anguish, exclaimed:

Oh, Death, thou comest when I had the best in mind. He has begun to realize the ultimate end of all that mortal in him...

It is here that one—whether he be teacher or pupil—feels the commanding note of the play, and in a voice that rings with anguish, exclaims:

Oh, Death, thou comest when I had the best in mind. He has begun to realize the ultimate end of all that mortal in him...

It is here that one—whether he be teacher or pupil—feels the commanding note of the play, and in a voice that rings with anguish, exclaims:

Oh, Death, thou comest when I had the best in mind. He has begun to realize the ultimate end of all that mortal in him...

It is here that one—whether he be teacher or pupil—feels the commanding note of the play, and in a voice that rings with anguish, exclaims:

Oh, Death, thou comest when I had the best in mind. He has begun to realize the ultimate end of all that mortal in him...

It is here that one—whether he be teacher or pupil—feels the commanding note of the play, and in a voice that rings with anguish, exclaims:

Oh, Death, thou comest when I had the best in mind. He has begun to realize the ultimate end of all that mortal in him...

It is here that one—whether he be teacher or pupil—feels the commanding note of the play, and in a voice that rings with anguish, exclaims:

Oh, Death, thou comest when I had the best in mind. He has begun to realize the ultimate end of all that mortal in him...

It is here that one—whether he be teacher or pupil—feels the commanding note of the play, and in a voice that rings with anguish, exclaims:

Oh, Death, thou comest when I had the best in mind. He has begun to realize the ultimate end of all that mortal in him...

It is here that one—whether he be teacher or pupil—feels the commanding note of the play, and in a voice that rings with anguish, exclaims:

Oh, Death, thou comest when I had the best in mind. He has begun to realize the ultimate end of all that mortal in him...

It is here that one—whether he be teacher or pupil—feels the commanding note of the play, and in a voice that rings with anguish, exclaims:

Oh, Death, thou comest when I had the best in mind. He has begun to realize the ultimate end of all that mortal in him...

PRETTY BOOTHS FEATURE OF BAZAAR.

Restaurant Department Popular Attraction at Benefit for St. Ann's Asylum.

Mayor Wells's Address. Comments Sisters for Work They Have Done—Lucky Number in Grand Prize Drawing Was 19,862.

The charity bazaar at which it is hoped to raise a good part of the $20,000 required in starting the erection of the new building for St. Ann's Foundling Asylum, was opened at the Coliseum last night with a large attendance.

The body of the bazaar, which was alternately shipped to New York, Philadelphia and Pittsburg, and then back to Philadelphia, arrived in St. Louis Friday night.

It was taken from the train and was supposed to have been sent to Jefferson Barracks.

Either in transit or through some misunderstanding of the officials at the Barracks, the body was lost again and was not found until yesterday.

It is thought that the numerous addresses and labels which were upon the box which contained the body, may have caused the loss.

The body will be given a military funeral and will be interred at Jefferson Barracks.

DECORATIONS ARE PRETTY. The decorations of the Coliseum were left to August Schermerman and he was complimented for his achievements.

At the south end of the arena a triumphal arch has been erected and three striking pieces of statuary greet the eyes of the visitors.

Around the arena statuary has been added to the general effect of the arrangement and the rougher appearance of the big building has been almost hidden.

While there are young ladies on the floor who are anxious to sell "chances," it is the orders of the Executive Committee that persistency be not shown in this work.

It is the orders of the Executive Committee that persistency be not shown in this work. The endeavor of the managers being to give the guests their money's worth and allow them to spend their dimes according to their own wishes.

Martin Shattuck, who was one of the principal promoters of the fair, thought it would be better to run the enterprise on a modest plan and the innovation has proved exceedingly popular.

The fair was formerly opened by Mayor Wells, who made a brief address, complimenting the Sisters of St. Ann's Foundling Asylum, together with the Sisters of the Holy Family, who had been recommended by the Sisters for the work they have done.

Miss Billings said that Lewis engaged her at $5 a week to write four short funny stories for him, and produced letters in court to establish her claim.

Miss Billings received in Paris to-day from Bunn Ventura a letter that several guerrilla parties are already in the field and that several engagements have taken place in the interior of the isthmus.

In private letters just received from the same place it is stated that the jails of Panama are full of political prisoners who are protesting against the accession of Panama to Colombia.

Heart Failure Caused Death. John W. Dressen, a saloonkeeper, dropped dead in his saloon, No. 1201 North Vandewater avenue, at 9 o'clock last night.

