SOCIETY EDITOR.

Society's interest in centered in the Country club play to be given Thursday and Friday evenings at the Ellis theater. The largest and most fashionable audience will witness the first night's performance of "The Marriage of Kitty," though from the advance sale of seats it would appear that both houses would hear out the old "standing room only" slogan that has been the happy rule with all Country club plays. There will be the usual theater parties. The boxes for the first night have been taken by Mrs. S. E. Marshall, Mrs. Lewis Wallace, Louis H. Chalmers, Harry Tittle and H. L. Aker. Among the box holders for Friday evening will be Dr. Chandler, who will entertain a party from Chandler, Ed Redmond, under whose direction the clever comedy will be given, is delighted with the work of the young society amateurs. "The Marriage of Kitty" is a play that many professionals would not care to attempt, yet this little company is giving a very creditable performance. It is an ambitious undertaking, but not too ambitious for the players. They read their lines admirably. Each one is taking a great interest and cleverly worked out their particular scenes. "I have never seen better team play," says Mr. Redmond. The director has promised an elaborate production. The scenery is being especially constructed by Minor Reed, and will be complete in every detail.

It was a great disappointment to music lovers that the Skovgaard concert failed to be the high class musical attraction the advance literature suggested. Phoenix was under the impression it was to have one worth while musical offering this year. Our own amateurs might have given a much more creditable performance. Probably an impresario will be discovered soon who will be brave of heart and book an attraction like Schumann-Heink, Mordica, Elman, Kubelik, Kitty Chatham and Mau Powell as of yore.

Mrs. E. W. Baum will give a luncheon Monday in honor of Mrs. Edward Shute.

Mrs. George Hunter of Chillicothe, Ohio, is a recent arrival who will pass the winter here with her daughter, Mrs. Elton Ensign Hale of 312 West Willetta street.

CLUB NOTES Official Organ State Federation of Clubs

The name of Mrs. A. J. McClatchie, first president of the Arizona Federation of Women's Clubs, has been placed on the founders list of the state president traveling fund. At the recent meeting of the state federation in Tucson, Mrs. Henry D. Ross made the motion and the convention voted $100 from the general fund for this purpose. Mrs. McClatchie has ever kept in close touch with Arizona club women and from her home in Hollywood has written them a letter which to reach the greatest number appears in The Republican by special request. Mrs. McClatchie's words are of general interest. She writes as follows: "1531 Bronson Ave., Hollywood, Calif., Jan. 17, 1916. My Dear Club Women,

Less than fifty years ago the Woman's club movement had its inception. Practically simultaneously, in the year 1868, Madam Caroline Severance, then a resident of Boston, and Mrs. Croly, or "Jennie June," of New York, each without any knowledge of the other's undertaking, called together a small band of congenial spirits and organized them for the promotion of their mutual intellectual and social interests, and for the advancement of such general civic interests as might from time to time appeal to them.

Both of these women possessed broad-minded and far reaching vision, but neither of them could have foreseen the magnitude of the institution which was to develop from the small beginnings which they had made. The movement has spread, not alone to every continent of the planet but, in many instances, to the most remote confines of civilized habitation. Alaska, India, East Africa, Panama, and remote sections of South America each have had representation in our General Federation of Women's Clubs.

From being at first regarded as a mere temporary fad, under the ban of a feckless political press, the movement has continued with steady and irresistible growth until it is today recognized as one of the leading and most potent factors in the advancement of human progress. But, gratifying as have been the growth and achievements of the past, the movement has hardly emerged from its infancy. Not until the women of the entire world shall have united into one vast solidarity, in which has been obliterated all cleavages of nationality, race, or class, may the movement be regarded as even approaching the zenith of its power.

Already large influences are operating which must, in the natural course of events, greatly precipitate the attainment of this desirable climax. Recognizing the potentiality of organized womanhood some of the world's foremost peace propagandists have expressed their desire for the vital, active co-operation of the women of the world—a splendid tribute, in deed, to the fast growing influence of womanhood. I quote from Nathan Strauss: "It remains for the women of that part of the world not embroiled in the terrible struggle now devastating Europe to bring this period of organized murder to a close.

