

MARLIN RIFLES AND SHOTGUNS

We handle a full line of these reliable firearms, and sell them at the very lowest restricted retail prices established by the makers.

PINNEY & ROBINSON THE GUN STORE

40 NORTH CENTER STREET, PHOENIX, ARIZ. Established 1847

Ostrich Goods

Our Ostrich Feather Goods add elegance to the most refined or elaborate costume.

We carry the largest line of Plumes, Fans, Boas, Stoles and Hats in the Southwest, made from the finest feathers grown, or

Make Special Pieces to Order

Don't buy until you get our prices. We have a few very fine soft, hand-made Ostrich Feather Dust-ers on sale, the only thing for nice furniture.

Arizona Ostrich Farm

PHOENIX, ARIZONA. Cor. Adams and 1st Sts. Opp. New Noble Bldg.

Carnegie Public Library

Eleventh Avenue and Washington Street

Open 9 a. m. to 12 m. Daily Except Sundays and Holidays

Sundays, Reading Room open from 2 p. m. to 5 p. m.

SPECIAL SALE

For one week from 2 to 4 P. Incandescent Lamps at 20 cents each. ARIZONA ELECTRIC CO.

THE FRENCH KITCHEN

THE RIGHT PLACE TO EAT.

Will be open day and night. Short orders and regular meals. YEE BEN CO. PROPS.

TOURIST

MUST BE SEEN TO BE FULLY APPRECIATED. LISTEN, MR. PURCHASER: You look around at the different makes of motor cars, and note all their good points, listen to the arguments the salesman will offer, get their prices, and then come to us and compare all your data with what we SHOW you, and there is no question but what you will buy a TOURIST.

Phoenix Auto Co.,

Cor. Fourth Ave. and Washington. Arthur Ainsworth, Manager. Phone Main 145

YUCCA PALM

Something new made up in Photo Frames, Table Mats, Desk Sets, Ornamental Panels, Blotters, etc. See our window.

The Navajo Curio 12 NORTH CENTER ST

GLORIOSO

12 N. Center. 41 W. Adams

Crasville No. 3924

The noted French coach stallion will make the season 1908 at Cowboy Corral, Five Points, Phoenix, Arizona.

NAVAJO

Blankets and Silverware, Braided Hair Hat Bands.

ARIZONA SADDLERY CO. 45 N. Center, Phoenix

New Open Air Theater ready for public Saturday night, near Electric Theater, Reeves and Echlin.

SANTA FE TIME TABLE

PHOENIX CITY TIME.

Leave. Arrive. The Diamond Jo, for Hot Springs Junction, Wickenburg, Prescott and branch points, Jerome, Ash Fork, Los Angeles, San Francisco and all points west. 2:00 a.m. 2:15 a.m.

THE WEATHER.

Local Daily Weather Report for the Arizona Republican.

Forecast for today—Fair. 5:30 5:30 a.m. p.m. 29.78 29.77

Barometer, inches. 29.78 29.77 Temperature, degrees. 55 84 Dew point, degrees. 28 28 Humidity, per cent. 55 13

Accumulated excess in temperature since January 1, 131 degrees. Accumulated excess in rainfall since January 1, 0.12 inches.

THE ADAMS BANQUET TO BOARD OF TRADE

(Continued from page 1) I regret that official business calls me from town, so that I cannot be present at the banquet.

Very truly, JOS. H. KIBBEY.

The letter of the governor was received with enthusiastic applause.

A Message From Globe. The toastmaster then read the following telegram from Globe which received with great enthusiasm:

"Globe, Ariz., March 18. 'Hon. J. C. Adams.

"Phoenix, Ariz. 'I regret very much that your kind invitation reached me after the morning train had departed for I am sure the Globe chamber of commerce should have taken advantage of the opportunity to send a representative to meet the business men of Phoenix and respond to the toast you suggest.

As those who have been here can testify there is so much a Globe man has to talk about if he wishes to convey a proper idea of the great resources of the greatest copper camp in the southwest, that he could scarcely undertake to tell it all between drinks.

