OF LOCAL INTEREST

DELTA ALPHA CLUB—The regular monthly meeting of the Delta Alpha club will be held Monday evening, January 10, at Mrs. Frank Taylor's, 615 North Second street. All members are requested to be present.

LEAKING PIPES—The two fires of Saturday and Sunday night tried out the effect of the late cold weather on the water pipes very thoroughly. It was found that quite a number of the smaller service pipes had been sprung or cracked by the frost and when the tire pressure was attached many of them needed attention.

GIBSON-DAVIS—E. W. Gibson, engineer of the Consolidated Mining company and Rella Davis of Wickenburg were quietly married Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock by Probate Judge Phillips. They were given a dinner by Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Davis. The happy couple left on the afternoon train for Wickenburg.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATION FOR CENSUS ENUMERATOR—The census office has been granted permission to use the commission's local boards throughout the country for the examination of enumerators. This examination will be held on or about February 5, 1919. Instructions relative to the examination will be promulgated by the census office.

WEATHER FINE—Yesterday was worth while. It was more like an Arizona winter's day when overcoats are a nuisance rather than a luxury. The sun shone brightly and it was warm and pleasant driving. It cooled off again in the evening, for the nights have a right to be cold at this time of year, but it was so much better than most of the weather for weeks past that it was decidedly noticeable and pleasing.

ROAD DISTRICT NO. 1—Since W. J. Warren was appointed overseer of the roads in special road district No. 1, quite an improvement has been noticed on the roads. Considerable work has been done such as filling chuck holes and low places, repairing bridges, etc. The trustees are now ready to receive bids for crushing or hauling stone or any other work to be done on Central avenue. Specifications may be had at the office of the Lamson business college. Bids will be opened next Wednesday at 2 o'clock. The district now has more than $23,000 in the county treasury.

MESSAGE OF BEREAVEMENT—Major E. M. Lamson received a telegram yesterday morning conveying the sad news of the death of his mother, Mrs. James M. Lamson, at Waukegan, Ill. Mrs. Lamson was 84 years and 4 months old, and the oldest of fourteen children, two of whom survive her, a brother and a sister both past 70. Mrs. Lamson first came to Phoenix in 1890 and remained eight months. She returned in 1892 and lived at the home of Major Lamson until she returned to Illinois eighteen months ago. She had been ill about nine months. Her husband, J. G. Lamson, died in Phoenix in 1890 and is buried here.

THE WAREHOUSE FIRE—The fire in the hay pile at the end of the reclamation service warehouse on South Second avenue, litged almost all day yesterday but it was got well under control about 4 o'clock in the morning; that is, to a point where it was quite certain it would not spread. It was kept from lighting the coal bins and was also kept from burning the horse sheds in the rear, though the hay was almost a total loss, only a few bales being saved. There was a door on that end of the warehouse, opening next to the hay but it was metal lined and a hose in the building simply protected it and kept the flames from entering. There was, therefore, little loss except the hay and the shed roof over it. It was roughly stated yesterday that there were ninety tons in the pile, most of which burned, so the loss of the hay and the shed and the general tearing up of things will probably amount to about $1500.

FOR A SHORT VISIT—Mr. and Mrs. John M. Gardiner arrived here yesterday for a few days stay in Phoenix. Mr. Gardiner coming on private business. They were former residents of Phoenix but for many years past have made their home in the vicinity of San Francisco. This winter they are living in Los Angeles, for the reason that Mr. Gardiner is promoting a project for the consolidation of the gas plants in the San Bernardino valley, near by. The properties to be taken over are all in private ownership. Some are small plants and some are good sized ones but it is conceived by the promoters that all can be operated from a central plant much more economically than by the maintenance of a half dozen separate plants, also giving better service to patrons. To this end the San Bernardino Valley Gas company has been organized with a capital stock of $1,500,000. Mr. Gardiner is the president of the company. The vice president is C. J. Hall, formerly a Phoenix banker and well known all over Arizona. Mr. Hall is also vice president of the San Gabriel Valley Bank of Pasadena. The properties that will be taken over by the new company are the San Bernardino, Redlands, Riverside, Colton, Arlington and Corona plants and it is estimated that the new company will serve a population of from 50,000 to 70,000.

CHARITY BALL—The Harmony club will give its sixth annual ball at O'Neil hall on Wednesday evening, February 2, 1919.

VERDICT GIVEN BY A RECENT ARRIVAL

H. G. Edwards Tells Friends Elsewhere What He Thinks of Salt River Valley.

H. G. Edwards, who is engaged in the conducting of a second hand store in Phoenix, is one of the newer residents who has devoted himself to the task of letting his friends "back home" know what a glorious country he has found. He came here last October from Caldwell, Idaho, having previously gone there from Kentucky, looking for a climate where the health of Mrs. Edwards would be improved. A copy of a recent issue of the Caldwell News has been received in which Mr. Edwards answers inquiries from many Caldwell friends, through a column letter to the News. His letter recites that Mrs. Edwards gained 4 "dozen" pounds during her first two months residence here and all the rest of the family gained in weight, whether they were already healthy or not. Much of the letter is devoted to his hunting expeditions, which have been numerous since coming here, and very successful. After speaking of the crops, opportunities for investment, general prosperity of the country and its future, and of the visit of President Taft, he boils a lot of timely comment into the following fine testimonial:

"No one can come here without being greatly impressed with the beauty, fertility and products of the Salt River valley. Its most invigorating climate, its broad, fertile fields of alfalfa and grain, its magnificent orange groves, splendid vineyards and fine orchards, its huge ostriches and scores of other interesting things, which for want of space I do not mention; appeal to the rich, the poor, the weak, the strong, the pleasure seeker, the laborer, the investor, the speculator, the capitalist, all alike, and thus they are allured to make Salt River valley their home of health, happiness, contentment and prosperity. This is why Phoenix is populated with such a high type of intelligent, frugal and enthusiastic people from all parts of the country. The very fact that the United States government is spending so much for the construction of the greatest artificial lake on earth for the purpose of watering the Salt River valley is evidence of itself that this is and will be a great country."

NEW BUILDINGS—W. S. Goldsworthy and E. S. Collins who with their wives took a ride around the city yesterday afternoon, brought in a very flattering report of the progress of building projects in Phoenix. Mr. Goldsworthy said that he drove over only a part of the north side of Washington street, the greater part, perhaps, but by no means all of it. In this drive he counted 178 new buildings or buildings in the process of construction. And yet Phoenix sorely needs more houses. It seems impossible to build them fast enough to keep up with the demand, but that they are being built so fast is pleasing for it shows that the city is enjoying a very large permanent growth even if the renting class is still not fully accommodated.

THE SECRET OUT—There appeared some time ago in these columns a story reciting the details of the trip of Weather Observer L. N. Jesunofsky and others to the North Pole in an aeroplane, the pulling up of the pole by the roots and its transportation to Phoenix, where, through certain misadventures then described, it was released from storage and the climate of this entire valley transformed. Some readers believed at the time that the tale was purely a fanciful one. Such readers are invited to read the telegraph dispatches of Friday morning wherein are set forth the views of Willis L. Moore, chief of the weather bureau service, on the question of aerial tourist lines from the states to the pole. One of two things is now very evident. Either Mr. Jesunofsky was under orders of his chief last summer when he absented himself and is supposed to have made that memorable trip, or his chief has appropriated Mr. Jesunofsky's polar "records" and field notes and perhaps his brass tube, and is now framing up something on his own account.
