CONVENTION CHEERS HAY'S ULTIMATUM.

Convention Hall, Chicago, June 22.—The dispatch sent by Secretary Hay to the American Consul at Algiers demanding Perdicaris alive or Raisuli dead, was read to the convention and was received with hearty cheering.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL

Washington, June 22.—"Perdicaris alive or Raisuli dead" is the demand Secretary Hay has made upon the Sultan of Morocco.

That ruler is in high disfavor now with the Washington Government. Rear Admiral Chadwick, commanding the American force at Tangier, has advised that the negotiations for the release of Perdicaris and his brother's stepson, Cromwell Varley, were not progressing satisfactorily. They are still held captive and one obstacle replaces another in the way of successful exchange of the ransoms for their liberty.

BANDIT RAISULI DEMANDS ANOTHER PROVINCE BEFORE RELEASING HIS PRISONERS.

SPECIAL BY CABLE TO THE ST. LOUIS REPUBLIC AND THE NEW YORK HERALD. London, June 22.—(Copyright, 1904.)—In a dispatch sent at 9 o'clock last night the Tangier correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says there is another hitch in the negotiations with the Moorish bandit, and offers for sending forward the prisoners have been countermanded. Raisuli has demanded another Province.

ENTIRE CONVENTION STARTS TO-NIGHT FOR WORLD'S FAIR

Republican Delegates Restless to Get Away From Chicago to Enjoy Themselves in St. Louis.

ALL PLANS ARE ANNOUNCED.

Three Trains Will Depart To Night at 9 O'Clock After Final Adjournment and Make Fast Runs.

SPECIAL PARTIES COMING.

Six State Delegations Will Use Their Private Coaches to Make the Trip—Alternates and Newspaper Men Also to Be Guests.

BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.

Chicago, June 22.—Early Friday morning, soon after sun up, St. Louis enters upon her duties as hostess to the Republican National Convention, which completes the business features of its session to-morrow afternoon, and departs, practically en masse, at 9 o'clock to-morrow night for the World's Fair City, where the delegates, alternates and representatives of the press from every State, and from the Territories and island possessions of the United States will spend the remainder of the week amid the pleasures and palaces of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition.

Through the report of the special sub-committee of the convention, which was chosen at yesterday's session and read by its chairman, Senator Chauncey M. Depew, as soon as the delegates were called to order to-day, the arrangements for the St. Louis trip were announced to the convention, and the report was enthusiastically adopted.

The details of the plans by the individual delegations, furnished almost the sole topic of interest during the day. As soon as the representatives from the different States began to arrive at the Auditorium after the adjournment of to-day's session, the Missouri headquarters on the second floor became the rendezvous of men representing each State and Territory, anxious to complete the preliminaries for the trip of their respective delegations to St. Louis.

Secretary Walter I. Stevens, Congressman James A. Tawney and C. L. Hillgrove, Traffic Manager of the Exposition, were on hand to answer all questions, and before 9 o'clock arrangements had been perfected for the transportation of more than 1,500 delegates and alternates.

SOME SPECIAL TRAINS.

This number by no means includes all who will leave Chicago to-morrow night for St. Louis. Six of the largest delegations, who came to Chicago in their own special cars and special trains, will use this same equipment on their St. Louis trip, and have made their plans for transportation beyond the announcements of the Exposition officials.

These parties include the Connecticut, Massachusetts, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio and New Jersey delegations, all of which will go in their own cars, leaving about the same time as the general party.

These special trains will carry the delegates and alternates who have accepted the invitation of the St. Louis officials. Each of the three leaves at 9 o'clock to-morrow night, and will reach St. Louis at 6 o'clock Friday morning.

REPUBLICANS REAFFIRM POLICY OF PROTECTION, WITH VERY SMALL LOOPHOLE FOR REVISION; NEGRO PLANK LIKELY TO AGITATE THE SOUTH; NO ENTHUSIASM FOR CUT-AND-DRIED PLATFORM

Permanent Chairman Upon Assuming Control Is Greeted by a Demonstration That Awakens the Memories of Old Timers Present.

BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.

Chicago, June 22.—Cut and dried to the very end, this carefully planned convention could not be stamped to an early adjournment to-day. New York had threatened to finish all business and close with nominations to-night, and for a few minutes there appeared to be a chance that the rules would be swept aside and the movement prevail.

The doorkeepers left the second coupon on all of the tickets under an impression that there might be an evening session and final adjournment. There was much talk of what "Uncle Joe" Cannon would do toward rushing things.

Shortly after 2 o'clock the half a dozen men who are running things got their heads together in full view of the audience, and it was decided, if indeed, there had ever been another thought—that original plans would be adhered to. The tired delegates therefore piled on the cars, after listening to a reading of the commonplace platform, and faced another day of inactivity.

To-day's proceedings at the National Republican Convention developed that the platform adheres to expected lines, particularly in relation to the great of the revisionists, as persistently forecasted in the Republic's dispatches.

The withdrawal of Hitt early this morning, the outcome of a conference among the Illinois supporters of the Congressman, made plain sailing for Fairbanks. It is reported late this evening that all of the favorite sons will now leave the contest and that Fairbanks will go in by acclamation.

