

DISABLED VETERANS TO BE REMEMBERED FORGET-ME-NOT DAY

As Saturday, December 17, the date designated as "Forget-Me-Not Day" by statewide proclamation of Governor Campbell, draws near, the people of this district are awakening more and more to the significance of the occasion and are offering all the assistance they can to the Disabled Veterans of the World War to help them in the tag day drive to be made on that date.

Christmas is drawing near, the cold climate of the eastern states where many a disabled man spent the happiest days of his life at home is now too severe on his already weakened frame, due to the ravages of tuberculosis. Consequently he is forced to seek this genial climate, away from home, friends and almost every one dear to him. These men are all our "buddies." They fought and went through a living hell side by side with us for our country and home. Now we have a chance to show our appreciation for what they have done for us. So on next Saturday, December 17, we will show them that the people of Phoenix will never forget them. They cannot believe that the nation is grateful if they are allowed to go forgotten. On that date let everyone give his mite, no matter how small, so that when the shadows of night begin to fall around us, wherever we may look, we can see a tag on everyone. Then we can proudly say: "Phoenix has not forgotten the men who went through for us; we have come through."

TWO PLEAD GUILTY IN FEDERAL COURT

Before leaving for Tucson Monday night, Judge William H. Sawtelle of the United States district court arraigned several prisoners and sentenced two who pleaded guilty. Ramon Montez was arraigned on a charge of violating the national prohibition law, and pleaded not guilty. Gabriel Ponca was fined $100 on each of two counts of an indictment charging violation of the same law. The counts specified the manufacture and possession of a still. Martin Urena pleaded guilty to a charge of possessing liquor illegally and was fined $100 and not guilty to a charge of selling it. Several cases involving infringements of the liquor laws were dismissed.

SEEKING HOMES FOR TWELVE CHILDREN

Homes for 12 children are being sought by the Arizona Children's Home at Tucson, which has on its hands more friendless kiddies than it can care for. D. L. Field, the superintendent, reports the home has for adoption two American boys 12 years old, two 10 years old, and one of eight; two American girls, respectively 9 and 10; two Mexican boys, one 6 years old and the other 9, and three Mexican girls, 11, 13 and 14. All are bright and healthy children. Mr. Reid will be in Phoenix this week on business for the home and will visit anyone who desires to adopt a homeless child or who wishes to know anything concerning the home. Appointments with him may be made through The Republican. His address in Tucson is 1209 East Seventh street.

Science in making such amazing discoveries that even the most absurd hoaxes are looked into seriously before being labeled "spurious." Captain Walter E. Traprock writes a book, "The Cruise of the Kawa." It tells of a strange "fata livra" bird on the South Sea islands that lays square eggs. National Geographic Society officials think Cap may be kidding. But they're much excited and will investigate.

COAST RAISIN MEN INSPECT VALLEY GRAPE INDUSTRY

With a view of ascertaining the possibilities of grape culture on an extensive scale in the Salt River valley, Wylie M. Giffen and Hector Burness, directors of the California Raisin Growers' association, have been making trips of inspection in this section during the past two days. They are accompanied by F. H. Wilson, president of the California Peach Growers' association. The party will leave Phoenix this morning for a visit to the Grand Canyon before returning to their homes in Fresno, Cal.

"I have heard a great deal concerning the possibilities of raisin culture in this section of Arizona, and have had numerous requests from this section for information concerning methods employed in California. We are here to look the situation over but not to make any investment," said Mr. Giffen. "It is impossible to form any definite opinion on this matter from so brief an inspection as we have had time to make at this time and the season is not favorable to such a study, but from general indications it is very possible that raisin growing in this valley will pay. The vineyards we have seen are young and not bearing, but they show that vines will grow rapidly in this country."

Although not ready to pass judgment on the raisin possibilities here until after the expert has made a report next summer, Mr. Giffen was enthusiastic over the valley in general. "Judging from the soil, climate and irrigation system, you can produce any number of crops in this valley," he declared. "This is certainly not a one-crop country."

Briefly reviewing the raisin situation in California, Mr. Giffen said that during the past three years production has averaged about 180,000 tons a year and that within another five or six years the production will be about half a million tons a year. Although for a few months the raisin market was quiet, it is now becoming active, he said, and the crop is moving at a very satisfactory rate.

THREE HURT WHEN CAR TURNS OVER

John Clark, 21, 1029 East Willetta street, was injured and Bonnie Jones and Clarice Jones sustained minor bruises Monday night when a Ford touring car in which they were riding overturned on South Center street near Apache street, after it had collided with the fender of a Dodge car. The Ford car turned over two times, according to witnesses, before it came to a stop against a telephone post. The three occupants of the car were thrown from the car. The accident occurred about 8 o'clock and the driver of the Dodge car, whose name is not known by officers, picked up the injured and took them to St. Joseph's hospital. One of the girls sustained a bruised shoulder and the other a sprained wrist. Clark was severely bruised, but according to hospital attaches is not seriously injured. The accident was not reported to either the sheriff's office or the police station. The Ford car was owned by Walter McIlwraith of Kansas, who lives with the Clark family here.

Seventy million men were mobilized during the war.

THE HIGH COST OF CHILDREN

Part of my job is reducing the high cost of children. To the provider who has to keep an active family in shoe leather, my cobbling service is a real godsend.

Children like to play, and naturally they wear out their shoes, but my shoe repair service makes their shoes wear many months longer than they otherwise would, and my charges are notoriously moderate.
