

KILRAIN WAS KNOCKED OUT

IT WAS CLEARLY PROVED HE WAS NO MATCH FOR O'DONNELL.

Although the fight was a good one Kilrain clearly showed that he was not a man for the prize ring and his opponent was a much better man.

The first bout was a six-round one between Frank Patterson of Brooklyn and Martie McCue of New York.

The second preliminary bout was an eight-round contest at 135 pounds between George Green of California.

Known as "Young Corbett" and Jim Holmes of New York.

In the seventh Corbett had everything his own way and would have knocked his man out.

but after fighting fifty-five seconds Holmes requested the referee to stop the fight.

The first was stopped and young Corbett was declared the victor.

The final contest was a twenty-five-round at catch-weights between Steve O'Donnell of Australia.

and Jake Kilrain of Baltimore. O'Donnell weighed 180 pounds and Kilrain 210.

The latter appeared to be too fat. Jim Corbett and John L. Sullivan failed to appear in the respective corners of O'Donnell and Kilrain.

In the first Kilrain landed his left on O'Donnell's left eye and brought him to his knees.

O'Donnell's eye bled. Kilrain landed twice again.

In the second round O'Donnell landed three times on Kilrain's right eye.

Pierce in-fighting followed. But few heavy blows were exchanged in the third round.

In the fourth the pace was a trifle hot for Jake, who puffed like a tugboat.

A number of good blows were exchanged in the fifth, sixth and seventh rounds.

Kilrain showed great activity for so large a man. In the eighth O'Donnell landed a hard left on Jake's nose that brought blood.

O'Donnell in the ninth started in to force matters.

In the tenth O'Donnell commenced a series of straight left hand jabs on Kilrain's head.

In the eleventh Steve forced his man all over the ring and planted his left and right heavily on Jake's face and wind without a return.

In the twelfth Steve began to send his right into Jake's ribs with telling effect.

Many of the spectators who felt it was Steve's battle began to leave.

In the thirteenth round Steve smashed Jake all over the ring and had him groggy.

but call of time saved him from a knockout.

In the fourteenth O'Donnell kept up a steady jabbing with his left on Jake's face and occasionally crossed him with his right until he had him staggering.

In the fifteenth round O'Donnell smashed Kilrain at will.

but Jake's gameness stood him in good stead. O'Donnell smashed Kilrain with right and left at will in the sixteenth round.

and made a chopping block of his face in the seventeenth.

Kilrain fought manfully and got in an occasional good blow.

but he grew weak and groggy. In the eighteenth Kilrain came up with his left eye almost closed.

WILL FORM A LEAGUE.

An Important Meeting of Colleges Will Be Held To-day.

Amherst, Mass., May 6.—The meeting of the managers and captains of the Amherst, Dartmouth and Williams baseball, football and athletic associations will be held in Amherst to-morrow night to consider and take action on the formation of a new triangular league in all the departments of athletics.

The plans to be considered are the ones proposed by Dartmouth and approved in a general way by the students of Amherst and Williams.

The Amherst representatives have been instructed to vote for the formation of the new league, but they will probably suggest one or two minor changes and ask that the Amherst specials be allowed to participate in the league.

At Amherst a special is a student who has chosen his course of studies without regard to the prescribed courses and who is allowed to do so only on condition that he selects work for the required number of hours.

There is a promise of perfect harmony at the meeting and the new league is practically assured.

All the captains and managers will be here with the possible exception of Captain Abbott of Dartmouth, who has a ball game to-morrow and may not find it possible to be present.

ARMY CORPS MEETING.

Three Hundred Members Attend the Meeting Held Last Night.

Northampton, Mass., May 6.—About 300 members of the Third Army Corps were on hand to-night to attend the camp fire preliminary to the reunion at Hadley to-morrow.

The veterans were the guests of Northampton and no little pride was taken in their entertainment.

The principal business blocks were decorated, and when the veterans were escorted to the Academy of Music fireworks were burned alongside of the procession.

Over 200 members of W. L. Baker post, G. A. R., occupied seats with the army corps, and seats were also reserved for the Woman's Relief corps.

Mayor Kimball called the gathering to order and introduced President L. Clark Stebbins of Smith college, who spoke eloquently.

He said that in view of the kindness of Northampton to him in the recent death of his son, it would not be fitting to decline the invitation to participate in this occasion, although he might not be in the spirit of it.

He delivered a brief eulogy on General Hooker, who was a brave commander. He was peculiarly our hero, in whom we take a local as well as a national pride.

He attained the highest military rank accorded to any citizen of Massachusetts in the late war.

He spoke of Hooker's birthplace, and said that as long as the quiet country towns continue to produce such citizens the safety of the country is assured.

General Dalton conveyed the regrets of Governor Greenhalge, General J. W. Kimball, state auditor, spoke for Massachusetts. When General Sickles rose he was received with tremendous cheers.

He attained the highest military rank accorded to any citizen of Massachusetts in the late war.

He spoke of Hooker's birthplace, and said that as long as the quiet country towns continue to produce such citizens the safety of the country is assured.

General William Pilsbry, president of the Third Army Corps association, made a brief address.

Rev. J. H. Twitchell of Hartford, Conn., chaplain of the corps, in the war, was given a rousing reception as he rose to speak.

