WALLINGFORD.

There seems to be but little interest manifested here over the approach of Labor day, and its observance will be not interfered much with the usual every day program in the various factories, all of which will run as usual, with the exception perhaps of H. L. Judd & Co., Simpson, Hall, Miller & Co. works, with the exception of the spinners and turners who run to-day.

H. L. Judd & Co. close to-day. The road committee, Burgeses Barber and Luby, has given orders that the work started by the Gas company toward laying a new main through Washington street to Wallace's shop has been dug and remained open for the past week or more north of the Washington street bridge. It filled up and cleaned. Superintendent Lane is not inclined to accept the order and comply with the same.
