SILVER, COPPER AND LEAD.

Silver was quoted yesterday at $1.03 per ounce; copper at $15.15 per 100 pounds, and lead at $4.00 1/2 per 100 pounds.

CONSIDERING the United Ireland incident, it is but natural to suppose that the laws of Great Britain do not apply to criminal offenses committed around newspaper offices.

It is to be hoped that the proposed telephone line will be soon put in operation. It is much needed in transacting the everyday business of a town of magnificent distances such as Phoenix.

WHAT is the matter with the baseball club? Magnificent weather for ball playing and none of it being played. Phoenix not long since started out to hold down the championship of the Territory.

DR. KOCH was, until ten years ago, an obscure country physician. His practice and his reputation did not extend beyond the limits of the little town of Wollstein, a place so small and unimportant that it is only with much difficulty that it can be found upon the map.

ARIZONA at present is far from being an arid region. The snows of the mountains have been largely melted by warm rains and every stream is running full. The grasses of the plains are springing into life and the beauties of nature were never displayed in more pleasant guise.

THE Board of Supervisors of San Francisco are being openly and repeatedly charged with steals, big and little, and lots of them, by the Call and Bulletin of that city. About the greatest cause that can come to a community in America is to have jobbing and dishonest officials in charge of affairs.

FOLLOWING the example set by Stockton, the Los Angeles folks are going to bore for oil or gas. There are said to be hot asphaltum springs in one part of the city and every indication that oil lies not far from the surface. There is every probability that the Newhall oil field extends down under the City of the Angels.

THE waste waters of the Riverside, California, Water Company are used on a 500-acre alfalfa farm between Riverside and South Riverside. The proprietor of the farm has leased another 500 acres, and will have an alfalfa field of 1000 acres, probably the largest in San Bernardino County.

TWO MEN elected as constables in Pima County have been refused certificates of election on the ground of disqualification, in that neither can read or write the English language. The law is a wise one and should be enforced strictly. English is the language of the United States and no one is qualified for even the most petty office of the Government who does not understand its common usage.

NEARLY all of the members of the United States Grand Jury now in session are old-timers and prominent citizens of Arizona and are for the most part entirely familiar with the work for which they have been selected. Among Maricopa's representatives most prominent in this respect is Captain M. H. Calderwood, who has a record of having been the foreman of seventeen grand juries in this Territory.

SECRETARY BLAINE'S course in the Mizner affair is receiving deserved encomiums all over the country from journals of every political bias. He has once more proven himself an American, in the fullest sense of the word. He is but carrying out the idea he has so frequently expressed that the honor of Columbia must be upheld on every sea and that under the Stars and Stripes there should be a shelter respected by the farthest nation of the globe.

KING KALAKAUA'S visit to the Pacific Coast has again given rise to the idea of the annexation of the Hawaiian Islands. The islands are too closely conjoined by commerce and by the nativity of its most prominent citizens to the United States to permit of any idea than that they will be eventually joined to the Union by political bonds, but the time has not yet come when such a step would be advisable. The kingdom of Hawaii under American protection is as well situated, considering its present population, as if it were a State of the American Union.

LIEUTENANT-COLONEL HOPE, of the British army, has expressed the opinion that the new American naval guns are perfect, even superior to the English. There are but few of them however. When coupled with such fleet and powerful vessels as the Maine they are indeed dangerous weapons. The Maine carries four guns in her turrets, capable of carrying a 500 pound steel shot to an effective range of nine miles, and the Maine is competent to sail all around such heavy armored English vessels as the Thunderer. The United States has now about eight swift vessels, which will, in case of difficulty, make it lively for British commerce on the high seas.

