TUESDAY, MAY 23.

Always room on top, boys.

And still they come. Times must be prosperous in New Mexico. Newspapers are increasing.

Senator Pettigrew thinks he is like Daniel Webster. But Webster is dead and cannot defend himself.

Colorado people are petitioning for the establishment of a buffalo reserve, not in Colorado, however; oh, no! but in New Mexico.

And now it is claimed that Jerry Simpson wrote the Sioux City Pop platform. Some men are born great, and others have greatness thrust upon them.

Om Paul does not want to acknowledge the corn, but the beginning of the end of the Transvaal Republic and the Orange Free state is becoming very apparent.

Wharton Barker, candidate for the presidency on the Middle-of-the-road-Populist ticket, says he will take 1,500,000 votes from Bryan. Here's hoping, Mr. Barker, and success to you.

The Raton Range, under its new editor, Judge F. D. Morse, is doing well, indeed. The paper is published in a live town, and is a live, interesting and respectable paper. Success to the new management.

The U. S. supreme court gives Beckham the governorship of Kentucky. This may be good law, but it is very tough on the people of Kentucky who voted for Taylor, who gave him a majority and who are swindled out of their rights by the infamous Goebel law.

Montana may go Democratic, but it looks as if her people would vote for McKinley and protection, expansion sound money and all. They are tired of the Clark scandals, and are prosperous besides. These two should certainly induce them to give a Republican majority next November.

The new bridge across the Rio Grande at Pena Blanca is a great aid to commerce between Albuquerque and the Cochiti, as well as between Santa Fe and Bland. Good roads and good bridges will greatly increase the valuation of property along them, and New Mexico cannot have too many of them.

Nine out of every ten thieves are caught, and three out of every four criminals are convicted. This is not much of an inducement to evil-doers who have chosen crime as a means of livelihood. In these days of prosperity it is easier to make a living by working than by stealing, but even in hard times crime is the riskiest, the most unsatisfactory and the hardest way to gain a livelihood.

The supreme court of the United States refers Governor Taylor to the tribunal of the people, which is always in session. But when that tribunal is fettered by a Goebel law, prejudiced by political traditions and bribed by promises of office and political advancement, then the confidence that it will decide right can not be very great. The most unreasonable and at times the most unjust tribunal are the people.

The candidacy of Mr. Towne for vice president on the Populist ticket is not being taken very seriously by the people. It is fully believed that after the Democratic nominations for president and vice president are made at Kansas City, Mr. Towne will withdraw and that the Democratic candidate for the vice presidency will be endorsed by the Populist national committee and go on the Pop ticket along with Bryan.

Senator Quay wants to go back to the United States senate. His retirement has been announced a dozen times in as many years, but like the prima donna he repeats his last appearance as often as he can draw a house. Senator Quay is very careful not to run for an office directly dependent upon the direct vote of the people. In running for senator he has a chance for successful political manipulations which will probably enable him to triumph again over his opponents.

While some nations fear that Russia will gobble up the rest of the world, there are some students of political and economic history who prophesy that the Russian empire will collapse within less than fifty years. The empire is composed of a strange conglomeration of people, many of whom have no sympathy for each other. Some of the subjugated people are higher in intelligence than their rulers. There is the Pole, higher in intellectual endowments than the Russian; the Finn, who is more moral in his life; the Caucasian, who is far superior in prowess of war. If Russia suffers one great, overwhelming defeat from a foreign nation the whole empire will go to pieces.

Orsa, in Sweden, is a prosperous place, whose people need to pay no taxes, and who receive a handsome income from the municipality. The community has in the course of a generation sold nearly $5,000,000 worth of trees from community lands, and by judicious replanting has provided for a similar income every thirty or forty years.

The senate is putting off action on the Clark case from day to day. As congress intends to adjourn on June 6, the boulder senator from Montana may enjoy his glory almost to the end. The satisfaction he gets out of this, however, will not be worth the immense sums he spent to secure it. After June 5 Senator Clark will retire to well-earned oblivion.

Colorado should restore capital punishment. The atrocious murders recorded in that state yesterday made it almost impossible to hang the people who probably take the law in their own hands and lynch the murderers when they are caught. Sentiment may be against capital punishment, and strong reasons may be urged against it, but society must protect itself against men who do not fear the jail or the penitentiary.

Roswell and Carlsbad have settled their late misunderstanding. Las Vegas, after a little attack of selfishness, has promised to send a large delegation to the Albuquerque street fair this fall. There are signs that Farmington and Aztec are settling their little newspaper differences, and that Springer and Raton will soon shake hands over their bad feeling and work together for the good of Colfax county and the rest of the territory. Then with the exception of a little fighting going on in the Transvaal and in the Philippines, peace will brood over the whole world again, and Mars will have to sheathe his sword and go out of business.

