BETWEEN THE TWO

It is often hard to come to a conclusion and make a choice from our display of Carpets and Rugs shown in such a multitude of designs that please. The opinion may be divided, but you can't make a mistake; you'll get something worth having in any case. We're showing more new designs this fall than any other house in town, and in every line of goods our prices are from 10 per cent. to 25 per cent. the lowest.

Our present stock of Furniture has never been so well selected in variety, design, pattern, quality and value, and in prices. We annihilate competitors. It's the nick of time to buy now when you can get such values as we are offering.

RAILROADS AND BRIDGES.
The Committee to Report to the Board of Aldermen on the Question of Taxing Street Railways—Other Matters Discussed at the Saturday Night Meeting.

At an executive meeting of the committee on railroads and bridges held Saturday evening two petitions were discussed relating to electric roads and one for grading Union street. The most important discussion was that on the question of taxing street railways. The committee decided to take no action on the matter, but to formulate a report and send it to the board of aldermen at the meeting this evening. The question as to the rate of taxation was also discussed, but no rate was fixed. The petition of West Chapel street residents for the running of Fair Haven cars on quicker time was discussed. Ex-Mayor Sargent was permitted to withdraw his petition relative to the Consolidated road and the grading of Union street. The impression is that the committee will report in favor of taxing the electric roads, although the members of the committee decline to talk about the matter.

C. H. Fordham has removed his blacksmithing business from Exchange street to the rear of Chamberlain's buildings in the annex.

Captain Luzerne Ludington is a prominent and popular member of the Second Company Governor's Horse Guard. Upon invitation he accompanied the Second Company Governor's Foot Guard on their recent trip to Atlanta, and wore the gray uniform of the Horse Guard. As he marched in the ranks of the Foot Guard he was a prominent figure on account of his gray uniform, and there was considerable inquiry among the Atlantans concerning who he was. When one of the Foot Guard was asked the question on one occasion, he replied: "The fact of the matter is, the Foot Guard are very liberal in their admission of members and take everything in, even ex-Confederates."

The explanation was believed by that inquirer, but the answer made a great deal of fun for the Foot Guard boys. Three candidates were initiated at the last meeting of Fort Hale lodge, N. E. O. P.

The regular meetings of the new lodge, N. E. O. P. of East Haven, will be held the second and fourth Tuesday evenings of each month.

The selectmen have established the bounds of the Union school district of East Haven, and they will be entered on the town records.

Search was resumed yesterday for the bodies of Charles Hinckley and Charles Wesson, the young men residing in the annex who were drowned in the sound one week ago, but without success.

A contract for the 700 or 800 desks for the new Strong school will be awarded next Tuesday. There are seven manufacturers looking for the contract.

The monthly meeting of the board of warden and burgesses of Fair Haven East will be held this evening. Several matters of importance are to be acted on.

HOLMES FOUND GUILTY.
Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 3.—In charging the jury in the Holmes murder case yesterday Judge Arnold instructed them in the various degrees of murder and advised the jury that in the case before them there could only be one grade of murder for them to consider, and that was murder in the first degree. He told the jury that there were three points for them to consider: "First, Is Benjamin Pitzeel dead? Second, If dead, did he die a violent death? Third, If he died a violent death did he commit suicide or did the defendant kill him?"

Then Judge Arnold reviewed the evidence. When the part of the doctor's testimony was reached, that Pitzeel had been killed by poison, and that it could not have been self administered, Judge Arnold queried: "If the poison was not self administered then the question is, who did administer it?"

Holmes shrank a little in his chair as he heard this ominous query.

The judge's charge was on the whole unfavorable to the prisoner. Holmes listened quietly to it, but he seemed nervous. The judge concluded his charge at 5:45, and the jury retired. A recess was then taken.

At the conclusion of Judge Arnold's charge the spectators streamed out into the corridors and eagerly discussed what the verdict would probably be.

