CITIZENS COMPLAIN ABOUT NEW HOUSE NUMBERING

M. P. SAWTELLE, WITH OTHERS, REGISTERS A KICK AGAINST MAN WHO HAS THE CONTRACT.

Again complaints are coming into this office relative to the methods being employed by the gentleman who recently secured the contract from the city council for the renumbering of the houses. Complainants say that to begin with, he is numbering the houses wrong. For instance, on the side of the street, the first house will be 100 and on the opposite side 101, whereas, the usual method employed heretofore has been to number the first house 101 on one side of the street and 102 on the opposite side.

M. P. Sawtelle, who resides at 1011 North First street, called at The Citizen office yesterday and stated that the man who is numbering the houses called at his house during his absence and despite the protest of his wife, changed the number on his house, and that the number he did put on did not fit with the other three, and that after putting the one new single number on he demanded twenty-five cents.

During the day Mr. Farrell, who is the gentleman who has the contract for renumbering the houses, called at this office and stated that he was doing his best to please everybody, and renumber the houses according to the terms of his contract, but he had only been out of the office a few moments when Mr. Sawtelle came in with the above complaint.

The Citizen is not a "knocker," and it may be that the gentleman is entitled to twenty-five cents per single number, but when so many complaints come in it would seem that there was something radically wrong somewhere.

OLD PROSPECTOR DEAD

ARTER FIFTY YEARS IN SEARCH OF WEALTH HE DIED PENNILESS AND ALONE.

After fifty years spent in the mountains in the fruitless search for wealth J. Pagan Taylor, a prospector, 87 years old, died Wednesday, in St. Vincent's hospital, Santa Fe, without money or friends. He was buried yesterday in Cedar Hill cemetery.

Little is known about the man. Like most of his kind, he was uncommunicative, particularly when the conversation turned upon his own affairs. He told the sisters who cared for him that he came to Santa Fe from Socorro county, about a year ago, being too old to work and having no one to care for him. He died without pain. Death resulted from advanced age.

CHASING A SUPPOSED HORSE THIEF.

A. M. Colbert, of Gray Creek, Colo., was in Raton in pursuit of a certain Monroe Kelly, who is believed to have stolen a horse belonging to Mr. Colbert, and two mules belonging to the Victor Fuel company, from Gray Creek, Sunday night, says the Raton Herald. Mr. Colbert has a good description of the man and property and with the aid of Sheriff Littrell expects to capture the thief, who is known to have crossed into New Mexico at some point between Raton and Clayton. Sheriff Littrell's well known ability in cases of this kind renders the capture of the man and the recovery of the property only a question of a few days. However, no trace of Kelly has been found since he crossed the New Mexico border.

RED

It's the Red Blood Corpuscles that Proper Food Makes.

A thin, thin woman says Grape-Nuts food gave her good red blood and restored the roses of youth to a complexion that had been muddy and blotchy. She says:

"For ten years I had stomach trouble which produced a breaking out on my face. The doctors gave it a long Latin name, but their medicines failed to cure it. Along with this I had frequent headaches, nervousness and always pain in my stomach after meals.

"I got disgusted with the drugs, stopped them and coffee off about, and that eating everything but fruit and Grape-Nuts, with Postum Food Coffee for my table beverage. The headaches, stomach troubles and nervous weakness disappeared almost like magic, which showed that when the cause was removed, and good food and drink used nature was ready to begin. My blood was purified and my complexion became like a young girl's, while my weight was increased from 90 to 120 pounds in a few months—good, solid, firm flesh, where it used to be soft and flabby.

"I recommended Grape-Nuts and Postum to my friend, Maud W., who was afflicted as I had been. She followed my advice and in a short time was restored to complete health and in about eight months her weight increased from 100 to 148 pounds.

"Our doctor, observing the effect of Grape-Nuts and Postum in our cases declared, the other day, that he would hereafter prescribe these food products for gastritis." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason. Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pink.

WANTED!

WOMEN FOR THE STAGE

THOSE WITH ARTISTIC TEMPERAMENTS PREFERRED

A Chicago woman leaves her home, husband and children to become a concert singer because her "artistic temperament" unites her for home life.

Well, when a woman gets on that track, she has got a first class ticket on a toboggan slide right to the devil. "Artistic temperament" until that same fellow suggested a fig leaf apron; and all the twaddle about "soul culture," "heart sympathy," and the "higher cult" are just frills to that same old fig leaf.

This woman saw no beauty in the face of a child; she heard no music in childish laughter; no chord vibrated to the magic of "mother," no atom of her being could respond to the love of an honest man—"artistic temperament" Bah! she had no more of the divine afflatus than the slug that crawls its slimy length over the perfect rose.

And she abandoned all this—for what?

Ask the slums—the divorce courts, the worse than motherless children—the outcast and pariah.

God knew what He was about when He made women to be mothers. The lowliest peasant who knows not how to spell her name, but cuddles her baby at her breast; the homeliest "tramp" who fits her plodding feet to those of the little ones tugging at her skirts; the woman who knows no "rights" but the rights of her children to clean souls in healthy bodies; the wife whose "sphere" is bounded on the north, south, east and west by her husband; these are as the pictured "Madonna" beside the posters of a third rate "variety star."

It is only a matter of choice whether God or the devil adds the "artistic" touches.

MAHARA'S MINSTRELS WILL APPEAR AT THE ELKS' OPERA HOUSE TOMORROW NIGHT

An exchange says with the exception of Dockstader no one has attempted to revive and impart the past glories of the poet laureate of the minstrel stage save Mahara Bros. Their minstrel entertainment is more than mislabeled. It is a universal exposition and is of historical value as Mahara Bros. have been engaged by Manager Matson to give one performance at the Elks' opera house on Saturday, December 16, and those who wish to witness the greatest performance of minstrelry ever given in Albuquerque, will act wisely in securing seats at Matson's. A big, modern, up to date minstrel first part of ten novel well as a source of clean, wholesome entertainment. Their reproduction of life in the old south by genuine colored men and women is realistic and vivid, an amusement classic. To see these sunny sons of Africa, it is hard to imagine they are only making believe, so heartily do they enter into the spirit of the fun. Both men and women work and act with all the spirit and abandon of the race. The specialties of high order, the spectacle of the outfit of the swells, a ragtime opera, trio quartets, sextets by male and female vocalists, charming choruses of old time negro melodies, medleys of talent, song successes, comedians of distinction, ludicrous comedy selections, single and ensemble, dancing numbers and a grand orchestra are the good things promised.

LOSS OF KINGDOM AGES THE MONARCH

KING OSCAR BEFORE AND AFTER NORWAY'S REVOLT.

Stockholm, Dec. 14. — King Oscar of Sweden, weakened in body and tortured in mind over the disruption of the dual Scandinavian kingdom, is preparing to end his days in retirement. He is expected to appoint Crown Prince Gustavus ruler of Sweden.

During the last few months Oscar has added in appearance ten years to his life. Before the revolt of Norway the king was regarded as the most marvellously preserved monarch in Europe, although 77 years old.

Today his age is indicated in his every movement and care and trouble have left strong marks on his features. He may live several years longer, but he must give all his time to the sole work of keeping himself alive.

Oscar is not under medical treatment nor are his physicians in attendance on him; he has been ordered simply to devote himself to recreation and to spend much of his time cruising on his yacht, the Drott.
