23 INDUSTRIAL WEEK COMMITTEES ASSIGNED DUTIES BY DIRECTORS

More details for the first Industrial Week to be staged in Phoenix were worked out by directors at a special meeting in the chamber of commerce yesterday when duties for the 23 committees were assigned. Enthusiasm for this ambitious event is growing steadily and those named on the various committees are showing an eagerness to get to work. Merchants of the city are realizing what this movement means and are getting behind it with their full support.

It was suggested in the meeting of directors yesterday that merchants could assist greatly in bringing people here from all parts of the state by arranging to make sufficient refunds on purchases of goods by those from out of the city to repay the railroad fare. This plan is being worked out by the refund committee and promises to be a very important drawing card for the week.

While the main event of the week will be the industrial exposition there will be many other features to attract people whose interests are devoted more to other things. At present seven exhibits have been planned. These include in addition to the industrial, the auto, citrus, flower, agricultural, poultry and livestock. To this list will be added, probably, a mining congress and a dog show. The directors are ready to receive suggestions along this line and will give careful consideration to any plans outlined which are practical.

In order that all visitors will be able to find easily the various points of interest, a reception committee has been appointed to make necessary arrangements. This committee will also make suggestions for coordinating the different events during the week so that there will be an even distribution of affairs for the visitors to attend.

City Manager Avery Thompson and City Engineer L. B. Hitchcock will be assisted by H. L. Allen in working out a general decorative scheme for the city and for furnishing adequate illumination.

Members of the accommodations committee will arrange with the hotels, rooming houses and eating places to maintain normal rates throughout the week and will assist in directing visitors to places where they need to be clean and comfortable and the food good.

To Have Lecture Series
A series of lectures covering a broad range of subjects will be arranged for by the lectures committee. Members of this committee will co-operate with committees having charge of the agricultural, poultry, livestock and other exhibits in order that a suitable time and place for each lecture may be arranged.

Afloat in decorated automobiles and other features of the big Industrial Week parade will be under the direct supervision of the parade committee. The arrangements committee will bring to the city for this event the best talent available including a big band, free outdoor acts and jockey stunts.

Prizes for the various events and judges to make the awards will be selected by the awards committee. It is intended to have the prizes of such a character as will attract the best entries the state has to offer.

Although each committee is urged to exercise the utmost economy, the warning is also given against stinting on expenditures necessary for the success of the week.

NOTES FROM CLASS AND CAMPUS OF PHOENIX UNION HIGH SCHOOL

Today all the cadets will march into assembly after roll call. Governor Campbell will address them on the subject "Resources of Arizona." The second battalion will take their regular places upstairs, and cadet officers must remain with their men.

Officers' school of the second battalion is to be held today at 8 a. m. Many boys are doing well in military training, having received promotions. The following is a list of the promotions this week: Sergeant Millage is appointed acting second lieutenant and cadet athletic officer to assist Lieutenant Robinson; Sergeant Elton Cook is transferred from Platoon 5 to Platoon 1 as platoon sergeant; Sergeant Cecil Cook is transferred from Platoon 2 to Platoon 6 as sergeant; Sergeant Barton Thacker is transferred to first platoon as left guide.

C. L. Michael, principal of the night school at Phoenix high, announced yesterday that the school will start Monday, October 10th, at 8 p. m. Every one is required to register that night in the auditorium. Any high school subject can be taken and any other subject for which there is sufficient demand will be taught. There will be 15 teachers on the staff and it is expected that 500 students will attend. School will be held in the old building Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 8 to 10 p. m. Today at 9 o'clock in the lobby of the Y. M. C. A. seats may be reserved for the H-Y lecture course. The students and the faculty tickets for the balcony will be reserved Wednesday after school, at 4 o'clock. These reserved seats for the entire season will hold good only until 8:10 p. m. of the date of each number.

The H-Y lecture course is becoming very popular among the high school students and for this reason the management has been able to secure higher grade talent this season. The courses this year are considered the best that have ever been brought to Phoenix.

