

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

MANY MATTERS OF IMPORTANCE CONSIDERED.

The First Heavy Artillery Memorial—The Constitutional Amendment—Republican Caucus Today—Secret Ballot on the License Question—Attack on the New Haven Hospital—Other Matters.

Hartford, June 19.—This afternoon in the house the unfavorable report relating to the school fund was called up by Mr. Newton of Wallingford. The bill provides for the conversion of the fund and reinvesting the same in the state securities. Mr. Newton spoke in favor of the report and against the bill.

Mr. Clark of Haddam wanted extracts from the minority report printed in the Journal and it was so voted. The bill was then made the order of the day for to-morrow at 11 a. m.

The bill providing that a memorial of the First Connecticut Heavy Artillery regiment be erected on the capitol grounds be made the special order for to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock was passed.

There was an interesting debate in the senate this afternoon on the resolution continued from the last general assembly proposing an amendment to the constitution increasing the representation in the senate to either thirty-seven or forty-five. The bill was favored by Senator Warner and opposed by Senators Chandler, Coffey, Palmer and Fuller. The bill was rejected by a vote of 6 to 14. Those voting yes were Senators Johnson, Gates, Lounsbury, Ferris, Marigold and Warner. Those voting no were Senators Hall, Crosby, Coffey, Birge, Chandler, Hunt, Smith, Chapman, Little and Fuller. Senators Averill and Douglas were paired and there were two absentees.

In the house this afternoon a bill was reported by Mr. Judson of Stratford providing that the proceedings of the legislature be reprinted by eight stenographers, four in each house, at an expense of $50 for each. The bill was rejected, 48 to 57.

In the senate this afternoon Senator Warner, from the committee on education on the bill raising the age of consent from fourteen years, made a report that the committee could not agree. The senate passed the bill making the age sixteen years and the house made the age eighteen years. The house voted to insist on its previous action and the bill fails.

A republican caucus will be held in the hall of the house of representatives to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock. There was an extended debate in the house this afternoon on the bill providing a secret ballot on the license question. A special envelope is also required. The bill was favored by Mr. Keller and Mr. Mah of the temperance committee; also by Mr. Judson and Mr. Lounsbury.

Mr. Clark of Haddam favored only one envelope for all the voters. He thought that two envelopes would create confusion and many ballots would have to be thrown out. He doubted if it would be possible to secure a secret ballot in the manner proposed and it would be better to allow the voting the same as at present.

Mr. Keller said it was not desired to mix up the different ballots and the only way out of the difficulty was the report they had made.

Mr. Tucker of Ansonia opposed the bill. The committee asked to provide for two envelopes of different colors. There was danger of getting the ballots mixed.

Colonel Wood wanted to table to provide an amendment that there should be only one ballot. The bill was then tabled and at 5:15 the house adjourned until Thursday at 10:30 a. m.

Colonel Wood's motion for an evening session was met. It was suggested that the house should hold an evening session to-morrow, but no action was taken.

During the last half of the afternoon session Representative McCarthy of Naugatuck was the acting speaker, and although it was his first experience, he made a very acceptable presiding officer.

Just before adjournment a resolution was reported appointing Charles B. Wooster deputy judge of the city court of Ansonia.

ATTACKED THE HOSPITAL.

In the house this afternoon Major Kingman of Washington made an attack on the New Haven hospital that surprised the members. The matter pending was an appropriation of $5,000 for the hospital and during the debate Mr. Kingman charged the institution with administering treatment that he termed notoriously scandalous. Major Kingman in his speech said: "I think that the New Haven hospital ought to have at least $7,000 if the Bridgeport hospital has $5,000. The New Haven hospital is noted for their very poor treatment of patients. A short time ago a case came to my attention in which a very good friend of mine was taken there. He told me he was tripped and left one whole hour in a cold room without attention. He said he spent but a short time there and then he left most of his clothes were found to be stolen and the valuables were gone. The treatment given there is notoriously scandalous and I think an additional appropriation might relieve the condition of affairs."

Major Kingman, when asked who his friend was who told him the story said it was Charles Beach of Washington. He said he was a reputable man and he had no reason to doubt his statements.

MADE USE THE TYPEWRITER.

A bill calculated to do away with stenographers in courts should the experiment prove successful, was passed by the senate to-day. It provides that stenographers in the use of typewriters take down the evidence. The bill is as follows: Section 1—Courts of common pleas, in their discretion, employ competent persons skilled in the use of typewriting machines, to take evidence in court cases, by means of said machines, which evidence so transcribed, by be certified and used as the official evidence in the case in the same manner as evidence taken by official stenographers in the superior court. Copy of which evidence shall be kept on file by the clerk.

Section 2—The person so employed shall be duly sworn and shall receive reasonable compensation, to be approved by the judge and paid as other court expenses.

It is understood this plan is to be tested as an experiment by the court common pleas of New Haven.

