TEMPE NEWS NOTES

SOME GOOD MUSIC FOR TODAY'S CONCERT

Baritone Solo Will Be Feature—Good Program Throughout

The usual good program with several special numbers and just a tinge of Easter music in it, is what those who gather at the concert of the Tempe band on the plaza this afternoon will hear. Within the last two weeks several new members have been added to the organization, several new instruments received and the band otherwise improved to make it even better than it has been in months.

A baritone solo, "Just for a Girl," by Herbert Schurz, is one of the feature items of this afternoon's concert. Schurz came to Tempe just two weeks ago and in that length of time his splendid work with the band has marked him as one of the leaders. His music on the baritone would do justice to a man following the orchestra or band business for a living.

The selection from "The Bohemian Girl" is also a special number today. This is the full program as it will be rendered, commencing at three-thirty o'clock.

CARLOAD SHIPMENTS OF FINE QUALITY CABBAGE

Productiveness of Mesa Soil Again Demonstrated By Joe Matsumo, Local Gardener

It has been said that the Mesa soil possesses the characteristics necessary for the production of any fruit, grain or vegetable that is possible to be grown in the semi-tropical climate. The truthfulness of the statement is being demonstrated annually, or rather perhaps each succeeding year sees the production in quantities of varieties of fruits or vegetables heretofore undertaken only on a small scale.

The latest record to be established by the Mesa soil was by Joe Matsumo, a local gardener who has demonstrated that this is the natural home of the cabbage. Not only has it been proven conclusively that cabbages will grow in large quantities for the amount of seed and energy required in their propagation but that the quality of the vegetable exceeds that produced in California, which heretofore has been looked upon as the ne plus ultra from the cabbage growers' standpoint.

It is true that Mr. Matsumo is a gardener of no mean ability but according to his own statements he has never been favored with such good fortune in the growing of the plant as in the Mesa section. He has not only supplied the local market, but so bountifully have been his crops that he has been compelled to seek an outside market and yesterday shipped out two of the finest carloads of cabbages that were ever seen at the local shipping station. One of the cars was consigned to Denver while the other went to El Paso.

While cabbages are holding sway on account of the large quantity, they are closely seconded by the splendid variety of green peas which within the past week have begun coming into the local markets in great quantities. The soil has been found especially favorable for growth of peas. Asparagus, heretofore considered a rather hard plant to bring to maturity, is now grown in abundance and the local market is well supplied with the home grown variety.

The lettuce shipments which this year went out in carload lots and of the finest variety ever seen in this section, is about over. The local commission house report small shipments and many local gardeners continue to bring in splendid quality of the head variety.

CLEO RIDGELY RETURNS
Cleo Ridgely, who appeared in Mesa with her husband about a year ago, riding horseback across the continent, returned last night in motion pictures and attracted quite a crowd.

Montijo, pitcher; T. Obregon, first base; Ed Ludike, second base; Jack, third base; P. N. Estrada, short stop; Vega, right field; Estrada, center field; Carbap, left field.

INDIAN DAY IN TEMPE
Between the Indian-Normal ball game and the Yagui-Indian Easter dance at Guadalupe, Tempe was alive with the natives yesterday. Many of the Indians from the reservation across the river came in to take in the Yagui camp festivities, and kept the road alive all through the day with travel going and coming. The ball game attracted many of the younger Indians and fully a hundred from the reservation came in for the afternoon to see their own fellows enjoying the white man's greatest sport.

TEMPE CHURCHES TODAY
Christian church, J. R. Rountree, pastor. Commencing with the preaching service at eleven o'clock this morning, a "Easter revival" service will be held at the Christian church, Rev. Claude C. Jones of Phoenix will do the preaching, beginning with the Monday night service. The services today will consist of a sunrise prayer meeting, under the auspices of the Christian Woman's Board of Missions, to which all Christians in Tempe are invited. A special effort will be made at the Sunday school at ten a. m. to make the next quarter the best in the history of the school. At 11 a. m. the pastor will preach on "The Risen Christ." At 3 p. m. the pastor will talk with men on "Manhood for Christ" and all men of Tempe are invited to this service. At 7 p. m. the Christian Endeavor service, under the leadership of Clarkson McNary will begin the first prayer service in the contest with the Phoenix society. At 7:45 p. m. the pastor will preach on "Empty Handed," a sermon to Christians and to others. A cordial invitation is extended every person to be present.

Will Germany's Great Zeppelins Fail?

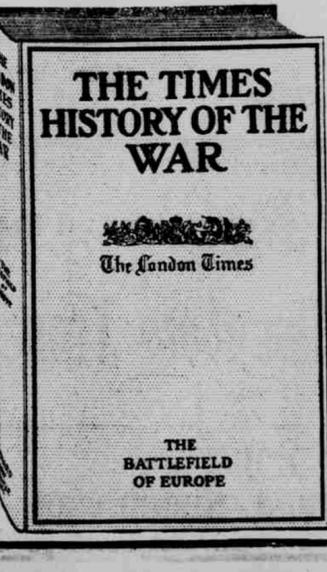

A War Fought With Electricity and Gasoline

It used to be powder and shot, keen sabres and swift horses, that were needed by an army. They are still needed today—but to these necessities must be added electricity and gasoline. It's a war of machinery—of complicated, death-dealing devices—propelled by the most modern of driving forces. If the gasoline supply should play out—then there would be nothing but the junk heap for the Zeppelins, aeroplanes, submarines, motor transports and traction engines. That is why the Allies are desperately trying to keep gasoline from reaching Germany. If they should succeed, what then? Is history to record the amazing fact that a great power went to defeat because there was no more gasoline?
