

COLUMBIA IS THE VICTOR

PENNSYLVANIA'S EVIL LUCK FOLLOWED HER TO THE LAST.

Her Boat, Which Was Considered as Good as New, Went Down Over a Mile From the Finish—Columbians Snapped All Bats That Were Made on the Race—At One Time the Conditions Were Perfect.

Poughkeepsie, June 24.—Almost in the face of a stiffish wind and water so rough that the boats of the crews filled and swamped one before the other after the finish line was passed, the Columbia crew rowed steadily on to victory this evening in the fast time of 21:25.

The Cornell crew were second, seven lengths behind. Their time was 21:46 2-5.

The Pennsylvania's evil luck lasted to the end. Their shell, smashed by the waves from Governor Morton's tug last Friday and patched up until it was practically as good as new went down over a mile from the finish.

The Cornell boat was swamped just below the crew's boat house, after the race was over, by swells from the steamboats and was fairly broken in two. The Pennsylvania's shell suffered little.

The day began hot and clear, but in the middle of the afternoon it commenced to cloud up. Up to noon only a handful of rosters were in evidence. After noon, however, things began to liven up. Special trains on both sides of the river poured crowds into Poughkeepsie and Highland continuously.

The large number of yachts that were out on the first day stayed away and the river was kept clear of boats. There seemed to be much less betting before the crowd moved across to the west shore than on Friday. The odds showed some change. The Cornell men, instead of giving four and five to one against Columbia offered 2 to 1. The Columbians snapped up everything that was offering. The members of the crew staked an amount aggregating fully $3,000 at average odds of 2 to 1.

Cornell was a 7 to 5 favorite over the field to-day. On Columbia against Pennsylvania the betting was even. Scarcely any bets between Cornell and Pennsylvania were recorded.

The race was officially set for half-past four, but it was never intended that it should take place before 5:30. The latter earlier time was given out in order that the river craft might anchor before the race. While the excursion boats were taking position the observation train of thirty cars on the west shore was rapidly filling up. It was nearly 5 o'clock when the train was backed up to the starting point. The sky had been darkening rapidly, but it was evident a storm was impending.

At 5 o'clock the Cornell launch was seen coming up the river with the shell in tow. It was half way up when the rain began to fall. The wind drove the rain squarely into the faces of those on the observation train. The rain lasted a little over half an hour. When it began to clear the Cornell launch went in shore to protect the shell. Three stake boats had been placed at the start. The men in charge of these boats out loose and started for shore as soon as the rain began.

When the crews got under way for the starting point the stakeboats were still absent. Cornell was the first to come up. The Columbia crew appeared soon afterward, followed by the Pennsylvania's.

At 5 o'clock the crews were ready to start. Up to this time the water had been smooth. The conditions were perfect, but the stakeboats were not in position. While they were being rowed out it began to rain. The water grew quite choppy. Two of the stakeboats were soon got into position. But the middle stakeboat from which the Columbia crew was to start could not be brought to anchor. After some additional delay the referee got the boats in line and started them without the stakeboats.

The locomotives of the observation train reached while a boat went out from the waiting hundreds. The train moved off and the tug felt in behind the shells and the referee's boat, the Gretchen.

It was 5:45 when the starter's pistol sounded and the three crews, catching the water practically at the same instant, got away together, making a pretty start. Columbia was in the middle, with Cornell on the east and Pennsylvania on the west. The Pennsylvania's pulled with more vim than either Cornell or Columbia and she was the first to strike rougher water. The Cornell crew got the worst of it, but the Pennsylvania's took it in the coarsest shape. The other boats gradually drew up on the Pennsylvania's and it was noted that though every stroke of the Columbians was gradually moving their boat to the front.

The Pennsylvanians dropped back to the rear at the three-quarter mark and were out of the race, although the men pulled pluckily on. The Cornell hung in pluckily and at the end of the first mile the race appeared to belong to nobody.

