

ALASKAN TOWN IN PERIL FROM ICE

[Republican A. P. Leased Wire] NOME, Alaska, June 4.—Consulted, a settlement in the Neukluk river district was almost swept away by floating ice cakes late yesterday, according to long distance telephone reports received here today.

The ice jammed in a canyon a short distance below the settlement causing the water to back up and, with its burden of heavy ice, to flood the street. Fortunately the warehouses in which most of the food was stored are situated at an elevation which the water did not reach.

GERMANS MAKE FUTILE ATTACKS ON FRENCH LINES

German Drive Progressing BERLIN, June 4.—(Via London).—The German drive on the Western front between the Callette wood and Damoupe, northeast of the fortress, is progressing favorably for the attacking force the war office announced today.

The list gives the names of sixty-five men killed aboard the Warrior and of twenty-seven men wounded. On the other ships engaged in the fight, 115 men were killed and 32 wounded.

Admiral Lord Berosford in an interview today, while contending strongly for the view that there was no failure in the British strategic and that Vice Admiral Beatty won a brilliant success, though it was dearly bought, declares that the only mistake made was by the admiralty in allowing the Germans to get first in the field with the news of the battle, or as he puts it, with "impudent fabrications."

British Steamers Sunk LONDON, June 4.—(Via London).—Dispatches to Lloyd's report the sinking of the unarmed British steamships Dewland and Salmonpool.

Available shipping records do not list any steamer named Marterso.

The British Statement LONDON, June 5.—The British official statement issued at midnight reads:

"A squadron of twenty-six of our aeroplanes bombarded some points of military importance. Considerable damage is believed to have been done. One of our machines was brought down in the enemy lines by gun fire; the remainder returned safely.

"Last night there was increased activity along the whole of our front. North of Prient, after a heavy bombardment, a party of two hundred Germans attacked our trenches but were driven back with considerable loss.

"North of the River Anere, about Serre, two small parties of our troops entered German trenches and killed with slight losses. At Monchy-au-Bois and Neuville-St. Vaast, two more parties of our troops broke into the enemy's lines, and returned with prisoners.

"The situation around Ypres has not materially altered."

German Drive Slackens PARIS, June 3.—(Delayed).—After the desperate fighting which has raged throughout the last three days, the latest German drive on Verdun slackened today and while the bombardment continued on both sides of the Meuse there was a lull in the intense infantry fighting of the past 48 hours.

Fort Vaux has been the chief of the latest drive and tonight finds the Germans after heavy fighting, occupying the northern part of a deep, wide moat-sweeping around the fort, while the French firmly hold the fort itself, with the moat and its approaches on the east and west.

The rush on Fort Vaux reached its maximum intensity at six o'clock last night after an all-day struggle. The Germans then massed reinforcements for the final shock, but were caught by the diagonal end fire from machine artillery posted at Damoupe. At heavy sacrifices the Germans gained the entrance to the northern part of the Moat, but were held at all other points, according to the French claim. They made no further attempt to improve their positions, after last night's pitched battle.

Canadians Holding Own BRITISH HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, June 3 (Via London, June 4, 10:20).—Around Famous Hill No. 61 and Sanctuary Wood, the Canadians have been doing the stiffest fighting of their experience in the course of the last two days' action.

They have held the entire front attacked and, unless the fighting spreads, this is entirely their battle.

The Germans have been relatively active for some days when they suddenly opened up the heaviest bombardment any Canadian veteran has known, using all kinds of guns from heavy howitzers to trench mortars.

Under support of gun fire, the Canadian battalions, which include many Americans, immediately turned on the Germans in a series of counter attacks. They fought throughout the night, and were engaged all Saturday doggedly bombing their way back to the possession of the action which they had lost.

SAY EIGHTEEN GERMAN SHIPS ARE DESTROYED

dence as has come to our knowledge, the admiralty entertains no doubt that the German losses are heavier than the British, not merely relatively to the strength of the two fleets, but absolutely.

"There seems to be the strongest ground for supposing that included in the German losses are two battleships, two dreadnought battle cruisers of the most powerful type, two of the latest light cruisers the Wiesbaden and Elning, the light cruiser of the Rostock type, the light cruiser Frauenlob, nine destroyers and a submarine.

The pessimism which prevailed as a result of the admiralty's original statement of losses, which now is considered to have been needlessly candid and conservative in underestimating the extent of the German losses as compared with those of Great Britain has been greatly lessened by the latest statement.

A dispatch from Copenhagen says rumors are current in Hamburg that two additional German warships than those announced in the German communication—the battleship Westfalen and the battle cruiser Lutnow—were sunk in the battle. A wireless dispatch received here Saturday from Berlin said the German admiralty admitted the loss of the Westfalen.

The admiralty statement tonight declares that the German losses in the fight were not only relatively, but absolutely greater than those of the British. Maintaining its practice of caution, the admiralty still refrains from giving the names of the lost German ships.

The official list of the casualties among officers shows that hardly a single officer of the line escaped from the British cruisers sunk in the battle. An additional casualty list of petty-officers shows that forty-three of them were saved from the Queen Mary, Invincible, Fortunate, Ardent and Shark. None was saved from the Indefatigable, Defence, Black Prince, Tipperary, Turbulent, Nomad or Nestor.

The list gives the names of sixty-five men killed aboard the Warrior and of twenty-seven men wounded. On the other ships engaged in the fight, 115 men were killed and 32 wounded.

Admiral Lord Berosford in an interview today, while contending strongly for the view that there was no failure in the British strategic and that Vice Admiral Beatty won a brilliant success, though it was dearly bought, declares that the only mistake made was by the admiralty in allowing the Germans to get first in the field with the news of the battle, or as he puts it, with "impudent fabrications."

Otherwise, said Lord Berosford, no fault can be found with the admiralty.

Seidlitz Damaged COPENHAGEN, June 4. (Via London, June 5).—A dispatch to the Siftstede from Ribe, Jutland, says that the German battle cruiser Seidlitz was sighted Thursday morning 38 miles west of Fano Island going south pursued by British warships. She was badly damaged and had two large holes afl.

Fano is a small island off the west coast of Jutland, about eleven miles from Ribe, and is in the immediate neighborhood of the scene of the great naval battle of Wednesday.

The Seidlitz is a dreadnought cruiser of 25,900 tons. She was built in 1912 and is armed with ten 11-inch guns and twelve 6-inch guns. The Seidlitz took part in the battle off Helgoland in January 1915, and was reported to have been badly damaged in that engagement and to have suffered heavy casualties among her crew.

Hawley, president of the Aero club of America. Estimates also have been submitted, Mr. Baker's letter said, for $1,000,000 to begin the equipment of such aero units of the national guard as the war department may authorize in the near future.

Parties rushed in at different points, bombing and bayonetting right and left, and before their fierce work ended they had regained all but a few yards.

MANY BELIEVE REPUBLICANS NOT FOR ROOSEVELT

ment and estimate their chances of controlling the convention. The conferees did not materialize, although there was some informal talking which apparently came to nothing and left the situation as tangled as ever.

The Weeks' delegates had a gathering described as a boosting meeting, to emphasize their prediction of two hundred votes for the senator on the first ballot. There had been an understanding that it had been arranged to have Alabama which has no candidate, give way to New York when the roll is called, and thus give opportunity for the New York delegation to cast its votes for its candidate—Hughes, Root or Roosevelt. The Weeks managers deny that any such arrangement has been made and declare they expect Alabama to yield to Massachusetts. Any one they may nominate Weeks. Any one of these so-called arrangements seems to be as indefinite any inclusive as another.

Some of the progressive leaders, were expressing dissatisfaction today with the attitude of George W. Perkins of New York "Angel" of the progressive party, and especially because he had extended the "olive branch" to the republicans. Those who protested against making overtures to the republicans insisted that the strength of the progressives lay in compelling the republicans to come to them.

It was made plain that at present there are three elements among the progressives. First, and probably a majority, are those who prefer Colonel Roosevelt, and who will not admit they would accept any other nominee but who are nevertheless practical politicians and willing, it is believed, to unite on any man whom they believe could defeat the democratic nominee. A second element is composed of those who favor waiting until the republicans make a nomination, and then support that candidate if he should be Justice Hughes or some other man they believe to have progressive tendencies. The third and smallest element is composed of out and out Roosevelt followers, the irreconcilables who would not accept any one but the colonel and who insist that they would blot any progressive or republican ticket which he does not head.

George von L. Meyer, organizer of the business men's committee endorsing Colonel Roosevelt and who headed the delegation which recently visited the colonel at Oyster Bay and invited him to run, opened headquarters in Colonel Roosevelt's interest tonight. He issued an invitation to all incoming delegates to come and have a conference before deciding how to cast their votes. The Meyer invitation to the delegation declared they were confronted with the opportunity to "heal the wound to the bone."

Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., arrived in Chicago today with William Loeb, Jr., and mingled with the pre-convention crowds in hotel lobbies. He will attend the convention as the guest of J. Ogden Armour.

"I do not know what the convention is going to do," said Roosevelt to friends tonight, "but the sentiment of the country wherever polls have been taken, seems to be for father."

Governor Frank E. Willis of Ohio and a large delegation from Columbus, including a glee club of 85, arrived on a special train tonight. Governor Willis will make the speech placing the name of Senator Burton in nomination at the convention. The Burton boomers claim one hundred and thirty votes in the convention on the first ballot.

The Maryland delegation will arrive Tuesday afternoon and a caucus will be held as soon after the arrival as possible. W. P. Jackson, the national committeeman, who is here, said that the delegation is unstructured and divided between Weeks, Hughes and Roosevelt.

Two of the ten delegates from South Dakota arrived today. The others and the alternates are due tomorrow, when headquarters will be opened. The caucus will be held tomorrow evening. Charles H. Burke, national committeeman said that the delegation was instructed for Cummins as first choice for the presidency and E. J. Burkett of Lincoln, Neb., former senator for the vice presidency. Second choice, he said, would be about evenly divided between Roosevelt and Hughes. One delegate, he said, was for Burton as second choice.

Fourteen delegates from the state of Washington with their alternates, arrived today, accompanied by S. A. Perkins, national committeeman from that state. An informal meeting of the delegation was held and it was to hold a caucus tomorrow.

The delegation is unstructured and none of the delegates would express a preference for any presidential candidate. Four of the eight Montana delegates arrived today. The state delegate caucus was set for tomorrow when the rest of the delegates and Thomas A. Martile, national committeeman, are to arrive. The delegation is instructed for Senator Cummins. The Oregon delegation, consisting of ten delegates and ten alternates, registered today at state headquarters and conferred with Ralph E. Williams, national committeeman. The delegation is instructed for Justice Hughes. It was planned to caucus tomorrow.

Campaign headquarters will be opened here tomorrow for Senator Robert M. LaFollette, Hughes and Roosevelt. Senator W. S. Kenyon of Iowa, arrived today and took charge of the campaign in behalf of Senator Cummins, who it was stated will not attend the convention. Senator Kenyon was chosen chairman of the delegation. Most of the Iowa delegates and alternates arrived today and at a conference this afternoon the following "steering committee" for the Cummins campaign was appointed:

Charles A. Rawson of Des Moines, chairman of the state central committee; J. Reed Lane of Davenport and George C. Call of Sioux City; Mr. Rawson has had active charge of the preliminary Cummins campaign. Former Congressman N. E. Kendall, of Albia, has been chosen to place Senator Cummins in nomination. Seconding speeches will be made by delegates from other states pledged to the lowan. Senator Boise Penrose was one of the busiest men about convention headquarters today. He said he was still of an "open mind" regarding a choice for president. The Texas delegation, about half of whom were here today and the others due tomorrow will caucus Monday morning with H. F. MacGregor of Houston, scheduled for reelection as national committee man. Texas has twenty-six votes with forty delegates, the voting being divided. All are reported unstructured.

Instructed for Senator La Follette, the ten North Dakota delegates will caucus Monday. Ardent supporters of Colonel Roosevelt delved far into political history again today to find material with which to combat the Hughes sentiment. A of the Roosevelt republican committee, left a memorandum which set out that in 1905 Hughes was nominated for mayor of New York and that he declined the nomination and the municipal convention had to be reconvened. If Justice Hughes should be the successful candidate in this week's convention, it was suggested at the Roosevelt headquarters that history might repeat itself, and Justice Hughes decline the nomination.

Frank H. Hitchcock announced tonight that he had received a telegram from Governor Beckman of Rhode Island that national delegates from that state had met and unanimously declared their intention to vote for Justice Hughes.
