PRETY SINGER CURED OF PELVIC CATARRH

Serious Illness Caused by Cold—Per-na Brought Relief.

Miss Mabelle Rye, of Ashland boulevard, Chicago, Ill., also in the Arion Musical Society, writes: "I was exposed to the rain for hours in the extremely cold weather and was chilled to the skin. The result was that I was laid up with inflammation and catarrh of the pelvic organs. What to do I did not know. Nothing seemed to relieve me until the druggist advised me to try Per-na. A remarkable change for the better took place in a few days, and in a few weeks I was a well woman again. Since that time Per-na has been my medicine chest. I find that it cures constipation, indigestion and liver and stomach trouble, and is a splendid tonic for a worn-out system."

CATCHING COLDS frequently results in pelvic catarrh, a most distressing ailment peculiar to the female sex. The cold is a medical term first used by Dr. Hartman. It means catarrh of some one of the pelvic organs. The results from a cold the same as catarrh of the nose or throat. Local treatment is of no more avail in these cases than in the case of catarrh of the nose or throat. Systemic treatment is the only rational cure. Per-na is a systemic catarrh remedy.

Other ailments in proper proportion. Of course, these ailments are not medicinal, but they are approximately what is required. And certainly, such battles as that of yesterday stand as irrefragable arguments for the upbuilding of the American Navy. Think what the capture of two battleships means to the Japanese Government. They will now have at least seven battleships, the two Russian battleships strengthening their fleet immediately at a time when they can buy no warships anywhere in the world, and when they need them the most."

BODY OF BAKER FOUND AT FOOT OF SALOON STEPS.

Pellee at First Suspect Found, but Later Believed Death Due to an Accident. The Central District Police are investigating the death of George Schenckoff, a laborer, residing at No. 423 South Second street, who was found at the foot of a flight of stairs at the Ohio saloon at Seventh and Market streets, last night. Herman Jarvis of No. 429 South Second street, William Buse, who lives at the 1820s House, No. 694 Market street, and James Madsen, who has no set-up plan, were the only persons who were in the saloon at the time of the tragedy. The police are at first inclined to believe that the man may have been knocked down the steps, but investigation led them to believe that death probably was due to an accident.

DEWEY THINKS PEACE MUST SURELY FOLLOW THIS CRUSHING DEFEAT.

Washington, May 29.—"It is the beginning of the end. I can see no other outcome than that Russia will go for peace." These are the sentiments of Admiral George Dewey, Commander in Chief of the United States Navy, after receiving the news of Admiral Togo's training and defeat in the victory of the Japanese navy, which was attributed to their training and preparedness," continued the Admiral. Doubtless the same spirit was exhibited that they carried with them in their earlier days. Such advice as we have would seem to show that the Japanese achieved their victory by hurling torpedo-boats against the Russians. "Still we cannot ascribe their success to this alone. It is not to be supposed that the two Russian battleships reported captured would surrender to the torpedo-boats alone. Admiral Togo's training and preparation were the key to it. I am convinced, however, that Dewey's victory in the great naval engagement." Throughout the day Admiral Dewey exhibited the keenest possible interest in the details of the fighting, with bulletins of which he was furnished by newspaper men as well as by the Navy Department. In reply to a question of some of his fellow-officers, Admiral Dewey went over all the details of the battle and it was the absorbing topic of the day. Admiral Dewey repeatedly expressed the view that it was "the beginning of the end."

BABY'S AWFUL ITCHING ECZEMA

Sores All Over Face and Body—Could Not Tell What She Looked Like—Unable to Sleep—Grew Worse Under Doctors. CURED BY CUTICURA IN ONE MONTH. A grateful mother, in the following letter, tells of another of those marvelous cures by Cuticura: "When my baby was four months old her skin broke out with a humor. I took her to a doctor, who said it was eczema. He gave me medicine to give her, but she kept getting worse all the time. Her little face and body were so covered with sores and large scales you could not tell what she looked like. No child ever had a worse case. Her face was being eaten away, and even her finger nails fell off. Then it itched so she could not sleep, and for many weary nights we could get no rest. At last we got Cuticura Soap and Ointment, first bathing her in warm water with the Soap, and then spreading on the Ointment with soft cloths. I saw a change in a week. The sores began to heal, and she could sleep at night, and in one month she had not one sore on her face or body. Any mother having children with eczema or humors will find a friend in Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Signed: Mrs. M. M. Sanders, 106 Spring St., Camden, N. J., Aug. 12, 1904." The foregoing statement justifies the oft-repeated assertion that Cuticura Soap and Ointment afford instant relief, and permit sleep for baby and rest for tired mothers, and points to a speedy, permanent, and economical cure, when all else fails, in the most torturing, disfiguring, itching, burning, bleeding, scaly, crusted, and lumpy skin, and scalp humors. Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Pills are sold throughout the world. Beware of cheap imitations. "Put it on her face and body."