The club women of this country, and get together and through a common voice let their sisters of the entire world know that the interests of womanhood, motherhood, humanity and civilization demand that this fearful wrecking of the works of centuries and destruction of life must stop. "I feel that the women of the world at peace are powerful enough, if they organize, to so impress the crazed men and women of the nations at war with the fruitlessness and wantonness of the world war as to compel a cessation of hostilities."

"During a conversation which I had with David Starr Jordan a year ago, he endorsed Mr. Strauss' position, and stated that those associated with him

William Coleman Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. Royal Lescher, Mr. and Mrs. Foster H. Lockwell, Mrs. Warren McArthur, Richard Hill, Philip Brooks, Robert Beardsley and Frank Lang. In another party were Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Reimann, Mrs. William Dargie, Mrs. Robert Wallace Craig, Mrs. Harry J. Jones, Joe Cassou and John Rinker Kibbey. Among others who enjoyed the event were Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Goldberg, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jocelyn, Judge and Mrs. C. F. Ainsworth, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Page, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Collins, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Hampton, Mr. and Mrs. David Goldberg, Mr. and Mrs. Edward O'Malley, Mr. and Mrs. Cass Redewell, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Earl Nash, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Allsford, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Mosley, Dr. and Mrs. Harry Carson, Mrs. Louis H. Chalmers, Mrs. Ernest Lewis, Mrs. Homer King, Miss Ruth Griffen, Miss Selma Goldberg, Miss Jessie Higley, Sam Wilson, Yewell Rice, Harry Tittle and Lester Byron.

The Country club calendar for February is replete with interesting events. Beside the annual play, which is of paramount importance, there will be several interesting affairs, including the monthly card evening on Thursday the tenth. The dinner dance on Washington's birthday, the informal Tuesday evening dances, the golf and tennis events on Wednesdays and teas on Saturday afternoons are among the scheduled events.

The Country club held its most successful mid-weekly event of the season last week, more than half a hundred members taking part in the golf or in the peace movement had placed in the hands of Jane Adams the inauguration and management of a plan as above outlined. In a recently published article he states: "Of the many plans for bringing the conflict to its end that developed by Julia Grace Wells" and emphasized by Jane Addams and her associates, seems most likely to be fruitful in its results."

"We have but to recall how very recently women were denied even an audience in the councils of the framers of the world's destinies in order to realize the wonderful and unprecedented progress which has been made through the organization of our forces. "Stimulated and inspired by the growth and achievement of the past we may well confront the future with keen and ardent zest for the work in the ever-enlarging field of opportunity which lies before us. All hail to the woman's club movement! "With tenderest interest in your welfare and progress, I am, "Yours fraternally,

"ANNA D. McCLATCHIE"

The Central Arizona District Federation of Women's Clubs, Mrs. E. A. Fowler, president, will meet Tuesday in all day session at the Woman's club. Registration of delegates will begin promptly at 9:15 o'clock and the program three-quarters of an hour later. The meeting will be called to order by the president and the address of welcome will be made by Mrs. John Bennett, Jr. Following the response by Mrs. Ed Shaw, Miss Lucy Terrill Ellis will extend greetings from the State Federation and Mrs. J. C. Norton from the Arizona Congress of Mothers. The president's address, the report of the officers and chairman and election of officers will complete the morning session. A twenty-five cent luncheon will be served at noon by the Woman's club. In the afternoon the official report of the State Federation will be given. A delightful musical program has been arranged. A song "Love" by L. M. Genet. Will be sung by Mrs. William H. Sargent. Miss Merta Work will be the accompanist. The numbers include "Love Touched Me," "The Wind That Blows over the Violet," "I Dream of You" and "Comes Ecstasy."

Mrs. Ira Moore, chairman of the civic department of the Glendale Woman's club, is chairman of the committee in charge of the clean-up work for that community. Mrs. Moore is directing her efforts along the line of "clean up and keep clean and the watchword is co-operation." The movement was endorsed by the club at its open meeting Wednesday afternoon. Following a business session, Mrs. Edith Salisbury discussed home economics and a musical program was presented by Mrs. Charles F. Hunter, Miss Edith Hoel and Miss Vester. On Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Mrs. Salisbury has arranged to give illustrated lectures on various phases of home economics at the Glendale club, touching upon nutrition, food values and housekeepers' schedules.