Probably no city in the southwest has passed through such a crucial period in the satisfactory manner than Globe weathered the late financial gale. Its millions of money and securities suddenly withdrawn by the suspension of two of its leading banks came like a bolt of lightning from a clear sky, but business, with sails slightly trimmed, rode the swell of the storm without losing its poise for an instant, and there was not a single failure.

No sacrifices of real estate were made and the curtailment of mining operations was very slight when one considers the magnitude and ferocity of the financial gale.

No better illustration of the stability of the great copper camp could be cited, and we call your attention with pride to Globe's rapid and substantial return to its old time prosperity.

The First National Bank, one of our strongest financial institutions, has reopened its doors with greater capital back of it and more money in its vaults than ever, and the Globe National will soon reopen stronger than before the crash.

Mining has been carried on actively during the period of depression and is now rapidly being prosecuted with expanding activity throughout the district.

The Globe chamber of commerce congratulates the board of trade of Phoenix upon its great success in advancing the material interests of the Salt River valley and Phoenix and gives assurance of its hearty co-operation in any movement that may advance diversified interests of Arizona.

We realize that the more you raise for man and beast to eat the better they will be fed, and assure you that our money is yours as fast as you send along your cantaloupes, strawberries, oranges, vegetables and alfalfa.

We take it as granted that you realize the importance to your valley of any successful movement that advances Globe, and we call your attention in this connection to the circuitous route to Globe from the valley by rail, and direct your consideration of the Spreckles railway project to the end that that proposed railway may bring Globe and the Salt River valley into closer communication.

Be kind enough to show Mr. Spreckles the trail leading out of the valley to Globe, the greatest copper camp in the west and the future metropolis of Arizona.

"JAMES EWING, Pres. Globe Chamber of Commerce.

After some preliminary remarks by the toastmaster on the subject of cliff scatters billions of germs daily, and the danger lies not so much in being exposed to the infection as in permitting the conditions that encourage infection to take hold. It is the unsanitary condition and the bad habits of those who are subjected to exposure that encourage a spread of the disease.

The doctors are in closer contact with infected persons than any other class yet they are forthright in the list of those who become victims of tuberculosis and that only because of their constant precautions, while stone masons and marble workers, who seldom meet consumptive patients fall most rapidly before the plague.

Fitz Mac was the next speaker and his remarks provoked great enthusiasm. He was very enthusiastic over the agricultural resources of the valley but he said he believed a strong point had been overlooked in paying too little attention to the mining industry.

He pointed out how Arizona led the world in copper and the advertising that had resulted from making this fact known to the world. He said he came from a country where they claimed everything and looked up the records afterward. He liked the tenor of Mr. Ewing's letter and would like to go him one better and send one back in return.

He ventured the assertion that while much was being done for agriculture the mines should not be neglected for it is the mines that furnish the great home market for the agriculturist, and that of every dollar invested in the mines the farming sections receive their just proportion.

After some remarks about the soil of the valley and the soil maps furnished by the government the toastmaster introduced General A. Sampson, formerly minister to Ecuador, but for many years past a resident of Phoenix. The general spoke of the pioneers to whom he paid tribute and especially the pioneer women who are entitled to even greater praise than the men for as one expressed it in a story the general told, Arizona was in those days a good place for the men and horses but it was hell on the women and the oxen.

He also gave great credit to the men who do things. One kind of a pioneer is the man who does as much for his country in a year as others do in a hundred years and he need not be the oldest in the community either.

It was in this place that the general placed the host of the evening and his remarks were loudly applauded. The general continued by telling of Arizona's wonderful winter climate, as he believed the best in the world and he had seen about all of them. He also spoke of Arizona's resources and said that when in Ecuador many Arizonians wrote him concerning opportunities there and while he always gave the information desired he seldom failed to add that there were better ones in Arizona both in a mining and agricultural way.

