Payne Whitney '98 of New York has been appointed temporary captain of the freshman crew. The lecture on "Primitive Wind and Stringed Instruments," by Prof. Williams Adams Brown to have been held Wednesday evening, March 6, has been postponed to Thursday, March 7.

Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., Yale '95, who has just recovered from a severe attack of the measles has gone to his home in New York to recuperate. Mr. Vanderbilt was taken ill several weeks ago and was confined to his room in Vanderbilt dormitory until he was strong enough to be sent home. The fact that Vanderbilt has been sick was carefully guarded, and but few even of the lodgers in the dormitory knew of his illness.

Prof. Hoppin will deliver this afternoon a lecture on "The Dawn of Christian Art," in the south gallery of the art school.

At 8 o'clock this evening Prof. Brewer will speak at North Sheffield hall on "A Trip to Greenland." The lecture will be one of the Sheffield Scientific school course.

The Beethoven quartet of New York will sing at the University chamber concert to-morrow evening in North Sheffield hall.

LOCAL NEWS JOTTINGS.

The trial of Dr. Lee will come before the April term of the court.

The president has nominated W. B. Brotherton to be postmaster of Milford. He was postmaster during President Cleveland's first term. Roger S. Baldwin is the postmaster at present. His term will expire in April. The salary attached to the office is $1,800.

The well known patent medicine firm of Healy & Bigelow, with headquarters on Chapel street, has been dissolved. John E. Healy withdrawing. He has sold out his interest to J. W. Averill and E. N. Davis of New York for $50,000. Mr. Bigelow retains the controlling interest. A joint stock company will be formed to manufacture the Kickapoo remedies. The capital will be $200,000.

A petition has been circulated in Hartford asking President Dole of the Hawaiian republic to exercise clemency toward Major William T. Seward, a Connecticut man under sentence of death at Honolulu for participation in the recent insurrection. The petition is receiving an immense number of signatures.

In the probate court yesterday morning Attorney James D. Dewell, Jr., was appointed trustee on the insolvent estate of T. A. Wyre & Co., clothiers in Church street.

Bridgeport, Feb. 25.—Secretary Thrasher of the law and order league this afternoon filed complaints with Prosecuting Agent Toomey, asking for the arrest of the officers of the Concordia society and all the bar tenders and waiters who served at the recent masquerade ball in Madison hall.

This afternoon before the committee on cities and boroughs there will be a hearing on the proposed new city charter for New Haven. A big attendance of New Haven citizens is expected. Delegates from almost every lodge of the Ancient Order of United Workmen in the state left for Boston yesterday to attend the annual meeting of the grand lodge of the order.

The ladies of the East Pearl street M. E. church, Fair Haven, are preparing for their annual sale and supper to be given at the church Wednesday and Thursday evening. There will be a sale of cake, flowers, fancy and useful articles and a fine entertainment will be given each evening. Ice cream will be served both evenings.

Sunday was the second day for the 9 p.m. Sunday train from New York to this city, which is to be run four Sundays as an experiment on the guarantee of $185 a trip by the father of Freshman Borden of Yale, and it was a complete financial success. The guarantee was for 124 tickets. A week ago the number was only 84, but Sunday night 188 tickets were collected.

Rev. Father Russell officiated at the funeral services of Mrs. Mary Wilson Sunday. The bearers were Michael, Edward and Timothy Hayes, Michael Farrell, Daniel Dore and Michael Flannery. Edward Monahan was flower bearer. The body was buried in St. Bernard's cemetery.

West Haven's Postmaster. Clarence B. Davis, formerly of this city, was confirmed by the senate as postmaster at West Haven. Mr. Davis has many friends here who will be pleased to learn of his success. The fight for the place was a desperate one and the victory for Mr. Davis is all the more creditable.

Mr. Davis will be remembered by many as the clever shortstop of the old Athletics. His wife is a Meriden lady, the daughter of ex-Councilman Dreher of Crown street. E. Beach is a sister of the postmaster-elect.—Meriden Journal

LADY SOMERSET.

