

THE HOTBED FOR YELLOW FEVER, NEW ORLEANS

ASSISTANT SURGEON FARRAR RICHARDSON RECEIVING REPORT FROM ASSISTANT SURGEON PERRY.

CHILDREN FROM AN INFECTED HOUSE IN ST. PHILIP-STREET ITALIAN QUARTER.

ROOKERY THAT HAD TO BE CLEARED OF DEAD AND DYING ITALIANS BEFORE IT COULD BE FUMIGATED.

BELIEVE GOVERNMENT HAS POISONED AIR TO GET RID OF ITALIANS

IGNORANCE ASSISTS FEVER IN CUTTING DOWN POPULATION OF NEW ORLEANS—FUNERALS ARE PUBLIC.

By J. H. Whyte.

Special Commissioner for the Citizen. New Orleans, Aug. 12.—Poverty has added its woes to the pitiful results of the fever scourge. That ignorance is its own punishment is verified by the conditions among the Italians. Those who have been stricken were principally of a class which does little other work than the unloading of banana steamships, can speak little but Italian, and distrusts anything and everything that is not of their race.

One Italian said yesterday to a Board of Health inspector that he believed the government had poisoned the air to get rid of the Italians. Such is their distrust that few will take medicine, and nearly all hide their disease until the last moment possible.

Because of this delay in seeking medical assistance, the great number of deaths has resulted. The fever is easily cured by present methods, if the case is treated early enough.

The old German remedy for fevers, which has been handed down from generation to generation for scores of years, is practically the treatment being given by the physicians. The first symptoms of the disease are a severe, splitting headache, followed by a chill. There is only one chill. If there are more it is not yellow fever. The patient is given a hot mustard foot bath, a strong purgative, and put to bed under heavy blankets to perspire. Cooling cloths are applied to head and chest and ice kept in the mouth to prevent nausea. The bowels and kidneys must be kept open, little food except milk given, and there you are.

The fever rises steadily for three days. If it continues to rise thereafter the patient is as good as dead. If it breaks the result is a speedy recovery.

Pathetic scenes are manifold in the Italian quarter. Food and raiment, with other necessities, are being supplied the poverty stricken by the Italian societies and other organizations. In some families three or more members have died. Many cases have been reported as fever and as dead within an hour after discovery. But in that short time the other members of the family are scattered to other parts of the city, to stay in hiding with friends and relatives.

In scores of Catholic churches special masses and novenas are being said daily, asking the intercession of saints in this visitation. For the Italians look upon this as a visitation of Providence, a wreaking of vengeance for some great wrong of the past. In the past, funerals of yellow fever patients were held at night. The body was placed in a box, carted to a cemetery and lowered into the waiting hole, to be quickly covered with lime and then with earth. Today no restrictions are ordered. The entire town might attend a funeral, if it so desires, irrespective as to the cause of death. No fear exists of infection except through the mosquitoes.

The quarantines have caused the greatest trouble. Only 1 per cent of the population has been ill of fever, and one-fifth of that has died. There is absolutely no sign of panic or scare in this city, and contrary to all reports, trains are not crowded with refugees. In three weeks the railroad people report that they have carried out less people than in the same time in any previous summer.

Mississippi is the worst offender in the quarantine matter, but some sections of Louisiana are almost as bad. Shotgun quarantines have been publicly proclaimed by quite a number of small towns in both states, and even Baton Rouge, the capital of Louisiana, has armed guards on trains and dirt roads, to prevent people from entering the town. Many of the towns have refused to accept mail from the infected places unless it was fumigated, and as the government has accepted the mosquito theory in its entirety, no mail will be fumigated in this or any other city. This decision is final.

MARVIN HART CHOPPING HIS WINTER'S WOOD ON HIS FARM NEAR LOUISVILLE.

THE LOUISVILLE HEAVYWEIGHT ON HORSEBACK AT LA KENTUCKY PLANTER.

"YOU'VE GOT TO SHOW ME," SAYS MARVIN HART TO CHALLENGERS

LOUISVILLE HEAVYWEIGHT WILL MEET ANYONE WHO CAN FIGHT HIM—FIGHTS BECAUSE IT BRINGS BIG MONEY—LIVES ON A FARM DURING OFF SEASON.

By Robt. McKay.
(Written especially for The Citizen.)
Louisville, Ky., Aug. 12.—"I may be champion, and again, I may not be. The question does not bother me half as much as it appears to bother some of the fight critics, who, as a rule, are self-constituted.

"They can fight it out between them, and in the meantime I shall take on all comers who think they are better than the man Jeffries proclaimed champion July 3d at Reno."

