

NOTES REALLY ACCOMPLISH THINGS, SMITH

Senator Mark A. Smith displayed great bravery at the high school auditorium last night before an audience of at least 150 democrats.

Standing between a statue of George Washington, father of our country, and Abraham Lincoln, the great emancipator, two men who were not "too proud to fight," he had the courage to tell his listeners that the firmness, diplomacy and marked display of patriotism by Woodrow Wilson in his relations with "the most militant nation on earth" had "won more concessions with a few notes than could have been accomplished in ten years of warfare."

The distinguished speaker did not plead for party fealty; he didn't beseech his listeners to rally to the democratic standards, but declared that "this was not a time for partisan politics." And, right here, he was accorded the most vigorous applause of the evening.

Senator Smith's arguments in behalf of the administration were the same as those presented by other democratic speakers who have orated here during the campaign. He called attention to the present prosperity denied that it was born of blood and slaughter across the ocean and claimed that it is the result of the federal reserve banking law.

But the war came in for a wallop when Senator Smith referred to the Kaiser, the king of England, or whoever started the colossal struggle, for the big increase in the price of necessities. The senator said he was sorry they were fighting over in Europe and declared most emphatically that he didn't approve of it—not one bit.

His voice, evidently weak from the heavy strain it has been under during the past few weeks, could hardly be heard in the rear of the hall, and the vigor and enthusiasm he has displayed in other campaigns was obviously lacking. It was said, after last night's meeting, that the senator, who is advancing in years, would not be likely to enter another vigorous political campaign.

There were but six people in the balcony and less than 150 in attendance altogether. The audience was not nearly as large as the crowd that gathered to hear Tom Campbell, republican candidate for governor, in the same hall Tuesday evening.

Amos A. Betts, democratic candidate for corporation commissioner, outlined his views of the necessary qualifications of an aspirant to this office. He promised a businesslike administration of the affairs in event he is elected. His talk was brief and he confined himself to but a single promise which was, "I'll do my best."

Several other democratic candidates orated at considerable length, but at least of a third of the audience departed when Senator Smith had concluded his address.

Be Patriotic! Vote Yes after 196-11

ALL MAY BE WELL IF PARENTS GIVE THEIR BLESSINGS

out of a seemingly hopeless tangle of love and alleged crime, a tiny strand was unraveled yesterday that may lead to the reconciliation of Hubert A. Drake and Beryl Church.

Drake, the 16-year-old girl he married a few days ago without the consent of her parents.

Although no definite agreement has been reached, it is understood that the boy is eager to claim his bride, and that the family of the girl will say "bless you my children" if they learn nothing to his discredit after investigating his character.

Yesterday they met in Judge Stanford's chambers where the juvenile charges placed against the girl-wife was dismissed.

The complaint had been issued at the instigation of the father, J. M. Church, who charged that his daughter was a minor and had no right to marry without the consent of her parents. The court held that it had no jurisdiction in the matter.

In the meantime the father had insured annulment proceedings. His attorney, Robert S. Fisher, with Thomas P. Nealon and George Stoval, who represented Drake's interests, held a conference after the juvenile hearing to bring about some action that will be for the best interests of the young couple.

According to Mr. Nealon no definite plan has been worked out but it is believed that the Drake will come to some understanding and begin life together with the good will of Mr. and Mrs. Church.

Assistant County Attorney G. S. Cunningham was present at both conferences. He said that the outcome of the Drake-Church affair would not effect the case of Spencer L. Robinson, who is charged with a statutory offense. Beryl Church is named in the complaint.

CLASSIC DANCER IS A SENSATION

By special arrangement with the art committee of the Woman's club and the fair commission, Miss Louise Ingham made her first appearance in public last evening at the Columbia theater.

The charming young girl who with her mother, Mrs. E. C. Ingham is directing the program to be given during the fair, gave a dance number between the picture programs that was a really lovely bit of artistry.

"The Birth of the Flowers" is a charming conception that gives the young classic dancer opportunity to demonstrate her art. She dances with a world of grace and there is a naturalness in her work that is appealing. Quite different from the barefoot dance in which she is vellel in filmy pink chiffon is the Spanish peasant dance which she executed at the conclusion of the last showing of the feature film attraction.

She makes her entrance without music and then to the soft strains of the Spanish waltz, a real daughter of old Spain presents herself. She was exquisite in this number.

The management of the Columbia secured a special program to supplement the dance, in the six reel feature, "The Whirl of Life," in which America's foremost dancers, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Castle are featured. The modern dances as presented by the Castles were delightful and were sufficient excuse for the photo drama.