To Speak at Foot Guard Hall, Hartford, Thursday. Lady Henry Somerset will speak in Foot Guard hall, Hartford, Thursday, February 25, at 3 p. m. All railroads will give the same reduced rates as before.

Holder of reserved seat tickets for either the afternoon or evening meeting of February 12 can exchange them at the hall after 2 p. m. the day of the meeting. These tickets to be used must be exchanged.

The Late Mrs. A. W. Phillips.

The funeral services of Mrs. A. W. Phillips, wife of Professor Andrew W. Phillips of Yale university, were held yesterday morning. Prayer was offered at her late residence by President Timothy Dwight. The burial service was conducted at St. Thomas' church by the pastor, Rev. William A. Beardsley at 10:30 o'clock. The general arrangements of the funeral were in charge of William W. Farnam, and Mr. Farnam with Professor Dexter was in charge at the church. The pallbearers were: Messrs. Joel A. Sperry, Professor Henry P. Wright, Professor Charles B. Richards, and Professor William Beebe.

The burial was in Chelsea in the afternoon. Rev. Dr. Horton assisted Rector Beardsley at the services in Chelsea. Maria Scoville (Clarke) Phillips was the daughter of the late Rev. Peter G. Clarke and Lucretia (Hitchcock) Clarke. Her father was a Protestant Episcopal clergyman and chaplain in the United States navy. He was a direct descendant of Rev. Josiah Sherman, brother of Roger Sherman, the signer of the Declaration of Independence. Her mother was a descendant, on her father's side, of John Beach, who emigrated from England between 1620 and 1660, and a descendant on her mother's side, of Francis Lewis, also a signer of the Declaration of Independence.

Her brother, the late Rev. William H. Clark, was a prominent Episcopal clergyman in the south, being rector of St. Paul's church, Augusta, Ga., from 1833 to 1877, the time of his death. He was elected bishop of Africa in 1875, which election he declined. She was married to Professor Phillips in 1867 from her brother's in Augusta. She was a woman of great refinement and cultivation, and of singularly beautiful Christian character. She had been in failing health for several years.

SOUTHINGTON.

Feb. 25.—Washington's birthday was observed here this year with pleasure to all who love to hear songs of praise of country, and speeches. Little children helped the good time in the afternoon, and there were four hundred and more children from our schools. The town hall is a good place and convenient, and here the flag of our country was displayed. Each child has a present now to keep in mind what took place. This card gave them the privilege of being at the hall, and so that the flag will be thought of there is one printed on the card. There should have been many people on the streets in the afternoon to see the children go in and to welcome them when they come out. The exercises were in charge of Unity council, No. 11, O. U. A. M. In the evening there were a good many people at the meetings. There was an outline of the exercises printed on a four-paged folder, and this program was followed out as well as could be for the evening.

Charles Cadwell, when the time came, stated that the meeting would open with prayer by Rev. E. T. Rogers. There was singing by a quartet. There was an address by Jonathan Osborne of Williamette. Then Mr. Henry Merrillman's orchestra made music. Elsie R. Nowell and Martin W. Frieble spoke and Rev. John Breaker and Rev. Joseph Danielson. The historical address was not delivered by Hon. H. D. Smith as on the program announced that he would read the address. He made an address, and then there was more music. There was reading by a lady of the W. R. C., and a solo by Mrs. Steadman, wife of Dr. W. G. Steadman. There were more speeches and there were others there who were willing to make additional speeches who may be called upon at the next anniversary of this day which our nation likes to keep in the public mind. The audience took part in two songs at the closing part of the meeting, and then came good night. The speeches of all as made were true, and will be thought of.

PATROLMAN DOHERTY II.

Patrolman Patrick Doherty of police headquarters is confined to his home suffering from pneumonia. Yesterday he was reported as being slightly improved, but his condition is still serious.

Professor Blackman Summoned to Florida.

Professor W. F. Blackman of Yale has been summoned to Florida, on account of the death of his father, who died on the 22nd inst. He will necessarily be absent from his classes several days.

New Haven Orphan Asylum.

