WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 19.

FOR DELEGATE TO THE 56TH CONGRESS
PEDRO PEREA,
OF BERNALILLO.

Mr. Ferguson's Pretorian guards in Rio Arriba and Taos counties at three dollars per guard will not carry him through this time.

Delegate Ferguson is very much disposed to straddle the question of protection to American industries. But the straddle will not elect him.

The San Antonio Express wants congress to make Rear Admiral Dewey a full admiral, but then, it is understood that Dewey does not drink to excess. How can congress interfere?

The gentlemen who are collecting funds for the Democratic campaign say that they are meeting with success and are in receipt of lots of funds. Well, it is a very ill wind that blows no one any good.

Colonel Bryan is casting fearful glances in the direction of the War Department and would like the prospect of active service "a little bit." Making campaign speeches at $200 per speech is more lucrative, to be sure.

It will no longer be the proper thing to tell a person to "go to the ant" in order to learn ways of industry. Ants have been discovered to be dangerous insects. One bit a woman in the face, in Kansas, a short time ago, and she died of hydrophobia.

The size of the Republican majority in Santa Fe county depends mainly on the ticket nominated next week. A ticket composed of good, strong, honest men will receive a very large majority. The Republicans of this county should well consider this fact. It is a week before their nominating convention. Let the wisest and best counsel prevail.

It is reported that the Union party gang will put up $10,000 to carry San Miguel county next month. The gang wants an endorsement and a vindication, besides it desires to perpetuate its power for another two years. Of course it has the money to spend, as it has robbed the taxpayers blind. The question now arising is, can the voters of San Miguel county be bought up by the gang?

The Democratic papers of the territory are now trying to switch the shoe on to the other foot and are howling that they have made no race fight on Mr. Perea. But then the facts are against them. The milk in this cocoa nut is that they and the Democratic campaign bosses were caught at this dirty game. That's all there is to it. But the stigma remains and the harm has been done.

The indications point to the fact that the Republicans will have a fair working majority in the house of representatives of the Fifty-sixth congress. It will therefore be but good policy for the people of this territory to elect Hon. Pedro Perea as New Mexico's delegate to the Fifty-sixth congress. If elected, he will be in harmony with the dominating political party and will be doing the territory great good. He will do this if given the chance. The people of the territory will be but serving their own best interests by voting for Hon. Pedro Perea, a clean, honest, energetic man and experienced in legislative affairs.

The Democratic campaign bosses are in a quandary. The race issue will not work in their favor; the voters of New Mexico know that their assertions in favor of a protective tariff on the New Mexico products are a sham, a delusion and a snare; their assaults on the territorial administration are known to be false; there is not much interest taken in the financial question, and so it goes. All that is left them is a series of personal attacks on Mr. Perea. These are nauseating in the extreme, as Mr. Perea's record as a public servant during four sessions of the legislature fully disproves them. Even in their mendacity and desperation they dare not attack Mr. Perea's private character. They are in a bad boat and the boat will be wrecked on election day, next month.

The following from the Eddy Current is a sample of the kind of advice the Democratic papers of New Mexico are giving the voters:

"These people of Eddy county who were outspoken against Antonio Joseph because he was a Mexican, and especially those Republican friends of ours, should remember they have a choice between Pedro Perea, a full blooded Mexican, and Hon. Harvey R. Ferguson, the best delegate New Mexico ever had in congress. Every vote in Eddy county should go to Ferguson on the principle of the best man for the place."

Comment is not necessary. The item speaks for itself.

Puerto Rico, after four centuries of Spanish rule, is at last a territory of a free country. Old glory waved over the island yesterday for the first time, and many of the prominent officials have already taken steps to become full-fledged citizens of the United States. Cuba will be freed from Spanish oppression in a short time, but it will depend upon the inhabitants of that island what will be their relations to this country.

Mr. Pedro Perea made a first class record during the four sessions of the New Mexico legislative assembly as a careful, honest, economical and able legislator. Not a breath of scandal against him exists. He is now making a clean, energetic and thorough campaign as the candidate of the Republican party for delegate to the Fifty-sixth congress. He and his friends and supporters are not indulging in billingsgate and personal abuse and falsehoods as are the Democratic papers in the territory and the Democratic campaign bosses. The verdict of the people on November the 5th next will be in his favor and that of the Republican nominees in a majority of the counties and of the legislative district in the territory.

