Death of a Miner at Madrid.
Information reaches the New Mexican that on Friday evening last, in the coal mines at Madrid, an Italian miner, Battista Decadere by name, was killed while at work in a coal chamber, by the falling of a rock from the roof of the chamber, crushing him to death. Decadere and another man were working the former outside of the chamber, leading coal. The man inside complained of a pain in his back and the two agreed to change places. Decadere entered the coal chamber, fired off a couple of blasts, the rock falling upon him after the second blast and causing his death.

BREVITIES CULLED FROM OUR EXCHANGES.

PRESCOTT.

George L. Grosvenor, the leading architect of Phoenix, Arizona, is visiting Prescott. He has just returned from photographing Chaco Canyon Park.

A private telegram received in Prescott announced the death in Wichita, Kan., Monday morning, of Miss Agnes Lynch, sister of Mrs. R. B. Coleman.

Col. Frank Hatch, a well-known Arizona man, is visiting Prescott. He received an ugly cut in his hand a few nights since by the explosion of a bottle of soda water which he was opening.

The announcement of the marriage of E. J. P. Horn and Miss Margaret H. Brannen at Champaign, Ill., on Wednesday, February 16, has been received. At home after March 23, at Prescott, Arizona.

M. A. Lawler and family have moved into Prescott from Skull Valley. Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Davis, of Bloomington, Ill., father and mother of Mrs. Lewis G. Stevenson arrived in Prescott for a visit to their daughter. Mr. Davis is the editor and proprietor of the Bloomington Telegraph.

FLAGSTAFF.

From the Sun.
Baird Brothers shipped 300 head of cattle from Angell to Kansas this week.

K. L. Clancy and Miss Mary Vereluden were married in St. Marys, Kan., on the 14th instant. The happy couple arrived here and will make their home in Flagstaff.

C. W. Davis, the agent of the Santa Fe Pacific railroad at this place, returned from a sixty days' vacation in Chicago and vicinity. He will probably resume his duties here in a few days.

Gwynne Lewis, a member of the firm of Leonard, Hoode & Co. of Chicago and New York is in town. Mr. Lewis says that work is progressing on the copper properties in the Grand Canyon and that the company he represents will build a railroad from Williams to their copper mines this year.

PHOENIX.

The firemen of Phoenix propose to give a ball on the evening of St. Patrick's day, March 17.

Deputy Sheriff Pete Bohue, of Congress, returned to that place, having in custody an individual arrested for horse stealing.

The marriage of Edgar W. Wilson, a member of the Phoenix Grocery company, and Miss Flora Idell of Brown county, Kansas, was consummated at Prescott.

Shepherd George Ruffner of Yavapai county came in with another man destined for the asylum. Sheriff Huffer has been bringing down three a week for several months.

Robert Stover, a well-known farmer living a mile west of Alhambra, has rented his ranch, fixed up his affairs, and proposes to leave in a few days for the gold fields of the Klondike.

Charley Sam, about 19 years old, half Mexican and half Chinaman, was fined $5 in police court for frequenting saloons. Sam served a term recently in jail at Prescott, and left Congress mining camp at the solicitation of the authorities.

Articles of incorporation of the Norman Mining and Milling company, of San Francisco, Cal., were filed with the territorial secretary. The articles place the capital stock at $100,000, but truthfully acknowledge that $50,000 only has been paid in cash. The incorporators are Anson Hilton, H. L. Wilson, A. J. Kennedy, W. T. Egan and Samuel McCall.

Dr. Hardy returned from a flying trip to Los Angeles, where he bought orange trees to plant on his property northeast of Phoenix. He already has twenty acres in bearing condition, but will plant ten acres more. Orange trees, he says, are hard to get, but he secured 1,100 for his purpose.

A deed transferring from W. F. Matthews to Joseph Monibon the ownership of about 400 head of horses and cattle, with the right to use certain brands and marks, and all the buildings, corals, improvements and water privileges on the range, situated about 25 miles north of Fort McDowell, on the Verde river, was filed in the county recorder's office. The consideration named is $5,125.

Frank L. Howard, formerly of Chicago, came to Phoenix last November with a view of securing better health and to provide a place where invalids may be comfortably cared for in this land of sunshine. He purchased a ten-acre tract six miles north of Phoenix on Cave creek road by the foothills, and has begun already to prepare what he terms "Howard's ranch, cottages and sanatorium by the foothills."

ARIZONA AT LARGE.

The Catholic fair at Bisbee, last week, was a decided success. It ran several evenings.

Ben Williams and party have returned to Bisbee from their inspection of the Narcosari mines.

Dr. Dutcher has filed his statement of births with the Yavapai county recorder, showing nine.

Charles Allen, of Mesa, who has been considered mentally unbalanced for some time, and who has had a mania for "going to Utah" of late, left his home and his whereabouts is unknown. A number of his friends have united in a search for him and were following his trail at last accounts.

There was an interesting foot race in East Tempe, not long since, between a couple of young ladies, to which there was an entertaining sequel Monday night. It seems that the gentlemen backers of the lady sprinters had wagered an oyster supper on the result, and the loser gave a royal spread of ten covers, at Barrowdale's cafe.