The monthly meeting of the managers will be held at the asylum, 410 Elm street, on Thursday morning of this week at quarter after 10 o'clock.

Miss Farrar's Lectures.

Miss Farrar, who is to give one of her unique half-hour talks in Warner hall Wednesday, the 27th, is better known throughout New England as "Sara Spy." Over that name bright short stories in the Hartford Post and a daily column on live topics of the day in the Boston Traveller have given her a host of friends.

If Miss Farrar is as original in her talks as her writings she will be well worth hearing. About Wednesday's lecture she says: "There is nothing of a private nature in these talks, only the subject in hand. The Modern Girl and How She Brings Up a Mother is more particularly interesting to women."

Two old pitmen recently met in a Durham village, and after the usual salutations the one said to the other: "It's a long time since we've seen ye, Raiphy. Hev ye put any money away for your old age?" "Wey," was the reply; "na've not dun so badly. If I was le'd to to-morrow and be worth four pound ten a week?"—"Tt-Bit."

PERSONALS.

Mrs. E. C. Hemingway Very Ill—Mrs. Davis of Westville Very Ill—Mrs. Luckey Convalescent—Other Notes of Interest.

Miss Helen Hamilton of Brooklyn, N. Y., is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Hamilton on Warren street, this city.

Mrs. E. C. Hemingway of 106 Broadway, who has been very low with pneumonia for two weeks, is slightly better, and Dr. Converse, her physician, thinks she will soon recover.

H. Dolodarsky of 196 Kimberly avenue, whose skull was fractured last Friday afternoon by a collision with an electric car on the Morris Cove railway, was slightly improved yesterday afternoon at the hospital.

Levi Davis, the oldest and one of the best known residents of Westville, is seriously ill at his home on Fountain street with pneumonia. Mr. Davis is ninety years of age, and his recovery is considered doubtful.

Postmaster Francis G. Beach, who is suffering from an attack of the grip, is still confined to his bed, but is rapidly improving, and it is expected that he will be able to sit up in a day or two.

The wedding of Miss Rosie Scheidler and Max Muller, contractor for Bradley, Smith & Co., will take place Saturday night next.

E. Harris Weaver, the local shipping merchant, has gone to Wilmington, N. C., to effect a settlement with the tug which pulled the three-masted schooner Greenleaf Johnson off Fryling Pan shoals during the recent storm.

Rev. Mr. Luckey occupied his pulpit again last Sunday, having returned from Poughkeepsie, where his wife has been ill. Mrs. Luckey has nearly recovered.

REAL ESTATE NOTES.

Many Improvements About Town—New Dwellings—Real Estate Notes.

Brown & Berger of 87 Church street have made plans for a two flat house on Lawrence street, between Livingston and Orange streets, for Fred W. Post. Each flat will have six rooms finished in ash, with all improvements. Contracts not let.

The foundations are in for a handsome residence on the northeast corner of Sherman and Edgewood avenues for W. H. Bartholomew, of the W. H. Stow Lumber company. The house is of attractive design, covered with narrow clapboards, and slate roof. The underpinning is of stone and an outside chimney will run up on one side. The interior is to be handsomely finished in hard woods, and the house will be heated by hot water, with sanitary plumbing and other improvements.

H. C. Warren, the broker, begins the erection of a handsome new residence on Whitney avenue in a few weeks.

R. C. Lowe has the contract to build a two-family house on James street for William F. Tobin. J. M. Miller will do the mason work.

The front of J. Johnson & Son's clothing store on Church street is to be altered making one large show window, instead of two. The entrance will be tiled.

BUILDING PERMITS.

Fire Marshal Hubbard has issued the following permits:

Ward Coe, 135 Humphrey street, two family brick house, 29x20, cost, $8,000. This residence is nearly completed. It is of tasteful design, and a further improvement of Humphrey street. It is a few doors east of Orange street, next the residence of Councilman Lawrence.

Andrew Wahl, 733 State street, brick store 15x55, cost, $2,000; masons, A. D. Baldwin & Sons.