The Democrats, when in power, passed a tariff reform bill and were compelled to borrow money in order to pay the running expenses of the government. That is the Democratic idea of tariff and management of the business affairs of the country. The Republicans passed the Dingley tariff law, restored prosperity, conducted a year and to date, borrowed less money than the Democrats did in times of peace, and have the largest surplus in the treasury of the nation ever known in the history of the country. That is the Republican idea of management of public affairs. By the vote cast in New Mexico next month the people of the territory will choose between theoretical incompetency and practical efficiency, and they will be judged and treated accordingly in the places where great interests are at stake.

Purely for Political Affect.

At present, the radical Democratic papers in the country are filled with gloomy reports concerning trade conditions, the downward tendency of prices and other bug-a-boos calculated to engender a feeling of distrust among business men. It is noticeable that the Democratic papers, when that party is out of office, are always very pessimistic just before election, and there is no question but the depressing accounts published are for the purpose of creating a desire on the part of the voters for a change in the administration.

There is no better authority on trade conditions than the non-partisan trade journals published in large cities, and according to those papers the state of trade this fall is very satisfactory. Even in the south, where the low price of cotton was expected to materially affect business, there is more activity in staples than for a long time past. In the west and southwest business is extraordinarily active. The prices for all products are high and the demand for cattle and sheep is almost beyond the supply. In the manufacturing centers and distributing points the volume of business is unusually large. The truth is that the talk about dull business is founded upon nothing but politics and instigated by the opposition to the Republican administration.

Of course, in some localities there may be some grounds for complaint, but the causes for any falling off in business are purely local, are of a monetary nature, and in no wise effect general business. The voters of New Mexico need not be worried by any calamity howls which are published in Democratic papers. They are unfounded and for political purposes only. Financial conditions are such that there is no fear of a stringency in the money market, and the only danger which threatens the country, and that is very remote, lies in the result of the election. Should a Democratic house of congress be elected, the confidence in the stability at present laws, which now exists, would be destroyed to some extent, and capital would again become timid. But that is a matter entirely within the control of the voters.

With a Republican victory will disappear all talk about dull business, and the United States will continue upon the era of wonderful expansion which has set in since the election of President McKinley and the enactment of the Dingley tariff law.

Facts to be Remembered.

To the Republican policy of protection is due the fact that factories and mills all over the north and east are running on full time, employing thousands upon thousands of people and giving them the means for living comfortably. New Mexico profits by the activity of eastern manufacturing concerns in an enormous degree. The persons employed in the shops and factories must be fed, and when they are earning decent wages they buy and eat New Mexico mutton and beef; when they are idle or working only part of the time, they do neither to any great extent. The present prices paid for sheep and cattle in this territory are the direct result of a policy which has been pursued by the Republican party for more than a generation, and under that policy prosperity has been assured that policy prosperity has been assured.

The same cannot be said of the years the Democrats attempted to manage the affairs of the nation. These are facts which cannot be truthfully disputed and should be remembered when the votes are cast on November 8.

Democratic Brazenness

Southwestern New Mexico has made wonderful strides in advancement and development the past two years. Outside capital has gone into eastern Dona Ana and Chaves counties and made possible the construction of railroads which have opened up one of the finest portions of the entire country. Following the railroads came new settlers, new enterprises and new energies. The country now developing is rich in natural resources, and the investments being made by eastern capitalists will bring large returns in the future, not only to the stockholders of the various companies operating in that part of the territory, but to the people of the whole of New Mexico. The wealth created by the construction of railroads, the building of towns and the opening of farms and ranches and mines will add to the importance and position of the territory and the prosperity of the people.