This is Marvin Hart's answer to those who ask him about the heavyweight title. Hart is the least concerned, apparently, over the fuss which has been raised regarding his right to claim the honors which have been Jeff's. He thinks the title may bring him some extra dollars and extra case notes mean extra acres for his farm.

He is several years under 30. He was a plumber; is now a farmer. In addition to the cares of a family, he is the sole support of his widowed mother. He broke into the fight game when Bob Gray and the Louisville Athletic Club flourished, several years ago.

Beginning as a preliminary scrapper Marvin won a place in the finals, and became the best local drawing card. At first Louisville sports generally bet against Hart, and it is said that more Louisville money has been lost betting against Marvin than has ever been won on him. Sheer merit finally compelled the local wise ones to switch and back the ex-plumber. Hart is fairly well educated, has considerable polish and is naturally a fluent conversationalist. He dresses neatly and is quiet in manner. He possesses a magnetic personality. His manner is sincere and courteous. His farm, fifteen miles from Louisville, is open to all.

As a Farmer.
Hart remains on his farm day after day, seldom coming to Louisville, except on business. At home Hart works like a hired man. He is nowadays engaged in splitting and sawing the winter's wood supply. He spends an equal time riding cross country on his favorite saddle, often accompanied by his wife, who rides as if born on horseback.

A side light was thrown upon Marvin Hart's domestic instinct upon his arrival in Louisville after the Reno affair. His wife was waiting for him at the home of a friend, and Hart's first act, after greeting her, was to lay three 1,000 bills in her lap.

In some respects Hart is the most admirable man who has ever claimed the heavyweight championship. He has none of the dissipations of Sullivan, is more polished than Fitzsimmons and has none of the mannerisms of Corbett. While admittedly not the fighter Jeffries is, he belongs to a class which admits of more frequent championships than when the "West-erna Grizzly" was on the throne.

Money Talks.
Hart said to me: "I am ready to meet any man in the world, and go the limit. Of course Jeffries has retired. I will fight Fitzsimmons, Schrock, Rubin, or any of the others. Money, however, must be posted. I don't propose to notice the challenge of every Tom, Dick and Harry.

"I'll give Root a return match and beat him inside of ten rounds. I will also meet the winner of the Rubin-McCormick fight, although I fail to see where McCormick has any class.

"I'm in the boxing game, not because I love it, but because I can earn more money than at any other business. So the oftener they bring me a fight the better I will like it.

"Then, when some man comes around and whips me good and hard I'll settle down on the farm and enjoy the money I have earned through the medium of hard knocks."

WAY TO TREAT HAY FEVER

NO STOMACH DOSING, JUST BREATHE HYOMEL—STOPS SNEEZING AND SMARTING.

It is claimed for this remedy that it stops the spasmodic paroxysms, the sneezing, the smarting and running of the eyes and nose, and other acute symptoms of this disease.

Many persons have been cured of hay fever by Hyomel, and the discoverer of the remedy both the occurrence of the annual attack and to stop the progress of the disease, even in the most chronic forms. J. H. O'Reilly & Co., offer to refund the money if Hyomel does not do all that is claimed for it, is the strongest proof that can be given as to the confidence they have in Hyomel's power to cure hay fever. The complete outfit costs but $1, for 50 cents.

A Touching Story
Is the saving from death of the baby girl of Geo. A. Eyer, Cumberland, Md. He writes: "At the age of 11 months our little girl was in declining health, with serious throat trouble, and two physicians gave her up. We were almost in despair, when we resolved to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. The first bottle gave relief; after taking four bottles she was cured and is now in perfect health. Never fails to relieve and cure a cough or cold. At all dealers; 50c and $1. Guaranteed. Trial bottle free."

Fiendish Suffering.
Is often caused by sores, ulcers and cancers that eat away your skin. Wm. Be-dell, of Flat Rock, Mich., says: "I have used Buckle's Arnica Salve for Ulcers, Sores and Cancers. It is the best healing dressing I ever found." 25c and 50c. Sold by all druggists; guaranteed.

A little forethought may save you no end of trouble. Any one who makes it a rule to keep Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy at hand knows this to be a fact. For sale by all dealers.

WEAK HEART'S

are caused by indigestion. If you eat a little too much, or if you are subject to attacks of indigestion, you have no doubt had shortness of breath, rapid heart beats, heartburn or palpitation of the heart.

Indigestion causes the stomach to expand—swell, and puff up against the heart. This crowds the heart and interferes with its action, and in the course of time the heart becomes diseased.

Kodol

After eating, my food would distress me by making my heart palpitate and I would become very weak. Finally I got a bottle of Kodol and it gave me immediate relief. After using a few bottles I am cured.
