SOME PROTECTION GEMS.

CULLED FROM THE SPEECHES AT THE TARIFF LEAGUE BANQUET.

McKinley Explains the Two Kinds of Tariff - Senator Aldrich Gives Some Figures on Exports and Imports - What Others Said.

Major McKinley - We will have tariffs so long as we have a government, and the only difference among the people is as to whether the tariff shall be protective in its nature or whether it shall be levied having in view the single purpose of raising the requisite revenue for governmental purposes.

A revenue tariff such as is advocated by our political opponents is always paid by the consumer. There is no exception anywhere. A tariff levied for revenue, and revenue only, is always borne by the consuming nation importing from abroad.

Senator Aldrich - For the purpose of ascertaining with the greatest degree of fairness the relative effects of a revenue tariff and of duties levied under the Protective system upon our foreign commerce, I have taken for the basis of comparison two periods of equal length, the first the fifteen years from 1847 to 1861, inclusive, and the second from 1870 to 1890, inclusive.

The entire foreign commerce of the United States for the first period aggregated $1,735,000,000 in value, and for the latter period $20,334,000,000, or an annual average for the revenue tariff period of $1,453,000,000, and for the protective period of $1,253,000,000.

Robert P. Porter - During a decade of ferocious attack and gloomy prophecy by Free-traders we have added a nation to a nation - a nation complete in every particular. I have shown that the advancement of population, the increase of agricultural products, the diversification of manufacturing, the development of mineral resources, the extension of railroads and the building up of great commercial and industrial centers have kept perfect time to the martial music of our national progress.

Before another election it will be demonstrated that in obedience to a law - that increasing the American manufacture greatly lowers the price of the goods - the foundation of the charge that we have increased the cost to our consumers has disappeared.

Congressman Dooliver - My father was a preacher. If you require it I will produce affidavits for that, and one of the cheerful recollections of my youth is the picture of my venerable ancestor, with his eyes turned toward heaven, invoking the divine blessing on our humble fare, while the rest of us turned our eyes away from heaven and heavenly things to watch the progress of a fight between a lion and a unicorn that appeared to be in progress on the bottom of the breakfast plates.

Senator Dooliver - The fallacy of the Democratic argument, that we must buy of a nation if we expect to sell to it, is exposed when it is stated that nations do not buy of each other; that foreign trade is carried on by individuals who are governed by self interest and who buy where they can buy the cheapest, without stopping to inquire what the state of trade is between the two nations.

Hon. William E. Curtis - Four hundred years ago, Mr. chairman, a man was wandering about the capital of Spain asking assistance from the government to enable him to extend his riches and glory and power. He was denounced and derided. He was called a subsidy beggar and they said he was insane.

Hon. J. H. Walker - The American manufacturer is the first and richest fruitage of the American protective tariff, and he it is who has given to the farmer every tool and machine that has lightened his toil from the first and has made his labor twice as effective in 1890 as it was in 1860.

Another Subsidy Line. The Hungarian diet has authorized the minister of commerce of Hungary to enter into an agreement with the Adriatic Steamship Navigation company to extend its service to Brazil and the River Plate countries, for which it will receive an annual subsidy of 750,000 florins per year.

THE LION OR THE EAGLE?

Is Americanism to be the Issue in the Coming Campaign? The American Economist has the following spirited editorial in a recent issue:

Are the people of these United States of America to produce what we use, or are foreign nations to do our work for us? Are we to be an independent people, or are we to be dependent for our supplies on other nations in general, and Great Britain in particular?

On the editorial page of the New York Times last Sunday appeared a reprint from an obscure sheet denouncing The Sun for giving a good report of the Tariff League banquet, and calling particular attention to its American features. This report appeared under the following headlines:

"Thoroughly American. Unique banquet of the Protective Tariff League. Celebrating glories of the tariff. Major McKinley describes its benefits to the people. The speakers and their sentiments, too, were American through and through."

"After this conspicuous illustration of its strong sympathy with the leading features of modern Republican propaganda, it is difficult to conceive how The Sun can longer masquerade as a Democratic paper."

Is there any mistaking these words? The "leading feature" alluded to was the glorification of American institutions, of American labor, of American industry, of American progress. Is the Democratic party then to join the mugwump band of pirates who would infest the sea of our unparalleled prosperity, pull down the Stars and Stripes and raise the black flag of Free-trade and misery?

"I am a Free-trader because I am a Democrat."

"I am for Mills, of Texas, for speaker of the house, because I want to have an out and out Free-trader take the chair held by Reed."

