BEAUTIFUL FRUITS

Opening of the Second Annual Fair of the New Mexico Horticultural Society.

LARGE AND FINE EXHIBITS

Many Entries in the Different Classes—Addresses by Hon. L. B. Prince and Judge Henry L. Warren—Music for Tomorrow.

Bright and early this morning the scene at the large building on the government reservation used by the Horticultural society in holding the fair was one of activity.

For several days past the ladies of the decoration committee, aided by several gentlemen, had been at work preparing the interior of the building for the reception of the exhibits, and right well the work had been done. Overhead a ceiling of evergreen hides the rafters and beams from view, along the walls, wreaths and mottoes greet the eye, and on every hand appear evidences of the untiring efforts of the ladies and their assistants to prepare a fitting setting for the beautiful fruits to be displayed. Ranged along the sides of the large room, down the center and across the ends were tables and stands ready to receive the displays as they were brought in and classified.

By 8 o'clock wagons, carriages and buggies began to arrive with their loads of fruit to be shown to and gloated over by admiring crowds. Secretary Sena and his assistant, Mr. T. J. Curran, were soon up to their eyes looking after the entries and issuing the display cards.

The display tables were not long in blossoming and blooming into veritable pictures of loveliness with glowing colors, while the fruit filled the building with a fragrance that carried all back to the days of their childhood, when the orchards were the playgrounds and the floating, fleecy clouds of summer and autumn changed the world into fairyland as they were watched from the grass under the trees.

Fruit? Yes, Santa Fe fruit, apples, peaches, pears, apricots, nectarines, plums, prunes, quinces, grapes, of all sizes, colors, shapes and varieties, vegetables, monstrous cabbages, giant radishes, corn, sugar beets—why, the cards "hands off" placed on the tables are enough to exasperate the most mild tempered person alive.

In the southeast corner of the building, which has been reserved for the fine art display, the art lovers reign supreme and the talk of apples and peaches and cabbage passes by them unheeded. Beautiful embroidery, delicately traced and decorated china, pictures, silks painted and embroidered, fancy work have been used in the art department of the building into one of the most enticing and bewitching portions of the fair.

At noon today the following entries had been made in the different classes: Apples, 150; crab apples, 13; pears, 90; peaches, 40; plums, 75; apricots, 15; nectarines, 11; quinces, 12; grapes, 13; nuts, 15; miscellaneous (berries, cherries, etc.), 15; preserved and canned fruits, 40; art exhibit, 10, and many more were coming in. The display of evaporated apples, peaches and plums, made by the Santa Fe Fruit Company, which was a part of the first run made at the new evaporator, is attracting much attention and judging from the appearance of the fruit shown, the success of the new enterprise, if quality of output is to be considered, is assured.

Music for the fair was furnished by Miss Bertie Hurt, Miss McKenzie, Mrs. King, Miss Elsie Ifield, Miss Maud Keller, Miss Schormoyer, Sammie, Seldon, and Dovie Day, and Will Prince. The ladies reception committee, Mesdames M. A. Otero, Day, Toronton, Catron, Stetson, Tipton, Bales, Sloan, Bergere, Money, Hughes, Hinojos, Kilbourne, Misses Staab, Call, Hurt, Mandlerfeld, Palen, Moore, Crane, Ifield and Otero, were everywhere present, aiding in the work of arranging the displays, welcoming all comers, and in many ways adding to the interest and pleasure of the day.

At 3 o'clock this afternoon the formal opening of the fair took place. Hon. L. Bradford Prince delivered a brief introductory address, touching upon the objects of the Horticultural society, the benefits to be gained from the annual displays of the products of the orchards and gardens of the territory, and welcoming visitors to the fair. Judge Henry L. Warren, of Albuquerque, then delivered the opening address in a manner which pleased everyone who heard him. The opening day of the fair was a decided success, and now that everything connected therewith is running smoothly the people of Santa Fe anticipate much pleasure and profit from attending the fair tomorrow and next day.

On Friday afternoon the principal attraction at the fair, building will be the baby show. This display of New Mexico's choicest product will attract a large crowd, and the exhibition will be the crowning glory of the fair.

The special feature of the Horticultural fair tomorrow will be the music in the afternoon from 3:30 to 5 o'clock. The following persons have kindly consented to assist: Professor and Miss Schormoyer, Miss Hurt, Mr. Bergere, the Misses Gulliford, the children's orchestra, and the "Young Ladies Mandolin Club."

The ladies of the reception committee, who have been assigned for duty tomorrow, are: The Mesdames Prince, Wallace, Whitman, Laughlin, Flake, Knaebel, Madden, Ireland, Coleman, McFie, Read, W. L. ## THE EVAPORATOR.

A New and Valuable Local Industry Started in Successful Operation.

The evaporating plant of the Santa Fe Fruit company was started yesterday at the new factory near the Santa Fe depot, and at the present time of writing, indications point to a satisfactory and successful operation.

The need of such an industry has long been felt in this section, which has become so noted as a fruit producing country. As the output has increased, it has become more evident that something ought to be done to save such of the fruit crop as cannot be marketed or otherwise properly cared for. Las Cruces sensed the situation there, and started a successful canning factory; and preserving establishments are being organized in several other parts of the territory. So the business men in Santa Fe have long been looking for a similar establishing, and when this has been fully developed, a cider plant and later a canning department will be added.

A New Mexican reporter looked over the new factory yesterday. As yet only the evaporation is in operation, and batches of apples, nectarines and peaches are being dried, and several lots are being exhibited at the Horticultural fair. The main apparatus consists of a drying tower in which trays of fruit are kept in motion until dried by heat from below. The tower of the Santa Fe plant is of wood 6 feet 10 inches by 6 feet 6 inches, and 32 feet high. An endless chain on each side carries iron buckets from the bottom to the top of the tower and down again, and there is a furnace sunk in the ground beneath the tower which supplies the heat, the drying agent. There are 18 brackets each carrying five 18x48 inch trays, of heavy wire netting, so that the towers capacity is 90 trays.