The enterprises now on foot in southwestern New Mexico are an illustration of what is going on in all parts of the United States under a Republican administration. It is a noticeable fact that during a free trade administration there was no railroad building, no investment of outside capital, no opening of new lands; everything was "dead." Does any one of a reasonable amount of intelligence imagine that if the Democrats had been successful in the election of 1896 that there would have been any change? Is it not a fact that before that election, capitalists and business men would not talk about investing money in any kind of work, and that it was not until the results of the election were known that new enterprises began to assume definite shape? And yet, in the face of all the damning evidence against the Democratic party, as a party of depression, of business disaster, the members of that party in New Mexico have the brazenness to ask the voters of the territory to aid in the election of a Democratic delegate to congress, to elect a Democratic legislative assembly and thus brand the territory with a stigma to a past age which they desire to advance to develop, and take its place in the front rank of the progressive sections of the Union, into which it rightfully belongs.

Our Next Delegate.
(San Marcial Rec.)
Pedro Perea, who in all probability will be the next delegate to congress from New Mexico, is one of the most highly respected and best known men in the territory. To those who know him only by reputation and have never had the pleasure of his personal acquaintance with him, a brief sketch of the man will prove interesting reading. Like many other distinguished citizens of New Mexico, he is of Spanish origin, his ancestors having come from Spain to the territory in 1833. The best educational facilities of the south and west were utilized in qualifying him for the mastery of a commanding position in life, socially, commercially or politically, according to the trend of his mind and ambition when he reached the maturity of his life. He soon developed an aptitude to successfully handle large agricultural interests and became the recognized leader in his own family advanced in a corresponding degree, and it soon became the rule with prominent Americans, as it had long been with the leading Spanish families, that he should follow in the footsteps of his father, and it was not long before he had assumed the position of a prominent citizen in the territory. He was a sheep raiser, farmer and horticulturist, his own and the social status of his family advanced in a corresponding degree, and it soon became the rule with prominent Americans, as it had long been with the leading Spanish families, that he should follow in the footsteps of his father, and it was not long before he had assumed the position of a prominent citizen in the territory.

Mr. Perea's early study of political economy convinced him that the principles of the Republican party were those of justice, fair government and honest dealing, and that he had found an earnest champion of every legislative movement of the party, locally and nationally, that has gradually but surely advanced the territory to the leading position it occupies among the leading nations of the world today.

Mr. Perea has had ample opportunity to demonstrate his fitness for the position of congressional delegate. He has served four terms in the upper house of the New Mexico legislature, and always been the recognized champion of progressive measures in the interests of the territory. He studiously supported, and still supports, every measure to place education on a higher plane; introduced legislation for the fostering of railroads, the introduction of capital and the encouragement of immigration; he favors staid and honest government, and is enthusiastic in speaking of the great benefits that will result to New Mexico therefrom; he has no race prejudices and recognizes the best benefits that will accrue to the territory by a more equal balanced mixing of the Mexicans and Americans; he stands squarely upon the St. Louis platform, and never allows an opportunity to pass that enables him to enlarge upon the improved conditions of the cattle, sheep, wool and other leading interests of New Mexico; he is a progressive citizen, an election and during former Republican administrations. He is as enthusiastic as the most zealous American concerning the greatest good that will result to the territory from the introduction of the navy and navy in the recent struggle with Spain; and by example and precept he has shown that the honor of being New Mexico's representative in congress will be carefully protected, and that no omission of vigilance on his part will occur to deprive New Mexico of advantageous recognition at Washington.

Everywhere, and on all occasions, Mr. Perea is the same sturdy, honest, outspoken, genial, whole-souled gentleman. His frank, social ways are free from the slightest taint of affectation, and he wins friends and supporters without special effort and almost unconsciously. Yet when in the legislative halls he has the floor, he believes to be right and denounces what he believes to be wrong. He is unflinching in his demands for beneficial legislation and justice, and he has made his influence felt in connection with important public questions at all times. Respectable people of all classes, from the wealthiest to the poorest, and aside from religious, political or social differences, delight to grasp his hand, observe the play of his keen eyes, the expression on his placid countenance and the make-up of a distinguished citizen.

As for the shafts hurled at him by his political enemies, Mr. Perea cares nothing. Men of all political shades will rally around the Pedro banner with a degree of determination and unanimity hitherto unknown in congressional campaigns in New Mexico. He will be a campaign of protection, for Republicans and Democrats alike. No sane artisan, farmer, stock raiser or business man will desert democracy with Cleveland's glaring record of incompetency still fresh in his mind, and the national and local strides of prosperity since the advent of the McKinley administration ever before him. To do so would be worse evidence of industrial suicide than carrying coals to Newcastle.

