PRINCES ON SHIPBOARD. How the Sons of the Heir Apparent Conducted Themselves as Midshipsmen.

A gentleman whose office is in a Pine Street fire insurance company of this city was a shipmate of the late Duke of Clarence and of his brother, Prince George, on board her majesty's ship Britannia. He has a clear remembrance of the day they joined the ship and of their reception by their fellow midshipsmen.

At 3:15 on Jan. 18, 1877, on board her majesty's ship Britannia, training ship for gentlemen cadets, stationed at Dartmouth, Devon, the butler, scullery quarters and all hands, in full uniform, were mustered to receive the two newly appointed cadets the royal princes, Captain Fairfax, commanding, was standing at the head of the gangway with the first lieutenant, in full dress, and as the steam pinnace came alongside, the ship's band struck up "God Bless the Prince of Wales."

"Captain Fairfax, having introduced each of the wardroom officers and all the instructors to their royal highnesses, sang out: 'Attention! by your right, dress; eyes front! Gentlemen cadets of her majesty's ship Britannia, I now collectively present to you your new shipmates, their Royal Highnesses Prince Albert Victor and Prince George of Wales, with whom I will now leave you. Two paces forward, right about, turn, dismount!'"

"Then began all the usual boyish chaff, or 'running,' as I believe it is called at Annapolis, followed by the task of showing our new shipmates over the ship. As soon as they reached the upper deck the senior cadet captain said to them: 'Mates, it is an old custom that each 'new,' on joining, shall go aloft, over the futtocks, avoiding the lubber's hole as he would the bottomless pit. Which of you two will be over first? So over the futtocks and down again went the two princes, finally joining in a game of 'swing the monkey' until the bangle sounded for cadets to put on mess uniform for tea."

"At the sound of the bugle call two venerable family retainers advanced to our new shipmates, with every outward sign of the forelock to inform them that their mess uniform was prepared. A shrill voice called out: 'Who are your ancient chums, Wales?'"

"'Why, don't you see,' some other wit replied, 'one is the wet nurse and the other the dry nurse.'"

"The main difference between the Wales and the other cadets was that instead of sleeping in hammocks they had large cabins knocked up for them on the main deck, sleeping, dining and working rooms being provided. They also had a special tutor, who was appointed a naval instructor, the Rev. J. N. Dalton, who afterward accompanied them in her majesty's ship Bacchante on their voyage around the world."

"A favorite cadet joke was to get Prince Eddie to 'stroke a pleasure boat,' and when the coxswain allowed an 'easy all,' some one would say, 'Wales, when you are indeed my ruler, I would very much like it if you would make me a duke.'"

"'Make you a duke, you swab? I'll make you a shoeblack.'"

"He would then be taken by the legs and ducked till he agreed and gave his 'royal word of honor' that each member of that boat's crew should be a duke when he came to the throne."

"Although without the high spirits of his younger brother, a sweeter tempered and more unassuming cadet, was never entered in the books of her majesty's ship Britannia, and those characteristics he always retained. The last time I saw him was in 1888, when he was serving as a captain in the Tenth Hussars, at York, and he gave me the same cordial greeting that he always had given ten years before, when we were brother cadets."

"A time honored custom on board the Britannia is that cadets in their first term shall 'flag' for cadets in their third and fourth terms, and that cadets in their second term shall 'flag' for those in the fourth or final term. This rule was in no way abated with the Wales boys, and I have seen them on several occasions hauling a cadet of the necessary seniority up the hill to the cricket field on a brooding day, with the perspiration rolling down their royal brows. It was good discipline."—New York Times.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

This is being verified every week by those who are using the KEGAN SYSTEM of practice consisting of MEDICATED INHALATIONS and COMPOUND OXYGEN as prescribed by M. MILTON WILLIAMS, M. D., A. B. S.

137 South Broadway, Los Angeles, Cal. This system of practice is effective in the cure of Catarrh, Throat diseases, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

CATARRH!

Catarrh is often regarded by the patient as a cold in the head, and he often expresses astonishment at his removal of the cold, and the fresh cold, indeed he declares that he is scarcely free from one cold before he takes another, and he is always extending the cold, and he is a matter of surprise to him that the cold always seems to settle in the head and throat.

A sense of weakness is sometimes felt in reading, speaking or singing; hoarseness at times occurs, a sensation of dryness is felt in the throat, or it appears that some foreign substance as for instance, a hair, obstructed the throat; there becomes a sense of languor and fatigue; the breath becomes so little, or so short, hacking cough, a peculiar sound in clearing the throat, a feeling as though there was not room enough in the chest to breathe. These and other symptoms occur after the disease has made considerable progress. Then it is a time when consumption is about to begin its dreadful work. Up to this point the progress of the disease may be arrested, and the patient may, in expressing his confident hope that it will wear off, declare that he has had the catarrh for years and has not seemed to become much worse, and he trusts he will be and by recovery. But this delusion is the grand error which has made our countrymen with consumptive forms, as all forms of catarrh finally end in consumption.

Every case of catarrh is curable when properly treated, no matter how long standing all scientific, intelligent and thinking people concede the fact that consumption, emphysema, and in fact all the various diseases of the respiratory organs do arise from a living germ found distributed along the diseased tissue of the bronchial tubes and lungs, which nothing will kill or destroy equal to the Medicated Inhalations, when properly applied.

Persons taking this treatment can use the remedies at home as well as at our office. I have seen so many of these cases cured that I do not consider any case hopeless until both lungs are actually involved. Even then the inhalations aid us in dissolving the mucus and in contracting and healing the cavities which nothing else can do with the same success. The very best references from those already cured. CONSULTATION FREE. Those who desire to consult with me in regard to their cases had better call at the office for consultation and examination, but, if impossible to do so, can write for a copy of my medical treatise containing a list of questions. Address, M. MILTON WILLIAMS, M. D., 137 South Broadway, Los Angeles, Cal.

In fact, Durango Chief is the immediate product of the incomparable combination of the Hambletonian, American Star, Woodberry Morgan, Pilot, Jr., and Membrino Chief families, topped out by the best representatives of the Clay families as an out-cross.

Particular attention is called to his Royal line of maternal dams, trotting bred, back seven generations, and he is the result of some, strict and intelligent breeding. The trotting instinct has been so fully bred into him that he is completely moulded to all its requirements. All admirers of a representative of the American trotting horse are invited to call and see him.
