BURNED OUT.

The Milwaukee Fire Exhausts Itself.

Thousands of People are Homeless.

The Loss is Estimated at Nearly $6,000,000.

The Sufferers are Receiving Substantial Aid From All Parts of the United States.

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 29.—[Associated Press.] The fire burned itself out after destroying eleven blocks, covering an area two-thirds of a mile wide and three-quarters of a mile long.

The figures on the fire loss reach a total of $5,825,000. Four lives are lost and four people seriously hurt. The killed are Henry Fedendrach and Chas. Barr, firemen, crushed under falling walls; Mrs. Callahan and an unknown woman, who died from the effects of the shock. It is feared that the watchman of the Rabb & Kipp company has been burned in the factory. A fifth person, that of an unknown man, has been found.

It was shortly after seven this morning that the mayor saw he would need help. He telegraphed Kenosha and Mukawago for help and prompt replies were received. The firemen from the outside did efficient work, as did the militia in the way of guarding property, keeping the crowds back and rescuing endangered persons.

A conservative estimate of the homeless places the number at 2500, nearly all of them being poor. Ten thousand dollars have been subscribed by the Democratic candidates for office and $5,000 has been received from the Republican state central committee of Illinois.

The aggregate of insurance carried on the burned property, exclusive of that carried by the North Western railroad, which had a blanket policy, is $250,000, divided among about 175 companies.

The 2,500 homeless people are all sheltered under hospitable roofs tonight. Many were taken into private dwellings, while others sought the shelter of churches and school houses. Many for the relief of the sufferers is being sent from all parts of the United States and local business men are contributing liberally. Every one of the fortunate third warders will be cared for.

ANOTHER FLOYD IRESON.

The Conduct of Capt. Johnson to be Investigated.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 28.—[Associated Press.] The Examiner this morning says Special Agent Tingle of the treasury department who leaves for Washington today will convey with him copies drawn by residents of Sitka, Alaska, asking the authorities to investigate the conduct of Capt. L. H. Johnson of the U. S. Mohican in refusing to assist in the search for the mail steamer Elsie, which was sighted in a gale between Unalaska and Sitka, Sept. 26, and arrived at Sitka two days over due having had a crank man and the lives of the passengers crew endangered.

Capt. Johnson of the Mohican it is said, replied to the petition of the people of Sitka that his vessel was unavailable for the mission proposed, that he was in search of the Elsie and that he was under orders to proceed to Mare Island navy yard. The Mohican left Sitka the next day for San Francisco.

OUR NOBLE GUESTS.

Entertainments Extended to Descendants of Columbus.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—[Associated Press.] The Duke of Veragua, with his wife the Marquis de Barberies, has accepted an invitation extended them by the descendants of Christopher Columbus to be guests of the country at the opening of the Colombian exposition in May next.

The Queen of Spain, in response to a letter of invitation from President Harrison, asking her to visit the world's fair at this country, expressed gratification at the kindness in a letter to the department, and regretted that she was unable to accept, but that she will be represented. It is said the Infanta Isabella, sister of the late King, may be present at Chicago during the fair.

RYDER CONVICTED.

The U. S. Consul at Copenhagen Was a Thrifty Sort of Person.

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 29.—[Associated Press.] Henry D. Ryder, formerly consul for the United States here, was convicted of theft, fraud and perjury and was sentenced to imprisonment at hard labor for eighteen months. He was arrested in July last on a charge of embezzling the proceeds of a steamer to be handed over to heirs in Denmark. The amount was small, but in the course of the inquiry by the authorities it came out that Ryder had been guilty of several embezzlements, forgery, etc., and had served for a number of years in a penal service at Copenhagen.

Of interest to Sheppens. WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—The committee appointed by the treasury department has rendered an opinion that shearing sheep skins on which wool does not exceed a quarter of inch in length are of such little value as wool that they should be passed free of duty and that all shearing skins where the wool exceeds a quarter of an inch should be subject to duty. This conclusion has been adopted as a rule of the department, and all collectors have been notified.

WANTS ANOTHER DIVORCE.

Her Divorced Husband Forced Her to Remarry Him.

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 29.—[Associated Press.] A big sensation was caused today by the filing of a petition for divorce by Catherine Dempster, wife of a well-known business man. The couple were married 10 years ago. The woman got a divorce in 1888, but a month ago they were remarried. The wife alleges that before their last marriage Dempster called on her and by threatening to kill her and their child forced her to marry him again, threatening vengeance if she ever told anyone what he had said. She claims the marriage was effected solely to gain possession of the child, which recently fell heir to a snug fortune, and which he has hidden.