The work of laying the foundation for the new A. O. U. W. building at Tucson has progressed rapidly since the weather has permitted, and already approaches completion. On Tuesday the ceremony of corner stones laying was performed, when Hon. Frank H. Herford delivered an oration. The First Regiment band discoursed music.

Deputy Sheriff Pete Bohue, of Congress, came in to Phoenix on the trail of a man known as "Dick." The party in question was wanted for absconding with two horses left in his custody. After trailing around the valley the officer discovered the tracks of the missing animal and trailed them to Phoenix, where he found his man at the Five Points corral. He was placed under arrest and will be taken north.

A SAD AFFAIR.

Tragic Death of Charles Colton—Funeral Services at Flora Vista.
Early last Saturday morning a tele gram was received at Flora Vista announcing the death at Cripple Creek, Colo., of Charles Colton, a well-known citizen of this county, whose family resided at Flora Vista. Mr. Colton had been employed this winter as engineer in the famous Ancheria-Leland mine at Cripple Creek, and his death was the result of somebody's carelessness. The gate opening from the boiler room to the shafts was left open, and the room being full of steam, he walked through the opening and fell 120 feet to the bottom of the shaft.

News of the distressing affair was followed Sunday night by the arrival of the corpse, and on Monday funeral services were held at Flora Vista, Rev. Mr. Roger, of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, conducting the ceremony. There was a very large attendance of the friends and neighbors of the deceased, and many were the evidences of sincere sorrow manifested. The body was interred in Riverside cemetery, Farmington, where the mother also rests in peace.

Charles Colton was born in El Paso county, Colo., June 18, 1872. His mother was at one time prominent in educational work in Denver, serving one term as principal of the high school there. She afterward removed to this county, where she resided until her death. During her residence here she became the wife of D. J. Craig, of Farmington. Mr. Colton was married at Flora Vista, on October 27, 1902, to Miss Flora E. Sever. Two children, aged respectively 2 and 4 years, have blessed the union. Mr. Colton was a man of splendid character, and universally esteemed.

The wife and family have the heartfelt sympathy of all in their sad affliction. The deceased had a large number of friends in Cripple Creek, who were of great assistance to the relatives in caring for the corpse until its arrival at Durango—San Juan County, Idaho.

California Thieves' News.
Antonio Coss, of Red River, reached Los Angeles last Friday; he was carrying a bunch of six cows stolen from him last week.

A short examination led him to where the hides of his cows were hanging and where they were sold. The thieves are still at large and the law has not been vindicated. The poor people, who, at hard work, raise a few cows for their support, are suffering and the outlaws go without punishment.

The optic is asked if there is no way to protect the territorial stock raisers. Most all the legitimate claims are invariably turned over to the outlaws, and such severe penalties be attached to these crimes that it will be considered a too precarious enterprise even for the most daring thieves?

As Captain McLaughlin, Alex. Mahon, J. O. Robertson and J. J. Johnson were returning from Prescott to Agua Fria, July 29, 1905, they were attacked by a band of about one hundred Indians. They had to run a gauntlet of about a quarter of a mile, with the howling devils at their heels on either side. Mr. Mahon leaped from the wagon at the beginning of the fight and ran through on foot. Mr. Gibson received a severe flesh wound in the shoulder, and Mr. Robertson was shot in the wrist with an arrow. The next day the whole party were escorted back to Prescott by Messrs. Brown and Edgar.

From Post's ranch, where they had retreated in the night. The following evening, Li-mien-san Barr and Curtis, with a few men and a mountain howler, left the fort and the next morning scoured through the rock, but the Indians had gone.

On the 23d of July, 1905, Indians attacked a party, supposed to consist of three persons, with an ox team loaded with provisions, on the road from Weaver to Walnut Grove. The wagon was found in the road empty, two of the oxen had been slaughtered in the yoke, the others are supposed to have been driven away. Not known whether the party was murdered or not. On the same day, two soldiers of the mail escort stationed at Elie's ranch, named John Whitney and Stas C. Long, of Company I, 7th California Infantry, were murdered by Indians and their bodies horribly mutilated.—Prescott Courier.

THE STAR OF HOPE.

I had lost all hope and gone to my father's grave. I said Mrs. Mott. I gave birth to a girl a year ago, the 5th of June last. The child seemed to do very well for 8 or 9 days, and then I began to feel very bad. My feet began to swell, my stomach was all wrong and I seemed to suffer with everything. I was in bed for 3 months and three weeks and I could not get up. I had the best of doctors, but they did not seem to do any good. I was in bed for 3 months and three weeks and I could not get up. I had the best of doctors, but they did not seem to do any good. I was in bed for 3 months and three weeks and I could not get up. I had the best of doctors, but they did not seem to do any good.

Every one that saw me thought that I would never get well. I had palpitation and pain in the heart, terrible pain in my right side, and under the ribs. I had headaches all the time; a beating down the middle of my chest; a distressing feeling in my stomach all the time; and I could not stand. I had the best of doctors, but they did not seem to do any good. I was in bed for 3 months and three weeks and I could not get up. I had the best of doctors, but they did not seem to do any good.

I weighed more than I have weighed for ten years. My friends said that I looked better than they ever saw me. The first two bottles did me more good than all the medicine I had taken. My stomach has never hurt me since. I can eat anything I want and as much as I want. If you want to know more about this medicine, I am a living witness to its power. Write to me for a copy of my case.
