A NEW TRIAL MOVED IN BEEMER VS. PEASE

An Argument on the Motion at Tucson Today.

The trial for the south last night was filled mainly with attorneys from Prescott and Phoenix, going to Tucson to argue a motion for a new trial in the case of Beemer vs. Pease, in which a judgment for one dollar was not long ago given against the defendant, who had brought suit for $2,500,000.

Robert E. Morrison and Attorney-General Clark of Prescott will appear for Beemer and Judge Street, Judge Baker and E. W. Lewis will represent Pease. Though the case belongs in Yuma, by common consent it was agreed to bring the motion before Judge Campbell at Tucson.

The attorneys for Pease do not want to pay that dollar if they can get out of it. It carries too much with it, but if there is no way to avoid they go prepared to make up the amount of the judgment among themselves. They insist, however, that when several millions were sued for on one side, and only several hundred thousand dollars on the other, a judgment for one dollar is a splitting of the difference into very unequal parts; that it is an exaggerated form of the Mexican stand-off.

A HUSBAND'S REASON FOR GETTING MARRIED

Gave Mrs. Whitcomb Good Ground for Divorce.

Mrs. Annie J. Whitcomb was yesterday granted a divorce from Charles E. Whitcomb, a non-resident, on the ground of failure to support. This suit has been on file a long time. The parties were married in Austin, Texas, about five years ago. Very soon after the husband made it clear that he had not married for his health, but because he needed somebody to help support him, and he suggested to his wife that he should make what he could without too great effort, and put it in the bank where he could get it in time of need for his own use. He pointed out that his wife, who had been engaged in lecturing for some years, should keep on at it and she might make enough that way to supply the family with the comforts if not the luxuries of life.

Mrs. Whitcomb was also engaged in the study of law. Here was another prospective source of existence, for lawyers could live on the fat of the land. Naturally, a marriage entered into with a husband embracing such ideas could not be satisfactory or lasting, and Mrs. Whitcomb went away. On this showing the decree was granted.

In the damage suit of C. H. Waterhouse against the Phoenix & Eastern railroad for the killing of a cow belonging to the plaintiff, the case went to trial on agreed statement of the facts and was submitted and taken under advisement.

In the case of Everett Brizee against M. Valenzuela, the plaintiff did not appear and the defendant was given judgment.

BEST ROCK DAM ON SALT RIVER

Mr. Heard speaks of the Work at the Arizona Head.

Dwight B. Heard, who visited the Arizona head Thursday with Engineer Hill and B. A. Fowler, was asked yesterday concerning his impressions of the work accomplished and being done by the Arizona Canal Water Users' association. The question was put to him for the reason that while he is largely interested in the valley and keeps in close touch with irrigation affairs, he is nevertheless but slightly interested in a personal way in the section under the Arizona canal and had not visited the Arizona head before for several years. Mr. Heard's answer was enthusiastically complimentary to all who have contributed to the present pleasing conditions and especially to R. H. Collins, who has had complete charge of the construction of the rock dam.

Mr. Heard said he considered it the best rock dam he had ever seen anywhere any of the Arizona streams and it has the appearance of considerable permanency. The rock used is large rough edged stone from the hillside quarry, the size and roughness of the rocks in contrast with the round smooth boulders generally used in similar work suggesting that in such material the water will find a barrier that means something and no slight pressure will disintegrate or disturb it. Nature has been lavish in making this project possible. The big quarry seems to have been found right where it was needed as also was the sand and boulder bed from which is drawn the materials for puddling the dam. The timbers on which the rails of the temporary track are resting were largely saved from drift and the rails were loaned for the time being to the association by the Southern Pacific Railroad. Mr. Collins, he said, should be given great credit for doing very effective work in a limited time and at a minimum of expense.

"Though I am but slightly interested in Arizona canal lands," said Mr. Heard, "I am glad that the land is so interested in are all signed to the association for that I believe was a good investment and the only thing for the salvation of the valley."

The question has been asked if there was not danger of getting the dam too high, so it might be more easily given way in time of flood. The answer is no. The bigger and stronger it is built, every additional rock that is put on it now, makes more secure the entire structure. It will be less likely to go out in an ordinary flood and may possibly withstand the winter freshets. On the other hand, if there comes a flood big enough to take the dam out, the size of the dam is further insurance that it will swing the river channel to this side of the bed, where it formerly was, and once the channel is turned to this side and sufficiently washed out to stay there, the dam will no longer be needed, for the channel will cut out the Extension almost down to the rock heading, the very thing desired if conditions are to be disturbed at all.