THE LAKE STORM.

Loss of Life and Property During the Late Tempest.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 29.—[Associated Press.] Reports of wrecks and other mishaps to shipping caused by last night's terrible wind storm are coming in from different points on the lakes. Considering the number of schooners blown ashore and wrecked, the loss of life was very light, only two drownings being reported thus far. Many people are reported missing and their fate is not known.

Fears are entertained for the safety of the steam dredge Dominion and crew of six men. She had been working near Leamington, Ontario, several weeks, but today no trace of her has been found.

Lost With the Roumoula.

LISBON, Oct. 29.—Among the Roumoula's passengers were a number of English officers and several English ladies who were returning to England with their children and nurses.

The Stockton Meeting.

STOCKTON, Oct. 29.—The record meeting opened slow this morning. The four-year-old pacer, W. Wood, by Steinola, went a mile in 2:07 with ease, going the first half mile in 1:05 and finishing in 1:02.

TRAILING THE KID.

A Detachment of Soldiers After the Renegade.

He is Supposed to Have Committed New Depredations Along the San Pedro River—Notes.

FLORENCE, Ariz., Oct. 29.—[Special.] Information arrives here from up the river that a detachment of soldiers from San Carlos were encamped at Riverside yesterday, on the trail of the Kid and his gang who are supposed to have committed new crimes and depredations along the San Pedro during the last few days. It is reported that two squaws were killed near the Indian village above Dudleyville, and a white man in the same region.

Harrington, the rancher, who has cattle 25 miles east of Florence, has not been found. He was missing last week and searchers have been scouring the desert out that way, but up to the present time without success.

Mr. Biery will return in a day or two to Sonora, where he is interested in mining.

General Tuttle, who was stricken with paralysis on Saturday, died on Monday last. He was one of the heroic brigadiers of the late war, and afterward an honored and leading citizen of the state of Michigan.

Mr. Pogue is fencing and improving his large tract of land a mile east of Florence. Gila valley ranchers are beginning to understand that the land must be improved to show its real value to future dam builders and railroad makers.

ELEVATED TERMINAL.

A Scheme for Using the Air in Chicago.

Eight Roads Will Reach the Union Depot on an Aerial Railroad System.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—[Associated Press.] The stockholders of three companies connected with the operations of the Atchison railway system held annual meetings here today. They were the Chicago, Santa Fe & California, the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, and the Chicago & Mississippi River railroad and Bridge company.

They ratified the action of the directors in selling to the Torrence Elevated Terminal company all the Atchison's property in this city. This means that the Atchison agrees to use the Elevated Terminal system when it is completed. It is a project by which the depot is to be reached by an elevated road built over the Santa Fe tracks with spurs branching off to connection with various lines of railroad. Torrence claims that the success of his scheme is assured and that eight roads beside the Atchison have practically agreed to use his terminals when completed.

Done Itself Proud. The Arizona Republican has done itself proud and the territory a great service by the issuance of an elegant illustrated edition of sixty-four pages. WHAT THEY SAY.

The Illustrated Republican Appreciated.

A Splendid Advertisement for Arizona.

A Perfect Panorama of Her Wonderful Resources.

The Opinions of the Press Concerning the Republican's Special Arizona Edition.

All About Arizona.

If you want to know all about Arizona, send 25 cents to the Arizona Republican, and ask them to send you their illustrated edition, which is the best paper ever printed in Arizona. It is simply a mammoth book of 64 pages, 15 inches wide and 21 inches long, filled to overflowing with all kinds of important information about that country. Very few people have anything like a correct idea of what Arizona really is. The name has a far-away, icy, mountainous sound to them, and they feel like shivering every time it is mentioned. But if they will buy this paper, and read it, they will understand that Arizona is the coming country of the great West, where roses bloom nine months in the year, where the birds never cease to sing, and where many kinds of tropical fruits flourish, as they never flourish elsewhere. Irrigation has set the pace to Arizona and has done away with the necessity for a weather clerk and bureau; and it has turned the desert into an Eden of beauty and productiveness. Millions of dollars have been spent and hundreds of miles of great canals perambulate all of its great valleys, making them the garden of the world where oranges, lemons, citrons, peaches, apples and every known fruit, almost, grows to perfection. All this, and much more, is pictured out in life-like reality, in this great paper. It also gives the photos and biographies of the leading men, who have helped to work out the wonders of Arizona. If you want to know all about Arizona, send the Arizona Republican, at Phoenix, Arizona, 25 cents, and get this great work of art, and you can then understand everything about this great country.—Sabatha, (Kan.) Republican.

