THE SEA SERPENT AGAIN.

This Time He Runs Into a Fishing Steam Boat and Breaks the Paddle Wheel.

New York, Aug. 16.—Captain Burns of the fishing steamboat Montauk ran into City Island this morning and told the latest sea serpent story. He said that while the Montauk was on a cruise yesterday afternoon bound west, and when about three miles east of Eaton's Neck, the boat ran into a big sea serpent or some extraordinary big fish.

Captain Burns said that the force of the collision broke the flange from the paddle wheel. He said the head of the monster was the shape of that of a hog and that it had large eyes. When it turned over in the water he noticed that it had small legs. Captain Burns estimated the length of the sea monster to be nearly 100 feet in length. He said it was surely ninety feet long. Captain Burns said that his crew were all sober men, and that they would all confirm his statement.
