WOODSON IS NOMINATED; SUPREME COURT INDORSED

Delegates to the St. Joseph Judicial Convention Brook No Delay Once the Desks Are Cleared—Anti-Folk Men About One Hundred in Majority, but There is Little Show of Bitterness—Both St. Louis County Delegations Seated, Each Member Being Allowed One-Half a Vote—No Further Contest Made by Phelps Men From Jasper County.

DELEGATES DIDN'T CARE TO HEAR OF NOMINEE'S ANCESTORS.

A. M. WOODSON OF ST. JOSEPH, Nominated by the Democrats for Supreme Judge.

BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT. St. Joseph, Mo., June 21.—Judge A. M. Woodson was nominated for the Supreme bench, Governor Dockery was felicitated and the Supreme Court was unanimously indorsed as of the honesty and ability to-day by the Democratic State Judicial Convention.

Anti-Folk men were about 100 in the majority, though feeling was confined to uncomplicated sounds very much like hissing which greeted W. D. Vandiver, the Folk manager, when he took the floor as delegate from the Thirteenth District.

By this act the committee and the convention declared that no "Indian" outrages had been perpetrated in St. Louis County; in fact, the committee expressly stated in its report on this contest, the circumstances relevant to which were fully aired in testimony, that "the charge of importing voters from the city of St. Louis to participate in the Central Township primaries is not sustained by the evidence."

DIVISION FOR HARMONY. A member of the committee subsequently declared that a majority had favored seating all the Hawes men, but that the division was made in the "interests of harmony."

Mr. Sullivan and his friends were in consultation with John J. Martin, secretary of the committee, yesterday, in regard to a general parade of the visiting Democratic clubs to be held on the night of July 5, previous to the opening day of the convention.

Mr. Sullivan and his friends found Colonel Martin in hearty favor of their plan and they will visit the Business Men's League to-day to make an effort to secure co-operation in the plan.

McCLELLAND GOES TO THE EAST. Message That Son is Injured Takes Flighter to Pittsburgh. Following the receipt of a message that his son had been seriously injured while at play in Pittsburgh, Jack McClelland, who is scheduled to be an opponent for Abe Attell at the West End Club shortly, departed last night for his home town.

THOMAS KIELY COMING THIS WEEK. Champion Irish Athlete Will Compete in A. A. U. Events. Thomas Kiely, the champion all-round athlete of Ireland, is expected to arrive in St. Louis the latter part of this week to prepare himself for the A. A. U. all-round championships that will be contested at the World's Fair Stadium July 7.

POSTUM. Kely has notified the committee of exhibitors that he will compete in the athletic sports that will be held in connection with their outing at the old Fair Grounds on July 20. He will compete in a 100-yard race, a 200-yard race, a 400-yard race, a 600-yard race, a 1000-yard race, a 1500-yard race, a 2000-yard race, a 3000-yard race, a 4000-yard race, a 5000-yard race, a 6000-yard race, a 7000-yard race, a 8000-yard race, a 9000-yard race, a 10000-yard race.

Convention, and had received no information on the subject. "We were around town," he continued, "and could not find where the meeting was going to be held. We finally got word that they were in the Probate Court room and we ran there. We forced a way in and Gillick took the chair, but before we got through the others all left. We then effected organization and elected our delegates."

COMMITTEE FEARED TRAP. "Doctor Sudduth of Clayton showed me a letter in which we were asked to specify a place. I said I thought it was a trap, and gave my opinion that it would be better to wait until next day when the committee would meet again, and then seeing the situation would act accordingly."

"The next day we decided on the Probate Court room. We ruled that nobody be admitted save those who were prima facie delegates, and that when these were seated contesting delegations would be admitted and after that the general public. So told Mr. Rautbush and Claus Martin to tell their people. I was standing at the door when they came, followed by a crowd. I told them that they could not get in then, saying to Fred Reed, Rautbush and Tom Jenkins to wait a minute."

"I tried to hold them back, but could not. I ran upon the street and called the Sheriff's assistance to preserve order, but was refused it. In my judgment, there were forty or fifty men who were not entitled, by any moral right, to be present."

"Seventy-three went away." "Hawes: That left twenty-three more in the Probate Court room than went away." "Yes, but I am told that twenty or more of those men remained simply to watch, and did not vote."

DELEGATES ARE PROMPT. The 70 delegates to the convention were in town promptly this morning. Among the arrivals of other well-known Democrats were Governor Dockery, J. M. Selbert and Moses P. Vestmore. Governor Dockery was possessed of special amiability and good humor, and it was "Hello, Jack; Hello, Joe," to practically everybody whom he met. His memory for names is prodigious.

After the proper cheer of playing bands, the first session of the convention was called to order. Permanent committees were announced and the convention adjourned to await their reports. The following is the make-up of the committees, the names in the order of congressional districts from one to sixteen:

STRENGTH OF COURT RESOLUTION. For a moment it appeared that unexpected ginner would be injected into the proceedings of the Resolutions Committee. Joe Shannon of Kansas City wanted to know if the resolution as then proposed implied indorsement of the State administration. The resolution as then proposed was: "Resolved, That we, the citizens of this State, do hereby express our disapproval of the administration of Governor A. M. Dockery, and we do hereby express our confidence in the administration of Governor A. M. Dockery."

Under our American form of government no department can be more important than the judicial department. If indeed that department does not outrank all others, this is true because the judiciary interprets the Constitution, construes statutes and deals directly and with both the personal and property rights of the citizen.

Upon the calm, considerate judgment, wisdom and patriotism of an able and upright judiciary, more than anything else, depends not only the protection of the individual citizen in the enjoyment of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, but the public safety itself. It is the sworn and solemn duty of the judiciary to guard every man, rich or poor, great or humble, against the deprivation of any right to which he is entitled by the laws of the State, except if he be in strict accordance with the terms of the law.

Any attempt, therefore, without just, ample and certain cause, to destroy or impair the public respect for, and confidence in, the judiciary of this State should be unparagonably condemned.

Resolved, further, That all other matters pertaining to State and national affairs be referred to the consideration of the Democratic State Nominating Convention to be held at Jefferson City July 15.

In Colorado you can play golf the year 'round. July is never too warm; January is rarely too cold. Several of the courses, notably those at Colorado Springs and Denver, are FINE. The putting greens are of sand—faster than sod but just as accurate.

All of which leads to the suggestion that when you go to Colorado via the Rock Island System you take your golf clubs with you.
