The New York Sun in a recent issue contains the following concerning a lady, well and favorably known in this territory: "There are no slow coaches among the women of Las Cruces, N. M. They about run the town. Four years ago the Woman's Improvement Society, of Las Cruces, was organized, with Mrs. Mary S. McEie as president. Although the town numbered 3,000 inhabitants there wasn't a horse in the place. The first thing that the women did was to buy one and let it for funerals at a moderate price. They didn't take any undue advantage of their patrons, but all the same the horse proved a paying investment. They have bought ground for a public park, fenced it and planted trees and shrubbery, and are now accumulating money to erect a town hall and public library building. 'Thus we expect to aid our husbands to improve and beautify our town, or probably I should say, do it for them,' said the president of the society in a recent interview.

The women raise funds for town improvement by giving entertainments, suppers and balls, and by purchasing refreshments for other entertainments. Mrs. McEie is known throughout New Mexico for her public spirit. She removed thither from St. Louis in 1884, and is the wife of John R. McEie, who is now one of the associate justices of the Supreme court of the territory."
