The NEW MEXICAN is the oldest newspaper in New Mexico. It is sent to every Post Office in the Territory and has a large and growing circulation among the intelligent and progressive people of the southwest.

CITY SUBSCRIBERS.

Mr. H. O. Land has sole charge of the city circulation of the NEW MEXICAN, and all subscriptions must be paid to him or at this office. City subscribers will confer a favor by reporting to this office all cases of non-delivery of papers.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 29.

The live, energetic, public spirited merchant advertiser.

When it comes to climate, straight, good, healthy climate, Santa Fe beats them all.

What does become of the taxes of Santa Fe county, and why should they be paid into the county treasury?

Wherever citizens of a place work together energetically and constantly, prosperous towns and great cities are built up.

"The outlook for New Mexico was never as fair as at present." So say men of observation and experience recently returned from the east.

Too many shot-guns and Winchesters for a fair election in the sovereign state of Mississippi. Of course the state will go solidly Democratic. Why not?

Army officers of high rank, great military ability and experience, agree that Santa Fe is one of the locations for a large military establishment in the southwest.

The silver mine owners and miners of New Mexico should wake up; delegates should be sent to the silver convention to be held at St. Louis on November 26 next.

The San Diego Reporter advocates the purchase of lower California from Mexico. What would we do with it after we had it? This country seems to be about large enough.

What New Mexico wants is two U. S. senators from the state of New Mexico, and then New Mexico's needs and wishes will receive speedy and prompt attention from the government.

The good and patriotic citizens of New Mexico favor steeplechase and want to see the state of New Mexico a fact. And a fact it will be in due course of time, and before two years roll by.

Arterian wells and direct rail communication with the rich coal and mineral fields of southern Santa Fe county and Santa Fe will boom, and boom in a most creditable and safe way.

Instead of hunting and backing the tiger in his lair in New York city, three New York millionaires have concluded to go to Africa to hunt lions. The latter is the more dangerous but doubtless the cheaper amusement of the two.

A citizen's ticket has been nominated in New York city, the six candidates being drawn from the Republicans and the county Democracy. The purpose is to keep Tammany Hall from having unrestricted control of the city government.

Why should not Grover Cleveland be a candidate for renomination on the Democratic ticket. A man who sunk as much money as he did at the last election, naturally feels he would like to have his money back and try another turn of the wheel.

And now we are happy. Prince Hatfield has married Miss Clara Huntington. We wish Mr. Huntington all possible joy in paying the prince's debts. But as we have remarked once before, it is a great pity to throw good American money away in such a manner.

Our Democratic contemporaries are worrying themselves over Gov. Prince's appointment of regents of the several territorial institutions, made on September 1 last. Rather late in the day this worry. But let them worry, nevertheless. Hurts nobody but themselves.

New Mexico is receiving considerable free advertising throughout the east on account of the fruit and vegetable exhibits sent there from the Mesilla valley.—Silver City Enterprise.

Not only from the Mesilla valley, but also from the vicinity of Albuquerque and Santa Fe. It was the aim of the bureau of immigration to benefit as many sections as possible by this advertising scheme, and the aim was attained.

The Republicans of Massachusetts know a good thing when they see it. They have nominated two literary men for the state senate. Geo. M. Towle and Charles Carleton Coffin, both popular authors, have been nominated for that body and will in all likelihood be elected. Mr. Towle beside the books he has written, is a favorite lecturer, and both men have been successful and hardworking journalists.

Concerning the recent appointment of Prof. S. P. McCrea, the Rio Grande Republican, a paper that ought to be posted in the matter, says:

The appointment of Prof. McCrea as register of the land office is one that gives universal satisfaction, irrespective of party. His integrity, ability and indefatigable energy is a sure guarantee of the successful management of an office of so great importance to this part of the country.

The Republican's opinion is good enough for us.

THE CLERKSHIP.

Next to the speakership, the most important office in the house of representatives is the clerkship, and there promises to be quite a contest over it. Very likely it will go to the south or west. The record is a very interesting one.

The first clerk of the house was John Beckley, of Virginia, who was elected April 1, 1789, and served until May 15, 1797, when he was succeeded by Jonathan W. Condy, of Pennsylvania. Mr. Condy was succeeded by John Holt Oswald, also of Pennsylvania, who held the position but one year, when Mr. Beckley was again elected, serving from December 7, 1801 to October 26, 1807. Neither of these gentlemen had been members of congress.