THE QUESTION OF APPEAL.

There was a long discussion in the house this morning over the bill providing that in street railway matters decisions of boards of selection and courts of common council may be appealed from by the railroad companies, such appeals being to the superior court. Mr. Newton of New Haven offered an amendment providing that the right of appeal should not be given to street railway companies in New Haven. He said the people of New Haven did not want such right of appeal. The city and town authorities ought to have final jurisdiction in matters concerning the use of their streets. There was no reason why the courts should be called upon to decide whether or not streets shall be used for railroad purposes.

The New Haven amendment was rejected and then Mr. Newton moved to reconsider an amendment which had been passed exempting South Norwalk from the proposed law. The house refused to reconsider and finally the bill was passed by a large vote. Mr. Newton said the electric roads of New Haven were giving the public a splendid service, and he had no idea that there would be any reason to expect a disagreement.

MR. MASON'S INQUIRY.

Senator Webster, chairman of the committee appointed by the senate to investigate the charges made by Rev. J. H. Mason of New Haven, received a letter of inquiry from that gentleman this morning. He asks whether his appearance before the committee on Monday next is voluntary with himself or whether it is compulsory. He mentions the fact that Monday is his busy day, but does not suggest any other date on which to be heard.

The reply of the committee is that his appearance is purely optional with him. It is thought that this may be the end of the whole matter.

SENATE.

Bill passed providing an appropriation of $5,000 for Grace hospital of New Haven, placing it in the $5,000 class; concerning dependent soldiers, sailors and marines, providing that a non-resident after residing in this state five years may be admitted to soldiers' homes; appropriating $700 to Isaac Bartram for caring for Putnam memorial camp; prohibiting the sale of anti-toxins, unless it is a brand authorized by the state; incorporating the Fox associations of Yale college; incorporating the Cromwell fire district and the Hartford Yacht club; authorizing the Union Baptist church of Montville to receive gifts and conveyances; redistricting the city and town of Hartford, directing the wards from eight to ten, amending the charter of the Wooster Insurance company; amending the charter of Fitch's Home for Soldiers.

The bill regulating the manufacture and sale of food products was explained by Senators Hall, Averill and Warner. The appropriation for the bill is $2,500. It was drawn at a joint meeting of the judiciary and public health committees.

Senator Gates explained the bill concerning the illicit sales of liquor during unlawful hours. He said the bill was drawn by Judge Hotchkiss of New Haven. The bill was passed. It provides a fine of 7 and costs upon each person who is caught buying liquor in saloons or elsewhere at unlawful hours.

The order of the day was the resolution providing for furnishing water to the people of West Hartford. The bill provides that the supply from Trout brook in West Hartford shall be used by the people of that town, as well as by the citizens of Hartford. After a lively discussion the bill passed.

Adjourned until Thursday at 12:30 p. m.

A POMPEIIAN FETE.

A Spectacular Exhibition of the "Last Day of Pompeii," to be given at Savin Rock.

The historical spectacular representation of Pain's Last Days of Pompeii will be given at Savin Rock commencing on the evening of June 29, and continuing every week day evening until July 6, inclusive. The scene represents the city just before the eruption of old Vesuvius, during the terrible ruin of the flow of lava, and making a most realistic and impressive spectacle. The so-called Pompeiian fete has been exhibiting at Paterson, N. J., and will exhibit as an attraction provided by the Winchester Avenue Railroad company for its patrons. The spectacle will be well worthy a visit. The scene opens on the streets of Pompeii on a fete day, and presents incidents of everyday life in the ancient city, with the temples, processions, street scenes and the public games.

The spectacle of the awe inspiring eruption, the terrific earthquake, and the total destruction of the city is truly marvelous. Immediately following the fire scene an elaborate display of Pain & Son's magnificent Manhattan Beach fire works will be given, and these will be changed at every performance.

Some of the specialties of the performance will be Harry LaRose, the special globe walker; St. Belvos, a wonderful leap fifty feet through the air into an enormous hoop filled with knives and fireworks; Lonon Brothers, grand staircase, difficult walk up the same head to head, and remarkable hot throwing feat; Gros Bros., bronze statues; and a grand ballet under the direction of Arnold Kiralfy.

VERY BRILLIANT WEDDING

THE TAYLOR-BURNSIDE WEDDING IN MILFORD LAST EVENING.

The Church and Residence Trimmed in Truly June Style—Some Elegant Costumes—A Special Train Brought New York Guests—The Trousseau—To Take a Short Wedding Trip.

The wedding of Miss Mary Elizabeth Taylor of Milford, second daughter of Henry Taylor, to Alfred W. Burnside of New York, occurred last evening at 8 o'clock in the Mary Taylor Memorial church in Milford.