The rebels are still active in the United States of Colombia, and are planning an attack on Panama. The country is in a bad state financially and commercially. The government has resorted to paper issue to keep up with the expenses, and the paper money is quoted at 5 cents on the dollar. As the United States of Colombia was one of the most advanced of the South American republics, it can readily be seen that the people of South America are not as yet able to carry on a republic of their own. It goes without saying that a Tagal republic in the Philippine islands would have much less chance of being a success than have the South American republics.

The Black Range railway from Magdalena in Socorro county, to Chloride in Sierra county, a distance of ninety miles, will be built and work thereon will commence before winter in this year of grace sets in. The line will open up a country of wonderful possibilities from a mineral and stock raising view. It will pay from the first day of its operation. The New Mexican is greatly gratified at this good news on account of the territory at large and the counties of Socorro and Sierra in particular. The enterprise is in good hands and the promoters have secured the necessary financial backing. The Black Range railway will prove a great thing for central New Mexico as well as for the entire territory.

Every once in awhile a crank starts up and suggests a penny collection among school children for this or that purpose. Not so long ago school children of the northwest collected money for a gold watch for Admiral Dewey. School children contributed money for the Lafayette monument at Paris. Now the school children of the nation are asked to contribute pennies, nickels and dimes for a silver service for one of the new battle-ships. This collection fever should be squelched by public school authorities all over the United States. If a battle-ship needs a silver service Uncle Sam or somebody else who is able to pay for it will provide it. There is no sense in teaching children the methods of chronic beggars.

There seems to be no connection between the bubonic plague and the price of sugar, yet the death from the plague of several Chinamen in San Francisco has caused sugar to advance 5 points. San Francisco is the chief port of entry for raw sugar from Hawaii and other oriental points at which the plague prevails or has prevailed. A quarantine may be established against these Asiatic ports, cutting off the supply of raw sugar from those points. So closely are events and conditions of the present day connected and interwoven that one event reacts upon the other, and each event more or less influences every activity of the world. Despite the doctrine of anti-expansionists, neither the United States nor any other country can live to itself alone, for destiny has closely interwoven the fate of men in every clime.

The Fight on the Stephens Bill.

The Stephens bill cannot be brought up for action during the present session of congress. Washington advises as to the effect that congress will adjourn in three weeks, and there is too much business ahead to permit of the consideration of that dishonest and dishonorable measure. The delegation appointed at the convention held on the 15th inst. to present the true character of the measure before the proper house and senate committee, and work for its defeat, had best, therefore, prepare itself fully and appear in Washington during the short session, when, no doubt, the land speculators and grabbers behind that iniquitous bill will make a determined effort to have it passed. There is too much of a steal in it, and too big money to be made out of it to let it go without a strong effort toward its passage. The New Mexican understands that several of the delegates have started for Washington already; this will do no harm, and may do good. But the principal fight will come up during the session commencing next December, when the promoters of the dirty scheme will bend every nerve and make every effort, honest and dishonest, small or great, to secure favorable action. Eternal vigilance until New Mexico attains statehood is the price of the defeat of the bill in question, and eternal vigilance is the order of the day on the part of this paper, and all true friends and well wishers of the territory.

CONTAGIOUS BLOOD POISON

Contagious Blood Poison is the most degrading and destructive of all diseases, as it vitates and corrupts the entire system. The first sore or ulcer is followed by little red pimples on the body, mouth and throat, become sore, the glands enlarge and inflame, copper colored spots appear, and hair and eyebrows fall out. These are some of the milder symptoms; they increase in severity, finally attacking the vital organs; the body is tortured with rheumatic pains and covered with offensive eating sores. It is a peculiar poison, and so highly contagious that an innocent person handling the same articles used by one infected with this loathsome disease, may be inoculated with the virus. It can be transmitted from parent to child, appearing as the same disease or in a modified form—like Eczema or Scrofula. Many an old sore or stubborn skin trouble appearing in middle life, is due and traceable to blood poison contracted in early life. You may have taken potash and mercury faithfully for two or three years and thought you were cured, but you were not, for these poisonous minerals never cure this disease; they drive it from the outside, but it is doing its work on the inside, and will show up again sooner or later. You may not recognize it as the same old taint, but it is. S. S. S. has cured thousands of cases of Contagious Blood Poison, and it will cure you. It is the only purely vegetable blood purifier known, and the only antidote for this poison. S. S. S. cleanses the blood thoroughly of every particle of the poison—there is never any return of the disease.

CURE YOURSELF AT HOME. Send for our Home Treatment book, which gives a history of the disease in all stages, and is the result of many years of close study of blood poison and actual experience in treating it. You can cure yourself perfectly and permanently at home, and your secret is your own. Should you need any information or medical advice at any time, write to our physicians. They have made a life study of blood diseases, and will give your letter prompt and careful attention. Consult them as often as you please; we make no charge whatever for this service. All correspondence is conducted in the strictest confidence.

COAL EXPORTS.

A Great Field That Is Upon the Western States. (Rocky Mountain News.)