YALE COMMENCEMENT WEEK

CLASS DAY CELEBRATED WITH POMP AND CEREMONY.

A Brilliant Assemblage of Ladies Graces the College Campus—The Class Historians—Other Class Day Events—Yale Law School's Commencement—Address by Justice Brown, L. L. D.

From the three mile point to the end of the race was a procession. The Columbians eased down. Their long, telling stroke was kept up down the line of screaming tugs and excursion boats to the finish. It was 7:15:25 when the Columbia crossed the line. They had made the four miles in 21:25, beating Cornell seven lengths. Cornell's time was 21:46 2-5.

The Cornell victory was greeted with the screaming of steam whistles and tremendous cheers. The hubbub lasted for ten minutes. Both the Columbia and Cornell crews were fresh and strong. After the race the Cornellists started off to row to their boat house, three-quarters of a mile away. The boat had a deal of water in it. The steamers and launches were ploughing up the water at a great rate. Cornell managed to get well inside before the slump came. As the water washed across the shell the men protested it from going down altogether and a boat put out from shore to their assistance. Five of them grabbed the rowboat on one side and it capsized, dumping its two occupants into the water with the Cornell crew. The rowboat went down, too.

The Cornell launch then steamed up and rescued all hands. The Cornell shell will probably be of no further use. The Cornellists and Pennsylvanians attribute their defeat to the rough weather. The Pennsylvanians were bitterly disappointed.

Columbia men are to-night celebrating the victory of their crew with great enthusiasm.

R. R. Perkins of Harvard acted as referee of the race.

ON THE BALL FIELD. Results of the Games in the Big League Yesterday.

At Williamstown—Williams defeated Amherst in the last championship game of the season on Weston Field this afternoon by a score of 4 to 2. It was a beautiful contest, just close enough to make things exciting and characterized by sharp decisive fielding.

At Washington—To-day's game was a pitcher's battle, Maul having the better of it. Not a Baltimore run reached second base until the eighth inning, when the visitors made two home runs.

Washington . . . 0 0 1 0 0 5 0 1 0-7
Baltimore . . . 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 2 0-2
Hits—Washington 5, Baltimore 6. Errors—Washington 2, Baltimore 3. Batteries—Maul and McGuire; Clarkson and Robinson.

At Boston—The New Yorks opened up like winners to-day, but the Bostonians out loose on German in the fourth inning and from then on it was the easiest kind of work for them. The score:

Boston . . . 0 0 0 5 1 0 3 0 0-9
New York . . . 1 0 2 0 0 0 0 2 0-5
Hits—Boston 15, New York 6. Errors—Boston 3, New York 1. Batteries—Stivett and Ganzel; German and Wilson.

At Chicago—Chicago . . . 0 1 0 3 2 2 0 0 0-8
Pittsburg . . . 0 3 0 2 0 1 0 0 0-6
Hits—Chicago 12, Pittsburg 9. Errors—Chicago 2, Pittsburg 3. Batteries—Stratton and Donohue; Hawley and Sugden.

At Brooklyn—The Philadelphia's touched up Gumbert for five hits in the fourth inning to-day, which netted the visitors four earned runs. The score:

YALE COMMENCEMENT WEEK

CLASS DAY CELEBRATED WITH POMP AND CEREMONY.

A Brilliant Assemblage of Ladies Graces the College Campus—The Class Historians—Other Class Day Events—Yale Law School's Commencement—Address by Justice Brown, L. L. D.

From the three mile point to the end of the race was a procession. The Columbians eased down. Their long, telling stroke was kept up down the line of screaming tugs and excursion boats to the finish. It was 7:15:25 when the Columbia crossed the line. They had made the four miles in 21:25, beating Cornell seven lengths. Cornell's time was 21:46 2-5.

The Cornell victory was greeted with the screaming of steam whistles and tremendous cheers. The hubbub lasted for ten minutes. Both the Columbia and Cornell crews were fresh and strong. After the race the Cornellists started off to row to their boat house, three-quarters of a mile away. The boat had a deal of water in it. The steamers and launches were ploughing up the water at a great rate. Cornell managed to get well inside before the slump came. As the water washed across the shell the men protested it from going down altogether and a boat put out from shore to their assistance. Five of them grabbed the rowboat on one side and it capsized, dumping its two occupants into the water with the Cornell crew. The rowboat went down, too.

The Cornell launch then steamed up and rescued all hands. The Cornell shell will probably be of no further use. The Cornellists and Pennsylvanians attribute their defeat to the rough weather. The Pennsylvanians were bitterly disappointed.

Columbia men are to-night celebrating the victory of their crew with great enthusiasm.

R. R. Perkins of Harvard acted as referee of the race.

ON THE BALL FIELD. Results of the Games in the Big League Yesterday.

At Williamstown—Williams defeated Amherst in the last championship game of the season on Weston Field this afternoon by a score of 4 to 2. It was a beautiful contest, just close enough to make things exciting and characterized by sharp decisive fielding.

At Washington—To-day's game was a pitcher's battle, Maul having the better of it. Not a Baltimore run reached second base until the eighth inning, when the visitors made two home runs.

Washington . . . 0 0 1 0 0 5 0 1 0-7
Baltimore . . . 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 2 0-2
Hits—Washington 5, Baltimore 6. Errors—Washington 2, Baltimore 3. Batteries—Maul and McGuire; Clarkson and Robinson.

At Boston—The New Yorks opened up like winners to-day, but the Bostonians out loose on German in the fourth inning and from then on it was the easiest kind of work for them. The score:

Boston . . . 0 0 0 5 1 0 3 0 0-9
New York . . . 1 0 2 0 0 0 0 2 0-5
Hits—Boston 15, New York 6. Errors—Boston 3, New York 1. Batteries—Stivett and Ganzel; German and Wilson.

At Chicago—Chicago . . . 0 1 0 3 2 2 0 0 0-8
Pittsburg . . . 0 3 0 2 0 1 0 0 0-6
Hits—Chicago 12, Pittsburg 9. Errors—Chicago 2, Pittsburg 3. Batteries—Stratton and Donohue; Hawley and Sugden.

At Brooklyn—The Philadelphia's touched up Gumbert for five hits in the fourth inning to-day, which netted the visitors four earned runs. The score:

YALE COMMENCEMENT WEEK

CLASS DAY CELEBRATED WITH POMP AND CEREMONY.

A Brilliant Assemblage of Ladies Graces the College Campus—The Class Historians—Other Class Day Events—Yale Law School's Commencement—Address by Justice Brown, L. L. D.

From the three mile point to the end of the race was a procession. The Columbians eased down. Their long, telling stroke was kept up down the line of screaming tugs and excursion boats to the finish. It was 7:15:25 when the Columbia crossed the line. They had made the four miles in 21:25, beating Cornell seven lengths. Cornell's time was 21:46 2-5.

The Cornell victory was greeted with the screaming of steam whistles and tremendous cheers. The hubbub lasted for ten minutes. Both the Columbia and Cornell crews were fresh and strong. After the race the Cornellists started off to row to their boat house, three-quarters of a mile away. The boat had a deal of water in it. The steamers and launches were ploughing up the water at a great rate. Cornell managed to get well inside before the slump came. As the water washed across the shell the men protested it from going down altogether and a boat put out from shore to their assistance. Five of them grabbed the rowboat on one side and it capsized, dumping its two occupants into the water with the Cornell crew. The rowboat went down, too.

The Cornell launch then steamed up and rescued all hands. The Cornell shell will probably be of no further use. The Cornellists and Pennsylvanians attribute their defeat to the rough weather. The Pennsylvanians were bitterly disappointed.

Columbia men are to-night celebrating the victory of their crew with great enthusiasm.

