NAVY RECRUITING OFFICE GROWING

C. F. Weber, chief quartermaster U. S. navy, has been ordered to report to the local recruiting station and will remain with the local office until after the state fair. Mr. Weber will demonstrate the naval defense mine, and other naval ordnance, which will be on display at the state fair. Mr. Weber is a qualified seaman summer also a submarine diver, having formerly served with the Atlantic fleet in that capacity. Lieut. S. P. Tracht, U. S. N., in charge of the southwestern navy recruiting district and Surg. William McKinney, will be in Phoenix during the fair, in connection with the local recruiting depot. It is expected that quite a number of young men will enlist that week. Chief Master-at-Arms T. R. Parker, to have an equal opportunity of obtaining desirable seats. It is but another evidence of the careful consideration being accorded everyone by State Fair Secretary Thomas Shaughnessy and the state fair commission.

Modern Siamese Twins Will Be Here During Fair Week

Two little musical maids who are billed as the "Modern Siamese Twins," will be part of the Great Worthman Shows that will appear here during State Fair week.

DAISY & VIOLET

THE ROYAL ENGLISH UNITED TWINS

The little girls, 8 years old, joined by one extraordinary connection, one playing upon the piano while the other brings forth sweet strains from a violin, will be one of the special features of the Great Worthman Shows that will exhibit here during state fair week. The youngsters are referred to as the "Modern Siamese Twins" and, as far as is known, they are the only living twins who are united in the flesh. They were born in Brighton, England, and have been presented before nearly all of the crowned heads of Europe, have been examined by the most eminent surgeons of the con-

DR. HINSON DRAWS THE FACE OF JESUS

"Eight Pictures" was the theme announced by Dr. Hinson for last night. The pictures were of the face of Jesus. The sermon was the most touching of any that he has preached. The face of Jesus was first of all a set face. He set his face steadfastly to go to Jerusalem. No man with a receding chin, a weak mouth and a faint character could have saved the world. Only a Christ who "set his face" could do it. That road from Bethlehem to Calvary he would never have traveled if he had not had the set face. That face was set before the creation. Calvary was no afterthought. The Lamb was slain from before the foundation of the world. "I was saved on a certain June day; in another, I was saved from eternity past. Something of the same spirit we must have if we are to count in the world. Obedience to Christ's commands demand the set face.

Secondly, it was a sad face. He must have smiled when he fondled the children, and when he saw them playing on the streets; but the habitual look was one of sadness. This was because he knew and loved men. The more a man sees of sinful men the sadder he must become. To call some men brutes is to insult the brute. Christ knew men as we do not, and hence was sadder. He knew what was in man.

Thirdly, it was a scorned face. They spit in His face, struck Him in the face, scourged Him, placed a crown of thorns on His brow. He bore all that for me. If I had that thousand lives I would give them all to Him who did so much for me. Fourthly, it was a shrouded face. A Unitarian declared that if incarnate virtue had come to earth, it would have worshipped it. It did come; but we crucified it. They thrust the spear into the side, and placed him in the tomb. He died that they might unconsciously make sure the resurrection.

Fifthly, it was a sought face. The women went early to the tomb. Faith was dead and hope was dead, but love lived. That love led them to the tomb. Sixthly, it was a seen face. Eleven times did he appear to different persons. His resurrection was a fact. Higher criticism never saved a soul, but the cross has saved thousands and millions.

Seventhly, it was a shining face. This we read in Revelation. He is to see the travail of His soul and be satisfied. I want to make Him glad, to make His face shine. The way the spirit of the martyrs is dead. Not so. Were there the call for martyrdom, millions would suffer for Him.

Eighthly, it was a shunned face. Revelation tells us of the last great day when the wicked men will be cast into the sea and the mountains will be hid from them from the face of him that sitteth on the throne. How His face will appear to great day will depend on our attitude toward Him here. Sin makes men shun Him here, and sin will make men shun Him there. How is it with you?

The sermon was followed by the usual quiet appeal, and several responded. The impression made by this Spirit-filled man is profound. The evangelist conference closes today. Dr. Hinson will speak at 11:00 a. m. and 3:30 p. m. The public is invited.

The theme this evening will be, "The Question God Can't Answer."

The usual street meeting will be held in charge of the local station, is doing everything possible to obtain a model of the battleship Arizona, and is of the opinion that it will be here for the fair.

COUNTY CANDIDATES WILL SPEAK TONIGHT

All of the Maricopa county republican candidates will gather at the Osborn school house this evening for one of the biggest political rallies of the campaign. There will be considerable oratory, an orchestra and a clean-cut, straightforward presentation of the campaign issues.

That a sweeping republican victory in the county is certain, was the statement issued last night from the county headquarters. Everywhere the candidates have been appearing they have been met with the greatest enthusiasm and have been receiving assurances of local support from all sides. So great have their receptions been that it seems to be a non-partisan campaign as voters of all political faiths have been rallying to the support of the republican candidates.

The following candidates will speak at the Osborn school house this evening: Oscar Roberts, candidate for sheriff; Elijah Allan, treasurer; Bobb S. Fisher, district attorney; C. W. Cruise, county school superintendent; O. H. Luch, assessor; Alice S. Hune, recorder; Ernest Hill and H. B. Wilkinson, state senators; the following candidates for representatives: Harold Baxter, David L. Bishop, W. W. Dobson, W. J. Galbraith, C. C. Green and W. H. Marsh.

now in the field against the Carranza government. It was learned that General Santiago Rivera, a former Huerta general, who was mentioned in press dispatches several days ago as having been appointed legislator governor of Sonora by General Felix Diaz, is among the persons being sought by officers. He has been at liberty for some time, under bond of $7,000, to answer in the federal court here to a charge of violating the Mann act, his trial being set for November 9.

