SOCIETY EDITOR

All society is eagerly awaiting "Seven Days." As the Country Club play plans develop, more and more interest is being made manifest by those in the cast and the smart folk who will make up the fashionable audience.

Mattland Davies, the director, as usual, refuses to go into detail, but he does not call his cast amateurs and that is the very best compliment one can extend to those who are not professional. No one would think of little Miss Ruth Griffen as anything but a finished actress and she will play the part of "Kit." Mrs. Anthon Beeger, the handsome and distinguished young matron who has been much feted since her arrival from The Hague, will make her debut in this play and Mrs. Horace Knowles, will also make her first appearance on any stage. A. R. Gatter and Irving de R. Miller, who have made reputations in local theatricals will add greatly to the cast. It has not been given out officially but none other than Foster Conway is likely to cause feminine hearts to flutter even though he play the part of a minion of the law. He will have a rival in Alexander Baker who is said to read his lines splendidly and has looks and personality that would win him a fortune on the stage.

Mrs. Francis H. Redewill gave a series of delightful auction afternoons entertaining on Thursday and Friday at her home on North Third street. The living rooms were fragrant with a profusion of choice lilies and great clusters of white lilies. As the initial affair the attractive prizes were won by Mrs. S. J. Michelson and Mrs. Clay Leonard while the winners the following day were Mrs. Harold Baxter, Mrs. Philip Weisner and Miss Ella Lührs.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Brown of Pittsburg, who are making a tour of the west left Friday for the California coast and plan to return to Phoenix April 15. They were the guests of Dr. and Mrs. Francis H. Redewill of North Third street by whom they will be entertained later in the season.

Mrs. E. J. Bennett of North Central avenue presided over an attractive luncheon of six covers Thursday in honor of Miss Mary Castle of St. Paul.

Mrs. S. E. Marshall will entertain with a luncheon Tuesday at the Ingle-side Country club. Mrs. Marshall presided over two prettily appointed affairs last week, entertaining with luncheon on Wednesday and Thursday. On both occasions the decoration was of scarlet flax and the guests numbered twenty-two.

Quite the most artistically appointed affair of spring was the luncheon over which Mrs. E. E. Pascoe presided Thursday at her home, 624 North Second avenue. The house throughout held a brilliant bloom of desert poppies, but to principal motif of the decorative scheme was the center piece of the table around which the twelve guests were gathered. From the chandelier was suspended the cover of the hat-box beneath which peeped a Kewpie in a new Easter bonnet. The top and base of the box were outlined in clusters of violet toned sweet peas. From this bouquet radiated yellow ribbons to each place where miniature candles cast a soft and pleasing glow. Following luncheon, auction was played, Mrs. Herman Perry De Mund being the winner. Those who enjoyed Mrs. Pascoe's charming hospitality were Mrs. Daniel Francis, Mrs. Emil Ganz, Mrs. Henry D. Ross, Mrs. E. A. Marshall, Mrs. C. C. Hutchinson, Mrs. R. J. Elliott, Mrs. William Finney, Mrs. E. T. Collins, Mrs. Gus Noll, Mrs. Herman Perry De Mund and Mrs. A. L. Moore.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Pratt of 1419 North Central avenue were auction hosts Monday evening. The card rooms were effectively decorated in poppies. There were present Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Abbott, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Rosine, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. St. Claire, Mr. and Mrs. Gregg Stark, Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Walters, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Crabb and Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Duster.

