SMOKER WAS ACQUITTED.

JURY DID NOT BELIEVE HIM GUILTY OF CRIME ALLEGED.

John J. McCarthy on Trial Charged With Resistance—Grand Jury to Come in Today—Receives Appointment for a Waterbury Firm—Other Court News. In this court late yesterday afternoon the jury, which had been trying the case of John Smoker, charged with adultery with Ellen Bates, returned a verdict of acquittal and he was accordingly discharged. It is probable that the case against the woman will be nolleed, as she is soon to become a mother.

THE DR. LEE CASE. The grand jury will be called in this morning and will consider the evidence of the case of Dr. J. Edward Lee, who is under indictment charged with murder in causing the death of Maggie Scholas of Ansonia by criminal malpractice.

Superior Court—Civil Side—Judge Wheeler. In this court yesterday afternoon Judge Wheeler appointed John H. Freelin of Waterbury receiver for the firm of Charles Thatcher & Co., also of Waterbury. The liabilities of the concern are said to be about $10,000, and the assets it is thought will greatly exceed this amount.

TWO DECISIONS. Two decisions were also received in this court from the supreme court. In the case brought by Royal M. Bassett against William C. Atwater of Ansonia, the court finds error and orders a new trial. In the injunction suit brought by John A. Robinson to restrain John W. Clapp from using a well on the boundary line of the property the court also finds error.

Court Notes. In the United States district court yesterday Judge Townsend reserved his decision in the case of the Thomson-Houston Electric Supply company against the Winchester Avenue Railroad company, which was brought to recover for the use of the trolley; the patent of which, it is claimed, is controlled by the plaintiffs in the suit.

JUDGE CLEVELAND SWORN IN. In the probate court yesterday Judge Livingston W. Cleveland was sworn in by Judge Robertson, as was also Chief Clerk John C. Gallagher, who succeeds Major Timothy F. Callahan. The first business transacted by the new officials was the assignment of Ernest Koeller, a druggist on Grand avenue. Frank S. Calhoun is named as trustee, and a hearing on his appointment will take place next Wednesday. The liabilities of the concern are given as $700, and the assets as $1,200. An effort will be made to affect a settlement.

DEATH OF JAMES E. SMITH. Dies at the Hospital of Injuries Received Over a Year Ago. James E. Smith, a railroad man, who died at the hospital Monday night, is the man who was found one night in October, 1893, with his back broken lying in the cellar of his boarding house in East street, near Bridge and Water streets.

He was taken to the hospital, and when he recovered consciousness he accused another railroad man of having thrown him through an old hatchway into the cellar.

The police failed to find any man who tallied with the description given by the injured man, and after a searching investigation they reported to Coroner Mix that Smith undoubtedly fell through the hatchway while intoxicated. The injured man, however, clung to his story to the last. He insisted that he had been assaulted and thrown through the hatchway.

He had a step-brother living in New York, but so far as known had no other friends in this country.

His broken back made him a cripple, of course, and he never left his bed from the time he was taken to the hospital, fifteen months ago, until his death. He was thirty-seven years old.

A COMING WEDDING. William Rice Smith and Bertha Grace Lane. Cards are out announcing the coming marriage of William Rice Smith, son of J. The funeral of Edgar B. Johnson was conducted from his late home, 70 Perkins street, yesterday afternoon, Rev. J. H. Hand of the East Pearl street M. E. church officiating. The arrangements were under the direction of Undertaker H. W. Crawford. Bearers were John and Edgar Gilbert and Fred Dunkley, brothers-in-law of the deceased, and Collis Jacobs. The interment was in Evergreen cemetery. Mr. Johnson was the son of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Johnson of Grand avenue. He also leaves a widow and three children. For nearly two years he had been afflicted with heart disease and much of the time he suffered severely.

Investors in Swift & Co. of Kansas City, which firm recently was unable to pay its usual 8 per cent. dividend, believe the dividend will be paid as usual six months hence. In October, owing to the falling off in the exportation of pork to Germany, the price was reduced two cents per pound and Swift & Co. lost a large sum in consequence, which was the principal reason for skipping the usual dividend. There is nearly half a million of the stock held in the annex.

Despite the weather and the bad walking, the week of prayer services at Grand avenue and Second Congregational churches have been very fairly attended this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Connell observed the eighth anniversary of their marriage with a few of their friends Saturday evening. It was a surprise visit for Mr. Connell. The couple received several gifts from their friends. A spread was served and a very pleasant time was observed by all.