"Let Democratic leaders, then, be men. They acknowledge Free-trade in private, let them stop talking in public of percentages merely."

Unfurl your flag, gentlemen, and let the colors be the same on both sides. Raise your emblem and let us hear whether it roars or screams. Are you for England or America?

First - It brings together diversified industries which never fail to vastly increase the personal intelligence, industry and wage earnings of the people.

Second - It adds prodigiously to the power of increasing by machinery and steam and water power the necessities of life and of advanced civilization, and also greatly cheapens the cost of subsistence.

Third - It furnishes an opportunity for every person to find the employment best adapted to his or her genius and capacity that will secure the largest income or the greatest happiness.

Fourth - It creates a home market, without which the cultivators of land in America would be but a little better off than our aborigines.

Fifth - It is the bulwark of national independence in peace or war. - Justin S. Morrill in American Economist.

No Cobden Club Banquet This Year. And now we learn that the Cobden club has given up its annual dinner this year. No reasons are given, but of course there are reasons.

Why I Am a Protectionist. I am a Protectionist because I think that policy the workmen of America will be well paid and not underpaid. Because I think that policy the variety of industry will be created here which will make America strong in peace and in war.

Because the industries so fostered will develop the skill and brain power of my countrymen, and raise the people of the United States to the first rank in intelligence among the nations of the earth. Because that policy has already made us the richest and strongest nation on earth, and under a properly restricted immigration will bring to us much that is most valuable in the population of other lands.

American Cutlery at the League Banquet. The prominence given to the fact that the dinner was American caused every guest to note the brand of the table knives - "Landers, Fryer & Clark, Cutlery to the American People" - and the same old story was again told on the fact that the production and consumption of American goods was rapidly increasing under the beneficial effects of a Protective tariff and with no advance in price.

Opposite News - The office of the Territorial Auditor will be moved to a new location in the month of August, 1891, and will be located in the month block, room 7, second floor, Thomas Hughes, Auditor, T. D. Hammond, clerk.

THE ARIZONA SUGAR COMPANY. THE EXCEPTIONAL INDUCEMENTS OFFERED BY THE GOVERNMENT of the United States and the Territory of Arizona for the cultivation of Sugar Beets and the manufacture of domestic Sugars have encouraged the undersigned to organize a company under the general incorporation laws of the Territory of Arizona, styled

THE ARIZONA SUGAR COMPANY. The capital stock of the company is one hundred thousand (100,000) shares of ten ($10) dollars each. One-half of the capital stock will be sold in the Territory of Arizona, payable in land adapted to the cultivation of sugar beets, sugarcane sorghum and saccharine products at the market price.

The other half will be sold for cash, at not less than par, for the purpose of purchasing, importing and erecting machinery adapted to manufacturing domestic sugar.

The fifty thousand shares reserved for the farmers can be paid for at any time within five years from the date of the organization in land or its saccharine products, such as sugar beets, sugar cane, sorghum, etc., etc., and the subscribers will be entitled to draw a dividend pro rata on payments made.

The market price will depend upon the quantity of saccharine. Sugar beets require neither bagging nor storage; but are cash at the mill, and the company might even be able to advance money on unencumbered land devoted to their cultivation.

It is a matter of consequence in some parts of Arizona that sugar beets extract alkali from the soil better than any other production.

After supplying the home market in Arizona with sugar, molasses, confections, etc., transportation is the most serious question, and the smaller bulk the production of the country can be reduced into the better for the producer.

A sugar mill at some railway depot with a capacity of 100 tons per day, at $5 per ton for sugar beets, would be a great benefit to the farmers and merchants of Arizona.

The cooperative system of offering the farmers one-half of the capital stock payable in the productions required for the mill has worked well in Germany and France, and in fact the cooperative system in every country is the outgrowth of civilization.

The farmer's interest in the company will be a guarantee to the non-resident shareholders of a vigilant watchfulness over the management, and by united effort a staple production may be introduced in Arizona which will enliven the source of all permanent prosperity - agriculture.

It is not to be overlooked that after the saccharine matter is extracted from sugar beets the residuum forms excellent food for sheep, cattle, hogs, poultry, etc., and nothing that comes from the soil is wasted.

The cultivation of sugar beets may be carried on by the least intelligent labor. Indians, Mexicans, children may all be employed in transplanting the beets and gathering the crop. Only the mill requires intelligent labor.

Sugar industries are being started in many States of the Union less adapted by nature to the growth of saccharine products than Arizona, and an effort on the part of the residents may encourage assistance from abroad.