Jesus Christ, is a real and living fact in this world of ours. There is no deep satisfaction in life without faith in God and faith in man. And to this of necessity follows the belief in the continuity of all life. There is a world to come to which the life here reveals. It is only the outer gate looking earthward, often times forbidding and dark, but looking heavenward, crowned with the golden sunshine of Christ's eternal presence, where the crooked things will be straightened out, the unjust things righted, and sin and sorrow shall forever flee away, and truth and joy shall be eternally triumphant.

Therefore, my friends, listen to the counsel of Paul, the apostle, to the church, the Philippi, "Rejoice in the Lord always and again I say, Rejoice." Day by day, be glad if the sun shines, rejoice in its warm light, even though you are in the shadow of that may come on the morrow. Unless we gather the sunshine of the present, we will never learn the true philosophy of life, which is not to live in the past and regret what is gone, any more than it is to look with longing eyes ever into the future, and so become dissatisfied and restless, and fail to enjoy the present, which alone belongs to us. The spirit of hope and expectation is right and true, but I am more and more convinced that if we fail to grasp the bright blessings, to pick the simple flowers, which even now may be crushed by our feet as we walk along the narrow pathway of our lives, we shall never find them growing with the same freshness and beauty again.

"Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof" are the words of Christ himself. But all his life and teaching and all the experience of those who have sought to follow in his course, have taught us the parallel truth, that "Sufficient unto the day is the good thereof."

KING GETS HUNGRY AT NIGHT

One day, so the story goes, a member of the royal household of Madrid heard noises below. He rose and went downstairs. "It must be the cat," he thought, though as a rule the cat was not permitted to wander about the palace at its discretion. They must have forgotten to lock it up. Suppose it should wake the king!"

Pearful thought! Conceive the royal anger! The official hurried on through the dark passages and at last tracked the sound to the pantry. "Aha—now I've got you!" he whispered, as he opened the door—and beheld the king of Spain rummaging around for food.

If the above story is not true, it is at least founded on fact, for the king of Spain sometimes feels hungry in the middle of the night, and when the pangs become poignant he seeks royal joints as you or I would seek the humbler biscuit. Going into the royal pantry he will tear off the leg of a cold fowl or quietly carve himself a slice of cold meat.

"We never know," said an official, the other day, doubtless the official who figures in the story, whether it is the cat or the king!—Answers, London.

DIAGNOSING THE CASE
From the Birmingham Age-Herald. "My poet is as good as anything Byron ever wrote."

"Yes, yes," said the editor, soothingly. "Have you been this way long?"

"What do you mean?"

"I just want to know if you are suffering from an ordinary disorder or a chronic complaint."

SLAIN MAN WIDELY KNOWN IN ARIZONA

George Morris, reported in an Associated Press dispatch carried by The Republican yesterday morning as having been killed in El Paso Sunday, is well and favorably known throughout the state. For many years he had made his home in Prescott until taking over the management of the Gila Sulphide Copper company's interests at Christmas, Ariz.

George Morris was in his thirties and unmarried. He represented Yavapai county in the state legislature here about 10 years ago and later became secretary to Frank Murphy, railroad man, newspaper publisher and mine owner. He spent much time in Phoenix and had a large number of friends here.

PAY STATE $2,000 INHERITANCE TAX

Arizona has collected $2,078.10 in inheritance tax from the estate of Mrs. Elizabeth E. Kirkland, former territorial treasurer, who died in Phoenix September 25, 1920. The amount represents the total inheritance tax on the estate valued at approximately $66,000, less the 5 per cent reduction granted by the inheritance tax provision for payment within a period of one year.

Sums of $5,000 were bequeathed by the deceased to several friends in Phoenix, according to the terms of the will. Disposition of the estate was provided for in this document as follows:

To William E. Simpson, a friend, $5,000; to Sims Ely, Jr., a friend, $5,000; to the Christian Science church, $5,000; to Bertha Kirkland, a niece of Mr. Kirkland, $5,000; to Morton C. Waelder, a nephew of Mr. Kirkland, $5,000; to Linnie J. Confort, a sister, $5,000 in Liberty bonds and $5,000 and the residue of the estate, amounting to $29,449.32, to Jake E. Kirkland, a brother-in-law.

The total value of the estate was fixed at $65,949.32.
