scription, unless they had assurances from their naval and military advisers that they were likely to carry the expedition to a successful conclusion.

"Was there ever such a story of miscalculations," he exclaimed, "as those in the Dardanelles?"

The failure at Suvla bay he regarded as the most disastrous and vital of the war. From that day to this, under the cabinet's system, they had never been able to make up their minds whether they ought to proceed with those operations or boldly withdraw their men and save suffering and further loss.

Redmond Defends Asquith John Redmond, the nationalist leader, declared that the attacks upon the premier and the persistent pessimism of a portion of the press had had no weight in Ireland, and that the proposal which Mr. Asquith had made with reference to the cabinet was one which in his opinion, for the time being at any rate, would silence "the wretches."

Mr. Redmond said he was against conscription, and until the country was virtually unanimous in its favor, conscription would be a folly, and a crime. George Nicoll Barnes, the labor member for Glasgow, said what was wanted more than anything else at the present moment was national unity.

Sir Edward Grey tonight arose to correct what he described as a misapprehension that had arisen from Sir Edward Carson's speech, which he said contained some statements that afforded an example of the difficulty of speaking freely in time of war as in time of peace.

"Sir Edward Carson," Sir Edward said, "must have left the house of commons and probably would leave our allies under the impression that this government made a promise to help Serbia and then vacillated and hesitated and as a result some valuable opportunity for giving help had been lost."

Made Definite Promise The foreign minister said that his statement of September 28 promising to aid the Balkan states friendly to the entente powers "in a manner that would be most welcome to them" was founded on something of a definite promise the government had made in answer to a request from Greece. This promise had been made in common with the French government and was that a definite number of men would be sent to Saloniki for the express purpose of enabling Greece to fulfill her treaty obligations with Serbia.

He said that when during his speech of September 28 he said "without reserve and without qualification" he meant that while expressing themselves ready to help to realize the national aspirations of Greece and Serbia, the government had also worked to achieve Balkan unity by urging certain concessions to Bulgaria. What he desired to convey was that since Bulgaria had joined the central powers there could be no more talk of concessions from Greece and Serbia and that the help Great Britain was prepared henceforth to give those countries would be given without qualification or conditions.

Points Out an Error "Sir Edward Carson's speech," the foreign minister continued, "must have conveyed the impression that after the promise was made the government had lost opportunities of helping Serbia and that more troops might have been landed at Saloniki than had been landed or that more might have been on the way than were on the way. That was not the case.

It was perfectly true that after the Greek government took a different view of their treaty obligations to Serbia than we had accepted, there was a close consultation between the British and French as to the best use which should be made of the forces to be sent to the near east. But there was no delay in the preparations.

The forces which were immediately at our disposal were landed at Saloniki and are now engaged in the operations in the Balkans, and the preparations went on for sending further forces to the east. No time has been lost in giving any assistance in the British and French power to Serbia in her hour of need."

INGENIOUS At one of the military camps some recruits were being put through the riding contest. One man didn't know much about horses, but trusted to luck to get through.

He had not properly adjusted his saddle, and on mounting he swung—saddle and all—right under the horse's body between its legs, where he was suspended for a few seconds. "Hi, there," yelled the noncom, in derision, "call that riding, do you?" "Oh, no, sergeant," was the instant answer; "that's a new trick for the Dardanelles. Riding under here's a fine protection from the sun."—Tit-Bits.

On the non-partisan judicial ballot in Pennsylvania George B. Orlandy and John B. Head, present justices of the supreme court, were re-elected, and J. Henry Williams of Philadelphia was chosen to fill the third vacancy in the court.

No other state officers were voted for this year.

Suffrage is Defeated BOSTON, Nov. 2.—The defeat of women suffrage by a vote of approximately 2 to 1, was indicated by returns from the greater part of the state in the election today. With less than one hundred precincts to be heard from the majority against the proposed constitutional amendment was 108,044.

The suffrage leaders, conceding defeat, declared that they would begin a new campaign immediately. Mrs. Gertrude Holliday Leonard, chairman of the executive committee of the Massachusetts woman suffrage association, made the following statement: "The returns indicate defeat for the suffrage amendment by 2 to 1. This means that we have one of every three men in Massachusetts who believe in equal suffrage. We have not only to convince one half as many more to complete our majority. We shall start this new campaign on Thursday."

The anti-suffragists showed overwhelming strength in the city generally and in the metropolitan district of Boston. In the rural districts the sentiment against suffrage was strong as a rule but there were exceptions, particularly in the summer resort region of the Berkshires.

Of nine dry towns, two, Percy and Willsville, voted to let saloons return.

In the State

The election of Samuel W. McCall, republican, former congressman, as governor, over Gogocnor David L. Walsh, democrat, who sought re-election for a third term, appeared probable as the returns from today's election approached completion tonight. The vote was running very close, however, and the democrats were not prepared to concede defeat. With 29 election precincts missing, McCall had 224,674 votes, Walsh 221,787.