The Missouri fellows refuse, however, to admit that there is no chance for their man. They do say, however, that they will support Fairbanks heartily if the tide continues in his favor. This it will undoubtedly do, and it is a matter of question whether Walbridge will be nominated in the convention.

PLATFORM THE EVENT.

From the standpoint of political importance the adoption of the party platform was the event of the day. It contained

PLANK AIMED AT THE SOUTH REVIVES THE NEGRO QUESTION

Republican Leaders Assert That Question of Representation in States of South Is Highly Important—Believed That Platform Is a Pledge That There Shall Be a Congressional Investigation, With Changes to Follow if Evidence Gives Sufficient Excuse—Most Radical Move Taken on Question Which Is Nearest Heart of the South.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL

Chicago, June 22.—With the tariff plank of the Republican national platform accepted generally as a compromise between the "stand pat" and the revisionists, the plank relating to Southern representation in Congress and the Electoral College has attracted the greatest interest among public men here.

One of these planks is looking to the reduction of the representation of certain Southern States in the Electoral College and in Congress. It is built upon what is known as the "Payne resolution," offered eight years ago, and the Quay resolution, offered four years ago, but goes further than either.

The plank directs an investigation to ascertain whether there has been unconstitutional disfranchisement of voters in any State, and, if so, demands a reduction of the representation of such States in Congress, with the consequent reduction in the Electoral College and in national Conventions.

It is regarded by mostly all seen by the Republic correspondent to-night as a most important announcement and perhaps the most interesting in the entire platform. Many of them take the ground that it means congressional investigation of the franchise in the South, whether it results in legislation or not.

Senator Fairbanks, who will be nominated for Vice President to-morrow, expressed himself as exceedingly pleased with the platform, but did not want to be put in quotation marks. He said that every feature was satisfactory, especially that relating to the tariff.

"That's a very good tariff plank," said Senator Allison, "now that it has been changed apparently to the satisfaction of all concerned."

General Powell Clayton of Arkansas dwelt at some length upon the plank bearing on the Southern vote.

"I consider that plank," said he, "one of the greatest importance, and to my mind it means that the Republican party is pledged to a congressional investigation of the Southern franchise, and if the conditions are found as reported from time to time there can be no injustice in basing the representation of the South in Congress and the Electoral College on the actual vote cast. We Republicans in the South believe that this question should have been settled long ago and I know in my State of Arkansas this plank would have a good effect."

Senator McComas of Maryland said: "It is a departure from the average Republican platform in this respect, but it seems to be perfectly right. It looks like a threat, but why not, if any such unjust conditions as disfranchisement exist? There is no fairness in basing a representation in Congress or the Electoral College on a vote that never votes. This means that the Republican party stands committed to investigation of this question."

Governor Murphy of New Jersey said: "The plank relating to Southern representation in Congress should cause no sensation, although perhaps it is a departure in Republican platforms. On the whole, it is good, sound doctrine. If the white men of the South see fit to disfranchise the colored vote, and this can be completely proved on congressional investigation, there can be no injustice in demanding that the South's representation in national affairs should be based on the actual vote cast."

EPITOME OF CONVENTION NEWS.

Roosevelt and Fairbanks will be nominated by the Republicans to-day.

The delegates have tired of the comparative tameness of the convention, and all are restless for the windup and the trip to St. Louis. Three special trains will leave Chicago to-night at 9 o'clock, and will arrive here at 6 o'clock to-morrow morning. The delegates will be the guests of the World's Fair management.

Speaker Cannon, the permanent chairman, was the main attraction of yesterday's session. By his quiet manners and original remarks he captivated the delegates. He was accorded the only real demonstration of the convention thus far. The representation of Alaska was decreased, the Spooner faction in Wisconsin declared regular and the platform adopted.

The Missouri delegates spent the greater part of the day discussing State politics and framing up a slate for State offices. Ladd will be the party's nominee for Supreme Judge.

The great strength of Fairbanks, and the listless way in which the favorite sons are running have discouraged the State delegations. Springer, Webster and Walbridge followers caucused last night, but it was not definitely decided whether the candidate's names shall be held back when the roll is called for vice presidential nominations. A caucus this morning at 9 o'clock will take final action.

Secretary Cortelyou came to Chicago and announced that he had made the trip because of business of serious public import. His selection as chairman of the National Committee is absolutely assured. Elmer Dover will be secretary of the body and joint headquarters will be maintained in New York and Chicago.

The followers from Illinois of Representative Hitt, early in the day conferred and decided that their candidate's name will not be offered for the delegates to vote on the vice presidential nominees. The delegation of the convention aimed at reducing representation of Southern States is considered highly important by many Republican leaders, and is regarded as a pledge for a congressional investigation.

Secretary Cortelyou has arrived at Chicago and will be ready to assume the duties of chairman of the National Committee when his election takes place to-day.

Principles of a protective tariff are reaffirmed, with a promise to revise the schedule whenever public interest demands their alteration.

Declares for commercial reciprocity with foreign countries when such treaties can be made consistent with the principles of protection.

Pledges the party to uphold the gold standard.

Advocates legislation to encourage and build up the American merchant marine. Demands a navy powerful enough to defend the United States against attack and to uphold the Monroe Doctrine.

One hundred and forty lives were lost, according to their account.
