THE LATE JAMES BLUDSO, ESQ.

I've read that screed about Bludso, Who runs on the Prairie Belle;
Whether him or the man who wrote it Was the biggest fool I can't tell; But there's one thing that's dead certain,
The fellow who spun that yarn Knows more about hay-stacks than smoke-stacks,
And I think that he'd better learn—Before writing of boats and engines, And an engineer's work and the like—A safety-valve from a throttle, New York slang from Pike, And as for a couple of wives or so,
And things as bad or worse, I hold those are private matters,
And not fit subjects for verse.
What I look at is the foolishness That he puts in an engineer's lips, About "holding her nose" (again the bank) And the way that he passed in his chips,
Does he think that a greaser uses a pole To poke a steamer along?
Don't he know that an engine 'll go herself
If you open the throttle strong?
A man that runs on the Mississippi Has trouble and worry enough, Without being saddled after his dead With a lot of disgusting stuff, Why, a fellow that didn't know more than him
He couldn't have held a place On a "wheelbarrow" boat to tow coal scoops,
Much more on a packet to race.
If he had "seen his duty" at all, He'd have known that he could do more By letting up on that "yelling" of his
And helping the others ashore; But if he was such a dodd rotten As to stay and be cooked that night, I know what a Pike county verdict would be—"Would be," served the derved fool just right."
A DISGUSTED ENGINEER.

REPORT ON THE ANNEXATION OF UTAH.

The following is the report of the special committee of the Senate on the annexation of Utah:

MR. PRESIDENT: Your select committee, to which was referred the subject of the annexation of the Territory of Utah to the State of Nevada, respectfully report that they have had the matter under consideration.

In many respects the annexation, in the opinion of your committee, would be of incalculable benefit to Nevada. We would be exchanging a State debt of six hundred and fifty thousand dollars, contracted in ten years, for an immense extent of the finest territory in the United States, with a population of one hundred and twenty thousand souls. This Territory was organized first by the Latter Day Saints of Jesus Christ over twenty years ago, and is to-day without a territorial or county debt.
It contains one of the most beautiful cities of its age and size on the continent. The police and internal regulations of the city and Territory are the best perhaps in the civilized world. The traffic in spirituous liquors is under the complete control and subordination of the city and territorial authorities. In the city of Salt Lake intoxication is scarcely ever seen among the Gentiles, much less, if ever, among the Mormons. Gambling and houses of ill-fame are not tolerated, and are scarcely known. Its school system is unsurpassed in its adaptation to the wants of the masses. Innocent amusements are established under the sanction and authority of the Mormon Church in the city, and in all the large towns in the Territory, in which the aged and the young participate regularly, and thereby develop the physical system, enlarge the mental faculties, and improve the social and moral qualities.
They afford a rich retreat for all, and desirable places for the young to spend their leisure hours with pleasure and profit, and thus prevent the contracting of habits, of visiting dens of infamy, whisky saloons and places of doubtful repute. In lessons of legislative and official economy, temperance and morality, the annexation would prove a great acquisition to Nevada. This Territory and Nevada are separated only by an imaginary line, and connected by the great trans-continental railway. The climate, soil and resources of the two are homogeneous.

Under the "narrow gauge" railway system, which is now being so rapidly developed by the Legislature, it will be but a few years till the principal cities, towns, agricultural and mining districts of Nevada and Utah will be connected by a network of railroads, and the most distant points will be easier of access than many of our own county seats are at present.

For a number of years Utah has attracted the attention not only of the civilized world, but particularly of our Government, and Congress has suffered itself to be greatly annoyed by its peculiar institution—polygamy. After repeated efforts by Congressional legislation, judicial process and military power, the suppression of polygamy has completely failed. It is now proposed to turn the matter over to Nevada to try the process of absorption. While we acknowledge the high compliment paid to Nevada on the part of Congress, in thus desiring to refer so grave and important a problem to this State for solution, after it had taxed the ingenuity of our wisest statesmen, and most learned divines, in vain, your committee can but express an opinion and report adversely to the scheme of annexation. The chances are that instead of absorbing polygamy we would be absorbed.

We have no evidence that Utah desires any such alliance; but, upon the contrary, are of opinion it does not. It is true it has no voice in the matter. The annexation depends alone upon the will and pleasure of Congress and of this State. But, however desirable annexation might be to Congress and this State, each of the political interests should have an equal voice. It is against the spirit and genius of our free institutions to force upon the citizens of any Territory institutions or political organizations contrary to their will, or to interfere with their internal policy. However much we may dissent from the doctrine of polygamy in the abstract, or in the concrete, Congress nor Nevada, nor any other power, should set itself or its opinions up as the standard of morality for any church, community, or peoples in our Territories or elsewhere. Polygamy is one of the tenets of the Mormon Church, and they believe as much in its divinity, and hold as religiously sacred its obligations, as any other of the denominations of professed Christians do the discipline, rites, ceremonies and ordinances of their churches.

Persecution but strengthens and vitalizes the persecuted. Denunciation but makes more determined the denounced. Circumscription and proscription but kindle the electric spark of determination and revenge in the human heart. Religious persecution planted the germ of constitutional liberty in American soil.
The absurdity of legislating morals into a community has passed out of the field of discussion, and been reduced to a political axiom. To force religious faith into the human mind is antagonistic to the divine economy of Heaven, and inconsistent with the free will and accountability of man. Errors in religious faith not consonant with the teachings of the Gospel, need no human enactments to eradicate them.
This can be accomplished only by Divine interposition through the agency of divinity has established.
The true solution of the question of polygamy will be found in the admission of Utah into the Union as a sovereign State. The Gentile world will then come into more immediate contact with the institution, and its divinity or deformity will become patent to the heart and intellect of the outside world, and the mutual and friendly contest for supremacy by the intellectual, moral and religious forces upon either side, will destroy it by attrition or establish its Divine origin. In either event, Congress and Nevada, and the rest of mankind, while looking upon the conflict as anxious spectators, ought to be satisfied with the final result.

Your committee therefore recommend the adoption of the following resolution, to wit: Resolved, That in the opinion of the Senate the annexation of Utah to Nevada ought not to be effected.
M. S. BONNIFIELD,
ISRAEL CRAWFORD,
J. W. SMALL.

The oldest land on the globe, and that which first rose above the ocean, which the revelation of geology tell us once covered the whole earth, is the long low line of hills, nowhere exceeding two thousand feet in height, which extend along the border between Canada and the United States, from the eastern part of the Dominion almost to the base of the Rocky Mountains. No one born on the American continent ought to be ignorant of this great geological fact.

The strongest vegetable fiber known is said to be that of New Zealand flax. It has long swordlike leaves ten or twelve feet in length.
It is used by the settlers for binding their sheaves, fastening their gates, tying up their horses, and in almost every possible way.

The only chapter in the Bible (the last chapter of Proverbs), written a woman (the mother of King Lemuel), contains a plea for woman's wages: "Give her the fruit of her hand, and let her own works praise her in the gates."

England derived a revenue of £285,000 last year by taxing dogs.
The number exceeds eleven hundred thousand. Ireland with one-quarter as many inhabitants, supported more than half a million dogs.