At 8:25 the jury reported. The prisoner was brought in. He looked as impressive as ever. The court ordered Holmes to arise, and then in reply to the question of the court, the foreman of the jury pronounced the fatal words: "Guilty of murder in the first degree." The verdict was greeted with silence. The charge of the judge must have overshadowed what his fate would be, but the word "Guilty" fell upon Holmes with stunning force. He made no outcry or exhibited any emotion of any kind. He sat down, and while the jury was polled each man arose to his name and pronounced his sentence.

Holmes stared vacantly before him. His face was that of a corpse. It was as expressionless as a mask.

YALE, 28; WEST POINT, 8.

The Soldiers Played a Fine Game in the First Half.
West Point, N. Y., Nov. 2.—The cadet and Yale football teams had a fifty-minute game here to-day. Sleet, snow and rain did not dampen their ardor nor that of the large number of spectators.

It was expected that the game would be a hard one, and Captain King was anxious to put his best men on the field. The Dartmouth game, however, had played havoc with his stars, and substitutes had to be used.

Berry, who had been lying in the hospital threatened with a serious sickness all the week, got out last night and insisted upon taking his place on the field. Williams could not play on account of his injured back, and Humphrey was substituted. Reisinger is in the hospital, suffering from overtraining, and Savage was put in his place. Stacy's rib bothered him considerably, but when he warmed up he forgot all about his ills and did some good work.

King played an excellent game. His kicking was marvelous and did much to make the result so favorable to the cadets.

It was after 1 o'clock when the Yale team arrived. Dinner had been ordered at the hotel, and the men kept indoors until it was time to go on the field. The hall storm which had been in progress all the morning turned to snow, and soon the neighboring hills were white. At 3 o'clock the teams lined up. Yale had the ball. Jerrems kicked off, but Nolan fumbled and missed. The visitors rushed, through the cadets' center for five and ten yards, until West Point's goal was seriously threatened. It was at this point that the cadets made the prettiest play of the whole game. They had the ball on downs. It was passed to King, back of the goal posts, who punted for seventy-five yards. Nolan held Jerrems down, but Yale slowly got through the soldiers' center and around the ends until the ball was in West Point's five-yard line. King attempted his former feat of kicking from behind the goal posts, but he was crowded too close, and was downed by Hinkey. This counted 2 for the Yale men.

King on the line-up kicked off nearly the length of the field. Jerrems made a pretty catch, but was downed by Nolan. The Yale heavyweights proved superior on the vet field, and slowly pushed the cadets for five and ten yards to the twenty-five-yard line. The soldiers made a determined stand and got the ball on downs. King, who was playing a defensive game, did not attempt to assail Yale's strong center. He kicked the ball well toward Yale's goal. West Point quickly secured the latter end, and for the first time made big gains through Yale's center. Nolan and King were making brilliant plays for the cadets and it was evident that except for a fuke they were bound to score.

Never before was such fine playing seen on this field. Cheer after cheer rang out for the soldiers, and when Connor, by a brilliant run of thirty yards, placed the ball on the visitors' goal line, the echoes rang from Storm King to Turk's Head.

It was evident that Connor had really made a touchdown, but Laurie Bles, who wrapped the first half, seemed to think otherwise, and the cadets gave in without argument. Only a foot was claimed by the visitors. The cadets pushed three yards over the goal line, making the first touchdown from the cadets. No goal. Score—West Point 4, Yale 2.

Jerrems kicked off and Foy fumbled. DeWitt was not slow to see his chance and dropped on the ball. The Yale men now worked like fiends. By good and play they succeeded in pushing the ball across the line, but failed on goal, and the score stood 6 to 4 in favor of Yale.

On the line-up King kicked off for twenty-five yards. Jerrems made a pretty catch, but Nolan downed him promptly. Jerrems attempted to punt, but was blocked. The ball did not go to West Point, and another kick was tried, with the same result. The ball now went to West Point, and was quickly worked to Yale's goal line. In another minute a touchdown was made by Lot, from which King failed to kick.

Jerrems kicked off and soon Mills made a touchdown for the visitors. No goal.

In the second half the West Point team showed signs of weakness. King, Dallam and Berry were injured and had to give up, and the visitors had easy work. They piled up a score of 28, which made the final result: West Point 8, Yale 28.

The line-up:
West Point. Positions. Yale.