A special dispatch from Nogales tonight states that Riveira is reported there to be already in Sonora, at the head of a band of armed men of the legalist movement in the vicinity of San Blas, south of Nogales. He was last seen at Nogales, Ariz., several days ago.

Two additional arrests were made by officers tonight, the persons arrested being Miguel Santa Cruz and Manuel Pineda, who are said to be refugees from Mexico. Other Mexicans for whom warrants are held are not prominent.

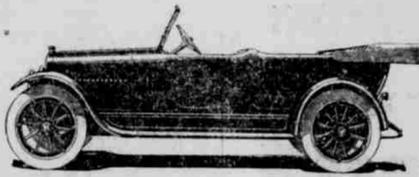

Dr. Gallegos Servin, although a resident of Tucson for a number of years, has kept in touch with Mexican affairs and at one time for several months was Mexican consul at Mexico, Cal., under Huerta. He is a brother of Jose Servin, an opera singer, formerly of Mexico City, but for several years a resident of Tucson.

A quantity of arms found at the residence of Dr. Servin the doctor, represented nothing more than a

You Can Still Save $175 on a HUDSON SUPER-SIX

3 Carloads Received in Phoenix During the Past 10 Days

The Hudson factory is now sending us the last of this year's allotment. That means the last cars built from materials contracted a year ago.

Then starts a new production, built from the same grade of materials, but enormously advanced in cost. To maintain Hudson standards, the same car hereafter must cost $175 more.

Our customers can save that $175 while our present allotment lasts.

No New Models

The new production, starting December 1, does not involve new models. There will be no changes, unless such outer refinements as frequently occur.

So the car you get now is the same car—at least practically—as the car which will cost $175 more.

Our purpose here, therefore, is not to close out a model. Nor is it to sell an overstock. We have none.

It is to get for our customers as many as possible of the current-production cars.

Still Below Others

The Hudson Super-Six at $1800 will still under-sell numerous other cars. Yet the Super-Six has proved itself the greatest car that's built.

It holds all worth-while stock-car records. It has outstripped all its rivals in every test attempted.

If you measure a car by performance and endurance, no other car compares with the Super-Six.

If you measure by fine engineering, by beauty and luxury, the Super-Six is at least the peer of any.

A SANTA FE CUT-OFF

[Republican A. P. Leased Wire] ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Nov. 1.—(R. P. Chenevix, director of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad here tonight, said that the proposed building of a joint "cut off" by the Santa Fe and Burlington railroad in Missouri had been discussed considerably but no deal had been made when he left Chicago. The deal, of course, may have been completed since then. The proposed cut-off would extend from Carrollton, Mo., on the Santa Fe's main line between Kansas City and Chicago to Mexico, Mo., on the Burlington-Alton line between Kansas City and St. Louis. The distance is approximately 160 miles. This would give the Santa Fe a line into St. Louis and the Burlington, among other advantages, a direct line into Kansas City from Carrollton.

TRIUMPHAL TOUR OF INDIANA STATE ENDED YESTERDAY

portant to them than the prosperity of the iron and steel industry. "We know that on account of the European war the exports of iron and steel jumped in a year from $231,000,000 to over $521,000,000," he said, "an increase of two and a half times because of the great demand created by the European war. That was a demand caused in very large part by the needs of munitions. It also was caused in very large part by the fact that men on the other side were taken away from their pursuits and productive activities and were put in the trenches to fight.

"Now, when that demand for war material ends, when the war orders come to an end and our present policy, as embodied in the Underwood bill passed by our opponents, you can see yourself going back to work for one or two or three days per week.

"This is a severely practical proposition. We know what happened to us twenty months ago. There are some who say why America is ready to look at great, strong America. Can't America stand anything? Well, America was just as strong and just as great twenty months ago as it is today. They say, well, look at the men in America. Can't they do anything? I reply, Well, the men in America were just as great twenty months ago as they are today.

"You have got to have something besides this great, strong America that we talk about in such eloquent phrases and you have got to have something more than these alert and splendid men. You have got to have business policies that protect the industries of the United States.

"It is a perfectly absurd thing that any intelligent man should stand before the American community and talk about tariff for revenue only. You cannot run the United States in that way. The nation on the other side are learning the necessity of protecting their interests.

"And what will you see when this war is over? In the first place, you will find that nations over there have learned a great deal. They learned more in the years of this war than they have learned in a long period before. They have learned about themselves. They have learned how to co-operate. We have got to have a lot more of that in this country—real, genuine human interest in each other.

"The government in each one of the countries is back of it, doing all they can to stimulate their business. Now, when the war is over we will find in every country protection to its own industries and an effort to build up its own industries through a protective tariff policy; and a seeking of other markets with their surplus production at what prices they can get.

"And here is our great market, the greatest market in the world. Here is the gold that has accumulated during that time. Of course they will seek our market and then what will happen? Either their products will sell here and our products won't sell, or our men have got to take less money in wages. Now, that is all there is to it.

"I say less money in wages and what comes to the same thing, less time in work; and when industries go down, when plants are reduced in output, then if you have got money in the bank you propose to draw it out and spend it instead of adding to it.

"It is a fine thing to talk about conditions of labor to a man who cannot get work, or who is working on reduced time. It is a fine thing to talk about improvement in social and of the desirable reforms that are sought to be accomplished. It is a very pleasant thing to say that to a man whose family is looking for bread and cannot get it."