There seemed to be no doubt that the republicans had elected the whole of the state ticket below governor. In the legislature, where the republicans had a working majority as the last session, they made a decided gain. The progressive vote in the state was almost negligible.

William Shaw, the prohibition nominee for governor, polled one of the largest votes in the history of the party in this state. His vote was more than twice that of the progressive candidate. In the city of Boston where the question of the recall of Mayor Jas. M. Curley, was on the ballot, returns indicated the probable defeat of the recall movement by a fairly close vote.

Stevens Re-elected

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 2.—Joseph W. Stevens, republican, re-elected mayor, defeating Walter P. Kay, Grayling (democrat and progressive) by an indicated plurality of 89,000.

SYRACUSE, Nov. 2.—W. R. Stone (republican and progressive) elected mayor over Wills (democrat), 9541.

Buffalo Against Suffrage BUFFALO, Nov. 2.—Buffalo city complete on suffrage: Yes 19,198, no 26,353.

Puehla in Cincinnati CINCINNATI, Nov. 2.—George Puehla (republican) was elected mayor of Cincinnati by a plurality of about 18,000.

Ohio Remains Wet COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 2.—For the second time in two years, Ohio voters today rejected a state wide prohibition amendment to the constitution, estimates based on partial returns received up to midnight show that the proposal was defeated by a majority which may reach 40,000. Last year's majority against prohibition was 84,000.

There was considerable uncertainty as to the fate of the constitutional stability amendment which would prevent for six years a vote on a constitutional proposal which has been twice defeated. Late returns, however, indicated that the proposal was rejected.

Democratic in Mississippi JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 2.—Democratic voters in Mississippi today elected a full set of state, county and district officers on a ticket headed by Theo. G. Bibbe, for governor, and Lee M. Russell, for lieutenant-governor. The election virtually was merely a ratification of the nominees chosen in the democratic primary as the only opposition was made by socialist candidates placed in the field by petition.

Traction Plan Defeated DETROIT, Nov. 2.—Detroit voters today rejected the proposition to purchase from the Detroit United Railway the street car lines and property within the one fare zone. The plan, which to be successful, required a two-thirds majority, received less than 50 per cent of the votes cast, according to figures available late tonight.

The official count from 136 precincts was: Yes, 18,570; no, 19,967. When the polls closed at 9 o'clock tonight in the special election here, of which the city ownership of the city railway lines was the most important issue, it was admitted on all sides that the vote was probably the heaviest cast in Detroit in recent years. A feature of the election was the unusually large vote cast by women taxpayers.

Uncertain in Kentucky LOUISVILLE, Nov. 2.—With both democrats and republicans claiming victory by from 10,000 to 15,000 votes, unofficial returns late tonight showed former Congressman A. O. Stanley of Henderson, democrat, and Edwin P. Morrow, of Somerset, republican, running a close vote for governor. Partial returns from 92 counties of 119 in the state showed Mr. Stanley leading by approximately 7,12,000 votes with a number of republican strongholds yet to report. The vote was: Stanley 112,975; Morrow, 99,743. The republican vote throughout the state showed approximate gains over that cast in the last gubernatorial election with the democratic vote falling off. The progressive vote was negligible.

Still Wet CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Beardstown and Mounds, the two wet towns of the 11 in Illinois, where local option elections were held today, voted to continue wet. The women's vote proved a surprise to the anti-saloon forces in Beardstown at least, piling up a considerable majority in favor of saloons.

McCall Elected BOSTON, Nov. 2.—Samuel W. McCall, republican, was elected governor today, defeating Governor David L. Walsh, democrat in a close contest.

The total vote: Clark, progressive, 7,222; McCall (republican) 227,395; Shaw (prohibition) 184,747; Walsh (democrat) 228,842.

The balance of the republican state ticket was elected and the republicans made a net gain of 12 seats in the lower branch of the legislature, with no change in the senate.

In Bridgeport BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Nov. 2.—The republicans swept Bridgeport in the four cornered majority election today. Mayor Clifford B. Wilson, who also is Lieutenant Governor of Connecticut, being returned to office for the third time. The official figures:

Clifford B. Wilson (republican) 6,387; Henry Lee (citizens) 4,563; Daniel P. Walker (democrat) 3,164; Jasper McVey (socialist) 1,400.

The voters favored the commission form of government by an estimated majority of 2,000.

In New Jersey TRENTON, Nov. 2.—The election in New Jersey today involved mainly the control of the next legislature. State senators were elected in six counties and the republicans elected three in Burlington, Cape May and Passaic—and this will make the next state senate stand 14 republicans to 8 democrats a gain of two. The next house of assembly will stand 37 republicans to 23 democrats. The 1916 legislation on joint ballot will stand 50 republicans and 31 democrats.

Democrat in Maryland BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 2.—Meager returns from today's election in Maryland indicated at midnight the election of Emerson C. Harrington, democrat, as governor, over C. E. Weller, republican, by a majority of from 5,000 to 7,000. However, only forty out of 214 precincts in Baltimore city had made returns at that hour. They gave Harrington 5,512; Weller 4,646. The legislature probably will be safely democratic.