The mechanism is kept in motion by a hand wheel in the outside; but eye and eye power can be substituted as desired. The tower will hold 130 bushels of apples and 300 baskets of peaches, and other fruits in proportion and the time set for evaporating is three hours. A barrel of burning sulphur at the base of the tower preserves the color of the fruit. The furnace consumes three quarters of a ton of coal per day. The apples are pared and cored by a machine which will handle 50 bushels per day, and slice the fruit also as desired. The work is in charge of Superintendent F. J. Gleason, of Ovid, Mich., who was brought here by the fruit company to superintend the home factory. Mr. Gleason is an experienced man and will make use here of the many economic and valuable methods of work developed by long continued operation in the state of Michigan. He evidently knows his business and is pushing things along as fast as he can. Connected with the evaporating apparatus is a warehouse 32x76 ft and 15 ft in the clear of corrugated iron walls and roof. This is now being completed. The present value of the building is $1,000 and the machinery $1,000, which will be of course increased as time goes on.

The need of additional plant to use up the by-products of the evaporator was evidenced today by the accumulating pile of apple cores and parings. These could with profit be made up into good cider; and as has been intimated in this article, such a plant will be forthcoming ere long to take care of this part of the business. The parties engaged in pushing this fruit scheme are all progressive, substantial citizens. The officers of the company are, president, Dr. W. S. Harroun; treasurer, S. G. Cartwright; secretary, J. D. Sena; other directors, Captain Day, ex-Governor Prince, Mrs. Rivenburg and Mrs. Gable.

Reception to Captain Luna. Last evening before Captain Luna left for the east to rejoin his regiment at Camp Wikoff, a reception was tendered him at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Bergere. The band turned out and rendered a lengthy serenade in honor of the gallant young officer, and a large number of the city called and paid their respect. The affair was entirely impromptu, as it had been intended to give an elaborate reception tonight, but the orders received by Captain Luna to report at once to his commanding officer changed all previous plans.

SUPREME COURT OPINIONS.

When Certain Items of Expense Jan Not Be Taxed as Costs—Statute of Limitations Against County Warrants.

In case No. 730. W. A. Givens, vs. appellee, vs. John D. W. Veeder, appellant, appeal from the District court of Bernalillo county, on motion to retax costs, the opinion handed down by Chief Justice Mills, and concurred in by the other members of the court it was ordered that the costs of the items complained of in the motion should not be taxed as costs. The court summed up the case as follows:

"Costs for printing manuscript of record on appeal to this court, are improperly taxed as costs when the amount in controversy does not exceed $1,000, such printing being purely voluntary and an unnecessary expense.

"The charges of a stenographer used by a master in chancery, in the absence of stipulation or agreement, cannot be taxed as costs; the court having ordered the master to take profits and it being presumed that the master's allowance was made to cover all such service."

Johnson & Finical and A. B. McMillen for appellee, Veeder & Veeder for appellant.

Judgment of Lower Court Affirmed. In case No. 757, Frank W. Gross, plaintiff in error, vs. Board of County Commissioners of Grant County, defendants in error, error to the District court of Grant county, an opinion was handed down by Associate Justice Crum-packer concurred in by the other members of the court, affirming the judgment of the lower court. This case was an action brought in the District court of Grant county on May 10, 1897, to recover the sum of $1,246.34 due on a county warrant issued by the board of county commissioners of Grant county. The defendant filed a demurrer to the lower court setting up the statute of limitations, which demurrer was sustained and the cause dismissed. The case was taken to the territorial Supreme court on a writ of error. In rendering the opinion the court said, "it appearing on the face of the declaration that nine years had elapsed between the date of the warrant and the commencement of this action with no allegation in explanation for the reason for the delay in instituting the action, the county properly pleaded the statute of limitations."

"From the pleadings in this cause we are therefore unable to say that the statute of limitations has not run against the warrant and the plaintiff having elected to stand upon the complaint we must affirm the judgment of the court below, and it is so ordered." The court in a syllabus of the case, also said:

"It is not error for the court below to sustain a demurrer, setting up the statute of limitations to a complaint declaring upon a county warrant where it appears that nearly nine years have elapsed between the date of the issuance of the warrant and the institution of the action, and there is no allegation in explanation of the reason for the long delay in presenting it for payment, and there is no offer to amend."

Chas. A. Spess and R. P. Barnes for the plaintiff in error, T. S. Heflin for the defendant in error.

A Grateful "Rough Rider." Governor Otero is in receipt of the following letter, which will be of interest to the people of Santa Fe:

Camp Wikoff, Aug. 31.—You must excuse the liberty I take in addressing you these few lines, but hearing that we will be mustered out in a few days and not having any intention of returning to New Mexico, I hasten to send you my sincere thanks for your kindness shown me and my comrades during our stay in Santa Fe. Also give my heartfelt thanks to the ladies of the Ladies' Soldiers' Aid Society, of which Mrs. Otero is a member. I am sure the boys have never forgotten them and their kindness. In case the country should have another war, count me in; I won't be far behind. I send a souvenir for Miguel, trusting that he will think of me sometimes.

A Reception for the "Rough Riders." Editor New Mexican. Having noticed through the territorial papers, that preparations are being made in every town and village in the territory for the reception of our volunteers, I think it is only proper that we should wake up and do our duty toward showing the appreciation we hold for the boys for their gallant services rendered to our country.

To that end, I suggest that the mayor call a meeting of the citizens, so that arrangements can be made for a proper demonstration in their behalf. Yours truly,
