

Daily Commercial.

JENKINS &amp; ATKINSON.

WILMINGTON, DEL., THURSDAY, JUNE 20, 1872.

The Commercial at the Summer Resorts.

Those of our citizens who are about to leave for a summer resort, can have the Commercial forwarded to them, at a cost of five cents per week. If we pay postage, that, of course, will be additional.

To Travelers and Others.

Manufacturers and Retail Dealers are obliged by the laws of Delaware to have a State License to transact business. As these laws are but recently enacted they are not familiar to our citizens, and many persons find it a matter of some trouble to ascertain how to make out their return to the Clerk of the Peace. The Publishers of the Commercial Almanac and Year Book, for 1872, anticipating this difficulty, inserted in that work a compendium of the new License Law, which was prepared, especially for it, by Attorney General L. C. Tappan, and will find their way to the hands of all our citizens, and will be found quite useful at this time and thoroughly reliable. The Almanac and Year Book contains also complete statistics relative to the State of Delaware, a large number of household receipts of practical value, and much other information of use to the citizen. We have a few copies left; price 20 cents.

Continuation of the Story, on our third page.

Prospect ahead—clear weather and light winds.

Fath &amp; Gavazzi's Lecture.

This evening, at the Masonic Temple, the much-talked-of lecture by Fath &amp; Gavazzi, the orator and evangelist, will be delivered. His subject, "Italy, Civil and Religious," will be treated, up to a point, in a very able manner. The interest in him and his labors is very strong among our Protestant people, and there will be, no doubt, a large and intelligent audience.

Widening Water Street.

President Hinckley, of the P. &amp; W. R. R., has written a second letter to C. F. Feltner, Esq., Chairman of the Special Committee of Council, to which has been entrusted the proposed widening of Water street, explanatory of the first letter and defining the propositions therein contained, which letter has been printed for the use of the members of Council. It contains an additional proposition, not contained in the first letter, but once before made to the President of the W. &amp; R. R. Co., viz: To provide for the W. &amp; R. R. Co. freight house facilities for all of the Wilmington business of that Co., excepting one portion thereof, as the Co. may select, to be delivered by the railroad to its customers in other parts of the city, subject to the same terms as is provided for the delivery of all freight in the Eastern part of the city.

GENERAL.

Arizona Life—1200 Miles on State-Black.

AN INDIAN REPRESENTATION IN HIS ROUNDS—TUESDAY TO THURSDAY.

TUCSON, ARIZONA, March 31, 1872.

Leaving Yuma, two weeks ago, we arrived here, yesterday.

On the fifth day of our ride we visited, a short distance off the road, the "Aqua Caliente" springs, noted for their curative effect on constitutional diseases. The temperature of the largest is 112 degrees, and it is very refreshing. Other flow, a few feet from it, quite cool. The next day, we crossed Opatum Flat, so called from the number of Opatum family several years since, by Indians. The two daughters were taken prisoners; one died and the other was taken to the Mojaves, who had her until a few years ago, who having strongly objected to leaving them.

A few miles beyond are the "Pietra Verde" hills, consisting of a pile of large granite boulders, about sixty feet high, and spread over an area of about 100 acres. They are evidently placed there by human hands. Their surface is covered with peculiar characters, cut into the stone about the size of a man's head, and have never been deciphered, and would form a most interesting study for the Archaeologist, were it not for the fact that the Mojaves, who range through there. No doubt they would give, if correctly read, some record of the races who people the desert part of our country, years ago.

On the sixth day we came in sight of the first cultivated land since starting. A fine crop of corn, on a good plain, evidently placed there by human hands. We spent the night at a place called "Pietra Verde," where a large tract of land, and will supply a large tract of land.

The remarkable profile of Montezuma, was distinctly seen on a spur of Maricopa Mountain. Its sharpness of outline is wonderful, and its expression of calm repose on the upturned face, gives an impression that he is looking at his people, his people's ruin. The Indians on the plain worship it, believing his spirit dwells there.

The seventh day brought us to the Pima, where we were met by the Pima Indians, who are a very interesting race. They are an industrious tribe, living solely by agriculture, but the crops are not good, as they have no manure, and the soil is very poor. They are a very interesting race, and we spent the night at a place called "Pietra Verde," where a large tract of land, and will supply a large tract of land.

The Indians on the plain worship it, believing his spirit dwells there.

The seventh day brought us to the Pima, where we were met by the Pima Indians, who are a very interesting race. They are an industrious tribe, living solely by agriculture, but the crops are not good, as they have no manure, and the soil is very poor. They are a very interesting race, and we spent the night at a place called "Pietra Verde," where a large tract of land, and will supply a large tract of land.

The remarkable profile of Montezuma, was distinctly seen on a spur of Maricopa Mountain. Its sharpness of outline is wonderful, and its expression of calm repose on the upturned face, gives an impression that he is looking at his people, his people's ruin. The Indians on the plain worship it, believing his spirit dwells there.