He closed with a peroration that appealed to every man present and that was acknowledged by a storm of applause.

Mr. Adams was called for vociferously and mounting a chair, announced that he had something to say, but not until the others had finished. He then introduced Leroy Anderson of Prescott who spoke as the personal representative of Mayor Goldwater of Prescott, reading his credentials to the assemblage.

Mr. Anderson's speech was one of the finest of the evening and it is to be regretted that it cannot be reproduced in full. It was illuminated with a number of good stories and recited incidents that showed the cooperation of Yavapai county and Maricopa and how that cooperation might be made more notable. He referred to the knockers in both Phoenix and Prescott but pointed out how they were in the minority and could harm no one but themselves. He well sustained the honor of old Yavapai and threw many pleasing bouquets to the virtues of the Salt River valley, not the least of which was his personal experience in his review of conditions as he found them in a ride yesterday, as compared to a similar ride but a year or two ago. He spoke of the wonderful products of the valley; that their chief deficiency was their lack of quantity and that as they are increased old Yavapai stands ready to buy and pay for them.

Cheers and applause were given for Mayor Goldwater of Prescott and Mr. Anderson. It should not be forgotten either that he made a proper testimonial to the value to a community of such men as J. C. Adams, who had not only done much for Phoenix, but who had diverted at least a million dollars into the developing enterprises of Yavapai county, wherefore Prescott feels that she has some claim upon him as a favorite son.

The next incident was the passing of a motion by the assemblage that proper telegrams of appreciation of cooperation should be sent to Mayor Goldwater of Prescott and to the Bisbee and Globe boards of trade.

Bisbee was incorporated particularly was introduced and spoke of the particular mission of that organization and what it hoped to accomplish. He said they had no fight with the railroads. They expected a fair hearing and fair consideration and would patiently await the result of their requests for a more equitable rate on many commodities shipped into this valley and out of it. It was conditions, not railroads that the club is fighting.

A. C. Bartlett said Phoenix was bound to impress a tenderfoot, and told a number of stories illustrating points that could well be taken advantage of. Among others was the story of the man who wanted to buy a razor. He did not want a safety but one of the old kind that would cut both ways, and so it is with an Adams banquet. It is purely a social affair, but its cutting effect in a business way can scarcely be estimated.

Finally, after all the others had finished, Mr. Adams was loudly called for. He said there had been talked on the street and brought to his ears from various quarters, all manner of stories as to the purpose of the banquet. Some have said that it was for political purposes, some had said that he was going to market a gold brick of some kind. He called the attention of his guests to the fact that he had never worked but one gold brick on the people of Phoenix, and that was the territorial fair which had assayed one hundred per cent fine. He had no bricks to sell. The board of trade had always been a pet institution of his for he realized its importance in this community. He merely wanted to stimulate interest in its work and he had been a hard worker in its behalf as in other things. In return he felt fully recompensed in that the people had responded nobly and he had never been treated better in any community than right here and his heart was full of gratitude for the people of Phoenix who had stood by him so nobly.

As Mr. Adams concluded George Purdy Ballard arose and moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Adams but Judge Pinney secured the floor to say that he had such a resolution prepared already and he thereupon presented it. It was unanimously passed and reads as follows:

"Resolved, by the members of the board of trade of the City of Phoenix, here assembled, that we hereby express our hearty thanks and appreciation for the interesting entertainment and splendid banquet tendered the members of this association by the host of the evening, Mr. J. C. Adams.

"And we take great pleasure in spreading upon the records of our association this resolution as an expression of our appreciation of the same."

The banquet was concluded with a movement inaugurated by Leroy Anderson for a greater cooperation among all the boards of trade of the territory, the details of which had scarcely been perfected at press time. The assemblage however approved the work and the banquet ended in a rousing cheer for the host and the Phoenix and Maricopa county board of trade.

A PUGILIST KILLED. St. Joseph, Mo., March 18.—Leek Allen, a local pugilist, died today from injuries received in a match last night before the aerial of Eagles with Fitz Gutzenberger. The latter was arrested.