Deserves Great Credit.

The Tribune is in receipt of a copy of the special edition of the Phoenix Republican which has been in course of preparation for some months past, under the immediate supervision of the King brothers. The publication cannot be called a pamphlet, nor yet is it a book. It consists of sixty-four pages as large as the ordinary newspaper page, and is finely printed on an excellent grade of book paper. It is profusely illustrated by engravings of a high order of excellence produced from photographs, giving truthful representations of the more notable objects and scenes in our territory.

The descriptive matter is well written consisting of a short history of Arizona from its exploration by the Spaniards down to the present time. The resources and capabilities of the different counties are truthfully described and the inducements held out to immigrants fairly set forth. True, it is a money making scheme, but the Republican deserves credit for conceiving it and carrying it out to a successful issue. Its distribution in the eastern states will attract attention to our favored land and be the means of drawing both capital and settlers.—Florence Tribune.

Abounds in Information.

The special illustrated edition of the Arizona Republican is by far the most ambitious effort made in recent years to advertise the rich resources of Arizona and record the progress making in those industries which are the arteries of her existence. Its letter press work is admirable and the profuse illustrations of prominent men and business houses, irrigation works, ranches, orchards, etc., are splendidly executed. The descriptive matter, although brief, is very readable, and abounds in valuable information pertaining to the several counties of the Territory. The only fault to be found with the publication as a whole is the ample space devoted to Maricopa, Pima and Cochise counties to the neglect of other political divisions of Arizona.

The illustrated Republican is the joint production of W. P. and J. P. King and T. J. Wolfley.—Globe Silver Bell.

A Very Handsome Edition.

A special edition of the Arizona Republican which has been issued a few days ago, has been received at the Daily Gazette office. The edition is the work of W. J. and Pat King, of this city, and Mr. T. J. Wolfley, formerly of the Daily Gazette.

It is a most handsome work and very neatly illustrated with views of the principal points of interest in Arizona and also cuts of the principal men of the territory. In all it is a work of art and a great credit to Mr. Wolfley and the King brothers.—St. Joseph (Mo.) Gazette.

Done Itself Proud.

The Arizona Republican has done itself proud and the territory a great service by the issuance of an elegant illustrated edition of sixty-four pages. It sets forth the resources, improvements, and advantages of the Salt River valley in fine style and with such a profusion of pictures as to make one almost think it is the veritable promised land. Nothing equal to this publication as an immigration inducer has ever before been issued in Arizona.—Los Angeles, (Cal.) Times.

Just the Thing.

A beautifully illustrated copy of the Arizona Republican, containing 64 pages, lies on our desk. The paper is published daily at the territorial capital, Phoenix, and edited by T. J. Wolfley, formerly of St. Joseph.

The ordinary size of the Republican is eight pages. This number is issued in order to set forth the industries and natural advantages of Arizona. The climate, the mines, and the productive portions of Arizona receive their full share of attention both in description and illustration.

Prominent men of Phoenix, Tombstone, Prescott, Nogales, and other cities, are remembered, and their faces look forth from the pages of this handsomely gotten up journal.

For any one wishing to add to his knowledge of Arizona, this paper is just the thing. Address "The Arizona Republican, enclosing 25 cents.—Leavenworth, (Kas.) Times.

Very Handsome.

The Arizona Republican, of Phoenix, Arizona, has issued a very handsome special number of 64 pages, printed on book paper with tinted covers. This number is embellished with many photo-engravings of scenes in the territory and contains portraits of scores of prominent citizens.

The views embrace orchards, vineyards, fruit displays, etc., showing in a striking way the varied horticultural resources of Arizona. The text is well written, and extols the advantages of the territory in a manner that does full justice to the subject.—Los Angeles, (Cal.) Express.

A Compendium of Information.

The large sixty-six page edition of the Arizona Republican is before us. For some time past the public have been looking for this compendium of information concerning Arizona, and now that it is in the hands of the people, it cannot fail to meet their highest expectations, both in matter and artistic execution.