R. R. Perkins of Harvard acted as referee of the race.

ON THE BALL FIELD. Results of the Games in the Big League Yesterday.

At Williamstown—Williams defeated Amherst in the last championship game of the season on Weston Field this afternoon by a score of 4 to 2. It was a beautiful contest, just close enough to make things exciting and characterized by sharp decisive fielding.

At Washington—To-day's game was a pitcher's battle, Maul having the better of it. Not a Baltimore run reached second base until the eighth inning, when the visitors made two home runs.

Washington . . . 0 0 1 0 0 5 0 1 0-7
Baltimore . . . 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 2 0-2
Hits—Washington 5, Baltimore 6. Errors—Washington 2, Baltimore 3. Batteries—Maul and McGuire; Clarkson and Robinson.

At Boston—The New Yorks opened up like winners to-day, but the Bostonians out loose on German in the fourth inning and from then on it was the easiest kind of work for them. The score:

Boston . . . 0 0 0 5 1 0 3 0 0-9
New York . . . 1 0 2 0 0 0 0 2 0-5
Hits—Boston 15, New York 6. Errors—Boston 3, New York 1. Batteries—Stivett and Ganzel; German and Wilson.

At Chicago—Chicago . . . 0 1 0 3 2 2 0 0 0-8
Pittsburg . . . 0 3 0 2 0 1 0 0 0-6
Hits—Chicago 12, Pittsburg 9. Errors—Chicago 2, Pittsburg 3. Batteries—Stratton and Donohue; Hawley and Sugden.

At Brooklyn—The Philadelphia's touched up Gumbert for five hits in the fourth inning to-day, which netted the visitors four earned runs. The score:

DROWNED IN WEST RIVER

Believed to Have Been a Case of Suicide—Possibility of Foul Play—Coroner Mix Will Investigate To-day—No Clue to the Identity of the Dead Man.

The body of an unknown man was found floating in West river, near the Kimberly avenue bridge, about 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon by five boys who were rowing on the river. The boys were George Cook, Frank Colwell, D. Cosgrove, W. Cronan and John Cosgrove, all of this city. The body was found floating on the West Haven side of the river and was towed by the boys to the Kimberly avenue bridge, where Medical Examiner Barnett was summoned, and after viewing the body, ordered its removal to Stahl & Hegel's undertaking establishment in this city.

The case is in the opinion of Medical Examiner Barnett one of suicide, though there is also an element of possible foul play in the case. The body is that of a German about forty years of age, six feet in height and weighs about 200 pounds. He was dressed in black shirt, coat, vest and trousers, and wore gaiters, no stockings and a leather belt around his waist.

After the body had been removed to Stahl & Hegel's Medical Examiner Barnett made a more complete examination but found nothing among his effects which would tend to disclose the identity of the man. In the pocket of his coat was found a memorandum book containing notes, showing that he was a moulder by trade, a memorandum of work and the following written in German, "Gerkin Franklin House. He has that — house. Drives me to my death. I boarded with him six months and owe him $16 for board."

Carl Gerkin, who keeps the Franklin house on Greene street, called at Stahl & Hegel's last night and viewed the remains, but was unable to identify the man. E. F. Hochstetler, who lives at No. 2 First avenue, West Haven, stated that he knew the man but could not recall his name. He said that the man had formerly worked at Bigelow's, and later at Fitch's shop, and lived in a barn in the rear of Jeremiah Beecher's saloon on Wooster street. It is thought that in all probability Gerkin will be able to identify the body to-day.

Coroner Mix was notified of the affair, and after viewing the body last night is of the opinion that it is a case of suicide. The remains were viewed in this city and told the officer in charge that he had been turned out of his room at the Franklin house, that he had no money and wanted a night's lodging. As he could not be kept at police headquarters he went away, lamenting his misfortune.

Up to an early hour this morning the remains had not been identified.