Doctor Wilson of No. 378 Park avenue pronounced Dresser's death due to heart failure. The body was left in charge of his family.

Larry Branson Dead. Larry Branson of No. 148 Glasgow avenue, who tried to end his life on November 25 by cutting his throat, died yesterday afternoon at the City Hospital. He was 23 years old and a miller by trade.

To Keep Peace at Indian Dance. Washington, Nov. 30.—The Secretary of War, at the request of Secretary Hitchcock, has ordered a detachment of cavalry from Fort Wingate to go to the Zuni Pueblo Indian Reservation, Arizona, to keep the peace during the dance and feast to be held about December 2.

Folk Will Speak at Mexico. Mexico, Mo., Nov. 30.—W. H. Kennan, president of the Mexico Club, announces that Circuit Attorney Folk has consented to address the local organization on some day to be decided upon later.

IDENTIFIES NEGRO SUSPECT. Mrs. Hutchcraft Accuses Ben Delassus With Robbery.

Ben Delassus, a negro, 15 years old, was arrested at his home, No. 123 Locust street, yesterday afternoon, and was identified by Mrs. Gussie Hutchcraft of No. 465 Washington boulevard, whom he is accused of having robbed Sunday evening.

Mrs. Hutchcraft visited the Four Courts and recognized Delassus among three negro boys who had been arrested on suspicion of the theft. Delassus wept when Mrs. Hutchcraft confronted him, but asserted that he had no part in the robbery.

Delassus declared that he was home in the neighborhood of the High School, and that he had no part in the robbery. He was taken to the police station and held for further investigation.

HUNTER GETS CERTIFICATE. Election Commission Awards Credentials to Him Over Edwards.

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 30.—The Kentucky Election Commission to-day issued a certificate of election to Congress from the Eleventh District to Doctor W. Godfrey Hunter, late Minister to Guatemala. He was elected at the special election held on November 10 last to succeed the late Vincent Boring and to fill out an unexpired term of one year.

There was no Democratic candidate for the office. Edwards and White objected to the giving of the certificate to Hunter, and he threatened to contest in Washington before Congress.

Doctor Hunter is the only Republican Congressman from Kentucky.

Circuit Attorney Will Proceed From There to Centralia. REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

Mexico, Mo., Nov. 30.—W. H. Kennan, president of the Mexico Club, announces that Circuit Attorney Folk has consented to address the local organization on some day to be decided upon later.

Mr. Folk will address the club at Centralia the evening of the day he speaks here.

ANNOUNCEMENT The Mermod & Jaccard Jewelry Company announce their Annual Holiday Opening for Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. A cordial invitation is extended to all to view the most magnificent display of holiday goods ever shown in St. Louis.

COAL IS HIGH OUR ASBESTOS SECTIONAL COVERING on Your Heating Pipes Will Save Coal, Will Make Your Home More Comfortable and SAVE YOU MONEY

MAKE YOUR SELECTION NOW. Our Holiday Stock is now complete. All the hand-somest and newest designs in Diamond Pins, Rings, Brooches, Scarf Pins, Links, Studs, Charms, etc.—the latest and best in every department.

SOLDIER'S BODY LOST MANY TIMES. After Traveling Thousands of Miles Coffin Again Temporarily Disappears in St. Louis.

DECISION FAVORS M. QUAD. Court Passes on Suit Brought by Marie Aileen Billings.

LABORER FATALITY INJURED. A man, whose name is said to be John Gannon, was last night run over and fatally injured by inbound Vandewater passenger train No. 7 in the Terminal Railroad yards.

"CLEANING HOUSE." A Change of Food Cleans the Soul's House. When the body is clogged up by the use of improper food and sickness sets in there is nothing so good as a "house-cleaning," and the right way to do this is to change the food.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL. Paris, Nov. 30.—(Copyright, 1903.) A private cablegram received in Paris to-day from Bunn Ventura states that several guerrilla parties are already in the field and that several engagements have taken place in the interior of the isthmus.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL. Washington, Nov. 30.—The Secretary of War, at the request of Secretary Hitchcock, has ordered a detachment of cavalry from Fort Wingate to go to the Zuni Pueblo Indian Reservation, Arizona, to keep the peace during the dance and feast to be held about December 2.

Mrs. Fairbanks tells how neglect of warning symptoms will soon prostrate a woman. She thinks woman's safeguard is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.