It's Here

Ladies should call and inspect the imported ware from Japan. Its beautiful and useful. Remember you can get one of these imported plates with one pound Gun Powder English Breakfast Japan or Mixed Tea, only 60¢—plate and tea.

The cups and saucers are given away with our bonds or premium plan.

Big Clearance Sale Still going on

McKee's Cash Store

mate, Dr. Wylie was introduced to speak on that subject. He said he would discuss it from the business standpoint, or rather from the standpoint of the climate as an advertisement. He pointed out the bad effects for the valley of the letters written back east by those who came here seeking health and finding every door barred to them and every avenue of activity closed.

The essence of his remarks was that the danger is necessarily ever prevalent in a place like this where each invalid minister to Ecuador, but for many years past a resident of Phoenix. The general spoke of the pioneers to whom he paid tribute and especially the pioneer women who are entitled to even greater praise than the men for as one expressed it in a story the general told, Arizona was in those days a good place for the men and horses but it was hell on the women and the oxen.

He also gave great credit to the men who do things. One kind of a pioneer is the man who does as much for his country in a year as others do in a hundred years and he need not be the oldest in the community either.

It was in this place that the general placed the host of the evening and his remarks were loudly applauded. The general continued by telling of Arizona's wonderful winter climate, as he believed the best in the world and he had seen about all of them. He also spoke of Arizona's resources and said that when in Ecuador many Arizonians wrote him concerning opportunities there and while he always gave the information desired he seldom failed to add that there were better ones in Arizona both in a mining and agricultural way.

He closed with a peroration that appealed to every man present and that was acknowledged by a storm of applause.

Mr. Adams was called for vociferously and mounting a chair, announced that he had something to say, but not until the others had finished. He then introduced Leroy Anderson of Prescott who spoke as the personal representative of Mayor Goldwater of Prescott, reading his credentials to the assemblage.

Mr. Anderson's speech was one of the finest of the evening and it is to be regretted that it cannot be reproduced in full. It was illuminated with a number of good stories and recited incidents that showed the cooperation of Yavapai county and Maricopa and how that cooperation might be made more notable. He referred to the knockers in both Phoenix and Prescott but pointed out how they were in the minority and could harm no one but themselves. He well sustained the honor of old Yavapai and threw many pleasing bouquets to the virtues of the Salt River valley, not the least of which was his personal experience in his review of conditions as he found them in a ride yesterday, as compared to a similar ride but a year or two ago. He spoke of the wonderful products of the valley; that their chief deficiency was their lack of quantity and that as they are increased old Yavapai stands ready to buy and pay for them.

Cheers and applause were given for Mayor Goldwater of Prescott and Mr. Anderson. It should not be forgotten either that he made a proper testimonial to the value to a community of such men as J. C. Adams, who had not only done much for Phoenix, but who had diverted at least a million dollars into the developing enterprises of Yavapai county, wherefore Prescott feels that she has some claim upon him as a favorite son.

The next incident was the passing of a motion by the assemblage that proper telegrams of appreciation of cooperation should be sent to Mayor Goldwater of Prescott and to the Bisbee and Globe boards of trade. Bisbee was incorporated particularly was introduced and spoke of the particular mission of that organization and what it hoped to accomplish. He said they had no fight with the railroads. They expected a fair hearing and fair consideration and would patiently await the result of their requests for a more equitable rate on many commodities shipped into this valley and out of it. It was conditions, not railroads that the club is fighting.

A. C. Bartlett said Phoenix was bound to impress a tenderfoot, and told a number of stories illustrating points that could well be taken advantage of. Among others was the story of the man who wanted to buy a razor. He did not want a safety but one of the old kind that would cut both ways, and so it is with an Adams banquet. It is purely a social affair, but its cutting effect in a business way can scarcely be estimated.

