THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY. The Late Senator Pickering—Tribute by Senator Palmer, a Personal Friend—Other Notes. Hartford, March 1.—In the senate on Wednesday among the fine tributes to the memory of Senator Pickering was one by Hon. William H. Palmer, Jr., of Norwich, senator from the Tenth district. He said: Senators—The resolution before us by reason of the inadequacy of words, however well they may be chosen, conveys but feebly our depth of sorrow and our appreciation of the loss sustained by this body in the death of Senator Pickering.

Favored with an acquaintance extending over a period of some twenty-five years, during a portion of which it was my pleasure to meet him frequently under various circumstances, I can well say that in the most intimate relations of life he was always cheerful, uniformly kind and courteous, and generous to a fault, always ready to aid from his wealth of knowledge and experience those who sought his advice and counsel.

Suppression of Tuberculosis. An important pending bill relates to the suppression and prevention of tuberculosis in domestic animals. There was a largely attended hearing in the matter before the committee on agriculture in the Hall of the House of Representatives last Tuesday, and there will be another hearing next Tuesday afternoon.

HERE AND THERE. No one appeared yesterday before the judicial committee at the hearing on the bill providing that a person who finds his view of the stage of a theater obstructed may recover the price of his seat, and the committee decided to report adversely on the measure.

YALE UNIVERSITY NOTES. Woolsey Memorial Lectures—Cincinnati Club Banquet—Other Notes. Prof. John F. Welr of the art school will deliver a course of illustrated lectures in the United Church chapel to aid in defraying the cost of the Woolsey memorial statue. The program of lectures, which begins at 8 p. m., is as follows:

Monday, March 18—A Roman Itinerary in the time of Michael Angelo. The Vatican, St. Peter's and the Sistine Chapel. Monday, March 25—An Evening in Venice; her Palaces, Churches and Masters. Monday, April 1—Florence During the Renaissance; a Mosaic of Historic Episodes.

Monday, April 8—A Glimpse of Holland in the Time of Rembrandt. These lectures have been prepared expressly for this course. They will be richly illustrated by the stereopticon, with a continuous series of views, designed to bring the audience into the visible presence of the places and objects discussed.

A dinner of the Cincinnati club will be held soon. The date has not been agreed upon yet, however, and the banquet will only be held on condition that enough names are handed in of those who will attend. The subject for the Thatcher prize debate and the Yale-Princeton debate will be "Resolved, That the income tax law of 1894 was, under the circumstances, a justifiable one."

Taken to Willimantic. Samuel H. Clark, the ex-conductor of the Consolidated railroad who was arrested in this city Thursday evening, charged with obtaining money by false representations from Willimantic parties, was taken to that city yesterday. To-day his attorney, L. E. Jacobs, will go to Willimantic and make application for his release on habeas corpus proceedings. The proprietors of a West Philadelphia safe-stable have this sign outside their establishment: "If you are looking for mules, don't forget us."—Philadelphia Record.

AN ALDERMAN CURED. Dr. Greene's Nervura is the Best and Surest Spring Medicine.

Mr. Crouch and Editor E. C. Gere, in the Daily Hampshire Gazette, Give This Wonderful Remedy a Glowing Tribute.

The editorial columns of the Northampton (Mass.) Daily Hampshire Gazette of Dec. 28th give the particulars of the remarkable cure by Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, of Alderman Charles S. Crouch, one of Northampton's ablest and best known statesmen.

Editor E. C. Gere, of this leading newspaper, personally investigated the facts of this wonderful cure, and his widely read editorial states the details of the cure exactly as they occurred, giving Hon. Mr. Crouch's own words. Following is the editorial in full: Learning that a great cure had been effected in Alderman Chas. S. Crouch of Northampton, Mass., by Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, a reporter took occasion to call on Mr. Crouch and talk with him about it, and among the thousands of testimonials given to this world renowned medicine, none will be more widely read or give greater weight than this one coming from so noted a man as Alderman Crouch.

Mr. Crouch is one of the plain, old-fashioned kind of men, outspoken, and always means just what he says. In conversation with Mr. Crouch, he said: "Last spring I did not feel in my usual health; felt as if tired, in the morning as when I retired; had no energy; nor ambition to go about a day's work; no appetite with which to regain strength and energy. In this condition I worked along from week to week, thinking that after a while matters would right themselves and I would feel like myself again. But to the contrary, I grew worse."

Knowing that Dr. Greene's Nervura was not a patent medicine, but a medicine put up from a prescription discovered by the doctor in his private practice, I resolved to try it. The first bottle helped me so much that I purchased another one, and even a third bottle, as well as my great joy, I found myself as when I was in my life; and, furthermore, has remained so."

In further conversation he said: "Dr. Greene's Nervura is a great medicine. There is no humbug about it! It was made to cure, and it does cure! No one need be afraid to use it."

MR. P. E. BOWMAN. Appointed Assistant Superintendent of the New York Division, Succeeding Mr. Wallace. William H. Wallace, for many years assistant superintendent of the New York division of the Consolidated railroad, has resigned, terminating his connection at 12:01 a. m. yesterday. He is succeeded by Peter E. Bowman, formerly freight agent in this city. Mr. Wallace has been in the company's employ continuously for forty years. He first entered the service as a boy at the Greenwich station and was promoted to station agent at that place. He afterwards became conductor of freight trains running between this city and New York, and from that rose to the dignity of passenger conductor. For many years he ran the 5:30 a. m. express out of this city to New York. His next step was to the position of superintendent of parlor cars between New York and Boston, and from this he was promoted to assistant superintendent of the New York division of the road, which position he held until his resignation took effect yesterday morning.