The general federation of women's clubs calls attention to club women everywhere to the following four subjects, which they are urged to consider carefully during the next few months: 1. The School Manse. This means suitable homes for rural school teachers, with the advent of which it is believed the highest type of teacher will be attracted to country districts and the school manse will become a civic as well as an educational center. 2. The Appal to Youth. This is another of Mrs. Pennybacker's favorite pleas, for she knows that if the work of the federation is kept up to its present high standard there must be fresh recruits from those who wear the "rose of youth" upon them. 3. The Club Woman's Duty to the tennis tournaments or the rubber of bridge. There were a number of luncheons given, Mrs. Frank Jocelyn presiding at one of the most charmingly appointed. Pink carnations were used in effective decoration and the dainty placed cards were hand tinted. Covers were laid for Mrs. Arthur B. Eustace of Chicago, Mrs. G. A. Bridgman of Flint, Mrs. J. H. Van Leuven, Mrs. Charles O'Malley, Mrs. Cass Redewell, Mrs. Edwin Earl Nash, Mrs. Tom Campbell, Mrs. Lyman Peters, Mrs. Selim J. Michelson, Mrs. George Lilley and Miss Frances De Graff of Colorado Springs.

St. Winifred's Guild of the Trinity Pro-Cathedral will give a Leap Year birthday party at the cathedral house, February 11. An ingenious member of the Guild has issued clever invitations for the affair and made the request for a penny for each year of the recipient's life, promising not to divulge the sum. A most attractive entertainment is promised. The associate members who will receive are Mrs. Gordon Tweed, Mrs. Dwight B. Board, Mrs. William G. Hartman, Mrs. Walter Bennett, Mrs. Louis H. Chalmers, Mrs. Herbert Burr Atha, Mrs. E. J. Gillette, Mrs. H. M. Fennemore, Mrs. Harry Goldwater, Mrs. E. W. Baum, Mrs. W. B. Twitchell, Mrs. J. C. Murgrave and Miss Lucy Jenkins.

Mrs. James Jones was hostess of the Priscilla club Wednesday afternoon at her home on North Sixth street. The club members present were Mrs. T. E. Irvine, Mrs. Margaret Jones, Mrs. E. M. Lamson, Mrs. Eva Butler, Mrs. A. L. Doran, Mrs. Levi Young, Mrs. W. S. Hefflin, Mrs. V. E. Lindsay, Mrs. J. H. Day, Mrs. George B. Wilcox, and Mrs. A. E. Stewart. The guests of honor were Mrs. Stella Weir, Mrs. W. E. Severn, Mrs. William Jones, Mrs. B. C. Baker and Miss Nellie Pridoux and Miss Jennie Pridoux of Wisconsin.

Miss Gladys Johnson of St. Thomas, Ontario, is the guest of Mrs. W. H. Plunkett of North Twelfth avenue.

Mrs. Jesse J. Sanders of Amarilla, Texas, arrived Wednesday and will be in Phoenix a month. She is the guest of Mrs. Richard Whymam (Lucy Tolleson) of 546 East Portland street.

Mrs. Lucis Jacobs Hill, who was the guest of Mrs. William Defty for a fortnight, left Thursday for the Grand Canyon, where she is passing a week and enroute for her home in San Francisco.

Mrs. John O'Malley of 1292 North Second street entertained with a delightful luncheon and bridge Tuesday afternoon. The house throughout was decorated in an unusually lovely arrangement of Cecil Bruner roses and carnations, the pink color scheme being carried out in the place cards. Prizes were won by Mrs. Roy Wayland and Mrs. Charles Corrigan. There were present Mrs. John R. Hampton, Mrs. Harry R. Carson, Mrs. Chester Reed, Mrs. William Studor, Mrs. Frank Vaucl, Mrs. Roy Wayland, Mrs. Charles Corrigan, Mrs. F. L. Connor, Mrs. Luther Fox, Mrs. Richard Sarlis, and Mrs. Craig Pottinger.

IMPORTANT TO ALL GOOD DRESSERS

Tomorrow, the sale of McDougall-Cassou clothes at reduced prices, ends.

A great many men have profited by the extraordinary prices which have prevailed on our suits—it has been the best sale in our history—but we know a good many men would be in—if they thoroughly appreciated the wonderfulness of the bargains, and the quality of the clothes offered.

We look on these sales as "acquaintanceship" days—it's a good time for you to test us—and we are anxious that you should.

So we would suggest—take a few minutes tomorrow—come around and see these clothes.