F. P. Bishop, 123 Exchange street, frame shed 18x24.

John Spargo, 706 George street, frame cottage 20x40, cost, $2,500.

William F. Tobin, James street, two tenement frame house, 25x48, cost, $4,500.

SALES.

J. K. Klock and others have sold to Frederick S. Porter land 7 1/2 feet front on West Chapel street.

The estate of C. E. Fancher has sold to John B. Judson land 27 1/2 feet front on St. John street.

A. W. Branch has sold to Victor Branch house and lot on Washington street.

William J. Montgomery, the contractor, has sold to J. Rodofsky and wife house and lot on Myrtle street.

OFERTURE "NATURE."

To be Played at the Yaxse Concert. "Nature" is the first of the overtures which the composer, Antonin Dvorak, born September 8, 1854, at Muhlhausen, near Kralup, Bohemia, now entitled collectively "Overture (Trilogy)," and which were performed for the first time at a concert given on October 1, 1882, for the purpose of publicly signaling the entrance of Dr. Dvorak on his activity in New York. The other two overtures of the group are named "Life" and "Love" (Othello). The composer has striven in "Nature" to give an expression to thoughts and emotions which are awakened in him when on a solitary walk through meadows and woods in summer time he is brought in to close and undisturbed communion with nature.

Through fields and forest the wanderer rambles yielding gladly to the changing moods as they come and go with the ever varying scenes of the landscape. The rustling of the tree-tops, the sighing of the wind, the babbling of the brook, those indescribably sounds which combine in nature's concert, fill the senses into that restful state which gives free way to the imagination and conjures up happy day dreams. The recollection of the life-some realities of life sink into slumber. The perfect peace of mind results which can be found only in nature untouched by the bustle and noise which accompany the efforts of man in the pursuit of his vocations. The composer has not attempted to imitate in tones the language of the birds or to represent the phenomena which one can observe with the senses, but has in true accord with the office of music given expression to the moods which are the result of nature's influence on the impressionable and sensitive temperament. As night approaches and the shadows deepen a village must not be far off, for the sound of a church bell is heard. Faintly it reaches the wanderer's ear, and far from disturbing the quiet of evening it heightens the feeling of happy solitude and contentment which nature has created in him.

Charged With Three Offenses.

James Fuller and John Stephenson, two Fair Haven youths, were arrested last evening by Officers Hope, Linsley and Waas at York square and Ashmun street and locked up, charged with drunkenness, cruelty to animals and resisting officers. When arrested they were unmercifully beating a horse which they had hired from a Fair Haven liveryman.

COURT RECORD.

Superior Court—Civil Side—Judge Wheeler. In this court yesterday application was made for the appointment of J. B. Underwood as co-receiver of the Craighead Manufacturing company, a corporation organized under the laws of the state of New Jersey and having a factory located in Shelton, this state. The assets of the company are about $25,000, and the liabilities $15,000. It was finally decided to transfer the scene of action to Bridgeport, and make application before Judge Andrews.

Judge Wheeler yesterday afternoon issued an alternative mandamus ordering Judge Studley to either file or show reason why he should not file a finding of facts in the case of J. B. Manley vs. the town of Ansonia. The action was brought by ex-Judge Munger, counsel for the town, to compel Judge Studley, who tried the case, to file a finding of facts so that an appeal could be taken to the supreme court of errors. The action was not taken until a year after the verdict had been rendered, and in view of the length of time that had elapsed Judge Studley refused to furnish a finding of facts, claiming that the right to appeal had elapsed.

Probate Court—Judge Cleveland. In this court yesterday there was another hearing on the contested will case of Mary L. Isbell of this city. There are already two wills before the court, and at the hearing yesterday afternoon Attorney Arvine, counsel for the contestant, intimated that there is still another will in existence. The case was continued for one week.

James Bishop and Edward S. Swift were appointed commissioners on the insolvent estate of William C. Malone, a grocer. On the insolvent estate of Scheffer & Neiman Anthony Spinnello and Dwight E. Morehead were appointed commissioners.