It is most interesting the coolness with which the officials of several Southern States have openly declared within the past month the natural supremacy of the white race and the inherent servility and debased condition of the black. They sound just like the speeches that were made not long prior to the war. The Southern orator feelingly dilates upon the evils that would follow were the negro, by reason of his preponderance in the population, be "allowed" to take the reins of government into his hands, but yet do not suggest that most evident solution of the difficulty, a disfranchisement of the negro by National statute. Oh, no! They seek to keep the negro away from the ballot box and yet are desirous of maintaining the representation in Congress given by the negro population. If the negro's representation were cut off, there would be only half as many representatives in Congress or Presidential electors from the South as there are now. The present state of affairs can not continue. It is rankly unjust to the other States of the Union. Either the negro must vote or he must be disfranchised and be dropped as a political factor, without representation. Perhaps the quickest and neatest way to get out of the trouble without bloodshed would be to apportion the representation of each section according to the vote at the last election, instead of by the population. Then, if the negroes did not vote, there would be no representation for them. But even for this plan the never failing recourse of fraud could readily defeat the intent of its provisions.

GROVER CLEVELAND. A Man Who is Large Physically but Small Mentally.

From the Banner, Cal., Herald. The Hamiltons, the Jacksons, the Clays, the Stevens, the Tildens and the Blaines, whom the people have at various periods made their political idols, have been men who had something in them masterful and commanding, that justified and lent luster to their following. We search in vain the character or the capacity of Grover Cleveland to find anything to warrant his prestige in his party. We speak not as a partisan, but as an American. When Democrats honor their Randalls and Carlises and Thurmans, we say amen. But Cleveland is not even a golden calf to bow down before—he is pewter through and through.

For the hundredth time, this was demonstrated at the recent celebration of the venerable Thurman's seventy seventh birthday. Mr. Cleveland made a speech there. It was the same turgid commonplace, unrelieved by a solitary flash of originality, that has become stereotyped in this people's memory. Editor Dana characterized it as a "solomon humbug." It is nothing more. Projected from 350 pounds of avoirdupois, certified to as the utterance of an ex-President of this Republic, this miserable stuff finds currency. But its intrinsic merit would not bring a shilling a ream in the most discernless journal that pays contributors on this continent.

His followers tell us that he has been elected President of the United States and must therefore be a great man. That does not follow. It ought to Heaven knows. But Cleveland's own case annihilates such logic. We are asked, "How could so small a man get so high an honor?" We can only answer that he did get it—we are under no obligation to explain a calamity of which we are utterly innocent. The fact against which we record our humble protest, is, that a physical monster and mental pigmy has somehow fascinated a great body of Americans, and their adulation of him is a ridiculous piece of idolatry, that recalls to a spectator the religious high-jinks of Israel in the wilderness.

We submit as proof of our estimate of this man the newspaper report of his speech at Thurman's banquet. Its like, in the matter of many words and few thoughts, of dreary platitudes, of tortuous and tedious and indirect rhetoric, of absence of inspiration, of general and unrelieved unreadableness, has not been recalled the public prints within our recollection.

PROPOSALS FOR PUBLIC PRINTING.

PHOENIX, Ariz., December 8, 1890.

THE UNDERSIGNED WILL RECEIVE separate bids for the laws and journals of the Sixteenth Legislative Assembly of Arizona, for printing, binding, presswork and material, as follows, until January 10, 1891:

Composition in book form, in long primer or small pica solid, between the lines and paragraphs, the work to be measured in all cases as plain work, side notes to be measured separately in the laws, according to the type in which they are set, but the head notes to be considered as only a part of the page and not to be measured separately; half titles and blank pages in the body of the work not to be allowed, except when absolutely necessary. Binding of the laws, 900 in pamphlet form and 200 in calf; of the journals of each house, 225 in pamphlet form and 50 in calf. Presswork for each token of 100 impressions, eight pages to constitute a form. Paper for above work.

Bidders must accompany their proposals with a bond of $1500 for each of the two books, conditioned for the faithful performance of the work. The right to reject any or all bids is reserved. The laws to be delivered within twenty-five days, the journals within sixty days after the adjournment of the Legislature. Final payment to be made after work has been approved by First Comptroller of the United States Treasury.