As one of the great coal states of the Rocky mountain empire, Colorado has a material interest in the present European alarm—that all industry will be hampered by a short supply of fuel, which will give the American producer of iron and steel—outside of his tariff—a controlling influence in the markets of the world. So far has the alarm made progress in England that the necessity for laying an export duty on coal has been discussed by parliament. In response to a resolution of the house of commons, the board of trade has just issued an elaborate report giving for the year 1899 "the export of coal from each port in the United Kingdom, and each country abroad." These statistics show that the total exports of British coal in 1899 were, in round figures, 41,118,000 tons, an increase of 6,122,000 tons over those of the previous year. The price of coal in Great Britain has increased enormously during the past year, and consumers at home are complaining loudly over the increasing exports. In 1899 for the first time Great Britain took second place in the production of coal, the United States having passed her. Yet the export of coal from Great Britain was more than eight times the quantity exported from the United States in the same year. This fact assumes a new significance when we realize that the conditions of mining are very different in the two countries. We have the authority of a parliamentary debate for the statement that there are no more unlet coal deposits remaining in Great Britain. In other words, that the supply in nature's store house can now be measured and its probable exhaustion computed. How different the conditions in the Rocky mountain region, extending from the longitude of Denver, clear out to the Pacific coast. Wyoming is in large part underlaid with coal. Colorado's least known section—the great North Park country—has coal enough revealed to supply the industries of half dozen states, while Southern Colorado, New Mexico and Utah can count their coal claims by the thousand, many of them waiting for cheap rail transportation to work centers and the sea.

Herein is the foundation for a great north and south system of railroads—for a much closer union between Denver and the gulf. Within the next ten years the coal scarcity in Europe may realize the most glowing dreams of Gilpin and Evans, uniting the minerals of the nation's backbone to the commerce of the nation flowing out from the Gulf of Mexico and through a guarded Nicaragua canal. From Galveston to Cape Nome is a far cry, but the distance can easily be bridged with coal and gold. Using silver, copper, iron and lead as ballasting material.

During 1899, according to the board of trade statement, about 88 per cent went to the various countries of Europe and North Africa. Germany, Denmark, Sweden and North Russia are credited with having taken over 16,000,000 tons, and Southern Europe, including France, Portugal, Turkey, Italy, South Russia and Egypt, bought over 19,000,000 tons. The rapid gain in coal prices in England, together with the decreased supply, suggests that the countries named must look to the United States for a portion of their fuel. One of the obstacles in the way will be return freights for the ships and steamers engaged in the business, as the balance—and bulk—trade is already going heavily in our favor. But this, like other trade barriers, will be conquered in time, not at the cost of labor in America, but greatly to its advantage. No class of American labor is so poorly paid as the worker in the coal mines. If his wage and condition be advanced by coal exports—and this certainly should follow—the whole mass of labor will gain, it being admitted that all true progress must start at the bottom.

"Kindergarten Diplomacy." (Brooklyn Daily Standard-Union.) Commenting on the refusal of congress to pass resolutions of sympathy with the Boers, the Santa Fe New Mexican pertinently says: "The United States has outgrown kindergarten diplomacy, and is now one of the world powers, whose utterances are taken as worth more than moonshine." After showing that such a declaration would "mean war with Great Britain or nothing at all," the New Mexican adds: "The United States as a world power must get rid of the resolution mania," which it declares, is "well enough at county conventions," but is "out of place in the national council when it deals with foreign nations."

Another New Cure.

A new cure for consumption has been tried in the New York hospitals, with surprising results. Freed from technical details, the process consists in placing a sponge soaked with formaldehyde upon the breast of the patient, and completing an electrical current through it and the body. Marvelous improvements and several apparent cures are said to have followed. It is to be hoped that the process will prove entirely successful.

A Gorgeous Bound

Spitting Blood

"I used to cough, spit blood, and my neighbor in Dayton, Ohio, where I live, said among themselves that I had consumption, although they did not tell me so to my face, for fear of making me despondent. I kept on coughing and trying different sorts of medicines, but nothing seemed to reach my trouble until I got hold of a bottle of Acker's English Remedy. I prayed for health all the time, and my prayers were answered as soon as I began taking this celebrated English expectorant and tonic. Since my recovery I have told hundreds of sufferers from coughs, colds and weak lungs that Acker's English Remedy would cure them. Some of them won't try it, and it does seem to me terrible when anyone deliberately refuses to be cured. There ought to be a law compelling consumptives to take it. Even if they don't care for their own lives, the public's welfare should be considered. Don't you think so too? I hope such a law will soon be enforced." (Signed) Miss RICHARDSON.

Sold at 25c. No. and 111 bottles throughout the United States and Canada. If you are not satisfied after trying, return the bottle to your druggist and get your money back.

We authorize the above guarantee. W. H. HOOKER & CO., Proprietors, New York. Fischer's Drug Store.