The church was decorated entirely in pink and white, the chancel being a mass of pink and white peonies. Miss Norma Munro of Norwood Park, Long Branch, a daughter of the famous publisher, Norman L. Munro, acted as first bridesmaid, and the other bridesmaids were Miss Gertrude Greene of Tarrytown-on-the-Hudson, Miss Virginia Boyd of New York, and the cousins of the bride, Miss Rita Grey of New York and the Misses Josephine and Laura Strong of Irvington-on-the-Hudson, all being attired in gowns of pink satin, with bodices of chiffon of a very delicate pink, trimmed with spangled bands of pink satin over the shoulders, and at either side of the blouse. Miss Margaret Taylor, the elder sister of the bride, wore a white satin gown heavily trimmed with old lace.

The best man was James Burnside, a brother of the groom, who is a cousin of the late General Burnside. The ushers were Edward Strange of Irvington, John T. Gillespie and Louis T. Gillespie of New York, Willard H. Jones of New York, Thomas Ambrose of New York and Rev. Mr. Kidd of Milford officiated. Miss Elizabeth M. Smith, organist of the church, occupied the organ bench and rendered a fine recital program. The wedding music consisted of a bridal chorus from Lohengrin and the march, "Midsummer Night's Dream."

After the ceremony a brilliant reception was given at Laureton, the country seat of the bride's father, where the bride and groom received congratulations in the drawing room at the left of the entrance, standing beneath a canopy of pale pink roses, with curtains of asparagus at either side.

An open supper was served by Deibel from the large reception room at the front of the house, the dining room being reserved for dancing, and the conservatory beyond being lighted as a promenade.

The approach to Laureton hall was brilliantly illuminated by Japanese lanterns, while the entire lawn was lighted with gaily colored lights.

The New York trains yesterday had special cars attached for the guests and at 5 o'clock a special train brought up the groom's friends.

Miss Taylor, now Mrs. Burnside, is about twenty-one years of age and is quite pretty. Her trousseau was most elaborate. The wedding gown imported by Fox of New York is of the regulation heavy white satin made with a long train. At the throat she wore a large sunburst of diamonds, a gift from the groom, while her veil was fastened by an exquisite tiara of five diamond stars, set in a diamond studded band, the gift of her father. Her bouquet was of orchids and lilies of the valley.

Almost everything in the trousseau was imported for her by Fox of New York. Her going away frock came direct from Paris. It is a dark blue crepon, made over silk, the waist with a white satin vest embroidered in gold, a small black braided straw hat with plumes and jet, low flowers will be worn with this gown. A stunning dinner costume is of pale yellow satin, the body made with a blouse of white chiffon and pale yellow satin ribbon. This is held at the waist by a narrow satin belt, fastened at the front by a gold jeweled buckle. The skirts of all the gowns of this wonderful trousseau are made tight fitting about the hips, with the full flaring sides, and stiffened with hair cloth to the depth of the knees. This forms three rolls at the back as in the full skirt of last winter. A new and very pretty idea is the effect of two box pleats laid at the waist line on the hips. These are pressed flat over the hips, developing into a broad flare as they reach the bottom of the skirt. A charming shawl cape, to be worn with almost any costume, is of russet brown velvet, embroidered in gold. This is lined with silk and sea shell pink tint, the high ruff at the neck lined with the same color, bringing out the tints of the skin.

Of morning gowns in simple gingham the bride has a countless number. There are delicate yellows, pinks, greens and blues, all of them lace trimmed, with fluttering ribbon sashes. A maddening collection of dainty mullins shows two particularly charming frocks. One is of white with its pattern done in wild yellow roses. This is made over a pale yellow silk slip and is trimmed with yards and yards of fluffy yellow lace. In cut it shows the plain full skirt, with the narrow ruffles about the bottom. The baby waist is made with lace insertion and held in place with a knot of ribbon at the back. Another is of the pink rose buds on a white ground, the slip of rose pink silk. This, too, is simple in design, with the narrow sash knotted at the back. In detail the trousseau is perfect. There are carriage gowns and capes, theater frocks and bonnets, parasols in every style and color, gloves and handkerchiefs, with an assortment of lace-trimmed underwear in softest of mulls that would do credit to a princess.

The bride's gift to her bridesmaids were circular-shaped brooches of forget-me-nots and pearls. The groom gave small scarf pins to his best man and ushers. The immediate relatives of the bride who were present were Mrs. Livingston, the sister of Mr. Taylor, a brother, John Howard Taylor, Miss Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Strange, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Taylor and the Misses Taylor of Mamaronck. The groom's immediate relatives count only his parents and his brother, James Burnside.

After a brief wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Burnside will go for the summer into apartments at the Oriental hotel at Manhattan Beach.

The gifts include several thousand dollars' worth of silver, an equal amount in rare gems. A costly collection of bric-a-brac also figures among the presents. Miss Taylor has a fortune of several million dollars in her own name, being one of four who were left heirs to $20,000,000.
