

WALLINGFORD.

Death of Another Aged Resident—An Esteemed Lady—Saturday's Ball Game—Victimized by Fakirs—The Races This Week—Had a Bad Spell.

Another aged resident has passed away. Saturday morning shortly after 10 o'clock Mrs. Alexander Hall, wife of Alexander Hall of North Farms, died after a short illness, aged seventy years.

The Wallingforders went to Meriden Saturday and defeated the South Meridians by a score of 19 to 6. Casey and Gardner was the Wallingford battery.

Several of the residents about the borough have been victimized by two "wood fakirs" who have a custom of going to the houses and representing that they are from North Haven, and have a load of wood which they brought up here for a customer, but he had gone out of town, and as they did not want to carry the wood home they would sell it at a sacrifice, give the $2.50 for $1.50.

The last meeting of the Connecticut Central circuit will be held at the Centre-street park to-morrow and Wednesday.

Michael Schwink of Yalesville had another of his spells on Saturday and was about the village with an axe. During the day he threw himself into the Quinnipiac river near Parker's shop, but did not succeed in drowning himself.

Mrs. Walter Steele has received the $7000 insurance of her late husband from the O. U. A. W.

C. R. Tiffany and Ralph Perkins are at Block Island.

At the lawn tennis tournament on the Beaumont avenue grounds Saturday the winners were: Miss Claire Banks and Miss Bessie Lane, Sam Hubbard and Frank Allis.

The piece of Irish blackthorn that Principal James McCabe brought over from Ireland and presented to Wallace Hesse company for a gavel is on exhibition at J. M. Cannon's store, and is quite a curiosity.

THE HORSE RACE. The horse race to be given by the Wallingford Agricultural society at their fair, takes place Thursday, September 19. There will be a $100 purse, divided, first, $50, second, $25, third, $15, fourth, $10. Entries close September 9. Entrance $1.00. Drawing for position takes place at judges' stand at 11:45 a. m. Prizes given out by secretary.

To Rebuild By and By. Dr. Skiff speaking of his theater Saturday alluded to the destructive fire two years ago. "Since that time," he continued, "the wind has raised great havoc with the theater, and has done considerable additional damage to it. I intend to rebuild it and have always intended to since the fire, but I have never seen my way clear to do so. However, I may say that it will be rebuilt shortly."

Naval Militia Home. The local naval militiamen are again at home, after spending a most successful week at Camp Coffin.

Miss Gertrude Mungler, who has been spending the past two months with her sister, Mrs. Sherwin, in this city, returned to Danbury Saturday, accompanied by Mrs. Sherwin, who will visit there for a couple of weeks.

CONSOLIDATED ROAD.

A Handsome Increase of Passengers Despite the Trolley Cars.

Reports from the Consolidated road show, says the Evening Post, that the number of passengers carried between Harlem River and stations up to and including New Rochelle the first year that this branch was established was about 500,000.

At this time the electric lines which now carry passengers to most of the stations on the branch were not contemplated. But, notwithstanding the competition of these lines, the suburban trains have continued to hold their own, as may be seen from the following official statement for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1895: Fort Morris 3,183, Casanova 36,679, Hunt's Point 13,822, West Farms 5,358, Van Nest 67,788, West Chester 78,775, Baychester 30,544, Barstow 135,067, Pelham Manor 87,750, Woodside 26,490, New Rochelle 179,434; total, 664,825.

The management has not yet felt the necessity of increasing the service between One Hundred and Twenty-ninth street and the terminus.

On the main line the average number of passengers carried between New York and stations up to and including Port Chester each year for the three years previous to the last fiscal year have been about 2,000,000. During the fiscal year ending June 30 the number of passengers carried, according to official statistics, are as follows: Mount Vernon 883,199, Pelhamville 81,189, New Rochelle 591,723, Larchmont 150,668, Mamaroneck 223,723, Harrison 87,268, Rye 98,531, Port Chester 283,945; total, 2,409,773.

Both passenger and freight receipts for the whole system of the Consolidated for July will show a large increase over those of July last year.

The purchase of thirty heavy engines last spring was very opportune, and without them the Consolidated road would hardly have been able to handle the increased freight tonnage.

In two years more the great four-track system between this city and New York will have been completed. One of the biggest jobs yet to be tackled is the line through the city of Bridgeport. The cost of this work—acquiring land damages—is estimated at between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000. Another big improvement, now under way, is the building of another track from Boston west to the Providence division, thus affording four tracks at that point and doing away with the grade crossings.

TO BLOCK ISLAND OR WATCH HILL.

To-morrow a special excursion to Block Island or Watch Hill will be given by the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company by special train from New Britain, Berlin, Meriden, Yalesville, Wallingford, North Haven, and New Haven to New London, and thence by steamer Block Island on Thursday, August 29, at the extremely low rate of fare of $1.25 from New Haven and $1.50 from other stations.

MANY SUNDAY EXCURSIONISTS.