It is numerously illustrated and altogether is a work which ought to receive an extensive circulation. Through such media, backed by the regular daily and weekly papers, does California owe her present advanced condition, and the influence of such a publication as the special edition of the Republican will be extensive and potent.—Mess Free Press.

Best of the Kind.

The illustrated edition of the Phoenix Republican is at hand. The engraving and printing are finely done, the subject matter is good, and the whole make up the best of anything of its kind that has ever been sent out of Arizona. Its general circulation throughout the east will be the means of doing great good for the territory.—Yuma Sentinel.

A SAD AFFAIR.

The Suicide of a Young Married Woman.

She Ended Her Life in a House of Ill Fame, Then Her Husband Shoots Himself.

SONORA, Cal., Oct. 29.—[Associated Press.] Mr. Sawyer and son, father and brother of Arville Otey, the girl who killed herself in a house of ill repute on Sunday morning, arrived in Sonora late last evening. Mr. Sawyer had an interview with Otey, who is confined in the jail, and then took the corpse of his daughter home to Nord, Butte county.

Sawyer had not left the jail five minutes before the report of a pistol was heard.

The Sheriff went to Otey's cell and found that the latter had shot himself in the left breast.

The wound is serious, but not necessarily fatal.

He left a letter stating that his wife committed suicide.

Stevenson in West Virginia.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 29.—Adlai E. Stevenson was greeted here today by a tremendous crowd. Thousands of people from the surrounding country are coming in to attend the meeting this afternoon. There was a procession of 6,000 people, including nearly 2,500 mounted men. Near the state house a stage has been erected from which Stevenson reviewed the parade and spoke later to crowds. He spoke nearly two hours, dealing principally with the tariff and the force bill.

Cholera From the West.

PORT TOWNSEND, Oct. 29.—The bark Cowlitz, from Taku, China, arrived today. The vessel had no papers or bill of health. On the passage the second mate and one seaman were attacked with symptoms resembling Asiatic cholera, and after a brief illness died. The last death occurred two weeks ago. The vessel was placed in quarantine today and the crew is at the rest house.

MADE A NEAT JOB OF IT.

Fires Both Barrels of a Shotgun Into His Heart.

SEBALIA, Mo., Oct. 29.—[Associated Press.] A. G. Koch, aged 77 years, one of the residents of Concordia, Lafayette, committed suicide to-day by shooting himself through the heart with a double-barreled shotgun. He sat in a rocking-chair, placed the muzzle of the weapon against his breast and with a broom-handle pressed the trigger, firing both loads into his body.

STEWART

Will Carry Pima By a Big Majority.

Smith Unpopular With the Democrats.

That Mark is Defeated Now a Certainty.

Stewart Will Do the Work in Washington that Smith Failed to Accomplish.

TUCSON, Ariz., Oct. 29.—[Special.] The campaign waxed warm here as election day draws nearer. The hills and valleys have been crossed in southern Pima, and the candidates that live in the metropolis are showing up again in fine form remembering the fact that they cannot totally ignore the city vote.

Stewart stands strong in Tucson, and it is almost a foregone conclusion that Smith is a badly defeated man. Some among his own friends who heard him speak with Stewart here said that he was "neither the man nor the speaker he used to be," and what is the use of sending a man to congress who is going from bad to worse. Can the territory afford to trifle with its best interests at a time that it is most vital to act with both energy and prudence, and secure a delegate that can gain some recognition for Arizona, and see that the wishes of the people are listened to by the administration and congress. This spurious fallacy of allowing one man to carry the destiny of this territory in his hands for years and virtually accomplish nothing while the territory is and has been in the throes of a financial stagnation that has oppressed the best interests of the territory is decidedly too gauzy, even for the veriest toady to swallow any longer. The Kentuckian will be retired on election day and the fumbling of the pages of Cochise law books will be more becoming than posing as a lawn tennis performer or a man of sweet society on Pennsylvania avenue in Washington while the territory receives not a dollar in appropriation.

The ticket as nominated by the Republicans of Pima stands well and is making a strong race. The weather is cold and rainy.

Well.

GLOBE, Ariz., Oct. 26.—[Communicated.]—"Did you ever! No, I never" saw a man look so blue as E. J. Edwards does since it has been discovered that he was the party who "let the cat out of the bag" and exposed the author of the defamatory articles published in the Bulletin slandering the candidates on the Peoples and Republican party tickets and others who are adherents of these respective parties.