The Republican party is in power to-day, the wealthiest and ablest men of the day admit this contention. The school children of the land are being instructed on that line; the leading European nations are carrying on with the same end in view. From every standpoint it is clearly the duty of the voters of New Mexico to send a Republican delegate to congress at the present

Republican Platform.

The Republican party of the territory of New Mexico, in convention assembled at Albuquerque, on the 1st day of October, A. D. 1898, reaffirms its faith in the declaration of principles set forth in the national Republican platform of 1888, and it is with a firm and certain conviction that under a Republican administration public credit has been restored, industry revived, factories reopened, commerce and production given to American interests, under which the people are enjoying renewed confidence and prosperity.

We most heartily endorse the Dingley tariff law, enacted by a Republican congress, despite the persistent opposition of the Democratic party. Under that law the sheep and wool and live stock interests have been greatly benefited, and the wealth of this territory benefited by many millions of dollars.

We believe in sound money, and in a volume of money sufficient for all business demands. The policy of the present administration in giving employment to labor, and protection to our various industries is a solution of the financial question. We are opposed to all financial heresies which call for cheap money, believing as we do that all money issued by the government should be of uniform and equal value.

We congratulate the country upon the great success of the present national administration in which our territory has distinguished himself as a statesman and a patriot in dealing with domestic and foreign affairs; and in which he has shown the wisdom of upholding the honor of his nation.

We heartily approve the wisdom of the annexing of the Hawaiian islands, and we favor the retention by this government of all territory acquired by our army and navy where justice and humanity demand it. We favor the construction of the Nicaragua canal under the immediate supervision and exclusive control of the United States government, the necessity for the canal having been more strongly emphasized by recent events.

We congratulate Governor Otero upon the success of his administration and commend him for his efforts in behalf of our territory, and for his full citizenship of the material and financial interests of New Mexico, both at home and abroad, and we tender to the president of the United States our thanks for the appointment of a governor from the ranks of the people, a man who by reason of his lifetime residence in New Mexico, and of his intimate acquaintance with the needs of our people is best able to perform the duties of an executive in this territory.

We heartily endorse the present Republican administration in all of its branches. During the brief period in which the present executive has occupied the position of chief executive, New Mexico has attained a high position of honor in the hearts of the American people never before accorded it. The patriotism of citizens in sending forth a larger proportion of soldiers to the front in the great struggle of the American Union, and the bravery of our soldiers displayed on the field of battle, are a guarantee of our full citizenship in the American Union. We point with pride to the immortal record made by the New Mexico squadron of "Tough Riders" in the great struggle of the American Union, by which was established the intelligence, patriotism and indomitable courage of our people, and where they have won for themselves the admiration of the civilized world, and tender to the relatives and friends of those who fell in the struggle for humanity, justice and liberty, the hearty sympathies of a grateful people.

We congratulate the nation on the return of peace, and heartily endorse President McKinley upon the successful, patriotic and successful manner in which the dignity of this nation has been preserved in the war with Spain.

We congratulate the people of New Mexico upon the appointment by the president of the present able and fearless judiciary, and commend the members thereof for their devotion to duty and their high sense of interest in the administration of justice.

The present congress of the United States is Republican in politics, and any act of that body favorable to New Mexico are Republican measures and cannot be credited to the efforts of a Democratic delegate from this territory.

The attitude of the Republican party of New Mexico has always been consistent on the question of the admission of the territory as a state. We favored the admission of the territory when the Democratic party was united in their opposition against it. We still favor its admission, believing that there is no good and substantial reason for keeping it out of the Union as a state and believe that this can best be accomplished by the election of a delegate to congress who is in harmony with Republican politics and principles.

Our heartfelt gratitude is extended to the army and navy for their noble sacrifices in behalf of their country, and their brilliant achievements on land and water; and we emphasize our appreciation of those brave soldiers known as the "Tough Riders," to whose ranks our territory has so liberally contributed, and whose acts of bravery and heroism have inspired the world with a new faith and confidence in American courage and valor.
