

HUGH MARSHALL TELLS PURPOSE OF THRIFT ACT

People of Phoenix Rally To Aid of Little Stamps Which Will Do So Much To Help to Win the War

There was a large gathering last night at the "Y" stadium, when the Phoenix war savings societies met to organize committees to canvass the city during the war savings campaign this month. H. B. Tittle, state director for Arizona, presided and introduced as first speaker William True-man, a 12-year-old junior "Four Minute Man" from Florence. The young man delivered an eloquent patriotic speech on war savings, which was well received.

Hugh Marshall, special organizer and worker, appointed by the government to assist in this territory for the present campaign, was the next speaker. His opening remarks were that the people should look facts squarely in the face, and explained why war savings exist and what those at home are going to do to save for our boys over there. He stated that people wonder why the government planned to raise two billion dollars in war savings when this money could easily be raised in bond subscriptions. Continuing, he stated that two million men had been taken out of civil life and put into the army, where they become great consumers, and the people at home lose the use of the labor of the men who have gone into the service, and by consuming less at home will provide for our army and the armies of our allies. Mr. Marshall told his audience that congress had appropriated $19,000,000,000 as the first year's cost of the war to this government, and explained that the government could only spend $12,000,000,000 of this appropriation because the industrial machinery of the country could not furnish sufficient materials for the needs of the army, and the men are not yet fully equipped. He told his audience that the government is planning to spend $24,000,000,000 next year, and this money, it is hoped, will be raised by bond subscriptions and taxation, and if not successful may resort to confiscatory methods. He said further that, in order to spend this vast sum, it will be necessary for the people to realize that thrift is a national necessity and that the rich man should economize more than the poor man because the rich man is more apt to waste.

"The youngsters of the country are doing their duty by purchasing thrift stamps," he said, "and this campaign has been started to reach the grown-ups, not to purchase thrift stamps, but war savings stamps." He stated that the government had requested all Liberty loan workers to assist in this campaign, and that the same intensive efforts used in Liberty loan campaigns should be inaugurated into this drive. Mr. Marshall explained that a pledge in excess of a thousand dollars could not be accepted because that money is needed to purchase bonds. He told his hearers that the money invested in war savings stamps would

War Bride Finds Parting Is Not Sweetest Sorrow

Fearless as a soldier, John E. Cahill of the United States army, was afraid to face life without his pretty young wife, whom he married in this city last Friday.

On Wednesday Cahill said goodbye to his bride and started for Camp Cody. He got as far as Maricopa and the trains were late and he remained all night in the desert town. At 9 o'clock yesterday morning he boarded the passenger coach for Phoenix and with Mrs. Cahill left last evening for the New Mexico camp.

When Bonnie Barnard married the soldier she decided to continue her course at a business college in order that she might support herself during the war period. After her husband left her she found it impossible to study and had abandoned her books. She was writing a note to him to this effect when he returned home and ordered her to pack her clothes and leave with him last night. Cahill has been in the army for a year and a half.

He returned with interest to the investors on the first of January, 1913, and would help the people during the reconstruction period after this terrible war. Continuing, he told the assemblage that many people thought that the thrift movement would not help business, and stated that those at home ought to be thankful that they are not hurt more, and that the hurt to business could not compare with the hurt that has already been done when the government takes boys out of the home. Mr. Marshall concluded his speech by relating a tale about a negro man who was asked by a recruiting sergeant if he would enlist in company "A" of a certain negro regiment and was informed by the man that he was already a member of company "B". The sergeant, knowing that the man was not in the service, asked the man to explain, and he replied that he would be there when the soldiers left and would be there when they returned. Referring to the story, he stated that many of the people would be at home when the boys left and would be there when they returned, and when they returned they would ask the people at home what they had done for the country, and he hoped that the people could reply that they did their best.

Mr. Marshall took his seat and his speech was loudly applauded. Arthur Esquite, president of the societies, outlined to the workers the plans that the committee had arranged for the campaign and announced that the city of Phoenix is to be divided into 12 districts, each district in charge of a chairman. In each district the chairman is to appoint community secretaries, who will call at all the homes in the territory assigned to them, accept pledges and distribute window cards and war savings literature. Justice Joseph Kibbey was called upon by the chairman and he reported to the workers the progress he had made as district chairman.