At first he was as well pleased as a "boy with red-topped boots," and with his supposed excessive smartness he resolved himself into the character of a newsboy and peddled the Bulletin in his peregrination throughout the county, while soliciting votes for himself, calling attention to the articles in question and soliciting their perusal.

He, now, upon realizing their effect upon an intelligent community and that they are acting as a "boomerang" upon the Democratic party, denies his authorship and says, "whoever accuses him is a liar," although confronted by the statement of those to whom he confided his secret of being the correspondent of the Bulletin; but no one believes him, not even the rank and file of the Democratic party, and now he is in a quandary and has endeavored to place the odium on other shoulders.

Those whom he abuses, are thankful to him for his industry in their behalf, in making votes for them, and no appreciation of his articles they have posted them on the blackboards about Globe, which was entirely unnecessary, as the mail from Solomonville contained a plethora of the Bulletin, and it is hoped by the calumniated parties, that he will work with greater zeal in his vilification of those who are profiting by his communications and whom he expects to "down."

He, however, may possibly have read of the "gun that is aimed at duck or plucker, which sometimes kicks and knocks the owner over," and may hereafter become as dumb as an oyster.

A NEW DISEASE.

It Resembles Yellow Fever But is Said to be More Fatal.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—[Associated Press.] A new disease, contagious and fatal, has reached this port, causing much alarm among the health authorities at Quarantine.

The disease is imported from Japan, where it is known as Berbi-berbi. The bark H. P. Cann arrived off Quarantine yesterday, 170 days out from Hilo, and reported that two deaths from the disease had occurred enroute.

Seaman Thomas Russell died on Sept. 23 and Carpenter John Nugent on Oct. 8. Both were buried at sea.

When the ship arrived at Norfolk, Va., the first mate and seven men who were stricken with Berbi-berbi were put ashore and sent to the hospital. The disease is unknown here. The authorities are at a loss to know how to handle it should other ships follow with the disease on board. The Cann is laden with sugar and tea, and makes the third vessel which has reached this port in the past four weeks, of which death from this disease has been reported.

The disease is said to resemble yellow fever somewhat, but is more fatal. The Cann will be detained at quarantine and thoroughly disinfected while stringent measures will be adopted to cope with the disease from other vessels arriving.

DEATHS IN THE WHITE HOUSE.

Two Presidents and Two Presidents' Wives Died There.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—[Associated Press.] The death in the White House of Mrs. Harrison makes the second case in the history of the executive mansion in which the wife of a president died there. A little more than a half-century ago, on Sept. 10, 1842, Letitia Christian Tyler, first wife of President John Tyler, died in the White House. She had entered it in delicate health, unable to perform the social duties of the place, but her death, nevertheless, came as a surprise and a shock to the country. The tolling of the church bells the following day announced her death. The funeral ceremonies took place in the East room.

Two presidents also have died in the White House. William Henry Harrison, the president's grandfather, ended his days there just one month after his inauguration. Zachariah Taylor, the old Mexican war hero, also died in the White House in July of the second year after his inauguration.

There have been a few other deaths in the historic building, of which deaths two were of members of the president's family circle. Lincoln's little boy "Tad," died there, and, and so did Frederick Dent, Mrs. Grant's father. During President Arthur's administration the call of death interrupted one of his New Year's Day receptions. While the reception was in progress the Hawaiian minister suddenly fell and died in a very short time.

The President's Return.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—The president arrived at 5 p. m. today. The so-called accident to the train on the Homestead trip a few miles west of Columbus was a trifling affair. The president spoke with evident feeling of his deep appreciation of the marked sympathy and consideration displayed by the people at all points on the route.

A SLIGHT CHANGE

In the Order of World's Fair Contestants.

F. B. Gabbert Rises to Fourth Place, Victor Hanny Still in the First Closely Pursued by Dewey.

The weekly count in THE REPUBLICAN'S world's fair contest shows a slight change of order in the list of contestants. By the withdrawal of Irving Furl of C. Schman's from the race, F. B. Gabbert rises to fourth place. Victor Hanny of Goldberg Bros., still leads but Jay Dewey of Talbot & Hubbard's in second place still keeps up the reduction of the margin which separates him from Mr. Hanny.

Several other contestants have made handsome gains which shows that friends of all are hopeful of landing their favorites safe at last.
