ERWIN BAKER CUTS EIGHT DAYS FROM DAVIS' TIME ON CROSS COUNTRY RIDE

Tired Out, But Still Strong, Phoenix Man Arrives in New York City After Being on Road 11 Days, 11 Hours, 10 Minutes

GETS BIG EATS AT THE ASTOR

Reported That Indian Rider Gets Thousand Dollars for Each Day He Clips from Former Record—Friends Here Rejoice

Baker did it. The Phoenix motorcyclist, who tried for Volney Davis' transcontinental record not only beat the time of the N. S. F. rider but lowered it eight days, 21 hours and 51 minutes. Davis' time was 26 days, 9 hours and one minute. Baker's 11 days, 11 hours and 10 minutes. It was at the expense of terrible exertion that Baker demolished the miles. Every day was a grind. He is trained down to almost skin and bone, but he has a healthy brown on his skin, and he is just as snappy and springy as any other well trained athlete. Motorcycle riding is more acrobatic than most people believe, and it is no wonder that the man who has been astraddle of his machine nearly 10 hours a day for 11 days is pretty well whetted down to the limit.

Arrived in Philadelphia at six ten, large crowd to meet me. Finished New York 42nd and Broadway in eleven days, eleven hours ten minutes. Was received by large number motorcycle fans. Went from there to the Hotel Astor for big eats.

E. G. BAKER

When Erwin Baker rolled up Broadway to 42nd street yesterday, he beat the transcontinental motorcycle record of Volney Davis by exactly 8 days, 21 hours and 51 minutes. Davis' time was 26 days, 9 hours and one minute. Baker's 11 days, 11 hours and 10 minutes. It was at the expense of terrible exertion that Baker demolished the miles. Every day was a grind. He is trained down to almost skin and bone, but he has a healthy brown on his skin, and he is just as snappy and springy as any other well trained athlete. Motorcycle riding is more acrobatic than most people believe, and it is no wonder that the man who has been astraddle of his machine nearly 10 hours a day for 11 days is pretty well whetted down to the limit.

Ed Smith no doubt will be able to run the new South Bend team of the Southern Michigan league without outside interference. He is owner, manager, captain and pitcher of the club.

Mike Donovan, pinch hitter of the Giants, says his eyesight is as good as ever, which means that Mike is figuring on busting a few fences before the close of the present season. Now it is Mike Mowrey and his big bat that is the important factor in keeping the Pittsburgh Pirates up there. Mike never played better ball than he is playing today.

NEWS AND VIEWS OF SPORT

We tried a stroll through the new Riverside park yesterday, in company with Mr. Hall, and while stumping around among the busy workers, we saw where the outdoor pool is going to be, and the pumping plant, and the babbling artificial brook. We have already picked out our gray and blue bathing suit and the locker that suits us best.

Kid Krause is going to have a chance to pitch a real game Sunday. Hap Connors, with what little big-league head he has left since the advent of spring in Arizona, will endeavor to "hold" Mr. Krause up. Hap is pretty good at it. He won both the games for Phoenix last Sunday just by keeping the pitchers going.

Olive Trophy. That's the name of the cup which Bill Horrell won in the recent tennis matches. It rests in plain sight in the window of the Arizona Securities & Investment Company, its donors, Bill acquired it in the singles, when he won from N. A. Ferguson of El Paso.

With a baseball game going on every lot, and with every grammar, high, Indian and upper grade school in the valley maintaining baseball teams, Phoenix cannot place a complete home aggregation in the field. Comparison with the small city of Mesa is odious. It is so odious that we will not draw it. But we will say now that the way the Jewels are organized is good, if childish. Each player is an individual sport. If the gate receipts leave anything over the expenses, they all take an equal cut with the manager. And that team has money in the bank. Here we are comparing. Let's quit.

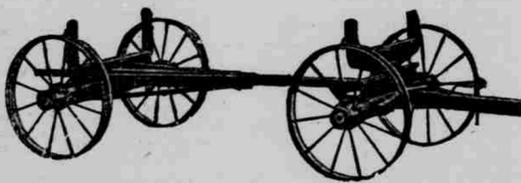

So Baker has made it. Before leaving Phoenix for San Diego last month, he said: "Boys, I'm gonna make it in 12 days." He missed it by exactly 50 minutes.