The Bachelor's club will give its last dance of the season after Easter. Despite the fact the club is constantly losing in membership it holds its prominent place among smart social organizations and the spring event is being planned along the same elaborate lines as the early affairs of the year before. So many of its members succumbed to Dan Cupid, Leroy A. Ladd, a popular Bachelor, is the latest addition to the rank of benefactors. The marriage of Miss Anne Sullivan to Mr. Ladd on St. Patrick's day was not announced until Friday when the news appeared exclusively in The Republican. The engagement had not been made public and the wedding came as a distinct and pleasant surprise. Mr. and Mrs. Ladd have taken up their residence at the Power Apartments.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Lockett entertained with a motor party and luncheon at the Union mine Sunday, later taking their guests to Paradise valley. Those who enjoyed the day were Mr. and Mrs. Louis Sands, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Cameron, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Coalter, Dr. and Mrs. S. D. Tuttle, Mrs. James Porter, Mrs. H. E. Campbell, Miss Virginia Lockett, Miss Nettie Lockett, Miss Martha Tuttle, Miss Louella Campbell, Miss Alice Coalter, Miss Kathryn Cameron, T. E. Lockett, H. S. Crisman, Louis Sands, Jr., Calaborna Lockett and Robert Lockett.

Mrs. T. E. Irvine and Mrs. V. E. Lindsay will entertain the Priscilla club with a picnic at Riverside Park on Wednesday.

Mrs. K. S. Townsend was hostess of the Priscilla club Wednesday afternoon at her country place on South Central avenue. Mrs. Townsend has traveled extensively and many antiques from Switzerland and the Holy Land were viewed with interest by her guests who were asked to meet Mrs. Piddock and Miss Guening of England. There were present: Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Harker, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Bowman, Mr. and Mrs. Levi Young, Mr. and Mrs. G. Fred Sharpe, Mrs. T. E. Irvine, Mrs. Rose Pease, Mrs. M. Griffith, Mrs. J. L. Irvin, Mrs. Ira Butler, Mrs. A. L. Down, Mrs. E. M. Lamson, Mrs. G. B. Wilcox, Mrs. James Jones, Mrs. V. E. Lindsay and Miss Elizabeth Richards.

Miss Mary E. Chiles of the Indian school made Superintendent and Mrs. Goodman the inspiration for a charmingly appointed dinner recently at Fama cottage. The living rooms were decorated in white and lavender hyacinths while the dining room held a poppy not in its floral adornment. Miss Chiles guests included Dr. Murphy, head of the medical department of the Indian service at Washington, D. C. and Mrs. Murphy, Dr. and Mrs. Reid, Mrs. George Merryman, Miss Monroe and Special Agent F. H. Brown and Superintendent G. M. Goodell of the Service.

Mrs. Charles Stauffer of 919 North Central avenue will be hostess of this week's meeting of the Monday Auction club. Mrs. Roy Parsons of North Central avenue entertained the club at its last gathering. Mrs. Stauffer making the highest score. The guests of honor were Mrs. Rupert Moore and Mrs. Walter Hintze.

The Linger Longer club held its regular mid-weekly auction luncheon with Mrs. J. N. Leuwens of 515 East Willetta street. Mrs. Harry Carson made the highest score.

Among the many supper parties on the desert Friday evening was that composed of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Parsons, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stauffer, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Parsons and Mr. and Mrs. Julian Holmes.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwight B. Heard of Casa Blanca will return Wednesday from a week's stay in the Exposition city.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Pollock of Flagstaff returned Friday to their northern home after a day in town following a few days at the dam. They motored to Roosevelt with Senator and Mrs. H. E. Campbell, Miss Louella Campbell, Daniel Campbell and Colin Campbell, Jr.

Mrs. S. E. Bartleson of Florence is the guest of Mrs. Joseph H. Kibbey for a few weeks. Mrs. Walter Kibbey will arrive from El Centro April 1, and be in town a month or more during which time she will be extensively feted.

Jessie Benton Evans is sketching in Roosevelt. Mrs. Evans will remain in the west until summer.

Mrs. Oliver Dalton of Los Angeles who will be remembered as Miss Josephine Rummy is in town for a few weeks the guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Y. Rummy of Grand avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Tweed and Mr. and Mrs. William G. Hartranft returned Thursday from a motor trip to the Roosevelt dam.