In 1807 Patrick Magruder, of Maryland, was elected clerk. He had served one term in the house and was the first ex-representative chosen for the clerkship. He remained in this office until 1815 and was succeeded by Thomas Dougherty, of Kentucky. After Dougherty came Matthew S. Clarke, of Pennsylvania, from 1822 to 1833; Walter S. Franklin, of Pennsylvania, 1833 to 1838; Hugh A. Garland, of Virginia, 1838 to 1841; Clarke, of Pennsylvania, again, 1841 to 1843; Caleb J. McNulty, of Ohio, 1843 to 1845; and B. B. French, of New Hampshire, 1845 to 1847. Up to this time only one ex-member of the House had been honored with the clerkship. But a departure from the former practice is here noted.

Thomas J. Campbell, of Tennessee, who had been in congress one term, succeeded Mr. French and served as clerk April 17, 1850. Mr. Campbell's successor was Richard M. Young, of Illinois, who had been a senator from that state, but not a member of the house. Mr. Young was succeeded December 1, 1851, by John W. Forney, of Pennsylvania, who was never in congress; Mr. Forney by William Cullom, of Tennessee, February 4, 1856, who had been two years in the house; Mr. Cullom by James C. Allen, of Illinois, December 6, 1857, who had served two terms as a member of the house; Mr. Allen by Mr. Forney again February 3, 1860; Mr. Forney by Emerston Etheridge, of Tennessee, July 4, 1861, who had been six years in the house; Mr. Etheridge by Edward McPherson, of Pennsylvania, who had been two terms a member of the house and who served as clerk from December 8, 1863, to December 6, 1875, a term of twelve years, the longest on record; Mr. McPherson by George M. Adams, ex-congressman from Kentucky, December 6, 1875; Mr. Adams by Mr. McPherson again, December 5, 1881, and Mr. McPherson by John B. Clark, Jr., of Missouri, who now holds the office and who had previously served five terms in the house.

It will thus be seen that of the nineteen different individuals who were clerks of the house since and including its first session, only nine had been members of congress and one of these was a senator. For the first forty-five years of the government only one member of the house was chosen to the clerkship. Of late years the practice has prevailed, with the single exceptions of Mr. Young and Mr. Forney, of bestowing this honor upon ex-representatives, and is likely to be continued unless some vigorous outside opposition arises to force a change, because of a certain advantage possessed through congressional acquaintance and influence by candidates who have seen congressional service.

The United States has gotten itself into very fine business. On the docket of the United States side of the 4th district court at the present term of court there are seventy-six cases of adultery and eight of fornication for trial. These cases were brought under the so called Edmunds law, which a district court in Wyoming decided a year ago was applied only to the territory of Utah. There is no doubt that such was the original intention. The claim is now advanced that these cases were brought to improve the morals of the community. Rot, beastly rot! The territorial statutes are more than ample in this respect and the territorial prosecuting officers are fully able to take care of such matters. Improve the morals of the community, forsooth! It is fees, fees from the United States, and nothing else.

The Keely motor, that has been lying low for some time, again rises from the shades to which ridicule and wrath have repeatedly condemned it. In the presence of distinguished scientific experts, among whom were Capt. Schley and Lieut. Schroeder, of the United States navy, and Prof. Main, the electrician, the Keely engine successfully developed motive power, which the experts determined was neither electricity nor compressed air. There is nothing more strange in the Keely motor than there is in the electric telegraph. The world expects marvelous things to come to light every little while. People become very discontented without these discoveries. The United States may soon have the honor of giving a new wonder to the world, and revealing a new force to affect all our lives.

The recent stereopticon experiment in the flash light signaling from the Washington monument to Fort Meyer, Va., three miles distant, is rather behind the sun flash writing called heliography. In the last German campaign, that brought that old scoundrel to his final surrender, Lieut. van Vliet and Seyburn signaled with the Morse system by flashes from ten to thirty miles, and they have been recently practicing successfully from Fort Marcy to elevations at Cerrillos or toward the Rio Grande mountains at about twenty miles away.

A Dishonest Telegraph Operator. TRIBUNE, Oct. 26.—A telegraph operator by the name of Clutchin, who has been doing extra work at the Santa Fe depot for some time, is under arrest by City Marshal Mayer for embezzlement of the funds of the Western Union company. The amount is not large.
