This immense store is filled with serviceable merchandise of every description. We decided it was best not to attempt to quote prices today. It would take a vast amount of space to list all the unusual offerings besides some of the smaller lots—and biggest bargains—may be sold before you can get here. Come and let your eyes tell the money-saving story.

The Surgical Dressings Committee's Further Appeal for Aid

A regular meeting of the Surgical Dressings Committee will be held in the Woman's Club building on Monday, January 17, from 10 to 5 o'clock, and all those who are willing to help are urged to spend some part of the day in this work of lessening, even in a small way, the terrible suffering of the men in the trenches and hospitals of war-swept Europe.

This Surgical Dressings Committee is one of the many and varied activities of the National Civic Federation and was organized for the purpose of supplying without delay the small emergency hospitals of Europe with sterilized surgical dressings. Those intended for use in France are shipped to distributing bureaus in Paris and Bordeaux; to other warring nations shipments are made direct, or through the American Red Cross and other relief societies.

Like the Red Cross, the Surgical Dressings Committee knows no creed nor country—is absolutely neutral, and seeks only to alleviate suffering. During its first year it sent out nearly three and one-half million dressings, divided among 124 hospitals in France, Austria, Italy, England, Serbia, Bavaria, Hungary and Montenegro. As the only object is to get these dressings to the hospitals at the front, and as the battles are fought principally in the allies' territory, it follows that most of them are distributed through headquarters in the countries of the allies, but no requests for surgical dressings from hospitals or individuals in Europe, or from committees or individuals in America have been refused, large consignments being shipped without expense to recipients at the earliest possible moment after such requests have been received.

Over 50,000 dressings have been sent to hospitals in Austria, Bavaria and Hungary. If this seems a small proportion of the whole, the reason is not hard to find and may be readily guessed from the following item in last week's dispatches:

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Great Britain has given formal permission to the Red Cross authorities to send to Germany the entire present accumulation of medical and surgical supplies, but warns that any further shipments will be subject to future arrangements.

great inward fact for which the outward symbol stood, for the renunciation of sin, faith in Christ, the putting on of Jesus Christ (Gal. 2, 20, 27), our identification with Christ in His death, burial and resurrection (Rom. 6, 2, 4). Being "baptized in the name of Jesus Christ" means more than having water sprinkled upon us, or being immersed in some water, while a certain baptismal formula is repeated, it means confession of our renunciation of sin, faith in Christ's death and resurrection in our behalf, identification with Christ in His death and His resurrection, and appropriation to ourselves to what He accomplished by His death and resurrection. When there is real repentance and real baptism, there will be "remission of sins" and the reception of the "gift of the Holy Ghost" (vs. 28). "The gift of the Holy Ghost" is the blood-bought right of every believer in Jesus Christ, but not every believer has claimed his birthright. The word translated "receive" means "take"; if any one does not have the gift of the Holy Spirit" experimentally, it is either because he does not "take" or "claim" his birthright by simple prayer and faith (Ac. 4: 31; 8: 15, 16; Lu. 11: 13; 1 Jno. 5: 14, 15), or it is because he has not really made Jesus "Lord and Christ" by an absolute surrender of his will to Him, and by identification with Him in a real baptism, of which his water baptism was the symbol. The expression "the promise" (v. 39) as the language used and the context unmistakably demonstrate (cf. ch. 1: 4, 5; then but for "all that are afar off, even as many as the Lord our God shall call unto Him" (vs. 29) that God shall bestow of every coming century of the world's history). In other words, God's own explicit statement, the believers of the apostles' days, but for every child of God, Jewish and Gentile, in generations to come); and not only for every age of the church.