The Columbia resembled an opening night. It was a representative society audience and many of its members sent its acknowledgment of appreciation to Miss Ingham in beautiful bouquets and baskets of flowers.

REPAIRS FOR TRAIL MAY COME SOME TIME

That there is a chance of having the Roosevelt road repaired within the near future is the belief of members of the chamber of commerce who have been agitating the matter with the authorities at Washington.

Paul C. Reddington, district forester, with headquarters in Albuquerque, arrived in Phoenix yesterday, and will make a trip over the trail, acting under orders of the national forestry department, to ascertain how much it would cost to repair the road.

The Roosevelt road, or the Apache trail as it is called in eastern advertisement, has been in a state of dilapidation since the river washed over its banks last spring, and reduced the road to the level of a trail.

Autos still run over it, but it is a man's sized job to put a machine across the mountains. The fact that hundreds of tourists come in over the trail, and that unless something is done to repair it soon, this stream will stop, has led those interested in the welfare of Phoenix to seek federal aid.

READY TO TAKE SOLDIERS' VOTES

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., Nov. 2.—Henry C. Adams of Albany, N. Y., representing the secretary of state of New York, arrived in McAllen, Texas, today and began preparations for the casting of ballots among New York national guardsmen in this district November 7.

Four members of the Iowa election commission reached Brownsville today to handle the Iowa guardsmen's votes. These ballots will be counted by election judges and clerks, appointed from the Iowa guardsmen.

Virginia troops already are casting their ballots which, after being certified by local postmasters, are being sent to Richmond by mail.

The fifty thousand or more guardsmen on the lower Rio Grande are evincing deep interest in the election, both national and in their home states.

STARVATION PREDICTED

HUTCHINSON, Kas., Nov. 2.—Allan L. Benson, socialist candidate for president in an address here tonight, predicted intense suffering and even starvation this winter unless the government "forces food speculators to surrender their grip on the nation's" (Republican A. P. Leased Wire)

REPORT OF LIBRARY OF MUCH INTEREST

The following report was made of the activities of the city library yesterday, by the librarian.

Membership cards issued	142
Readers using reading rooms	3,864
Magazines issued on readers cards	148
Books issued on Readers Cards	2,304
Juvenile	325
General literature	916
Daily average (26 days) 159 books	4,150
Cash Statements
Balance October 1st	$ 2.50
Receipts
Fines	25.25
Lost book	.50
Expenditures	$26.89428.48
Ice	3.00
Stamps	5.00
Books and Magazines	12.35
Miscellaneous	.60
Balance November 1st, 1916	$ 7.73

Respectfully submitted,
ADDE P. INGALLS,
Librarian.

Hire a Little Salesman at the Republican office. A Want Ad. will see more customers than you can.

Show Windows Around Town

Bargain seekers, attention! Here are some real bargain surprises for you—opportunities to save money and chances to prove that you're a good judge of values. The advertisers on this page have arranged this money saving carnival. But they're not telling you here what the bargains are. They want you to see the merchandise yourself—to judge the values with your own eyes. They want you to look in their bargain windows today. There's a big surprise for you in each of their windows. The ads, below, tell you. Take their tip and you'll save money.

Farmers and Mechanics Store
17 South First Ave.
Some Great Values in Our
WINDOW NO. 17
17 S. First Ave.

McKEES Cash Store

The Biggest Bargains in Town in Our Front Window
SEE OUR WINDOW FIRST
WINDOW NO. 5

The Eagle Drug Store
21 SOUTH CENTER AVE.
Just around the corner from Washington St.
A Household Necessity
See Window No. 2
Phone No. 535
W. B. KILBOURN, PROP.

California Fish and Poultry Market
123 N. First Ave.
A big surprise in store for you—Come in today for details

ADAMS PHARMACY

A BOON TO HUMANITY
See Our Window No. 4 Today For Details

UNION MARKET
119 North First Ave.
Something different. We are always first with the newest.
Come in Today

ARIZONA CIGAR STORE
15 N. CENTRAL AVE.
WINDOW NO. 128
Calling your attention to the EMPIRE
A fine Porto Rican Cigar in boxes of 25 and 50
SEE OUR WINDOW NO. 128

Auto Supply Co.

506 North Central Avenue
"The House of Service"
The largest tire in the world in one of our windows but see the very newest in our
WINDOW NO. 2
JUST THE THING YOU HAVE BEEN LOOKING FOR

MR. FARMER
See
Geo. Hageman's
Big West Display Window and examine the exhibit of the famous Self-Oiling
AERMOTER WINDMILL
Corner Second St. and East Adams