REPUBLICAN EMBLEMS GO TO COYOTE GRIDDISTIS TODAY

Tokens of Regard for One of the Best Football Teams Phoenix High Ever Had Will Be Delivered at the Assembly

Fifteen football heroes, developed during the past season in the Phoenix high school football league, will receive their little gold football badges at the high school today in the event President Cook calls the assembly he planned yesterday.

And, oh, yes, there is another hero who will get a badge from the Republican. His name is Francis Geary. He was the coach, who has built three state championship teams out of the material he found in the ranks of the Coyotes, and who has grabbed considerable honor for the good old Phoenix High by means of sundry good track teams. Geary has worked with lots of handicaps, sometimes he has put Phoenix high on the football map of the Southwest.

It is the plan to present the first Republican emblem to Thomas Marlar, captain of the 1915 eleven. Then, as the speaker calls the blushing young men to the platform, Captain Tommie will insert the pin in the lapels, and the ceremony will be complete.

It is not altogether for winning most every game they played that the Republican has given these little tokens to the Coyotes. It is partly because every Coyote has played a good game well and has won some distinction. There are various methods of encouraging good sportsmanship. Several years ago the Republican donated a cup over which several teams had struggled ever since. But the small gold footballs, engraved with the names of the wearers, belong to the men who have earned them, and will continue to remind them that they put up a good scrap for the institution on Van Buren street while they wore the famous Red and Black jerseys.

HUNT'S PLAN TO STOCK GAME FORESTS APPROVED

Western Governors Endorse Idea Growing Out of the Hornaday Lecture

Governor Hunt several days ago directed letters to the governors of seventeen of the western states, calling their attention to the movement for stocking national forests in the west with a good supply of all kinds of game, especially the larger animals and birds.

Up to yesterday afternoon, the governor had received answers from twelve of the chief executives, all of whom were most warm in their endorsement of the plan. The project had its inception here a few weeks ago, when Dr. Hornaday gave a lecture on the subject, and suggested that the various states co-operate with congress in the matter of supplying some of the larger forest reserves with some of the species of game birds and animals which now are in great danger of becoming extinct through the depredation of the hunters.

LIGHTER OXY TEAM BEATEN

Syracuse Bucks Line for Touchdowns; Occidental Superior on Forward Pass But Loses to Easterners 35 to 0

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 6.—The heavy Syracuse University eleven easily defeated their lighter opponents, Occidental College, here today in the final football game of the season for the two teams. The score was 35 to 0.

Only once during the entire game was the Syracuse goal in danger. This was near the close of the last quarter when Occidental by a series of forward passes and punts added by a fumble, rumbled the ball within two yards of the goal. The Syracuse line braced and held. Occidental attempted a forward pass but it was intercepted and on the next play Syracuse punted out of danger.

A ninety yard run by Slater of Syracuse in the last quarter was easily the most sensational feature of the game. Slater caught the ball from a kick off by Occidental and with the aid of interference rushed down the field to the Occidental nine yard line before he was downed. In the same quarter Lenx of Occidental brought the crowd to their feet when he intercepted a Syracuse forward pass and broke through the line for a 35 yard run. It was the longest run made by an Occidental man during the game.

Captain McClung of the Occidental team, suffered a severe fracture of the right leg near the ankle at the beginning of the third quarter when he was struck by Slater.

Syracuse demonstrated superior ability at line plunging and in circling the ends, but Occidental out ranked them in handling the forward pass. Practically all of Occidental's gains were made with this method of play.

Syracuse's first touchdown came within nine minutes after the opening of play. The second touchdown followed in four minutes. The rest of the game was a matter of routine.

Table with 3 columns: Syracuse, Position, Occidental. Rows include DuMoe, Burns, LTR, Kohler, Wells, Cobb, LTR, Holmes, Schlacher, Smisson, Shipke, McDonough, C, Shipke, Gilmore, RGL, Pich, White, RGL, Pich, Hollinger, Johnson, RTL, Deems, Travis, BEL, Danils, Braney, BEL, Danils, Meehan, QB, Lenx, Rose, LHR, Smith, Huycke, BRL, Batz, Brown, BRL, McClung, Ratter, FB, Brandstetner, O'Connell, FB, Brandstetner, Batz.

Touchdowns: Syracuse, 5; Occidental, none. Goals from touchdowns, Syracuse, 3; safety, Syracuse, 1.

STAMFORD MAY GIVE UP FIGHT FOR FRESHMAN

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Calif., Dec. 6.—Current opinion on the Stanford University campus today was to the effect that the cardinals would relinquish soon their hitherto stoutly defended principle that freshmen should have the right to compete in varsity athletics. It was stated frankly that the students would be given an opportunity to vote on this question at an election on next Wednesday.

The return today from the conference of Oregon and Washington Universities of P. R. Wilson, president of the student body, gave rise to much discussion, relative to the situation. It was sensed generally that the elimination of Stanford from the newly formed Pacific Coast conference would be the incentive for the withdrawal of Stanford of the freshmen contention in order that the cardinals again might compete with conference teams.

Wilson will report tomorrow, as also will Graduate Manager Behrens, at a meeting of the executive committee of the university.

MOVE TO BAR SICK OLIVE STOCK DELAYED

Due to the sudden illness of one of the members, the meeting of the state board of agriculture and horticulture which was announced in these columns yesterday morning has been postponed. The meeting had been called for the purpose of considering the proposed embargo which was suggested on the shipment of olive trees into the state until the scale had been completely eradicated.

It had been the contention of a number of persons interested in the matter that owing to the presence of a small scale-like pest, known as the black scale, it was to be attacking the olive trees in certain sections of the country, it would be well to prohibit the shipment of any more young trees into the state until the scale had been completely eradicated.

They also said that inasmuch as the olive groves of the state were in first-class condition it was imperative that steps toward keeping them in that shape and not start the precautionary measures after the pest had once been introduced.

There are a number of the olive growers who think that the scale proposition is greatly exaggerated, and mostly by the nursery men, who wish to get out of olive trees. They are with a view of aiding their business, and should the meeting be held to consider the matter, there will be a number of new enterprising growers who will protest against the proposed quarantine on trees from outside the state.

The state Entomologist Merrill, when requested to give an opinion on the subject yesterday, stated that to his knowledge there had been little or no scale reported from among the olive groves of the state, and that the passing of a quarantine measure was somewhat problematical. However, he did state that a new pest, known as the Ceylon scale, which had its origin in Ceylon and Australia, had been reported in a number of the California groves, and he has warned the Arizona planters to be on the lookout for this new parasite.

CAMPBELL HAULAGE CASE TO BE HEARD IN COURT

In all probability the long-drawn-out action instituted over a year ago by the state corporation commission against the Arizona Eastern and the Southern Pacific railroads, following the companies' refusal to transport the equipment of the Campbell Carnival company at rates which were thought to be reasonable by the commission, will be given a hearing in the Maricopa superior court on Friday next, that date having been designated as the time for trial.

The case had its origin in February, 1914, when the Southern Pacific and the Arizona Eastern declined to haul the train of the Campbell aggregation except at the regular rate for passengers and excess baggage. It seems that the commission had fixed a tariff of $3 per mile for hauls of this kind, and the commission is seeking to enforce its ruling in this case.

The roads had transported the Sella-Floto circus over the same route which the Campbell people wished to traverse, and the latter alleged that the transportation companies had made an agreement with the Sella-Floto management that they would not haul any competing companies into the same territory which was covered by the last named show, except upon the payment of the regular passenger and baggage rates. In a few days the Campbell company desired the Southern Pacific and the Arizona Eastern were ordered to transport the show at the regular rates for such trips. They refused to do this, and the commission held both roads in contempt and assessed a fine of $1,000 against the Southern Pacific and one of $500 against the Arizona Eastern.

The roads appealed the case to the superior court, but they have so far never been given a trial.

In Friday's action, the roads will be represented by Attorney J. C. Forest of this city and the Espee attorney, C. W. Durlow of San Francisco.

RANCHERS WILL KNOW PROJECT COST; MAY PROTEST TO JAN. 20

Davis Writes Board of Governors W. U. A. May, Protest Charges Up to Middle of Next Month; The Board's Business

Members of the Water Users Association will be part arbiters of the amount they shall pay for the construction work, but the method of estimating their share in a possible contest remains to be worked out. This is according to information given to the board of governors at a regular monthly meeting yesterday. The information came in the form of a letter from Director A. P. Davis, in which it was stated that between now and January 20, the ranchers would be given a chance to consult the reclamation secretary over the report of the board of cost review, which has never been given publicity thus far.

The letter contained no information as to the method by which the matter would be taken up, and the board instructed the secretary to get in touch at once and find out the details. A variety of methods might be used, including that of a hearing in Phoenix, which, it is thought, would be the logical way to get every one's ideas.

The board protested the proposed collection of all water rents by the Denver office on the ground the arrangement is extremely unwise and inconvenient. It is proposed that all remittances be made to Denver, where the orders to carriers to turn on water are to be made out. The rule was made to fit the projects where there is a definite irrigation season. Here, water may be put on the land with the profit of the year around, and there is no cessation of the demand. Consequently, the proposed system will involve delays in securing fresh runs.

Another protest was entered against the twenty-five cent fee for making out applications for water service. It is contended that the farmers have to pay the cost of office work anyway, and they might just as well pay it at once, when the project is opened.

Stone's Suggestion Superintendent Stone of the Grand central system suggested an improvement in handling reports of water service, which was endorsed. He proposes to have his carriers render individual reports to the central office, as they do now, and to have the office transmit copies to each rancher within forty-eight hours after the run. This will enable corrections to be made at once, instead of after a long period, during which a clear understanding of details may be lost.

The board discussed the Roosevelt road proposition once more, and decided that now the project is receiving chance to consult the reclamation secretary over the report of the board of cost review, which has never been given publicity thus far.