It is timely to mention again that of the books of the association are closed and those who have not yet signed their lands may do so at the same cost as the original members of the association. There is no penalty attached, though the old members have the satisfaction of knowing that they have accomplished that hitherto impossible feat of lifting themselves by their bootstraps. They are now in a position to lift their neighbors if the latter will only help a little bit. The presence of water in the ditches is having an effect on a few who have always been in sympathy but were of little faith and had to be shown, and every day there are one or two additions to the list of new members. But there ought to be more.

THE WEEK AT ROOSEVELT

The Tonto Country Loses Two Pioneer Residents.

Roosevelt, May 24.—(Special correspondence of The Republican.)—Another Indian went wrong again last week by getting too much of his worst enemy, bad whiskey, and had it not been for the kindness of Judge Evans the man would probably now be languishing in jail instead of enjoying his freedom, as he is permitted to do. The unlucky buck is S. B. 55, and his offense was being drunk and disorderly on Thursday of last week. As was stated at the time of his arrest, he was so drunk he could not walk down the street without hitting both sides at the same time, and this in the opinion of Ranger Holmes is a little too drunk for a man to be and enjoy his freedom. Consequently he was locked up overnight and on the following morning was brought before Judge Evans for trial. He admitted being drunk and pleaded guilty and his fine was fixed at five dollars. Owing to circumstances and the desire on the part of the judge to show the man all possible leniency and give him a chance to "make good" the payment of the fine was suspended during good behavior. When apprised of this fact S. B. 55 was a very happy Indian as he left the court room and his promises of good behavior were profuse.

NEW SIGNAL CODE FOR RURAL ROUTES

A Further Betterment of the County Mail Service.

The rural route mail business is becoming so complicated as every thing else in the world and conditions are fast shaping themselves so it will be a pretty smart man who knows enough to even mail a letter and do it gracefully and scientifically. The latest device is a signal service system which takes effect on all rural routes on July 1. The purpose is to prevent trouble and loss of time on the part of rural carriers and increase the utility of the service. Postmasters are receiving circular letters from the department of which the following is the text:

"On and after July 1, 1906, patrons of the rural delivery service will be required to display signals on their boxes when they leave mail in them for carriers to collect, as, after that date, carriers, when serving their routes, will not be required to open all rural routes; any mail boxes except those to which they have mail to deliver and those on which signals are displayed to indicate there is mail for carriers to collect.

Those patrons whose boxes are not provided with signals must attach thereto some device which, when displayed, will plainly show passing carriers there is mail to be collected. It is not necessary that such device shall be either complicated or costly; a very simple arrangement will answer the purpose.

"Carriers must lower the signals on boxes after making collections, provided no mail is left therein; and must display the signals when they deposit mail for patrons, unless the patrons have made request to the contrary. "The carriers must be instructed to promptly inform patrons of their routes with regard to this order, and you should, without expense to the department, use such other necessary means for informing them as will secure a complete understanding and full compliance by all patrons on the date mentioned."

GIRL'S CAPE WITH HOOD 5312.
 The little cape made in Red Riding Hood style is always a pretty, attractive and useful garment for young girls. This one is absolutely simple, while it is cut with graceful and abundant fullness and includes a hood that can be drawn up over the head, providing genuine warmth and comfort whenever desirable. As shown, it is made of dark red broadcloth stitched with belding silk and is lined with soft white silk, and is designed for party wear, but cloth of many sorts, drap d'ete and the like are all appropriate with the lining chosen to suit the color and the use to which the cape is to be put. If designed for school wear, cheap, homespun and the like are always desirable, and many of these cloths do not require lining, as the inner side is finished and the warmth is quite sufficient without.

The cape is made with the cape and the hood. The cape is fitted by means of darts at the shoulders, and the hood requires to be lined with some soft silk and stitched to form a casing, in which elastic is inserted, which serves to draw it up about the face.

The quantity of material required for the medium size (8 years) is 3 1/2 yards 27, 1 3/4 yards 44, or 1 3/4 yards 52 inches wide, with 3/4 yard of silk for lining the hood.

The pattern 5312 is cut in sizes for girls of 4, 6, 8, 10 and 12 years of age. Cut this out and send with ten cents to The Republican, Phoenix, Ariz., filling out the blank below:
