

H. B. WILKINSON

Candidate for

State Senator

MARICOPA COUNTY

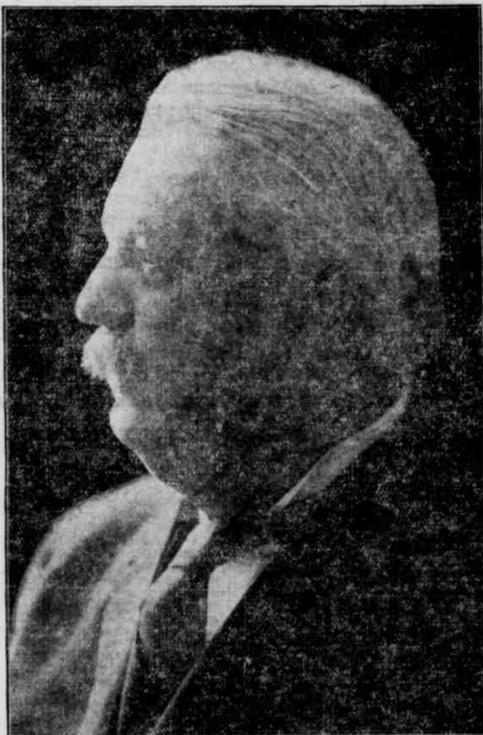

Subject to Republican Primary, September 12, 1916

H. B. Wilkinson at the earnest solicitation of a large number of his friends and fellow citizens has consented to become a candidate for the office of State Senator. This is one of the most important positions in the gift of the people to fill and it has ever been difficult to get men of the ability and standing of Mr. Wilkinson to make the sacrifice necessary of both time and money in a campaign and to fill the office. Mr. Wilkinson is an able lawyer, and what is more, a successful business man. But his profession and business are not all of life to him. His voice has ever been raised for the good of the community, for cleanliness and for whatever makes Arizona, the county and the city worthier to live in.

With the nomination and election of Mr. Wilkinson to the State Senate, Maricopa county will be represented by a man who will rank with the best any county will send.

If there is any man who believes that we need a better government, better laws and less blundering and petty factional, partisan politics in the legislature, he will vote for H. B. WILKINSON for State Senator.

A Republican Candidate For United States Senator

JUDGE JOSEPH H. KIBBEY

There are two outstanding reasons why Judge Kibbey should be elected to the United States senate. The foremost is his ability, the certainty that he would command the respect of that body and give Arizona a higher place in the sisterhood of states.

The other reason is, Judge Kibbey has proved his loyalty and usefulness to the people of Arizona. Many democrats agree with republicans that he is the best governor Arizona has ever had.

He was the pioneer in the fight for equal taxation. It was in his administration that the great mines and railroads of Arizona learned what the paying of taxes meant.

No class in Arizona has ever complained that it was injured by Judge Kibbey either while on the bench or in the governor's seat. Rich and poor were alike to him. He never made a demagogic appeal for the favor of the workingman and he never permitted the oppression by large employers of the workingman.

As judge and as governor he was guided in his official conduct only by his judgment and his conscience, never by any outward influence.

His administration was an economical one. It was republican, but it was never assailed even by democratic politicians.

Judge Kibbey's long record in Arizona is one of ability, courage and strict justice.

Casa Grande

Dismay and sorrow were the feelings of many of the citizens of Casa Grande on Sunday night when the word was passed around that Company I, First Arizona Infantry, had received orders to break camp and move to Fort Huachuca. The men of Company I shared in large degree this regret, tempered somewhat with the hope that it meant the mobilization at their camp for the purpose of being mustered out.

Since many of the men in Company I, along with the rest of the Arizona National Guard, made sacrifices to respond to the call of their country, thinking they were about to be plunged into war, and since such has not been the case, they are now anxious to get home. Later orders coming for the battalion to go to Naco, many thought it meant there still might be a chance to muster out in a short time.

From Captain Robinson down the personnel of Company I has been such that those who have been in contact with soldiers and large bodies of men expressed the opinion that they were very much above the average. It had been hoped that Company I might remain with us until all need for the order patrol is over. Especially were we encouraged in this belief when the order came for the erection of the fine mess hall, 24x60 ft., in which had only been completed about two weeks.

Wednesday when Companies K and L came in, Company I was ready and all went on to Naco, where the good wishes of their friends in Casa Grande followed them.

Wednesday night Mrs. Grady Gammage gave a very interesting and instructive lecture here on the subject of Temperance. Mrs. Doane Merrill, of Benson, accompanied Mrs. Gammage, singing several very sweet songs. Even to those who do not believe in the cause for which these ladies are working must admit if they heard them that it was time well spent, while to those who do not hear them we would say, never lose another such opportunity.

Mr. Gammage joined Mrs. Gammage here and they went on their way together as far as Maricopa, since Mr. Gammage was due in Phoenix and Mrs. Gammage and Mrs. Merrill had appointments at Gila Bend.

Owing to delay in the arrival of the principal grammar school did not open in Casa Grande on Tuesday, as announced, but will be opened on Monday, September 11.

Prof. T. Kilcrease arrived Tuesday from his home at Bowie, Texas, while Mrs. Guild, Miss Winnie Enslow and Miss Frieda Iselin came in from California before that. Mr. Dan Peart, the other teacher, spent the summer here, but spent the week-end in Phoenix, returning on Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben S. Wilson entertained Monday night Messrs. Wilton, Sherman, Merrill and Lind, of Company I, and Miss Carola Veith at a dinner. The occasion was the birthday of Mr. George Wilson, ser. no. 1, who was guest of honor, and Sergeant Harry Witte's birthday also.

Mrs. G. F. Campbell and Miss Mary spent Friday night with Mrs. F. W. Wyatt en route from Ajo to Phoenix, via Pichaco. Mrs. Campbell will live in Phoenix during the winter to send her children to high school.

Mrs. J. D. Wilson left Thursday for a visit to her son, C. M. Wilson, in Phoenix, afterwards returning to Casa Grande to make a longer stay with her son James G. and Mrs. Wilson, before returning to her home in Wisconsin.

Field Geologist Tavote came in Wednesday morning, going out to the Copper Chief with John E. Reade for a few days' stay.

C. H. Carr, of California, spent a night with his brother, Earl Carr, en route to Phoenix.

A. A. Jayne and son, Maurice Jayne, returned from a month in California Thursday morning.

Mr. Martin, of Greene's ranch, took his grandchild to Tucson to the hospital Thursday. He was kicked by a horse and did not seem to recover from the injury, so thought it best to have advice.

L. W. McDams, a former resident of Casa Grande, but now dealing in Phoenix real estate, spent the week-end in the valley greeting old friends.

Mrs. Ira Haynes and three daughters left Casa Grande on Friday for Tempe, where the young ladies will enter school for the winter.

Miss Helen Weaver, of Iowa Falls, Iowa, who was recently married to Mr. Esqate, of Phoenix, and a niece of Mrs. Celestin Weaver, of Casa Grande, and has many relatives and friends who wish for her long life and happiness in her new home.

Superintendent Thacker, Engineer Reed, of the U. S. I. S., and Attorney Truesdale, of Washington, will be busy for some time to come interviewing the rival claimants of the waters of the Gila river, in order that all possible may be done to eliminate friction in the final adjustment when construction is begun and ready to begin.

Miss Sarah Wilson has returned from an auto trip to northern Arizona, which she enjoyed very much. Having visited Phoenix, Prescott, Williams, Flagstaff, Grand Canyon and all the many places of interest enroute. In passing, Mrs. Henderson and party attended the sessions of the Synod, visited Mt. Eldon, 9,100 feet above the sea level, and were the house guests of Mrs. E. M. Robinson, wife of Captain Robinson of Company I.

Local newspapers on the views these people have expressed concerning the pictures which you are shortly to show. If possible, get the newspapers to send a representative to interview your mayor on the question.

When a paper runs "The Grip of Evil" story by Louis Tracy, you will want to advertise in this paper that you are showing the picture at your theater. You will also want to boost the paper by means of slides in order that it will coast you.

If you do these things, the newspaper will cooperate with you to the fullest extent.

Real School Day Show at the Coliseum Those who saw the new musical comedy at the Coliseum last night were indeed fortunate. It's called "School Days" and it thrills with youthful joy and happiness. It is different from the usual line of musical comedy. The children shouted with glee when Sis Hopkins put a tack on the teacher's chair. They felt sorry for poor Patsy when he got a licking. They sympathized with Ike when he forgot his spelling lesson. And it was all there, correct in every detail.

Ed Gilbert as Patsy, Jim Dooley as Ike, Cohn, Harry Hallen as the Dutch school teacher, George Von Blix as Percival Chesterfield Wildwaves, Marie Pfeil as Sis Hopkins, and the rest of the company in the different characters familiar to our own school days, caused many a hearty laugh.

There will be an entire change of program tomorrow, entitled "Clancy the Fiddler." Francis Nelson in "The Decoy" at the Lion Today In all large cities there are groups of persons who live in luxury and indent ease apparently without working and seemingly without care. These individuals earn their easy money by preying upon the gullibility of rich young men who seek adventure. There are various ways of accomplishing their ends, but gambling offers the surest and most profitable means of snatching the victim. In "The Decoy," a five-act society drama which comes to the Lion theater today, from the pen of Herbert Hall Winslow, the well-known author, the method employed by these adventurers is vividly depicted. Most photoplays of New York life are unconvincing because of their lack of probability, but in this stirring photoplay the conditions are not exaggerated in the slightest and the story is realistic and the characters true to type. As a contribution to the best in screen productions, "The Decoy" takes a high position for several reasons, but principally because of the excellence of the cast, which is headed by Frances Nelson, a film actress of unusual ability, rare beauty and exceeding charm.

Europe Comes to America in "The Madcap" Americans can't go to Europe this summer, but the Universal has brought Europe to America in "The Madcap," a five-reel Universal Red Feather photoplay which will be presented for the first time locally at the Plaza theater today, with Flora Parker De Haven in the principal female role.

State Senator

If you think I am ONE of the TWO best qualified of the THREE candidates on the Republican ticket for State Senator and will give me your hearty support in my campaign for election, if nominated, I will appreciate your vote. If you think BOTH of the other two candidates are better qualified it is your duty, as a good citizen, to vote for them.

P. S. If you want some eating or cooking apples, or some pure, sweet apple cider, which I am making daily from home grown apples, phone Hall Bros., 124R2.