Mr. Esquite urges workers to volunteer their services to the chairman in their district. Following are the 12 districts, their boundaries and the chairman's selection: District 1—Charles E. Arnold, chairman, Noll building; boundaries, north of Washington street, west of Fifteenth avenue. District 2—L. L. Stewart, cashier Citizens State bank, north of Washington street, between Seventh and

HOLMES TO FACE MURDER CHARGE BY PEMBERTON

Brother of Men Killed by Southside Rancher Brings Criminal Action Against Slayer of His Relatives

J. T. Holmes, who shot and killed Oscar and William Pemberton at a south side ranch last Sunday, was made the defendant in a murder action brought on complaint of Henry Pemberton, a brother of the dead victims. Pemberton swore to the complaint in Justice De Souza's court, where Holmes was arraigned yesterday. His bond was placed at $5,000, which he furnished. He will be given his preliminary hearing at 10 o'clock Friday morning, June 21. He was not charged with the murder of Oscar Pemberton, and it is doubtful if this charge will be brought, in view of the fact that the coroner's jury returned a verdict of justifiable homicide in this case. It is said that Holmes first shot William Pemberton and, as his brother sought to avenge his death, Holmes turned his gun on him. As he fell he returned and fired once more at William, who died instantly.

The shooting occurred over quarrels relative to Pemberton's cattle trespassing on the Holmes place. Holmes shot a cow belonging to the Pembertons, and when they approached him after this act the tragedy took place. It is understood that the feeling is very intense over the affair and that the one who feels bitterest toward Holmes is Henry Pemberton, who swore to the complaint. It was he who, a few months ago, four months ago, Kenneth Folston on the desert months after officers had given up the search for the missing man.

Fifteenth avenues. District 3—Harry A. Diehl, Diehl Shoe company; from Washington to McKinley, between Seventh and Central avenues. District 4—V. O. Wallingford; north of McKinley, between Central and Seventh avenues. District 5—J. G. O'Malley, O'Malley Lumber company; north of Roosevelt, between Center and Fifth streets.

District 6—C. A. Stauffer, Arizona Republican; from Washington to Roosevelt, between Center and Fifth streets. District 7—E. P. Hewitt, Phoenix National bank; north of Roosevelt and east of Fifth street. District 8—W. B. Leecraft, McArthur Brothers; east of Fifth street, between Van Buren and Roosevelt.

District 9—Hon. J. H. Kibbey, Fleming building; south of Van Buren, east of Seventh street, and tract bounded by Van Buren, Seventh street, Washington and Fifth street. District 10—C. W. Cisney, 416 East Van Buren; south of Washington, between Center and Seventh street. District 11—C. D. Dorris, Dorris-Heyman Furniture company; south of Washington, between Central and Ninth avenues. District 12—Sam W. Proctor, corporate commission; south of Washington, west of Ninth avenue.

FLAG-DAY PROGRAM PLANNED BY UNION

The W. C. T. U. is planning a meeting for this afternoon which will be something of a departure from the usual Flag day program. At this time the service flag of the organization will be dedicated. By this it is meant that each mother or relative of boys in the nation's service, members of the W. C. T. U., is most cordially invited by the union to be present and attach to the flag a star for her boy. These stars will be furnished and ready. On this day there also will be much prominence given the work of the treasure and trinket fund which is in charge of Mrs. Thomas Bayeroff. Contributed articles for this branch of patriotic service will be gratefully received. Any desired information relative to this fund may be obtained by calling either 8413 or 2614. The officers and members extend a cordial invitation to the public to attend this meeting.

THREE SONS AT WAR MOURN FOR MOTHER

Mrs. Pauline M. Schlicher, mother of eight children, three of whom are in national service, died Tuesday evening at 9:25 o'clock after a brief illness. The funeral service took place yesterday afternoon with burial in Greenwood at 2:30 o'clock, the Rev. Mr. Farmer officiating. The three sons in national service are Arthur, Albert and Fred Schlicher. The children with their mother at the time of her death are Misses Lillian and Alice and the Messrs. Carl, Louis and Emil Schlicher. Louis Schlicher, Sr., husband of the decedent, was absent from the city at the time of his wife's death.

AIRPOST RECORD BROKEN IN STORM

(Republican A. P. Leased Wire) NEW YORK, June 12.—In a victorious race with a thunder storm, Lieutenant Culver today broke the airpost record between Philadelphia and New York. He left Philadelphia at 2:30 p. m. and arrived at Belmont Park 45 minutes later, flying at the rate of 147 miles an hour. At Trenton the flyer overtook a blundering storm moving in the same direction. Passing through it, he beat the rain into Belmont park half an hour.

BENTON DICK WILL SERVE AS PRIVATE

Not satisfied to wait for a commission, Benton Dick, local attorney has enlisted as a private. From Fort Slocum tells that Mr. Dick, many years past the draft and conscription laws and is eager to cross the seas to win the commission which was not far distant had he been content to remain at home and wait for it. A staunch patriot from the instant war was declared Dick was willing to go. With a large legal practice in local and California courts it was necessary for him to devote several months to arranging his affairs. He then went east and it is understood that a commission was in sight. Arranged by the late reports from France, Mr. Dick determined to join the army and declares that the proudest moment of his life was when he was accepted as a private in the regular army. It is understood that he will leave shortly for Camp Humphreys, Virginia, where he will receive his training.
