SOME OF THE APPOINTEES.

Four of the various boards and commissions of the Territory were appointed by Governor Irwin Thursday, before the adjournment of the Council. In selecting the Veterinary Surgeon and Live Stock Sanitary Commission all the old members were retained. Dr. A. J. Chandler, the Veterinary Surgeon, was the first appointee to that office after its creation, during Governor Zuhke's administration. He was reappointed by Governor Wolfley, and has filled the position in a highly satisfactory manner. Isaac N. Town, who heads the Live Stock Commission, is a large cattle owner, having extensive ranges in southern Pima county. J. V. Vickers, of Tombstone, was a member of the Sixteenth Council, and is prominently identified with the various business pursuits of Cochise county. Lin. H. Orme, the Democratic member, is one of the leading farmers and stock owners of Maricopa county. Mr. Orme served two terms as Sheriff of the county, and was elected Joint Councilman from the Northern District in 1888. He is an enterprising, progressive citizen, worthy of any position. Will C. Barnes, of Holbrook, is one of the large cattle owners of Apache county, and was elected a member of the Board of Supervisors last fall, being one of the two candidates elected on the entire Republican ticket. J. W. Burr, of the new county of Coconino, is also a cattle raiser, having extensive ranges in his county.

M. P. Freeman, the present Chancellor of the University, was reappointed to the position. Mr. Freeman is cashier of the Arizona National Bank, of Tucson, a man of splendid attainments and well fitted for so responsible a position. John Gardner, of the Board of Regents, is a business man of Tucson, well known in the southern part of the Territory. S. M. Franklin, the Democratic member, is a young attorney in the old pueblo. Joseph Hamill, of Globe, the third member of the board, is postmaster at Globe and one of the editors of the Silver Belt. He is, like most members of the newspaper craft, pushing and energetic and quick to see where good and effective work can be done.

Of the appointments upon the Board of Education of the Territorial Normal School, J. H. Broomell is a substantial viticulturist, of superior personal attainments. He came to Arizona about five years ago from Aurora, Illinois. He is a Republican in party affiliation, though president of the Maricopa County Farmers' Alliance. A daughter, Mrs. J. W. Johnson, of Tempe, is a graduate of the Normal. A. J. Halbert, the second member, is a resident of Tempe. He is a Democrat and has for years been prominent in the party councils. He has been a resident of the county for about ten years. Miss Aggie, a daughter, is a student in the junior grade of the Normal School. W. E. Guild, the third member of the board, is one of the foremost business men of Florence. He is a sterling Republican, a man of broad and liberal views, and well qualified for the position.

C. L. Eschman, of the Insane Asylum Commissioners, is one of the best citizens of Phoenix, a chemist of ability who has amassed a competency during a residence of about eight years. He is in his profession possessed of technical knowledge that renders him especially available for the position, and by his energy will doubtless continue with effect the good work already begun in the improved management of the institution and grounds. J. W. Crenshaw is the Democratic member of the board. He is an attorney by profession, but has had charge, either as treasurer or deputy, of Maricopa county's funds for a number of years. Thomas H. Pemberton, the third member of the board, is one of the largest fruit growers in the Territory. He is a heavy property holder and interested in numerous enterprises in the Salt River valley.

Those old settlers who have so long prated of the injury done to this valley by the coming of the railroad will have ample opportunity to contrast the accommodations of the days of old with those enjoyed during the last few years. Before many weeks it is safe to assume that all will agree in favor of the locomotive as against the bull team.

The ranger law will not prove dangerous or unduly expensive, being as it is entirely in the hands of the Governor. That official would be hardly likely to squander the Territory's funds.

The appointment of Murray McInerney, of Prescott, to be Superintendent of the Territorial Prison was a grievous disappointment to the many friends of Captain Ingalls, who had hoped to see that gentleman retained in the position he had so ably filled. They felt more than the usual interest in seeing him retained because of the gallant fight he had made, not for himself alone, but for the Republican party, in regaining possession of the prison after his predecessor had been removed by the Governor. For over a year he fought the Democratic holdovers in the courts, and never was a move made but he was on hand to do his part. When the decision of the Supreme Court came a short time ago, virtually reversing its decision in the Smith - Cheyney case, Mr. Ingalls promptly went to the holder of the warrants he had cashed and turned over all the money he had, saying: "I will pay the balance just as fast as I can." His Republicanism has always been of the stalwart order. When a resident of Yavapai county he devoted his time and money to the success of his party, aiding materially in returning the heaviest majorities of the county ever gave for the Republicans. At Yuma he has been the same earnest worker. As Superintendent of the prison under Governor Tritle he made a record to which he and all his friends can point with pride, and no better commendation can be had of his services since taking charge a second time than to compare his record for the nine months since he took charge, with the last nine months of his predecessor. Captain Ingalls is too good a Republican to sulk because in his wisdom Governor Irwin has seen fit to select another good Republican, and nothing would grieve him more than to have his friends criticize the Governor's action. It would have been especially gratifying to him to have remained at the head of the prison until the Special Committee of Investigation reached there, in order that he might show, by contrast, the improved order of things under his administration. Mr. McInerney had the united support of the Republicans from the northern part of the Territory, and has always been an earnest party worker. Should he prove as capable a Superintendent as Captain Ingalls he will not only do honor to himself, but reflect credit upon the administration.