The regular morning train from Springfield yesterday brought a large load of excursionists from Springfield and intermediate points, who got off at New Haven to spend the day at the various resorts in this vicinity.

There were twelve coaches on the train, all filled. Many went back on earlier trains, but about 500 on the evening train last night, four extra coaches being required to carry them.

Both the Sunday expresses to Boston yesterday afternoon were so crowded that two sections of each train were run, one going by the Air Line and the other by the Shore Line.

Newspaper Changes.

Concerning the reports in various of the papers Saturday regarding the New Haven Register, Mr. John D. Jackson of that paper writes to the Hartford Times as follows:

With the exception of the statement of the retirement of Mr. Rodman, the city editor, and the choosing of his successor, Mr. Day, there is not a single material statement in the article alluded to that is not wholly false.

What is less creditable, no effort was made to see either Colonel Osborn or myself to verify the statements made before publication.

To deny, categorically: First, it is stated that Colonel Osborn is to retire from the editorial management of the Register and be succeeded by Mr. S. Albert York, Jr., on September 1. Mr. York will not succeed Colonel Osborn on September 1, or at any other time, and no editorial change is in contemplation.

It is also stated that Colonel Osborn has sold his stock. Colonel Osborn has never, personally, owned any stock in the Register, and was only interested as one of eight heirs to an estate which controlled the majority of stock in the paper.

It is further stated that when I "took hold of the paper two years ago, I began to make perpendicular cuts in salaries, and decreased the force, among others crowding out Lewis S. Welch, formerly city editor of the "Contract," and "that Colonel Osborn strongly protested against this summary way of doing business, but was powerless to prevent it."

The facts are that I have been connected with the paper but seven months, that not a single cut has been made in the salary of any regular employe of the paper, but, on the contrary, several have been raised; and that Colonel Osborn first suggested, and was entirely responsible for the severance of Mr. Welch's relations with the paper. He has made every change in the editorial department on his own motion after consultation with me, and our relations have been perfectly harmonious.

The other changes in the force suggested or "stated," have not been contemplated. Incidentally, in showing the apparent animus of the article, it should be stated that every individual suggested as interested in the Register property at present is either adorned with a new name, or initials, or has had his name misspelled.

TOWN PLANS ACCEPTED.

Work on the State Highway Commission Progressing.

Hartford, Aug. 25.—The state highway commissioners have approved the plans for improved roadways as submitted by the following towns, and have authorized contracts to be made: New Britain, Berlin, Plainville, Portland, Saybrook, Cromwell. The plans and specifications of eight towns as follows were received by the commissioners Friday, having been returned for correction: Stonington, Groton, North Stonington, Milford, North Branford, Guilford, Madison, Essex.

Commissioner James H. Macdonald attended a town meeting at Oxford Friday and Commissioner Adolph Sternberg went to Brooklyn Saturday to attend a meeting in the interest of good roads.

To Reform School.

Dennis W. Moran, a twelve year old boy, was arrested by Patrolman Donagan of the Howard avenue precinct yesterday on a reform school complaint. He has been an inmate of the county home, and also St. Francis orphan asylum, but he escaped from both institutions several times and it was decided to have him committed to the reform school during his minority.

A Peculiar Prisoner.

There was a peculiar prisoner in duration vile at the central station last night, and his entrance there was a surprise even to the varied experience of Signal Officer Heegan. He never said a word to the sergeant, but his name is Garibaldi, and he is a native of Brazil. He is an interesting specimen of a South American monkey and shares a cell with his owner, Vincenzo Kalkle, who was arrested by Patrolman H. J. Donnelly and Coonan for the theft of $89 from Donati Lombardi.

The patrol wagon landed the Italian, a hand organ and "mook" at the station, and while the organ grinder begged to take his hairy companion with him into the lockup, and the faithful beast shared his master's confinement.

IT WAS A NARROW ESCAPE.

Frank Hermance attacked by Palpitation of the Heart While Bathing—Able to Make His Run To-Day. Frank Hermance, the well known conductor on the Consolidated road, spent Sunday at the cottage of Mrs. Eager at Indian Neck. When a boy Mr. Hermance was an expert swimmer, but had not been in bathing in salt water for over twenty years until yesterday. When he donned a bathing suit and paddled out some distance from shore and found that he could still swim a young lady challenged him to swim around a stake about 150 yards from shore. They kept well together until after having turned the stake and started from shore, when the young lady forged ahead. Mr. Hermance just after turning the stake had a severe attack of palpitation of the heart. He called to the young lady to assist him and tried to get to shore by placing his hand on her shoulder to support himself, but was unable to reach shore in this way and a young man was called. By the aid of the young man and the lady he reached shore, and was carried to the cottage. He lay in a semi-conscious condition for about an hour, while restoratives were applied. He was then able to sit up. In answer to numerous inquiries he expected to be able to go down on his usual run at 6 o'clock this morning. The many friends of the conductor will be pleased to learn of his escape from drowning, which would have been the inevitable result had not help been so near at hand.