Attorney William L. Wright was appointed trustee on the insolvent estate of Dennis L. Garvey, a Chapel street newsdealer. On the insolvent estate of T. A. Wyre & Co. James D. Dewell, Jr., was appointed trustee and Walter Leigh and S. Chase appraisers.

Assignment of a Grocer. Henry W. Martin, a grocer at 422 Washington street, yesterday through his attorney, E. G. Buckland, filed a voluntary assignment, naming E. M. Somers as trustee. A hearing on the latter's appointment will take place next Monday. The liabilities are estimated at $1,400 and the assets at about $400.

City Court—Criminal Side—Judge Cable. James Dolan, breach of the peace, continued until February 27; Charles H. Williams, breach of the peace, continued until April 1; Charles Lebovitch, theft, $5 fine, $7.06 costs; James Wilson, reform school complaint, discharged; Michael Shanley, violation of liquor law, continued until February 28; John Schmidt, keeping his use of ill fame, continued until March 2; Charlotte Montague, Carrie Coleman and Mary Welch, residing in house of ill fame, continued until March 2; John Morris and Michael Carroll, visiting house of ill fame, $10 fine, $3.35 costs; Charles B. Bates, no support, continued until April 1.

INSOLVENT ESTATE. On the insolvent estate of Scheffer & Neiman he appointed Anthony Spinnello and Dwight E. Morehead commissioners.

NORTH HAVEN. Feb. 25.—The center school held one session on Washington's birthday and the teachers, Miss Wilson, Miss Sturges and Mrs. Stiles, devoted the morning to exercises suitable to the day. The pupils assembled in room 3, which was appropriately decorated with portraits of Washington and draped flags. The program consisted of patriotic songs and readings, interspersed with quotations and several well written papers by the older pupils. The flag which floats every school day was saluted by the school in a body at the close of the service.

Mrs. Sarah Hitchcock and Miss Etta Bradley are improving in health slowly and are being cared for by Miss Estie Tuttle.

Miss Mary Thorpe returned from her visit to Wallingford a few days since and reports a very pleasant time with her sister.

At the last grange meeting F. H. Todd reported from the Patrons' Fire Insurance company annual meeting in Hartford. Judging from the report, it would appear that "in union there is strength."

Mr. C. N. Turner had several gallons of maple sap ready for boiling when the present cold snap arrived and put a stop to proceedings.

The second of the sermons on Baptism was given by Rev. Mr. Lathrop on Sunday morning to a large congregation. The speaker used the same text as last Sunday—"Go ye therefore and make disciples of all the nations, baptizing them into the name of the Father and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost, teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you, and lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world." He used the word as meaning cleansing, washing, purifying—the meaning by the Jews, and made disciples of all the nations, baptizing them into the name of the Father and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost, teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you, and lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world.

A YOUNG PHILANTHROPIST.

Miss Morgan the Novelist, Devotes the Proceeds of Her Literary Work to Giving Worthy Girls Summer Vacations. The New York Times says: The young Hartford novelist, Miss Emily Malbone Morgan, has devoted the proceeds from her literary work during the last four or five summers to the maintenance of deserving young women in pleasant country homes, giving them a needed rest in the vacation season. She began this good work with her first book, "A Little White Shadow," and was able to give several girls a charming summer outing at Fenwick. Last summer she provided a home in Blandford, Mass., for her proteges.

A series of books from her pen include "A Poppy Garden," "Prior Rafter's Rose," which was published in Hartford, and "Madonnas of the Smoke," which has been issued in New York. These books have been read widely. Miss Morgan is a native of Hartford, and an enthusiastic Episcopalian. She was educated in St. Margaret's school in Waterbury.

Miss Morgan's father, Henry K. Morgan, is one of the wealthiest residents of Hartford, and is thoroughly in sympathy with the work of the gifted young philanthropist. She is the sister of the Rev. G. Brinley Morgan, rector of one of the New Haven churches, and of Dr. William D. Morgan of Hartford. Miss Morgan is one of the foremost promoters of the Hartford Woman's Exchange.