THE REVOLT IS SPREADING. London, June 24.—A dispatch from Sofia to the Pall Mall Gazette says the Macedonian revolt is spreading rapidly between Vranjs and Egri-Palanka. Since June 19 there has been constant fighting around Palanka, during which the rebels destroyed the railway communications with the Vardar valley. The rebels are Bulgarians who crossed the frontier into Macedonia. The cabinet are cowed by the warlike feeling of the populace, and are undecided how to act. The ministers have been threatened with assassination if they intervene to check the revolutionary movement.

RE-ELECTED PRINCIPAL. New Britain, June 24.—The special town election held in this city to-day resulted in the election of John H. Peck as principal of the New Britain high school. Peck has been the principal of the school for the last thirty years. It is said that the members of the school board who ousted Mr. Peck may resign their positions.

ANOTHER COMBINATION FORMED. Pittsburg, June 24.—Fifteen gentlemen representing the sentiment of twenty-three independent companies having a combined capital exceeding $50,000,000 engaged in the manufacture and sale of telephone instruments in the United States, met here this morning. The purpose was permanent organization for the protection of their business. The companies represented at this afternoon's session effected an organization known as "The Independent Telephone Company of the United States." The companies are operating in states west and south of Illinois, in which territory they have over 100,000 instruments installed. They propose supplying small cities first and then the larger business centers and at rates about half those charged by the original Bell company.

CORBETT DENIES THE CHARGES. New York, June 24.—Upon application of Lawyer Hummel Judge McAdam appointed Edward Jacobs referee to try the issue involved in the suit for absolute divorce in which Mrs. Ollie Corbett has brought against her husband, J. J. Corbett, the pugilist, upon the statutory ground. Corbett was married in 1885 and lived with his wife until April, when she claims to have discovered evidence of his faithlessness. Corbett has put in a denial of his wife's charges.

YOUNG MAN LYNETED. New Orleans, La., June 24.—John Frey, a young white man, was hanged this morning by a mob at Gretna, a suburb of New Orleans. Gretna from the depositions of firebugs, but none of the villains have ever been captured. Frey and a gang were caught this morning. A mob was immediately organized and while the men were being conveyed to the jail Frey was secured by the crowd and hanged just back of the jail yard. The evidence against the others was not as conclusive as against the victim of the mob and they were locked up.

SALTED REE MALDEN RACE. Southampton, June 24.—The regatta of the Castle Yacht club, of which Lord Durraven is commodore, was sailed to-day. The new Herreshoff 34' rater Vanquero, built for Mr. Durraven, sailed her maiden race in the regatta against five Solent built boats. The course covered fourteen miles. The Vanquero was third in the first round, and last but one in the second. She was over four minutes astern of the winner.

KENTUCKY DEMOCRATS.

Contests in the State Convention—The Committee on Resolutions.

Louisville, Ky., June 24.—The democratic state convention here will be involved in one of the hottest contests in the history of the commonwealth. Many delegates were here over Sunday. All are here to-day for the preliminary skirmish in the district meetings. The canvasses made by all of the Louisville papers show the gold delegates to be in a majority. The silver men dispute their estimate, and charge that the Louisville papers claim most of the unstructured delegates when those delegates are equally divided. The lines are drawn on the question of endorsing the administration, Carlisle's friends leading for the administration and Blackburn's friends opposing. General Cassius M. Clay is the administration candidate for governor and General P. W. Hardin is the anti-administration candidate.

The silver men will try to force nominations before the adoption of the platform. The gold men are bitterly opposing this order of business, as they claim that Hardin is a pronounced free coinage man, as much as Senator Blackburn, and if nominated wants a free silver plank.

The first test of strength will come to-morrow on the selection of a temporary chairman, who has the appointment of two members at large on all the committees. There are eleven congressional districts. It is estimated that the gold men will have six and the silver men five of the committees on resolutions from these districts, but if the silver men secure the temporary organization the platform-makers will stand seven to six. This is the fight that is being made to-day. Neither side will announce its candidate for temporary chairman, although Chairman W. J. Stone and M. S. Berry are still most prominently mentioned by their respective sides for presiding officer.