There are no fellowships, he said, like those of war. The Army of the Potomac developed into a fraternity. These occasions take us back into the glorious days of youth.

He never could forget the feelings inspired by the superb man whose memory is now celebrated and the same might be said of the gallant hero, General Sickles.

Mr. Twitchell brought a son with him named Joe Hooker and called the lad forward to be greeted with warm applause from the audience.

General James B. Rusling of New Jersey brought greetings from the historic scenes of Trenton and Yorktown.

He praised the old soldiers and said the Third Corps was an army of lions led by a lion.

The chairman introduced Stuart Heinselman, grandson of the first commander of the Third Corps, and three cheers were given for the commander and three more for his grandson.

THEIR GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY.

Many People Pay Tribute to Mrs. Mary A. Livermore at Her Home.

Boston, May 6.—The golden anniversary of the marriage of Rev. Dr. D. P. and Mrs. Mary A. Livermore was observed this afternoon at their home on Emerson street, Melrose.

It was a most notable event. It was intended to have no public recognition of the day, but the world-wide reputation of Mrs. Livermore, lecturer and philanthropist, made it impossible to observe her first wishes in the matter and so arrangements were made to receive a thousand of her neighbors and intimate friends.

Then came announcements from societies and organizations with which she is connected that they proposed attending by hundreds, and the anticipation of a gathering of at least 2,000 was more than realized.

On the piazza and in front of the house were great masses of flowering plants, and the rooms were a mass of roses, all the contributions of friends.

PARK STREET EXTENSION.

THE OLD RUSSELL SCHOOL BUILDING IS SAID TO BE UNSAFE.

Office of Lamp Inspector Declared Vacant—Action Concerning New System of Pavements—Electric Road Companies Must Water Streets—Other Business.

The regular meeting of the board of aldermen was held last evening, Mayor Hendrick presiding, and a large attendance of aldermen being present.

The matter of the extension of Park street through the lot now occupied by Christ church, to Broadway was again brought up.

The petition called the attention of the board to the fact that the parish of Christ church is about to tear down the old church building and erect a new edifice, and if anything was done in the matter it would have to be done now.

The petitioners in this matter are Nathan Easterbrook, Jr., the Humiston Preservative company, H. C. Seabrook, the Seabrook & Smith Carriage company, Robert C. Bright, Michael McGuire, P. B. Schurman, C. T. Downes & Son, F. C. Candee, N. J. Beers, R. H. Wright, L. L. Gilbert, George R. Doolittle, Burton Dickerman, Henry Lecher, A. B. Stevens, G. H. Northrup, R. A. MacDonnell, M. D., William Fleming, Mrs. Miller, E. M. Kimberly, George W. O'Kell, William H. Cooper, Charles F. Clark, Lederer & Wolf, Julius Lederer, N. J. Weld, trustee.

The petition was referred to the committee on streets.

A petition was received from Frank Pardee and other residents of Wooster square, representing that the old building formerly used for Russell's school was to be fitted up and used as a cheap tenement house.

The petitioners requested that the building be condemned and demolished as unsafe.

The Marshal William H. Hubbard also sent a communication giving his opinion that the building was unsafe.

The matter was referred to the committee on buildings.

The petition of L. J. Matthews and others for a public wharf was tabled for printing.

An ordinance was passed by the board establishing the office of an inspector of lamps to hold office for two years at a salary of $1,200 per year.

The office of clerk of the joint committee on lamps and street lighting of the court of common council and of lamp inspector, as called, were declared vacant.

William Noonan was the present incumbent. The office was worth about $1,500 per year.

A communication was received from Corporation Counsel Ely in reference to the transfer of sewer funds to the general fund. It was ordered on file.

Joseph Porter was unanimously elected inspector of stationary steam boilers.

Corporation Counsel Ely sent in a communication telling the aldermen that there is a bill pending before the legislature to give the board of public works authority to assess abutting property owners for the watering of the streets.

Mr. Ely said that if the bill passed it would make the public works department superior in that matter to the court of common council.

He asked for instructions whether to advocate or oppose the bill.

Alderman Keyes moved that the bill be amended by substituting the council for the board of public works.

Alderman Well said that the council already had the power to assess property owners for street watering.

Alderman Keyes declared that he knew of no provision to that effect in the city charter, and he repeated his motion. It prevailed unanimously.

When the senate bill to bond the city for a new system of pavements came up Alderman Connor obtained the passage of an amendment providing that a portion of the fund may be lent to the city, the sum not to exceed $100,000 in any year, and for a period not to exceed four months.

The purpose of the motion was that so that the city can borrow portions of the fund for purposes other than pavements.

Alderman Blakeslee moved that the first payment of the bonds shall be made in five years, the second in ten years, the third in fifteen years and the final payment at the end of twenty years.

The bill itself provided for yearly payments of $25,000. But Alderman Blakeslee reported upon the suggestion of Corporation Counsel Ely that a one year bond is not easily marketable.

The alderman's motion unanimously prevailed.

It was voted to pay Margaret Moran $25 for injuries received from falling on an icy sidewalk on Sachem street January 28, 1895.

Rose Drew was granted $115 from injuries received from falling on an icy sidewalk on Carmel avenue on February 7, 1895.

Margaret E. Pearson was allowed $175 for injuries received from falling on an icy sidewalk.