In the death of Lawrence Barrett the American stage loses its brightest exponent. Commencing in life a call boy in a theatre, every step in his professional career was made only by hard work and the most severe discipline. Possessed of an indomitable will, he gained the summit of his profession. His private life was a model one and his earnest endeavor was to elevate the stage to that proud position it held in former times, when it marched side by side with the church as a moral teacher. He was the first American actor to mount his plays on a scale of grandeur commensurate to their character. Another trait of the man was his intense Americanism. When the war broke out in '61 he left the sock and broke into a musket. Afterwards he was ever willing to encourage American authors, being the first to venture a classical play from the pen of an American. In conjunction with George H. Baker, the author, he prepared for the stage "Francesca de Rimini," playing the piece with great success for several years. Later he produced "Gadalon," a grand play of the classic order, from the pen of William E. Young. Mr. Barrett was not afraid to be surrounded by good actors and it was due to his own efforts that he and Edwin Booth finally starred together. In the character of "the lean and hungry Cassius," Mr. Barrett developed a creation of his own that stood without a peer on the English-speaking stage. His elocution was faultless, and even if at times his acting was not smooth, no listener could fail to be charmed by the splendid reading of his lines. His death is to be regretted for the sake of his art. The American stage has furnished but one Lawrence Barrett.

A REPUBLICAN who will trade his party for anything to accomplish his own selfish and personal aims, is a viper in the ranks that, if allowed, will sting the party to death. Pima county Republicans owe it to themselves and to the rest of the Territory to see to it in '92 that one of this description in that county is relegated to the rear in no uncertain terms.

A MAN who will use the greatest opportunity of his party that might occur in half a century, to trade for the accomplishment of personal and selfish aims, should be treated as a spy or traitor in war. Republicans of Pima county, and of Arizona, for that matter, can never succeed as long as they allow a man of this stamp any countenance in the party. Sabel?

PARNELL's emissaries to America seem to be making but little progress in their quest for cash.

Articles of Intention YOU WANT RAILROADS! You also need a first-class Furniture Store. What class or line of trade reflects with as much credit to a community as a store of this kind? After due consideration and advice of some of our friends and customers, we have concluded to make a change in our program in the near future. Will the people of Phoenix and vicinity encourage us in our departure? If so, we will, in due time, place before you such a stock of Furniture, Carpets, Crockery and Wall-Paper that would be a credit to any city. We propose to eclipse all former efforts. In the meantime we intend to close out as much as possible of our old goods to make room for the largest stock in our line ever brought to this or any other Territory.

KOUMISS THE GENUINE PROWELL'S KOUMISS

No beer, no wine, no malt extract to compare with it in nourishing strengthening and refreshing effects. (See the multitude of letters received continually from all over the country ordering and extolling it.) What is Koumiss they ask. We will tell you. We take fresh morning's milk as it comes from the dairy, pure and sweet, mix it with the proper fermenting materials, in proper proportions, bottle it, lay it away from six to twelve weeks—and that is all. These bottles, when tapped with a champagne tap, yield a beverage of the greatest refreshing and nourishing qualities. It is as gassy and sparkling as soda water, and of about the consistency of cream. It is without doubt the finest beverage in the world, relished alike by sick and well, but to the invalid or convalescent it is a great boon. It is borne well by the stomach when no other food can be taken. Many sick persons, especially consumptives and dyspeptics in various parts of the country, are now living wholly or in part on Koumiss, and we are in constant receipt of letters from both physicians and patients expressing the greatest satisfaction with it. The expressions of a few well known physicians we give. Dr. J. Murphy, in speaking of Koumiss, says: "It will be particularly efficacious in broken down, nervous systems, and when the assimilating function of the stomach has been impaired by disease or excess. In chronic lung affection, unfortunately so common in this district, it promises to fill a want which the physician has been impotent to supply. In the above affections and others associated with weakness I would highly recommend its regular and persistent use."

Dr. I. W. Johnson says: "Dyspepsia is often cured by the use of Koumiss alone, it affording sufficient nourishment for the system without taxing the stomach in its digestion. I have been exceedingly gratified with the use of Koumiss in all cases where there is difficulty in assimilating the food. E. E. Prowell makes an excellent article, and as a beverage it excels the vinous or malt liquors."

Dr. Wm. Pepper, Professor of Clinics in the University of Pennsylvania, reports a number of cases of extreme debility, of consumption and of diabetes, which appeared to be completely cured in a short time by the use of Koumiss.

Dr. J. A. Bumstead, of Decatur, writes us that he has used and prescribed the Koumiss of several different manufacturers, but has never found any equal to that of E. E. Prowell. "Prowell's Koumiss is the best remedy for weak stomachs that I have ever used during my fifteen years of practice."—Dr. C. F. Weston, Des Moines, Iowa. Our Koumiss is put up in quart bottles.

Price per dozen $3.00 Price per dozen, packed for shipping $3.50 Price per glass, on draught 3.50 Champagne taps, each .100