The Post, which strongly supports the administration's financial policy, to-day has a full poll of the delegates, showing 455 for Hardin, 378 for Clay and 45 doubtful. There are 878 delegates, 440 necessary to a choice, and the poll indicates that Hardin lacks five votes only. The Hardin men say that they have the five votes. This is by no means certain. General C. Gordon Williams was defeated sixteen years ago by James B. McCreary when within five votes of the nomination.

Ex-Governor Buckner published a card to-day stating that he would not accept the nomination for governor and insisting that the sound money democrats must select some other man if they cannot nominate General Clay. General Buckner adds that he is a candidate for senator on a sound money platform, and will have nothing else.

YALE IS A FAVORITE. There is as yet little betting on the Great College Race.

New London, June 24.—What the crews did on the river to-day did not avail to give any idea of their speed on long distances. This evening the Yale freshman and varsity eights came down to the bridge in the launch and pulled back, the freshmen hitting a pace over the two miles to the varsity. Where they shot off, and the varsity crew went over the full course. The latter crew did most of its rowing in a dense fog that shut it out of view. Guy Richards, who has captained the Columbia varsity crews, will be referee of the Yale-Harvard-Columbia freshman race, which will take place Thursday morning between 9 and 10 o'clock. The race will be up the river, beginning at the bridge.

The varsity race takes place Friday afternoon as near 5 o'clock as possible, for the tide will be running ebb for about an hour and a half then. This race will be, as usual, down the river, the finish being at the bridge. George Rivers will be referee. The launch Dorra will be the referee's boat.

Harvard's practice this evening was far up the course, and eight of the Yale varsities. As the date for the race comes closer the belief that the contest will be a close one increases.

There is little betting on the race yet, but Yale is a slight favorite. The Columbia crew will arrive to-morrow and get upon the river at the first opportunity.

IN FAVOR OF MR. DANA. New York, June 24.—Judge Brown, of the United States district court, to-day handed down his decision in the libel suit instituted by F. B. Noyes of the Washington Star, and a director of the Chicago Associated Press, against Charles A. Dana of the Sun. The decision is in favor of Mr. Dana on all the points, and the application for Mr. Dana's removal to Washington under an indictment found by the grand jury last is denied and the defendant is discharged.

SENATIONAL ASSIGNMENT MADE. Cincinnati, June 24.—The most sensational assignment of the season was made by John B. Specker, doing business as Specker Brothers, dry goods, etc., on Elm street. His assets are said to be $750,000. Liabilities unknown.

CREEDON WINS THE FIGHT

HE KNOCKED OUT BILLY HENNESSY IN THE SIXTH ROUND.

There Was Some Good Inside Work in the First Round—Creedon Let a Good Drive Go Into Hennessy's Face in the Second—The Boston Man Was at No Time a Match for the Australian.

Boston, June 24.—Dan Creedon of Australia whipped Billy Hennessy of Boston in six rounds at the Suffolk Athletic club to-night. It was plain to the 800 spectators that Creedon would win after the first round, but Hennessy made a plucky battle while it lasted. In the sixth round, when he was floored with a left hand punch, which fazed him, he made a desperate attempt to regain his feet, but Creedon finished him with a right swing on the jaw, which put him out.

The exhibition was opened by Tom d'Arcy and Tim Gallagher, both Bostonians, who were to spar fifteen rounds but after five rounds of hard fighting Gallagher was knocked completely out. When Creedon and Hennessy entered the ring Hennessy looked the smaller, but was in the pink of condition, weighing about 157 pounds. Both sparred for an opening. Hennessy was first to lead but the bell saved him. When Hennessy Creedon was evidently sinking up his opponent and fought cautiously. He landed with his right on Hennessy's jaw, but the latter retaliated with a straight left on Creedon's stomach. Some in-fighting followed and both men made an excellent showing.