It could not be learned whether the resignation was voluntary or at the request of the company officials. Peter E. Bowman, who succeeds him, was freight agent here about ten years. He is an ex-superintendent of Trinity M. E. church Sunday school. About a year ago he was placed in charge of the Harlem River freight yard, where he remained until a week ago, when he was made assistant superintendent of the work of four-trucking the New York division. He will assume the new duties at once.

Taken Back to the Scaffold. Fairburn, Ga., March 1.—At noon today Joe Dean, a negro, was hanged for the murder of A. B. Leigh. The first effort to hang the man was a failure, as the rope broke. He was carried to the scaffold and another drop was taken. This proved successful.

It's Education— simply a matter of education—the use of Pearline for washing and cleaning. The bright women, those who learn quickly, are using it now. The brighter the woman, the larger her use of it—the more good uses she finds to which she can put Pearline. Dull women, those who never use new things until their bright sisters have drummed it into them—they'll use it presently. It's just a question of sooner or later, with every woman who wants the best.

Send it Back. Pearlina and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you "this is a good as the same as Pearlina." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, and if your grocer sends you something in place of Pearlina, please send it back. JAMES PYLE, New York.

MILFORD. March 1.—George A. Roberts is fitting up a photograph gallery over Henry Cornwall's store. It is to be occupied by Ernest Hyatt. F. A. Tucker has moved into his new house on Noble avenue. Mrs. Clifford E. Clark is recovering slowly from an attack of pneumonia. The women have laid in a large stock of ice for the ensuing year. There are quite a number of elderly people who have not recovered from the very severe weather of the past month, but the death rate will undoubtedly decrease after this, as there have been an unusually large number who have been taken away during the past month. General George H. Ford was in town Tuesday evening, calling on his mother, who is one of the elderly ladies who are much esteemed. Representative H. L. Tibbals is confined to his home yet with his injured ankle. John A. Boige is getting out a large quantity of timber in Orange. Quite a large delegation of ladies from the Howard avenue church of New Haven came out to the regular meeting of the ladies of the First church last week to learn their system of working that has done so much to build up the church. The management of the First church has been such as to call out favorable comment, near and far. It was the first church in the United States also to set apart a lady as musical director and pastor's assistant and have her ordained for that special work; other progressive methods have also been adopted that are working for the up-building of the church.

Death of Alexander Curran. Alexander Curran died at his home in West Haven yesterday morning of consumption, which is thought to have been superinduced by prostration and grief. Curran was twenty-five years of age and until last year was apparently robust. He was motorman of the car which killed Councilman A. K. Brown, August 5, 1894. A son of Brown's was engaged to be married to Curran's sister, Brown, who was killed in the morning, had arranged with Curran to take a drive in the afternoon.

Since the killing of Councilman Brown, Curran had been exceedingly downcast. He mourned bitterly the fate of the friend his car ran over. He was, it is supposed, predisposed to pulmonary ailments and about the first of October last his fellow workmen noticed he was falling. Two weeks afterwards he was obliged to give up his work. He had not done anything since his illness, and he was to have been the fatality to Brown and he took to himself the whole blame for the councilman's death.

His last words in his delirium were: "Turn off the power, put on the brakes!" Curran up to the time of the accident had been of a cheery disposition, but since then had been morose and despondent. He was to have been married in June. His funeral will take place Sunday from the home of his parents, with whom he lived.

SUDDEN DEATH OF S. A. MOSELEY. Brother of Proprietor Seth H. Moseley of the New Haven House. Samuel A. Moseley, aged seventy-nine, of West Springfield, Mass., living on the King's highway, was found dead in bed Thursday morning, having succumbed to heart failure. He was a farmer, and had been ill only a day or two with a cold. Mr. Moseley was born in Sixteen Acres, and belonged to a family of six children, only one of whom is now living, Seth H. Moseley, formerly manager of the Massachusetts house in Springfield and now proprietor of the New Haven house in New Haven. After leaving the farm he was for several years connected with a surveying party on the Boston and Albany and Consolidated railroads. In 1842 he married Miss Mary Hubbard of Chester, who survives him. Two years after they removed to Hampden, and then to South Wilbraham, where they lived for twenty years. They moved from South Wilbraham to West Springfield. Mr. Moseley was a well known man and was highly respected. He leaves, beside his widow, a son, A. H. Moseley, and a daughter, Miss Mary Emma Moseley, both of West Springfield. One of his sons, a member of the Thirty-seventh Massachusetts regiment, was killed in the civil war and another died at an early age.

The funeral will be at 10 o'clock this morning, and will be private. The burial will be in Hampden.

Railroad Notes. A bill has been introduced in Hartford to protect the holders of New York, New Haven and Hartford road debentures, who under the present laws cannot buy new stock at par. The provisions of the new law grant that right. At a legislative hearing Thursday Henry C. Robinson, a director of the New York and New Haven Railroad company, stated that it would be the fixed policy of the company to resist all electric road parallels. The company is now preparing a map to show the present number and length of these parallels together with figures to show their effect on the revenue of the company. An officer of the road says the parallel roads now have about 150 miles of track.