Finally, after all the others had finished, Mr. Adams was loudly called for. He said there had been talked on the street and brought to his ears from various quarters, all manner of stories as to the purpose of the banquet. Some have said that it was for political purposes, some had said that he was going to market a gold brick of some kind. He called the attention of his guests to the fact that he had never worked but one gold brick on the people of Phoenix, and that was the territorial fair which had assayed one hundred per cent fine. He had no bricks to sell. The board of trade had always been a pet institution of his for he realized its importance in this community. He merely wanted to stimulate interest in its work and he had been a hard worker in its behalf as in other things. In return he felt fully recompensed in that the people had responded nobly and he had never been treated better in any community than right here and his heart was full of gratitude for the people of Phoenix who had stood by him so nobly.

As Mr. Adams concluded George Purdy Ballard arose and moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Adams but Judge Pinney secured the floor to say that he had such a resolution prepared already and he thereupon presented it. It was unanimously passed and reads as follows:

"Resolved, by the members of the board of trade of the City of Phoenix, here assembled, that we hereby express our hearty thanks and appreciation for the interesting entertainment and splendid banquet tendered the members of this association by the host of the evening, Mr. J. C. Adams.

"And we take great pleasure in spreading upon the records of our association this resolution as an expression of our appreciation of the same."

The banquet was concluded with a movement inaugurated by Leroy Anderson for a greater cooperation among all the boards of trade of the territory, the details of which had scarcely been perfected at press time. The assemblage however approved the work and the banquet ended in a rousing cheer for the host and the Phoenix and Maricopa county board of trade.

A PUGILIST KILLED. St. Joseph, Mo., March 18.—Leek Allen, a local pugilist, died today from injuries received in a match last night before the aerial of Eagles with Fitz Gutzenberger. The latter was arrested.

FOR SALE CHEAP

Eleven large lots, north 8th Ave., 1/2 block from car line. City water, fine location, worth $300 each; the whole lot at $190 each. FINEST CITY REAL ESTATE INVESTMENT IN PHOENIX.

80 acre ranch; 20 acres in alfalfa; plenty of water, good ditches, fences and houses; 20 acres sowed to grain. Perfect title. Spot cash, $2600. Don't answer if you haven't the money. Must be sold quick; no commission. C. E. M., care Republican.

Join the crowd at Open Air Theater Saturday night, First Avenue, Reeves & Echlin.

THE WHITE HOUSE

SPECIAL OFFERING.

100 pairs Ladies' and Misses' Shoes, regular price $1.75. Sale price98¢

Come and see our new goods arriving daily, for bargains at

THE WHITE HOUSE

at 214-216 W. Washington St.

KEEP IT ON YOUR MIND Today Tomorrow Everyday

DIPLOMAT WHISKEY "JUST RIGHT"

Highest in Price Highest in Quality

GLASNER & BARZEN Distilling and Importing Company KANSAS CITY, MO. If your dealer can't supply you—write us

ARIZONA MERCANTILE CO., DISTRIBUTORS.

"The Good Fellowship of a Good Watch"

There is something in the good fellowship of a good watch that is always felt by the owner that is, in words, hard to define. Ask your friend, who has a good watch—a watch that keeps perfect time—how much he will take for it and he will laugh at you. It is because there is that attachment to it—that knowledge of its faithfulness that places it above its actual intrinsic value. These are the kind of watches we sell, and it is only these kind that you become attached to. From $10 up.

F. A. HILDEBRAND & CO., Jewelers SUCCESSORS TO GEO. H. COOK, 10-12 WEST WASHINGTON STREET, PHOENIX.

NEW STOCKINGS

in tan and black lace are in. We ordered these last fall for our Spring trade, but as manufacturers would not cancel the order we had to accept them. Also a big lot of new which came in under same conditions. Buy your summer footwear from new goods at nearly your own price.

OXFORDS

We are selling out and mean business.

THE ALKIRE CO.

THE SHOE AND STOCKING STORE 27-29 EAST WASHINGTON STREET Phoenix, Arizona