In the second Hennessy landed a good one on Creedon's jaw. Creedon stopped to the center and watched his opponent for a few seconds, then let his right drive full into Hennessy's face. He followed this with another and then a left swing, which completely dazed Hennessy.

A light left on his jaw sent him against the ropes. Creedon slipped and Hennessy rallied sufficiently to step to the center of the ring. It looked as though one punch would put him out, but Hennessy saved him. When Hennessy came up for the third round, he appeared fresh. Creedon landed with both hands on his face. Hennessy planted his left on Creedon's jaw. He followed with a right on Creedon's face. Creedon made a rush for Hennessy with a swing, but it was cleverly ducked. Creedon began to fight slow and left many openings.

In the fourth round Creedon opened with a straight left which landed on Hennessy's ribs. In-fighting followed and Hennessy had much the better of it. Creedon landed two straight lefts on Hennessy's jaw before the round closed.

Hennessy used his right with good effect in the fifth round on Creedon's face. Creedon was waiting for a chance to land his right and feinted many times but Hennessy used his head, cleverly ducking out of the way.

In the sixth both appeared in good condition. Hennessy landed his left on Creedon's ribs and followed with a swing on the jaw. Creedon stepped back a foot and began to fight cautiously. He landed his left twice on Hennessy's jaw and got away without receiving a blow. Before the latter could recover sufficiently he got another swing in the same place, which knocked him out.

Dick O'Brien challenged Creedon and was accepted.

P. O. S. of A. Camp No. 8. Last night the above camp met for the last time in their lodge room, top floor of "Courier" building, having voted to hold their meetings hereafter in the very pretty lodge room, No. 25 Insurance building, changing their meeting night to Friday instead of Monday. The camp has voted to attend services at East Pearl street church June 30. It also elected its officers for the next six months as follows: Past president, G. E. Morris; president, F. S. Snow; vice president, G. G. Blackman; M. of F., J. J. Morgan; conductor, E. C. Morgan; inspector, J. B. Morgan; organist, Altonz Denick; trustees for eight months, William E. Morgan; delegates elected to the state convention as follows, F. S. Snow, J. B. Rattlesdorfer, A. Maxcy Hiller, W. A. Shappa, George E. Morris, S. S. Bushnell. This camp is in a flourishing condition and increasing its membership constantly.

TWENTY-EIGHTH ANNUAL REUNION OF THE TWELFTH C. V. ASSOCIATION TO BE HELD AT MORRIS COVE TO-DAY. A largely attended meeting of the members of the Twelfth C. V. association was held in Mayor Hendrick's office in the city hall last evening to complete arrangements for the twenty-eighth annual reunion of the association to be held at the Forbes house, Morris Cove, to-day. The officers of the association are: President, A. C. Hendrick; vice president, James E. Smith; secretary, Stephen Ball; treasurer, L. A. Dickinson; committee of arrangements, Henry Tuttle, Henry Lyons and Frank Smith.

The following "order of the day" has been issued and sent to each member: 1. Assemble at the city hall, pay assessment and receive badges from the committee. 2. Leave city hall at 10:30 o'clock and take street car for Forbes house, Morris Cove, 3. Arriving at the Cove a short business meeting will be held in the pavilion. 4. At 1 o'clock fall in for dinner. 5. Meeting in the pavilion immediately after dinner, when an hour will be occupied in a manner that will prove of interest to all, after which comrades and friends can return to the city as they please. It is expected that about 100 veterans will take part in the reunion.

SENATIONAL ASSIGNMENT MADE. Cincinnati, June 24.—The most sensational assignment of the season was made by John B. Specker, doing business as Specker Brothers, dry goods, etc., on Elm street. His assets are said to be $750,000. Liabilities unknown.