There were many visitors at the installation exercises of Columbia castle, K. G. E., Tuesday evening. There were eight members from Bridgeport castle and representatives from Rock and Crusaders castles of this city. The officers were installed by H. W. Sperry, the district grand chief.

NEW LETTER CARRIER RULES.

What They Say in Hartford About Them. Hartford, Jan. 9.—Postmaster Bennett was seen by a Post reporter this morning relative to the new rigid rules for carriers received from the postal department at Washington this week. By these rules the carriers are strictly prohibited from reporting at the office prior to schedule time or remaining in the office between trips.

Postmaster Bennett said: "The government has been pestered by claim agents. Often a carrier will stay in the office between trips, leisurely making up his mail for the next trip. Perhaps within a year a claim agent will appear and ask him if he has not been working overtime. He will naturally reply that he has and he is then informed by the claim agent that the government is liable to pay for that overtime. A suit for overtime wages follows. So long has this gone on and so numerous have been the suits that the government is bound to put an end to it."

"The public is interested to this extent. If the reports show that the carriers in this city are working overtime the result will be that the number of the delivery trips will be lessened. The territory covered will be lessened. The force in this city has all it can attend to at present. I do not anticipate any change, but the report will be watched with interest by the office and public alike."

DERBY'S CITY GOVERNMENT.

Mayor Atwater Announces His Appointments—Quite a Change. Derby, Jan. 9.—The new board of city government was organized last night. Mayor W. C. Atwater has made the following appointments: Street commissioner, G. B. Clark; police commissioner, D. L. Durand; fire commissioner, John J. Leonard; inspector of poor, David W. Boyd; tax collector, Ewen, who was a candidate for assistant clerk of the house Tuesday night. The corporation council will be appointed next week.

The new chief of police is C. H. Arnold. He succeeds Chief John W. Nolan, who has held the office for ten years. The Home Trust company will take charge of the tax collecting.

Coming Pianos Recital. A piano recital will be given by Mr. F. H. Cheeswright, the accomplished young organist of Trinity church, at Steiner's hall next Monday afternoon at 8:30 o'clock. The tickets of admission are for sale at the Steiner music store. A delightful recital is assured.

NURSES' TRAINING SCHOOL.

The Annual Meeting Held at the Nurses' Home Yesterday.

The annual meeting of the Connecticut Training School for Nurses was held at 11 o'clock yesterday morning at the Nurses' home, 471 Howard avenue. From the report of Miss Betts, the secretary, it was learned that the school had 56 pupils at present. Of these 19 are externs and are fitted to take outside cases, and 37 are internes. During the year there were 35 lectures at the hospital and 12 autopsies with practical demonstrations, at which the nurses were present.

There were also 214 surgical operations witnessed by nurses. Cooking classes were conducted by the assistant superintendent. Twenty-eight nurses graduated during the year. There were 291 calls for nurses and four applications for a superintendent of nursing. An interesting account of the work of the missionary nurses was given.

The election of officers resulted in the re-election of all the old officers, except three members of the executive committee. Mrs. A. McC. Mathewson, Mrs. C. L. Hastings and Mrs. J. B. Fitch were elected in place of Mrs. William Fitch, Mrs. G. E. Day and Mrs. E. R. Morris.

The treasurer's report showed that there was a balance on hand at the beginning of the year of $1271. The sum of $19,685.55 was received and $9,645.62 expended.

AGAINST UNCLE SAM.

Letter Carriers' Claims Against the Government.

Twenty-five letter carriers and ex-letter carriers have presented claims for overtime against the government, which aggregate several thousand dollars.

Among the ex-carriers whose claims are under consideration are Dr. George H. Hoey, whose bill is $410.60; George H. Brogan, who asks for $350; Attorney Isadore A. Stein asks for $508.22; James J. Breton wants $252.30, and David S. Barry claims $345.

George A. Butler, ex-superintendent of letter carriers, has also presented a claim.

All these claims are forwarded through Special Claim Agent John A. Howe, Jr., who is now in this city for the purpose. After the claims have been received at Washington Commissioner W. W. Hill will be sent here to investigate, after which he will report to the court of claims.

The period during which the carriers worked overtime was between May 2, 1888, and May 1, 1893. The supreme court of the United States decided that carriers were entitled to pay for all time over eight hours per day that they had served.
