DELIGHTFUL weather.

TOMORROW comes the circus.

REGISTER if you want to vote.

PHOENIX will have a brilliant social winter.

The road into the Bradshaws will add greatly to the prosperity of Phoenix.

In no other town of the United States is the use of the incandescent light so general as it is in Phoenix.

Look out for your exhibits at the Territorial Fair. See to it that the display is not solely one of horse flesh.

The campaign is coming on and remember that if you don't read THE REPUBLICAN you don't get the news.

The prospects are now for a brisk and prosperous winter for the Salt River and, indeed, for the whole of Arizona.

BETTER than medicine—if you wish to eat well, sleep soundly and wear a cheerful countenance, vote the Republican ticket.

CONSIDERING the ugly reminiscences of Dr. R. L. Rosson on the south side of the river, he surely cannot expect to receive much of a vote from that portion of the county.

The energy of the able Secretary of the Democratic County Central Committee is largely due to the question that is ever present in his mind: "Shall I get there as Under Sheriff of Maricopa county?"

If Postmaster-General Wainmaker never did another act, his warm advocacy of a cheap postal telegraphic system will cause him to be ever held as a man who has the interests of the people thoroughly at heart.

A CALL is published in the Graham County Bulletin for a Non-Partisan or People's Convention for Graham county. As the call has about 150 good names upon it, it is to be presumed that it is a popular measure, of not inconsiderable strength.

"Ye cannot serve God and Baal!" A man could not be a true employe of the Government of the United States and at the same time be the paid attorney of men who had conspired to attack United States troops and to steal from their care the money of the people.

The City Council will today consider the proposition of granting to private individuals the right to lay and operate sewers within the City of Phoenix. The City Attorney has been given a month in which to inspect the two rival franchises proffered and to report upon their provisions. The report will be heard with interest. The City Council will do well to weigh with care all the propositions presented, for their action in this instance vitally concerns the welfare of Phoenix. Councilman Alex. Barry is as capable a civil engineer as can be found in the West and to him do the people especially look to see that their interests are well protected in this, an enterprising which demands so deep an application of his knowledge.

The Republican party of Maricopa County have for their battle cry, "Reform in County Management." They have placed it in their platform, and on that particular plank alone, if nothing else, will they win. No one, not even the most abject of apologists or the most bragging of politicians, has as yet dared on behalf of the present Board of Supervisors, to say that the affairs of the County have been either economically or judiciously administered during the last two years. Appropriation after appropriation has been made, many of the largest of them for the individual benefit of personal and political favorites. Hide-bound politics have controlled every action of the Board, no matter whether their course may have resulted in public weal or woe. Recklessness and incompetency, resulting in a depleted treasury and a heavy floating debt, have characterized the County administration for the past two years, and is it a wonder that the people cry for a change? Yet the Webb-Fickas ring seeks to again fasten upon the shoulders of the taxpayers this burden that they would fain shake off. And will they endure it? No. Alike from Democrats and from Republicans will come the stinging rebuke that will carry with it political obscurity for the schemers.

Iowa State Register: President Harrison yesterday appointed Hon. John N. Irwin, of Keokuk, Governor of Arizona. He is a good man for the position but the position is not good enough for the man. We judge that the appointment is a surprise to Mr. Irwin and doubt his accepting, unless it has been or can be shown to be in his line of duty. Mr. Irwin is one of the leading business men and Republicans of Iowa. He was a member of the Iowa House in 1881 and 1883 and was one of the leading candidates for speaker at the latter term. He was appointed Governor of Idaho by President Arthur, but after serving several months resigned the position and returned the salary to the Government for the reason, as he stated, that he had not earned it. He was elected mayor of Keokuk three years ago and made a notable and vigorous effort to enforce all the laws, and was the first and only mayor who has ever brought the saloons of that city under subjection. He is of Iowa's very best men and is too important a business and political factor of the State to be made Governor of Arizona unless he can be made to see that duty to his party and nation call him to that field of labor.

C. MEYER ZULICK, of New Jersey, is, as has been remarked, a very mysterious man. One of the mysterious things about him is where his wealth was gained. When Zulick came to Arizona he was a poor man. He even boasted of having been compelled to "sleep on the bleak hills of Cochise with his rifle for a bride." When his term as Governor expired he was the owner of a section or so of land above Mesa, a large portion of the expensive Highland canal and sundry other property of not inconsiderable value. Now the gain of this amount of the world's goods is to be wondered at, seeing that the Governor gets less than $3000 a year and his expenses are large. At the best, Governor Zulick's private expenses were not small, for he denied himself none of the luxuries of the flesh. But he came out of office rich, and the question naturally arises: how did he get rich? That he was guilty of corrupt practices is believed by every citizen having any knowledge of the man or of his actions.

TO MARK SMITH the Democrats are ascribing every beneficial measure passed by Congress at the last session. They say he planted the Reavis fraud and then emphatically announces the proposition that his retention in office is necessary, as he is the only man who is able to sit upon the grave and prevent a resurrection of the corpse. They say, in one breath, that a delegate to Congress has absolutely no influence, and then go on to speak of the great services of the immortal Mark. Now, as far as the best of evidence goes, Marcus A. Smith has been but a barren representative of the people of Arizona in Congressional halls. He indeed has well sustained the reputation of the Territory for producing good poker players, and as a judge of the prime products of Kentucky he is said to be with it a superior. But are these the things for the performance of which he was sent to Washington? Hardly. The plain facts are that he has not done his duty, nor a tithe of it.

THERE is now a very agreeable condition of affairs in the Tucson Land Office. Settlers send in their filings or their proofs and receive answers within a few days. No more time elapses than is necessary to make the proper office entries. This system is in gratifying contrast, indeed, with the manner in which the office was conducted under Democratic management. There are settlers in this valley who, during the last administration of the Land Office, waited over a year for receipts to return from land proofs that were perfectly correct and straight. There was a reason for it, of course. That reason was that President Cleveland knowingly foisted upon the people of Arizona as the occupant of the Register's office a supernumerated, bed-ridden man, in recompense solely for his services to the Democratic party, and placed in the office of Receiver a reckless scamp, of known bad character, simply because he was the son of "Extra Billy" Smith.

L. H. CHALMERS is marked for the slaughter in which will go down every member of the crew that so basely betrayed their Democratic brethren at the County Convention. Chalmers was the spokesman of the ring and was so understood. Apart from that, his ability or merit are not of so high an order as to compel recognition of his claims upon those grounds.

MARCUS SMITH had nothing whatever to do with the killing of the Reavis claim. It was done by the report of Surveyor-General Johnson to the Commissioner of the General Land Office.
