A PIECE of real estate or a horse is worth what it will "bring;" a suit of clothes is the same. No merchant is going to sell you a suit of clothes for $10 that is worth $20-- HE DOESN'T HAVE TO. We'll sell you clothes for $18 to $40, that are WORTH IT--if they're not, here's your money. No cut prices here--just full value. Come and see. Glad to show you any time.

NOW FOR SCHOOL SHOES

Your children wear out shoes to beat the band, and you know it. We thought of all this in buying our stock for fall. Never have we had such a showing of school shoes (prices low in comparison with quality). Call and see our Resistal soles for boys. They will outwear two pairs of the other kind.

will be held at the school and the program announced later. It is the evident determination of the high school athletic association to be sure of its "rosters" at the game as well as of a large audience. During the football practice this afternoon Coach Rockwell, with the assistance of Stroud and Shweppe, will select the team that is to meet the second team of the university. The game will be Saturday at 3 p. m. at Eastlake park.

A BORROWED HORSE — Charles Munger hitched his driving horse and buggy in front of his residence on North Central avenue Monday night and a little later discovered that the outfit was gone. He was unable to find any trace during the rest of the evening and concluded someone had stolen the outfit. Bright and early yesterday morning both Charles and Percy Munger set out to look for the missing horse. They soon met an officer, who said that just before he left the sheriff's office such a rig had been reported as found hitched in an alley in the rear of Gus Nall's residence. Someone had evidently taken the horse for a late drive and when he got through he did not dare return the horse to the place where he found it, though he did not want to steal it and had to leave it somewhere. If it was a Halloween trick it might be considered as a good joke on Mr. Munger, but the Humane society would doubtless take another view of it, regarding it from the standpoint of the horse.

A Good Saw That Works Is Worth More No matter how often or how seldom you use a hand saw, you want one that stays sharp and cuts clean, fast and easy. Any other kind makes you mad—every time you use it you'd be willing to pay 50 cents more for a really good saw. Atkins Silver Hand Saws Are used by most carpenters. They are the best, and not high-priced either. Made of better steel than you will find in most razors, gas tempered and fitted with the Atkins Perfection Handle, which prevents the usual cramping of the wrist. The blade is tape-ground; only the teeth touch the wood. No "binding" in the wood. This kind of a saw stays sharp, cuts true and last, is a pleasure to use and prevents expensive mistakes. Try one—be sure it bears our name on the blade. If it disappoints you, take it back to your dealer and get your money back. Talbot & Hubbard "The Hardware Store"
